SATURDAY, MARCH 1, 1902.

Subscribers wishing their addresses changed must state their former as well as new address.

An impressive memorial service in honor of the late President McKinley was held in the Hall of the House of Representatives at Washington on Thursday. Secretary of State Hay delivered the eulogy in an oration of ninety minutes. The German Prince Henry was present during the service.

The SENTINEL gives place, this week, to a communication from Rev. M. A. Fenne, of Govanstown, a former pastor of St. John's Catholic Church, this city, in relation to the unseemly and reprehensible conduct of a young lady, or girl, pupil of Westminster High School, and fully endorses his condemnation of the perpetrator of the outrage described. It cannot, however, agree with Father Fenne's sweeping criticism of the High School because of the misconduct of one of its pupils. The ill manners of a pupil or two do not furnish evidence of a failure on the part of the school to inculcate the duty of politeness and respectful conduct toward everybody, and especially toward the clergy. The school is not sectarian and at least one, if not more, of the teachers is of the same religious faith as Father Fenne. The incident is truly deplorable, but the guilty individual or individuals should alone be held responsible.

Last week Mr. Isaac Lobe Straus presented a drastic order in the House of Delegates, reciting, at considerable length, the course of Democratic party managers and bosses in attempting to "seize the powers of the House of Delegates in order to control its proceedings and dictate its legislation," and directing "that the Hall of the House of Delegates be kept free from the presence of the emissaries, agents and understrappers of party managers and bosses seeking to influence or dictate the legislation and other proceedings of the House of Delegates." The order was adopted with five dissenting votes, but will probably not deter the emissaries and agents of the party bosses and managers from plying their trade as whippers in of recalcitrant Democratic members of the House. Mr. Straus did not intend it as buncombe, but it will doubtless be so regarded by the people against whom it was aimed and those who represent them in the Legislature.

Prince Henry, brother of Emperor William of Germany, arrived in New York on Sunday and was not received with republican simplicity. In fact he was accorded what may be denominated royal honors. The daily newspapers have filled columns with descriptions of scenes and incidents in the Prince's treatment on American soil. All his movements have been accounted for, what he did in New York on the first day of his arrival; how he left there by special train for Washington, at 1 o'clock, Monday morning; how he was greeted by Mayor Hayes and thousands of Baltimoreans at Union Station, where his train stopped for 20 minutes; how he called on the President at the White House, and how the President returned the call. How he went to New York again, and the President with him, on Tuesday, and how he gave the President's daughter, Miss Alice Roosevelt, a magnificent jeweled bracelet, containing a miniature portrait of the Emperor William II, as a gift from that potentate, after she had christened the Emperor's yacht, Meteor, at Shooter's Island, where the yacht was launched; how he gave a magnificent luncheon to the President on board the German ship, Hohenzollern; all this, and much more, has been described in detail by the daily press, and has been read with interest by millions of the American people. No doubt it is fitting that this people, through the nation's accredited representatives, should thus show courtesy to the scion of royalty from a great nation, but to the Prince, himself, it must be too much of a good thing. He is described as a manly, handsome fellow, full of good German sense, and will, no doubt, conceive reasonable admiration for the great country which has accorded him such a royal reception.

The Manchester High School.

The bill introduced by Mr. Ganter in the House of Delegates to annually appropriate $500 to the Manchester High School was reported unfavorably by the Ways and Means Committee, on Tuesday, and a motion of Mr. Ganter to substitute the bill for the unfavorable report was lost by a vote of 33 to 47. The matter provoked considerable discussion in the House and Mr. Rogers, chairman of the committee which made the unfavorable report which he indorsed, was made to appear inconsistent in his conduct by acknowledging that he had voted for a bill to appropriate a sum of money to the Jarrett Academy in Harford county. Mr. Ganter made a strong fight for the appropriation, but the odds were against him. As a rule, we think it would be unwise to appropriate money to local high schools directly from the State Treasury, but we believe there are circumstances in the Manchester case which take it out of the ordinary conditions of such schools, and that the appropriation asked would not have been a precedent demanding similar action in relation to other institutions of this character throughout the State. The patrons of the school are exceedingly anxious to retain the present principal, Prof. J. F. McBee, whose management is giving it a high character, but, it is understood, his present compensation is inadequate to justify a teacher of his capacity in remaining in the position. The failure of the bill will be bitterly regretted by the people of Manchester and its vicinity.

We are glad to add to the above that on Thursday, after it was in type, the vote by which the unfavorable report was adopted was reconsidered and the bill substituted therefor and placed on the second reading file.

Lewellyn B. Winslow, alias Lewis Keen, and Herbert Carter, the two young highwaymen who, on February 10, held up and robbed ex-City Councilman John T. Stone, of Baltimore, in the private lane leading to his house, east of the Baltimore Cemetery, pleaded guilty on Tuesday in the Criminal Court, and were each sentenced by Judge Ritchie to eight years in the Penitentiary.

Pugnacious Legislators.

Legislators are becoming pugnacious. On Friday of last week Mr. Lynn Painter, of Baltimore county, struck Mr. Isaac Lobe Straus, of Baltimore, in the face, with his hand or fist and Mr. Straus struck back with his umbrella, hitting Mr. Painter over the head. Mr. Straus says Mr. Painter called him a dog and Mr. Painter accuses Mr. Straus with calling him a cur. The row grew out of a motion of Mr. Straus, requiring the Committee on Elections, of which Mr. Painter is chairman, to report his (Straus') election bill. The four Democratic members of the House from Anne Arundel county, disgruntled by having been ignored by Governor Smith in making his appointments, voted with Mr. Straus and the Republicans, carrying the motion. The fight occurred in the Hall of the House of Delegates, after adjournment, and no action in relation to it was taken by the House.

Senators Tillman and McLaurin, of South Carolina, had a bout with fists, while the United States Senate was in session, on Saturday. McLaurin was replying to some assertions of Tillman, which he characterized as a lie, whereupon Tillman rushed upon him and struck him a blow in the face. McLaurin then landed a blow on Tillman's nose, drawing blood. The Sergeant-at-arms, with the assistance of others, separated the combatants, and order was restored. The Republican Senators are disposed to punish the pugnacious Senators severely, but their Democratic associates are endeavoring to prevent such a proceeding.

An Obstacle in the Way.

On Tuesday last an ordinance, calling for bids for the city's holdings in the Western Maryland Railroad, was taken up for passage in the First Branch of the Baltimore City Council, and met unexpected opposition because of uncertainty as to the extent of the authority a purchaser would acquire in the directorate of the road. It is rather singular that this difficulty has not been heretofore suggested by some of the persons taking an active interest for or against the sale of this important work. It is not a new question, although the wise solons who have been managing the affair seem to have hitherto overlooked it. The SENTINEL, in an editorial article relating to the proposed alienation of the city's interest in the road, in its issue of June 29th, 1901, held this language: "Granting that the city might alienate her mortgages upon the road, the question would then arise whether such assignment would convey to the assignee authority to control the directory of the company." And this now appears to be an obstacle in the consummation of the proposed sale of the city's interest in the work.

Mayor Hayes is quoted as saying that an act of the Legislature is necessary to enable the city to relinquish its control over the directorate of the road, but it is difficult to see what authority the Legislature possesses in the premises. The city now controls the directorate by agreement with the stockholders, and this agreement is a contract. The Legislature cannot pass a law to nullify a contract that would not be inimical to the Constitution of the United States, nor can the City of Baltimore legally go a step beyond the agreement with the stockholders by which it was accorded a majority of the directorate. If that agreement, or contract, does not provide for the transfer of the city's authority to other hands the Legislature cannot constitutionally create such a provision.

The road belongs to the stockholders and if they, themselves, should provide the means to cancel its obligations to the city, the control of its directorate would revert to them. If they have only alienated that control to the city, in consideration of its endorsement of the bonds of the road, without a provision that the foreclosure of the mortgages given to secure the payment of the bonds shall carry such control of the directorate to a third party, or wipe out the stockholding interest entirely, there is no authority anywhere but in the stockholders to confer it.

There ought to be no difficulty in reaching a conclusion as to the city's authority in the premises. The agreement by which it was given control of the directorate is in existence and all parties will be held to a strict compliance with its terms, whatever they may be. Mayor Hayes' suggestion that the authority of the Legislature must be invoked in the matter would leave the inference that the city cannot sell the control of the directorate to other parties under the provisions of its contract with the company.

If this conclusion be correct third parties might obtain control of the road by an agreement with the company involving the liquidation of its obligations to the city. The outcome of all the agitation for the sale of the road by the city is an interesting problem, in which, no doubt, the courts will be called upon to take a hand before it can be satisfactorily solved.

The ordinance for advertising the sale of the road was, notwithstanding the obstacle spoken of, jammed through the First Branch, on Wednesday.

"Ben Hur" at Academy of Music.

When Klaw & Erlanger's "Ben Hur" opened at the Academy of Music, Baltimore, on Monday evening, February 24th, the famous chariot race was seen for the first time in that city. This feature of the stupendous production is one of the most perfect illusions known to the stage. Twelve horses run in full view of the audience at the same time. The four bays driven by Ben Hur were chosen for beauty as well as speed. Messala's chariot is drawn by two blacks and two whites. The illusion of the race is secured through the employment of a device containing the treadmill principle. Eight treadmills, one for each horse, are built into the stage. These treadmills have a running surface of selected hickory slats, two inches wide, with enough space left between so that they may run easily and accurately over the frame work. The slats move over 1568 small, ball bearing, rubber-tired wheels to a larger wheel eight inches in diameter at either end. As each horse attempts to go forward, the impact of his hoofs pushes the treadmill into action, and the faster he runs the more quickly the treadmill revolves. An immense cyclorama of painted figures, giving also a splendid view of the arena, some forty feet in height and 2006 feet in length, is rushed across the stage at lightning speed in an opposite direction. The spectacle apparently is traveling with the racing horses, so that the detail of the exciting incident is lost. Klaw and Erlanger carry four equine understudies, two bays and a black and a white, in case of accident. Months were required to train these horses on especially constructed apparatus, and they are now rehearsed three times a week by a trainer at the theatre. Before each race the entire apparatus is rigidly inspected by a master machinist, the stage manager, and lastly by the manager of the company, before the word is given to start the great electrical machinery under the stage. To this care and attention to the minutest detail may be ascribed the fact that there has never been an accident in any of the hundreds of performances which have been given. It may be interesting to state that seventy-three stage hands are required to work the big chariot race in addition to the dynamos.

The advance sale of seats is now in progress, and it is proving to be the largest ever known in Baltimore. Especial attention is being given to mail orders. These should be accompanied by remittance, and tickets will be mailed upon receipt of order. Matinees are given Wednesday and Saturday.

Md. Encampment G. A. R.

The twenty-sixth annual encampment of the Department of Maryland, G. A. R., was held at Dushane Post Hall, Baltimore, on Friday of last week. About 200 delegates, including past department commanders and past and present commanders of posts who, by virtue of their office, are members of the encampment were in attendance.

Among the proceedings was the reading of the regular annual reports of the department commander, Col. John G. Taylor, and other officers. The reports showed a present membership in the department of 2,523, included in 55 posts. The loss by deaths was 100; total loss, 276; and gain, by muster in and reinstatement, etc., 126; net loss, 90. There was a loss of one post during the year. The report was taken to mean that, the Civil War being now 37 years in the background, the turning point has been reached, and that from now on, from natural causes alone, there will be a gradual loss in the membership. The total receipts for the year amounted to $1,045.56; total disbursements, $1,054.56. There was expended in charity during the year $1,651.10. There is $5,901.10 on hand in post funds, while the value of property aggregates $18,954.43.

Col. Wm. A. McKellip, of Westminster, offered a resolution, which was adopted without a reference or a dissenting voice, thanking President Roosevelt for his order giving preference to honorably discharged soldiers in the public service.

Burns Post, of this city, was represented by Messrs. Thos. J. Hunt, Whitfield Stansbury, Hezekiah Morrow, Alex. McCormack.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Department commander, John W. Worth; senior vice commander, Jas. Campbell; junior vice commander, John Rider; medical director, Dr. G. Lane Taneyhill; chaplain, Rev. J. L. Grimm.

Mr. Thos. J. Hunt, of Burns Post, was appointed a member of the Council of administration.

Damage From the Swelling Rivers.

The melting of snow and the sudden breaking of the ice, in addition to heavy rains, caused floods in the rivers of Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The Potomac contained more ice gorges than for years past.

Railroads in some sections are badly crippled. The Washington Bottom trestle, on the Romney (W. Va.) branch of the Baltimore and Ohio, is washed away. Ice covered the tracks of the West Virginia Central at Cedar Cliff, where an immense gorge was formed. The iron bridge at Springfield, W. Va., was carried away by the ice.

The Monocacy river flooded the lowlands and covered several pike roads causing the greatest flood it has experienced since 1889.

A bad washout occurred on the Western Maryland road, between Waynesboro and Quinsonia. The bridge at Seven Pines, on the Gettysburg branch, was washed away.

The Norfolk and Western has abandoned trains between Hagerstown and Front Royal, the tracks being under water at the latter place.

The Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Port Deposit were submerged and 50 families are moving out of their flooded houses.

Codorus creek, at York, was very high and several factories were flooded.

The waters were subsiding up to yesterday morning, when rain was falling heavily and threatening a revival of high waters. In this section a thunderstorm, with dashing rain prevailed for half an hour between 9 and 10 o'clock in the morning. Between 11 and 12 o'clock another thunderstorm of less violence occurred.

The denomination known as the United Brethren in Christ at present has 44 annual conferences and 3 mission districts. The Pennsylvania Conference includes the State of Maryland, District of Columbia and the southern counties of Pennsylvania. There are 64 pastoral charges with a membership of over 16,000, and a Sabbath school membership of 23,575. This conference will hold its 113th session in Allison Memorial Church, on West Princess street, York, Pa., beginning March 4, 1902. Bishop J. S. Mills, Ph. D., D. D., will preside.

Mrs. Susan Rowe, widow of the late George W. Rowe, died suddenly at her home in Emmitsburg, on Monday night, aged about 80 years. An hour previous to her death she was in her usual health. She complained of not feeling well and said she would lie down, dying a few minutes later. Mrs. Rowe was a member of the Lutheran church. She is survived by three sons—Eugene L., George P. and J. Henry Rowe; also two daughters—Mrs. A. S. Hartman, of Baltimore, and Miss Martha Bell Rowe, of this place.

Gen. John M. Hood, president and general manager of the Western Maryland Railroad, was elected president of the United Railways and Electric Company of Baltimore on Wednesday. He will continue in charge of the affairs of the Western Maryland Railroad until his successor shall be chosen.

George Riley, a one-armed railroad boss, was found guilty of manslaughter, by a jury of the Circuit Court for Frederick county, on Wednesday, for having beaten Jno. Ryan, a laborer, to death on the 14th of last August, at weather was rather worse than the first night. In spite of only a part of the original program being rendered, those present spent a pleasant evening. All those who participated in the entertainment filled their parts in a very creditable manner as was manifested by the frequent applause. The Sunday School treasury was enriched by about $30.00.

Mrs. Lizzie Kiser has been ill in bed, the last few weeks, with La Grippe.

Mrs. Geo. H. Birnie and Miss Amelia Birnie attended the funeral, on Wednesday afternoon, of Mr. Richard D. Murphy, a near relative. The services were held at his home in Baltimore. Interment was made at Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Miss Adelaide Horner, near Gettysburg, Pa., died last week in Philadelphia, from the effects of a surgical operation. She was well known here having often visited her aunts, the Misses Galt.

Mrs. Margaret Scarborough, of Plainfield, Ohio, who has been staying here with her mother, Mrs. Rogers Birnie, spent the last few weeks in Emmitsburg with her sister, Mrs. R. L. Annan. She has returned here, and will probably remain until spring.

HAVING A RUN ON CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

Between the hours of eleven o'clock a. m. and closing time at night on January 25th, 1901, A. F. Clark, druggist, Glade Springs, Va., sold twelve bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says, "I never handled a medicine that sold better or gave better satisfaction to my customers." This Remedy has been in general use in Virginia for many years, and the people there are well acquainted with its excellent qualities. Many of them have testified to the remarkable cures which it has effected. When you need a good, reliable medicine for a cough or cold, or attack of the grip, use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you are certain to be more than pleased with the quick cure which it affords. For sale by all Druggists.

STRIKES A RICH FIND.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Shaw Drug Co.

OYSTER SUPPER.—The members of Harmony Grove M. P. Church of Gist, will hold an Oyster Supper in the P. O. S. of A. Hall, at Gist, Thursday and Saturday nights, March 20th and 22nd.

A PRINTER GREATLY SURPRISED.

"I never was so much surprised in my life, as I was with the results of using Chamberlain's Pain Balm," says Henry T. Crook, pressman of the Asheville (N. C.) Gazette. "I contracted a severe case of rheumatism early last winter by getting my feet wet. I tried several things for it without benefit. One day while looking over the Gazette I noticed that Pain Balm was positively guaranteed to cure rheumatism, so bought a bottle of it and before using two-thirds of it my rheumatism had taken its flight and I have not had a rheumatic pain since." Sold by all Druggists.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flowers to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Get Green's Prize Almanac. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at W. Scott Zepp's, Druggist, Westminster.

EXECUTORS' SALE OF A VALUABLE FARM, at Dennings, Carroll County, Md.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in the last will and testament of Nelly Kelly, late of Carroll county, Md., deceased, and in pursuance of an order of the Orphans' Court of Carroll county, the undersigned, executors named in said last will and testament, will offer at Public Sale, on the premises, on WEDNESDAY, 19TH DAY OF MARCH, 1902, at 1 o'clock, P. M., all that tract of land situated in Carroll county, Md., at Dennings, on the Old Liberty Road, containing and improved by a large Two-story Stone Dwelling, Stable, Granary and other necessary outbuildings. This farm is all under cultivation and is of excellent farming land. There is a due proportion of Meadow and the tract is well watered, with a well at the door of the house. This property adjoins the lands of Joseph Stem, Bradford Greenwood and others, and is convenient to churches, schools and stores, with mail delivered at the door by the Rural Delivery. A survey of this property will be made before the day of sale, and the accurate quantity of land ascertained.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-third cash on the day of sale or on the ratification thereof by the Orphans' Court of Carroll county, and the remaining two-thirds in two equal payments of six and twelve months each; or all cash, at the option of the purchaser. The credit payments will bear interest from the day of sale and will be secured by the notes of the purchasers, with approved security.

Anybody's Nose

IS NOT EVERYBODY'S NOSE. A certain individual with a certain nose and a certain glass may run, jump, ride, sneeze, stoop, laugh—still his glasses cling as though part of his physiognomy; while another with the same identical glass cannot move without them slipping. In eye glass fitting the many different noses require as great a variety of guards as well as a fund of practical noseological knowledge. We have both. Pleased to convince you
