Republican Plurality Of 7,000 In the Aggregate Vote of the State

Pennsylvania Republicans Concluded to Do Their Own Reforming and Elect Stuart Governor by About 100,000

Substantial Republican victories were won again in Tuesday's election in most of the States north of the Potomac and Ohio and west of the Mississippi rivers. There were side issues in a number of States on local affairs and some Democratic success in this respect, but the real objective was the Congress and the Republicans have nearly doubled their majority in the House of Representatives of the Fifty-eighth Congress and have increased their majority in the Senate of the Fifty-ninth Congress. The abnormal Republican majority in the House of Representatives of the Fifty-ninth Congress could not, of course, be maintained and the Democrats were even hopeful that it might be wiped out entirely. In this hope they have been sadly disappointed, while the most sanguine Republican did not anticipate a majority of more than fifty. The result is, therefore, exceedingly gratifying to the Republicans.

The next most gratifying feature of the result is the defeat of Wm. R. Hearst, the candidate of the Socialist-Democratic Coalition for Governor of New York. The policies advocated by Mr. Hearst are fraught with great danger to the internal peace of the country and his endorsement by the Democratic convention of New York, after his nomination by the Independence League, gave added force to this danger. His demagogic attitude won thousands of Republican workingmen to his support in the large cities of New York and his defeat was only accomplished by the votes of patriotic Democrats, more than counterbalancing Republican losses.

The Democrats elected Governors in Rhode Island, Minnesota, South Dakota and Wisconsin by small pluralities, but the Legislatures and most of the Congressmen in all four of these States are safely Republican.

The Republicans were successful in all the other States in which Governors were elected. Stuart in Pennsylvania received a plurality approximating 100,000 over Emery the Lincoln Republican-Democratic candidate.

Gov. Guild was re-elected in Massachusetts by over 31,000 plurality over Moran, the Democratic candidate.

The Republican State ticket in Illinois was elected by 120,000.

West Virginia gave a Republican majority of 18,000.

Nevada elected a Democrat to Congress.

California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Indiana, Michigan, Montana, Ohio, Utah, and other Northern States not named are Republican. The party representation in Congress, of each, will be found in a table published elsewhere in this issue.

The South is not entirely solid, the Republicans having elected one Congressman in Virginia and two in Tennessee.

In Maryland the Republicans lose the Third district, but [illegible]

THE RESULT IN CARROLL.

The result of Tuesday's election in Carroll county is disappointing to the Republicans who cast their ballots on the occasion. There was no personal objection, as far as we are informed, to the Republican candidate, on the part of any member of the party in the county. All recognized the worth and high character of Mr. Garrett and his superiority, in many respects, to his Democratic competitor. But many, notwithstanding this fact, were indifferent and failed to vote. Various causes which need not be recapitulated conspired to produce this condition, and Mr. Garrett need not feel that hostility to him, personally, on the part of any Republican, was a factor in the result.

WHY NOT GIVE REPRESENTATION?

The disfranchisement of Judge Harry M. Clabaugh places that gentleman in the lists of hundreds of other American citizens who are deprived of a voice in the selection of the officers charged with making or executing the laws of the country. This is an anomaly, though, doubtless, in accordance with the laws of the several States from which these citizens hail. It seems to be an especial hardship in the case of Judge Clabaugh, who has large interests in this county, maintains a furnished home here and occupies it with his family for four or five months every year. But his disfranchment is due to drastic an[illegible] which the court is, of course, bound to enforce. His exclusion and that of other District of Columbia officials from the lists of registered voters suggests the interrogatory which forms the caption of this article.

Is there any really good reason why citizens of the District of Columbia should not have representation in Congress and the right to elect at least one Presidential elector. Perhaps it will be answered that this cannot be done without also conceding two United States Senators to the District, and as there is no legislative body therein there is, therefore, no motion properly invested with constitutional authority to elect. That is true, of course, and it is also true that the people of the District cannot constitutionally vote for President and a member of Congress. It is not a thing impossible, however, to so amend the constitution as to confer the privilege suggested, and it would seem to be only justice to a large class of citizens, disfranchised by existing conditions, so to do.
