POETRY.

Whip Him for His Mother.

LET me whip him for his mother,
He is such a naughty boy;
He has baby tried to smother,
And he's broken Emmy's toy.
Of the doll I gave to Ellen,
He has melted off the nose,
And there really is no telling
To what lengths his mischief goes,

Last night, he put a cracker
'Neath his Aunt Jemima's chair,
And he told me such a whacker
When I asked how it came there.
Then when poor old Mrs. Toodles
Was just starting off by rail,
He tied her two fat poodles
Fast together by the tail!

It really is quite shocking
How one's nerves he daily jars;
He puts pins into one's stockings,
And Cayenne in one's cigars.
You may guess that many another
Boyish trick he's daily at,
So I'll whip him for his mother,
As a tiresom little brat.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A Biblical Case in the Police Court.

The San Francisco Californian of August 11, has the following:

Yesterday morning a strange fish turned up in the calaboose, and when the prisoners were introduced to Judge Rix he took his seat in the prisoners' corner and looked the personification of an injured and outraged individual.—A tear occasionally glistened in his cold gray eye as he listened to the narrative of crime that has become a household word to those whose duty calls them to the calaboose and Police court. He was dressed in a suit that had probably once been black, but which the accumulation of dust and wear of many years had changed to a dull leaden hue. The features of the individual were large and prominent, Grecian nose indicating his character, perhaps, as plainly as if it had been written in black and white upon his broad forehead, from which the hairs were brushed back over the top of the cranium. Finally, the case of Ezekiel Kimball was called, when our friend rose up, and exclaimed in a sepulchral voice:

'Behold, oh Lord, for I am in distress; my bowels are troubled, my heart is turned within me, for I have grievously rebelled. They have heard that I sigh; there is none to comfort me, all mine enemies have heard of my troubles; they are glad that thou hast done it.'

You are charged with assault and battery on your wife, Susan Kimball; are you gilty or not guilty?

'A man hath joy by the answer of his mouth, and a word spoken in due season, how good it is.'

'Are you guilty?' inquired the bailiff.

'As a madman who casteth firebrands, arows and death.'

'He says, your honor, that he is crazy, ht I don't believe him.'

'A lying tongue hateth those afflicted by it; and a flattering mouth worketh ruin.'

'He says I lie, I may have been mistken your honor, in reporting his plea, ht I did not do so intentionally.'

'A fool's mouth is his destruction, and his lips are the smoke of his own mouth.'

'Call the witnesses,' said his honor, and a small timid-looking little body took the stand and was sworn, when the prisoner broke out with:

'It is better to dwell in the corner of the housetop, than with brawling woman and in a wide house.'

The woman proceeded, and narrated how the accused slapped and pinched her, and was declaring that it was not his first offence, when she was interrupted by the prisoner, who declared that:

'A false witness shall not go unpunished, and he that speaketh lies shall perish.'

She became the least bit excited, and retorted:

'Excellent speech becometh not a fool, much less do lying lips a Prince.'

The court stopped the colloquy by ordering the prisoner to appear for sentence, who when he heard the words fall from the lips of the magistrate, exclaimed:

'Judgments are prepared for scorners, and stripes for the backs of fools.'

The bailiff ordered him to go below, and as he disappeared down the steps leading to the calaboose, he uttered:

'Wrath is cruel, and anger is outrageous; but who is able to stand before envy?'

True and Brave Words.

The fourth annual report of the Union League of Philadelphia is published, from which we copy the closing paragraphs. They are good, strong brave words which we hope are not needed by either Congress or the people. The report concludes:

Our duties are plain before us. In the possible struggle that may at no distant day arise between Congress and that body which was once our Administration, we shall stand with the Congress of our recent choice, rather than with the men who have betrayed us, and whom we have also repudiated.—Rumors come to us from the Capitol that it is the design of the Executive to seek some means of reconciliation between himself and our faithful representatives. Trust him not! The friendship of such a man is the most dangerous thing about him. The first treachery may be his crime, but the second act will be the folly of his victims. With our overwhelming majorities in both branches of Congress, we have no need for his services beyond that limit which the Constitution imposes upon him. We all know what would be the consequences of his infringement of that sacred document. Warnings are already in the air that he may heed or not, according to the measure of his wisdom. The position of the Union party during the continuance of his term of office is an assured one, from which we cannot be driven, and should not be seduced. We have had enough of compromises. The Missouri Compromise, which now almost belongs to our ancient history, was a proof of the short-sightedness of those who tamper with truth and justice for the sake of temporary peace. Whenever a lie or a false principle arises in the land let us strike it down; and the sooner the blow falls and the battle is fought out 'on that line,' the better for all concerned in the contest. To postpone the evil day is to double the volume of its wrath.

If we Americans have not taken these truths to heart, we have fought through a long war, and gained great results in the struggle, but we have gathered little wisdom by the way. The questions between us and the people of the south should be settled but in one way, by the inflexible advancement of the principles for which we fought, and by which they fell. This is the only solution of the difficulties which our people will tolerate, and it is therefore the only adjustment that can be permanent.—Let Congress stand by the time-tried principles of the Union party; let us stand by Congress in its efforts to put those principles into practice, and if that which we call 'truth' be not false in its own nature, all will be well with us, and in the long result of time all will be well with our unreflecting adversaries.

Never Travelled.

A story is told of an old lady who lived near Rochester, who had never travelled on or seen a railroad. Wanted to go on a visit to a small town a short distance from the city, she thought she would try one of the pesky things. So she went to the ticket office, carrying her reticule on one arm and an old fashioned rocking-chair on the other. She bought her ticket, walked out on the platform, put down her rocking chair, sat down in it, took out her knitting, and went to work diligently. Steadily she rocked and worked, trains coming in and leaving as the car time came round. The old lady made no attempt to get on the cars, but kept knitting.

The day drew to a close, and the night came on. The last train was about starting when the depot master went up and asked her if she was going out.

'Yes, sir,' replied the old lady.

'Hadn't you better get aboard, and secure a seat,' said the depot master.

'Thank you, sir, I'm very comfortable,' replied the elderly dame.

The train left. The master came round again. 'Madam, I shall have to disturb you; it is late: the trains have all left, and we must close the depot.—Shall I send you to a hotel?'

'Well,' exclaimed the old lady, dropping her knitting and holding up her hands, 'ain't the thing going to move? Here I brought my chair from home so as to have a seat, on which some pesky man couldn't squeeze himself. I've set here all day waitin' for the thing to go, and here I've had all my trouble for nothing. I thought it was a long time moving. I declare that these here railroads is the biggest nuisance and humbugs as ever was!' and the old lady, with a bag on one arm rocking-chair on the other, gave a toss of her head and marched off in high indignation.

She mistook the depot for the cars and expected to travel in it.

How to Fix the Clock.

When the clock stops, don't take it to the repair shop till you have tried as follows: Take off the pointers and the face; take off the pendulum and its wire. Remove the ratchet from the tick wheel and the clock will run down with great velocity. Let it go. The increased speed wears away the gum and dust from the pinions—the clock cleans itself. If you have any pure sperm oil, put the least bit on the axles. Put the machine together, and nine times in ten it will run just as well as if it had been taken to the shop. In fact this is the way that most shopmen clean clocks.—If instead of a pendulum the clock has a watch escapement, this latter can be taken out in an instant without taking the works apart, and the result is the same. It takes about twenty minutes to so clean a brass clock and saves a dollar.

Love and its Tragic Ending.

Nearly a year ago one of the first merchants of the city of New Orleans met and loved a woman of English birth, whom he believed to be a widow. His advances were favorably received, and after many happy hours passed in pleasant converse, the gentleman at length declared his passion. To his surprise and chagrin the lady, with many tears, informed him that her husband was not dead. A long story of unkindness, neglect, maltreatment and a separate maintainance was related. The fair one, with the utmost frankness, went into all the details of her wretched existence, and ended by hoping that a divorce suit then pending, would terminate in her favor.

The gentleman, encouraged by this confidence, and eager for the possession of such a treasure, insisted on her at once departing for England, and bountifully supplied the lubricating material for the rusty machinery of the courts. The journey was made, and in the course of a few weeks the bagatelle of $12 000 expended. Not many moons elapsed ere the lover was favored with a most tender epistle, conveying in the postscript intelligence of another draft for $10,000, which he would, of course, pay on presentation. The business of the law proved very expensive. Two more drafts for $10,000 each were forwarded to this country and promptly paid. The gentleman becoming alarmed at the enormous drain on his purse, ventured to remonstrate, and begged the lady, if possible, to conduct the business with more economy.

The communication in reply, dated Paris, quietly informed him that the suit had been decided against her, that she was tied forever to the object of her detestation, and that although she could never forget the disinterested friendship of the kindest of men, they must never again meet on earth.

The unhappy gentleman, maddened at his folly, and crippled in his business by the immense outlay of money, ended his existence by his own hand. Long after this tragedy the real creator of it presumes again to address the man she so wronged.—New Orleans Times.

Important to Business Men.

The following from the Pittsburg Gazette, as a sketch of a business house in that city, admirably illustrates our views on the subject:

"In a brief interview with one of our most liberal patrons, a few days since, we inquired his experience in the policy of advertising. We regard his answer as noteworthy, and commend it to the consideration of others. He said the same kind of business in which he was engaged had been carried on at that stand for ten years by one, and nearly ten by another predecessor. That these men gave diligent attention to their business, were sober and frugal, but spent nothing for advertising. They were just barely able to eke out a living.—That he bought out the concern ten years ago, and became debtor for the whole establishment. He felt poor, and only expended fifty dollars per annum in each of the business papers the first year; that subsequently he increased his expenses to several thousand dollers annually for advertising, and the result has demonstrated its marvelous utility, and he is to-day worth $175,000, and his annual profits are constantly increasing.

An Infernal Machine.

During the time President Johnson was in Pittsburg, a box was sent to him at the hotel where he was stopping.—Just about the time the President was going to open it, the idea that it was an infernal machine was suggested, much to the alarm of the party. The President ordered Gen. Custar to examine the box. The illustrious general, in company with others of the party, took the box to the court yard of the hotel, and turned a stream of water from the hydrant upon it, completely saturating the box and its contents. The crowd then hastily secured such bomb-proofs as they could fit up, and the box was thrown upon the ground and bursted open. There was no explosion, but an examination of the box showed that it contained—a dead Duck.

Things Pleasant to See.

The following are things pleasant to see! A workingman reading the newspaper; a real lady that can carry a parcel, a father at a place of amusement with his children; a young man with a clear eye and a fresh, virtuous, unhackneyed face; a shop girl neatly dressed, without sham-ornamentation; a man of business going home at night with a boquet for his wife; a shop man, civil to, and patient, with a poor woman, who, with a baby across her arm ventures to buy a shilling article; a dress maker who is scientific enough to perfect a 'fit,' and yet leave your breathing apparatus in christian working condition; a milliner who didn't come from Paris; a jolly domestic who 'likes the family;' a bride with her pet small house; a young father with his first boy.

Drinking by the Acre.

'Come in and take a drink, eh?' said Tim M'Moran to John Nokes, as the latter was returning weary and worn from his day's labor

'No,' replied Nokes; 'I've made up my mind that I can do better with land than to drink it.'

'Who's asked you to drink land, I'd like to know?'

'Well, I find that every time I drink six-pence worth of liquor I drink more than a good square yard of land worth three hundred dollars an acre.'

BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL.

BALTIMORE, MD.

ESTABLISHED AS A REFUGE FROM QUACKERY.

The Only Place Where a Cure Can be Obtained.

DR. JOHNSTON HAS DISCOVERED THE most Certain, Speedy, and only Effectual Remedy in the World for Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Affections of the Kidneys and Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach, or Bowels—those Terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN

Especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of Young Men of the most excellent talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call upon me with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married Persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, being aware of Physical weakness, organic debility, deformities, &c., speedily cured.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS.

Immediately Cured and Full Vigor Restored.

This Dreadful Disease—which renders Life miserable and Marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms to both body and mind arise.—The system becomes Deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, a Wasting of the Frame, Coughs, Consumption, &c.

The Doctor's DIPLOMA hangs in his office

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with a derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE!

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgences and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsy, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded—Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated; having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption.

DR. JOHNSTON'S INVIGORATING REMEDY FOR ORGANIC WEAKNESS.

By this great and important remedy, Weakness of the Organs is speedily cured, and full vigor restored.

Thousands of the most nervous and debilitated, who had lost all hope, have been immediately relieved. All impediments to Marriage, Physical or Mental Disqualification, Nervous Irritability, Trembling, Weakness or Exhaustion of the most fearful kind, speedily cured by Dr Johnston.

YOUNG MEN

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice indulged in when alone—a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man the hope of his country, the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons MUST, before contemplating reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisition to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability can alone befriend him. He falls into the hands of ignorant and designing pretenders, who, incapable of curing, fleck his pecuniary substance, keep him trifling month after month, or as long as the smallest fee can be obtained, and in despair leave him with ruined health to sigh over his galling disappointment; or, by the use of that deadly poison, Mercury, hasten the constitutional symptoms of this terrible disease, such as affection of the Head, Throat, Nose, Skin, etc., progressing with frightful rapidity till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings by sending him to that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveller returns.

ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS.

The many thousands cured at this Institution with in the last eighteen years, and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston, witnessed by the reporters of the "Sun" and many other papers, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

Skin Diseases Speedily Cured.

Persons writing should send that portion of the Advertisement which describes Symptoms; also, be particular to enclose a Postage Stamp to be used on the reply and direct in the following manner: Dr. J. M. JOHNSTON, of the Baltimore Lock Hospital, Baltimore, Maryland. May 23, '65.—y

The Great Destroyer has come!

Appearance of the Asiatic Cholera in the United States!

THE ZINGARI BITTERS

The Only Sure Antidote for Disease!

As a Preventative it is Infallible!
As a Cure it is Certain!

The appearance of the Asiatic Cholera in the United States has given rise to the just apprehensions of all classes. The National Congress has appointed a special committee to ascertain what means are necessary to insure the proper quarantine at all the ports on the Atlantic coast, while the authorities in the great commercial cities on the sea-board are actively engaged in enforcing such sanitary measures as will secure the cleanliness and promote the healthfulness of the communities in their charge. These proceedings are all laudable. Cleanliness and temperance are the first great essentials necessary to safely guard against attacks from the Cholera, but greater than all these efforts of Congress, more potent than the proceedings of municipal bodies, and infallible beyond all doubt is the Great Zingari Bitters,

as a sure preventative of Cholera. The discoverer of the component part of this Bitters, an eminent Egyptian physician, had much experience in Egypt, where the Cholera rages with tremendous virulence. He had long seen and felt the want of some remedy which would strike at the root of the disease, and so prevent much of the suffering which the human family has been compelled to endure from this scourge. The result of his thoughts and labors at length presented themselves in the production of the wonderful

ZINGARI BITTERS.

It was not long before this Bitters was recognized and accepted in all parts along the Mediterranean coast, in the south of Europe, among the semi-civilized tribes of Africa, and by the ablest practitioners of the old world, as the only sure and certain preventative or cure for the Cholera. The ZINGARI BITTERS acts on the organs of excretion and secretion, keeping up a perfect balance between them. It is composed of the choicest roots and herbs, so nicely compounded that every organ is acted upon and put into tone. Its taste is pleasant and its effects prompt and lasting.

For travelers who are subject to all the changes of climate and water, the ZINGARI BITTERS is a companion that should never be left behind. It is for sale by all the druggists in the United States.

Soluble Pacific Guano.

200 LBS. SOLUBLE PACIFIC GUANO containing 70 lbs. animal matter yielding 7 to 8 lbs. ammonia.

Also 80 to 90 lbs. earthy bone Phosphate of lime. 30 lbs of which are soluble phosphate.

It combines all the advantages of the best brands of Super Phosphate, with those of Peruvian Guano.

By reason of its greater concentration, we recommend 20 per ct less by weight to be used per acre, than of any fertilizer costing the same per ton; and no more per acre than of those selling at 20 per ct. more per ton. Hence its economy.

This guano weighs 65 lbs. per bushel, hence in applying it farmers must be governed by weight and not by bulk, for it is much lighter than the Super Phosphates.—Every cargo duly inspected.

CONTAINING 53 per cent. of Phosphate of Lime, and 405 per cent. Ammonia.

It should be borne in mind that the Phosphate of Lime in this article being obtained exclusively from RAW BONES and a TRUE BIRD GUANO, there is NO PORTION of it INOPERATIVE, as in the case of SUPER PHOSPHATES made from MINERAL GUANOS, and being entirely SOLUBLE in the SOIL continues to IMPART its FERTILIZING qualities to the CROPS for YEARS.

The REMARKABLE SUCCESS which has attended its use in MARYLAND and part of VIRGINIA is a sufficient GUARANTY to induce those who have not tried it to do so.

The GRAIN CROP in this State where this FERTILIZER has been applied is supposed to have been INCREASED from 25 to 50 per cent. by its use, while for TOBACCO and GRASS LANDS its success has been EQUALLY DECIDED.

The price in Baltimore is uniform with the Manufacturer's Factory Price.
