POETRY.

"THEY SAY!"

They say—Ah! well, suppose they do,
But can they prove the story true?

the country relat[illegible] the [illegible] who were dying in Mobile every hour from yellow fever. The man started off towards Dauphin street, carpet sack in hand; but had not proceeded far when a heavy hand was laid upon his shoulder, he suddenly stopped. Upon turning round, he met the cold, serious countenance of Dick, and it seemed to send a thrill of terror throughout his whole frame. After looking at him steadily for about a minute, Dick slowly ejaculated:

'Yes, you are the man Stand straight!'

With fear visible in his countenance, the poor fellow essayed to do as commanded.

'Straighter yet!' said Dick. 'There, that will do," and taking from his pocket a small tape measure, he stooped down and measured him from the toe of his boot to the crown of his hat, took a pencil and carefully noted the height in his pocket-book, to the utter amazement of the stranger; after which he measured him across the shoulders, and again noted the dimensions. He then looked the stranger firmly in the face and said:

'Sir I am very sorry that it is so, but I really will not be able to finish it for you before morning.'

'Finish what?' asked the stranger, endeavoring in vain to appear calm.

'Why, your coffin, to be sure! You see, I am the city undertaker, and the people are dying here so fast, that I can hardly supply the demand for coffins. You will have to wait until your turn comes, which will be to-morrow morning—say about 9 o'clock.'

'But what the d—l do I want with a coffin? I have no idea of dying!'

'You havn't eh? Sir you will not live two hours and a half; I see it in your countenance. Why, even now, you have a pain—a slight pain—in your back.'

'Y-yes, I believe I have,' replied the trembling hoosier.

'Exactly,' said Dick, 'and in your limbs, too!'

'Yes, stranger, you're right, and I begin to feel it in the back of my neck and head.'

'Of course you do, and unless you do something for it, you'll be dead in a short time, I assure you Take my advice, now, go back aboard, the boat, swallow down a gill of brandy, get into your stateroom and cover up with blankets. Stay there till you perspire freely, then leave here like lightning!'

Hoosier hurried on board the boat, and followed Dick's instructions to the letter. He says he will never forget the kindness of the tall man in Mobile who gave him such good advice.

The Creditor's Stratagem.

Four creditors started from Boston, in the same train of cars, for the purpose of attaching the property of a certain debtor in Farmington, in the State of Maine. He owed each one separately, and each one was suspicious of the object of the other, but dared not say a word about it. So they rode acquaintances, all talking upon everything except that they had most at heart. When they arrived at the depot at Farmington which was three miles from where the debtor did business they found nothing to 'put em over the road' but a solitary cab, towards which they all rushed.—Three got in and refused admittance to the fourth, and the cab started. The fourth ran and got up outside of the driver. He asked the driver if he wanted to sell his horse. He replied that he did not want to—that he was not worth more than fifty dollars, but he would not sell him for that. He asked him if he would not take a hundred dollars for him. 'It's,' said he. The four h man quickly paid over the money, took the reins and backed the cab up to a bank, slipped it from the harness, and tipped it up so that the door could not be opened, and then jumped upon the horse's back and rode off lickety switch, while the insiders were looking out of the window, feeling like singed cats. He rode to a lawyer's and got a writ made and served and his debt secured, and got back to the hotel just as the insiders came up puffing and blowing. The cabman soon bought back his horse for fifty dollars. The 'solid' men offered to pay the sum if the fortunate one, who found property sufficient to pay his own debt, would not tell of it in Boston.

A Terrific Scene.

A Minneapolis correspondent says:—As one of our citizens was approaching his house a day or two since at the usual hour of dinner time, on reaching a distance from the house to which the human voice could penetrate from within it, he heard issuing from within screams of the most unparalleled terror. So piercing were they that his heart sunk within him, and he pictured to himself the heads of his loved ones dabbled in blood, and some stalwart frame supporting the fiend "insanity" wielding cudgels, knives and axes among those he would sacrifice his own life to protect. He sprung forward to the rescue, rushed frantically into the parlor, and the scene which met his eyes beggars description. The sister of his youth, with one of his children frantically clasped in her arms, was standing upon the sofa, apparently on the verge of hysterics, and the wife of his bosom, with the other child in h r arms, was crouched upon the piano, and in the opposite corner of the room, oh, horror! panting with fright, was a mouse, entirely unconscious of the terror he was the cause of, and trembling only for his own safety.

Can't Cook.

It is a sad defect when young ladies are incapable of directing their own servants—shoes without soles, or wristbands without a shirt, are not more useless than one of these. One day shortly after his marriage, a young merchant went home, and seeing no dinner ready and his wife appearing anxious and confused, asked:

'What is the matter?'

'Nancy went off at ten o'clock this morning,' replied his wife, 'and the chambermaid knows no more about cooking a dinner than the man in the moon.'

'Couldn't she have done it under your direction?' inquired her husband, very coolly.

'Under my direction! I should like to see a dinner cooked under my direction.'

'Why so?' asked the husband in surprise

'You certainly do not think I could give direction,' replied the wife; 'how should I know anything about cooking?'

The husband was silent, but his look of astonishment perplexed and worried his wife.

'You look very much surprised,' she said, after a moment or two had elapsed.

'And so I am,' answered he, 'as much surprised as I should be to find the captain of one of my ships unacquainted with navigation. You don't know how to cook, and the mistress of a family! Jane, if there is a cooking school anywhere in the city, go to it and complete your education, for it is deficient in a very important particular.'

Give the Water A Chance.

Charley Ramsey is the bar-keeper, at the Massasoit House, Springfield, in old Bay tate. Charley is sound[illegible] ley can give a joke and take one li[illegible] philosopher. Charley got off a [illegible] thing the other day, during the N[illegible] al Horse show. The bar room wa[illegible] and the audience was appreciative [illegible] tall cadaverous Yankee, with a s[illegible] monious face, barring a slightly i[illegible] nated nose, approached Charley [illegible] hands upon abdomen, and with [illegible] countenance, said:

'I am sick—very sick! the wate[illegible] agree with me. Bar-keeper, give me a little brandy.'

Charley produced the bottle. Sanctimonious gent clasped the glass so as to obscure the contents with one hand, while with the other he poured it almost full of brandy, and then taking up the pitcher, was about to put two or three drops of water, when Charley interposed.

'My friend,' said he, 'you don't give the water a fair chance!'

The spectators 'came down,' and the sanctimonious gent subsided.

Curious Chinese Stories.

There is a well-known Greek story of a penniless man, going out with a rope to hang himself, found a purse of money, which induced him to throw the rope away, whereas the owner of the purse, coming back to look after his property, and finding only the rope instead, straightway hanged himself. A still more curious tale of a similar kind is told by the China papers. In the native city of Shanghia, the parents of a young lady lately married, having fallen into distressed circumstances, applied to her for assistance, and her husband allowed her to give them a coat for the purpose of being pawned. The daughter, however, being anxious to render further aid without her husbands knowledge, secreted $16 in the pocket of the coat. The old man did not discover this, and took it to the pawn broker, who, noticing the money in unfolding the garment, kept his counsel, and quietly advanced $2. Soon after, the husband discovered that the wife had given the $16 to her father, and made so much noise about it that the young lady disposed of herself by hanging.—In this way the news of the robbery committed by the pawnbroker became known to the parents, and the old mother took the matter so much to heart that she poisoned herself with opium.—Lastly, the pawnbroker, getting alarmed on hearing that his dishonesty had already caused two deaths, drowned himself in a well. This story is very characteristic of the Chinese feeling in regard to life, and similar incidents not unfrequently occur.

Some time ago, for instance, an accomplished young lady at Canton, who had been unfortunately married to a coarse and stupid husband, was bewailing her fate to a party of sisters and female cousins, and declared her intention of committing suicide. On this the other young ladies declared that, since such was married life, they would die too; and so the whole bevy of them joined hands together and walking into a fish pond deliberately drowned themselves. Again, three men imprisoned in Hong Kong goal, on a charge of piracy, determined to make away with themselves rather than have the bother of a trial. At some height in the cell where they were imprisoned, was a small window, guarded by two iron bars, and the problem which these worthies had to solve was, how the three of them were to be hanged upon the two bars. From the position in which they were found in the morning, it would seem that the third man had assisted the two others in hanging themselves from the bars by their tails; that then he had cut down one of them by gnawing through the tail with his teeth; and using his dead body as a stool, to be after wards kicked over, he had contrived to suspend himself. All this, too, was done so quietly as not to attract the notice of a sentry who was pacing outside beneath the window.

A Rich Scene in a Dental Office.

On Saturday last a full specimen of the feminine sex called at the office of Dr. Payne's steam dental works, and had a set of teeth made. After the masticators were adjusted to her mouth, the lady prepared to leave, and stated that she would call in the course of a week and settle the bill, but the doctor did not see it in that light, and demanded the greenbacks. The fair one declared that she had no money, but promised that if she would be allowed to take the teeth home, she would return in a few hours and bring the money; but on being required to leave the teeth till she returned with the cash, she made a dash for the door, and went down the stairs in two jumps.

Mr. George Arnold, the doctor's assistant, who is always in the office playing the agreeable, and ready to wait on the ladies, displayed his gallantry on this occasion by making the next best time down stairs in pursuit of the fugitive. At the front entrance her tilters caught on the door. Here George overtook and embraced her in a very affectionate manner. Dr. P., called to him not to hug her so hard, but suggested that he had better obtain the assistance of a star. On being released, the fair damsel went down Olive to Fourth, and down Fourth with the speed of an antelope, George putting in his best licks close at her heels, bare-headed. The flight continued to Myrtle street, where the masculine sex prevailed——the female "caved"—agreed to surrender—shelled out the money, and George returned out of breath, having eclipsed the fastest time ever make at the Lac[illegible]

BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL.

BALTIMORE, MD.

ESTABLISHED AS A REFUGE FROM QUACKERY.

The Only Place Where a Cure Can be Obtained.

DR. JOHNSTON HAS DISCOVERED THE most Certain, Speedy, and only Effectual Remedy in the World for Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Affections of the Kidneys and Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach, or Bowels—those Terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible,

YOUNG MEN

Especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of Young Men of the most excellent talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call upon me with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married Persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, being aware of Physical weakness, organic debility, deformities, &c., speedily cured.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS

Immediately Cured and Full Vigor Restored.

This Dreadful Disease—which renders Life miserable and Marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived the pleasure of healthy off spring, the most serious and destructive symptoms to both body and mind arise.—The system becomes Deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened. Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, a Wasting of the Frame, Coughs, Consumption, &c.

Office, 7 South Frederick Street,

☞No letters received unless postpaid and containing a stamp to be used on the reply. Persons writing should state age, and send portion of advertisement describing symptoms.

The Doctor's DIPLOMA hangs in his office

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with a derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE!

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgences and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsy, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption.

Mentally—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded—Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated; having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption.

DR. JOHNSTON'S INVIGORATING REMEDY FOR ORGANIC WEAKNESS.

By this great and important remedy Weakness of the Organs is speedily cured, and full vigor restored.

Thousands of the most nervous and debilitated, who had lost all hope, have been immediately relieved. All impediments to Marriage, Physical or Mental Disqualification, Nervous Irritability, Trembling, Weakness or Exhaustion of the most fearful kind, speedily cured by Dr. Johnston.

YOUNG MEN

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice indulged in when alone—a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man the hope of his country, the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability can alone befriend him. He falls into the hands of ignorant and designing pretenders, who, incapable of curing, fleck his pecuniary substance, keep him trifling month after month, or as long as the smallest fee can be obtained, and in despair leave him with ruined health to sigh over his galling disappointment; or, by the use of that deadly poison, Mercury, hasten the constitutional symptoms of this terrible disease, such as affection of the Head, Throat, Nose, Skin, etc., progressing with frightful rapidity till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings by sending him to that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveller returns.

ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS.

The many thousands cured at this institution within the last eighteen years, and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston, witnessed by the reporters of the "Sun" and many other papers, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

Skin Diseases Speedily Cured.

Persons writing should send that portion of the Advertisement which describes Symptoms; also, be particular to enclose a Postage Stamp to be used on the reply and direct in the following manner Dr. J. M. JOHNSTON, of the Baltimore Lock Hospital, Baltimore, Maryland. May 23, '66.—y

The Great Destroyer has come!

Appearance of the Asiatic Cholera in the United States!

THE ZINGARI BITTERS

The Only Sure Antidote for Disease!

As a Preventative it is Infallible! As a Cure it is Certain!

The appearance of the Asiatic Cholera in the United States has given rise to the just apprehensions of all classes. The National Congress has appointed a special committee to ascertain what means are necessary to insure the proper quarantine at all the ports on the Atlantic coast, while the authorities in the great commercial cities on the seaboard are actively engaged in enforcing such sanitary measures as will secure the cleanliness and promote the healthfulness of the communities in their charge. These proceedings are all laudable. Cleanliness and temperance are the first great essentials necessary to safely guard against attacks from the Cholera, but greater than all these efforts of Congress, more potent than the proceedings of municipal bodies, and infallible beyond all doubt is the Great Zingari Bitters,

as a sure preventative of Cholera. The Discoverer of the component part of this Bitters, an eminent Egyptian physician, had much experience in Egypt, where the Cholera rages with tremendous virulence. He had long seen and felt the want of some remedy which would strike at the root of the disease, and so prevent much of the suffering which the human family has been compelled to endure from this scourge. The result of his thoughts and labors at length presented themselves in the production of the wonderful

ZINGARI BITTERS.

It was not long before this Bitters was recognized and accepted in all parts along the Mediterranean coast, in the south of Europe, among the semi-civilized tribes of Africa, and by the ablest practitioners of the old world, as the only sure and certain preventative or cure for the Cholera. The ZINGARI BITTERS acts on the organs of excretion and secretion, keeping up a perfect balance between them. It is composed entirely of roots and herbs so nicely concocted that every organ is acted upon and put in tone. Its taste is pleasant and its effects prompt and lasting.

For travelers who are subject to all the changes of climate and water the ZINGARI BITTERS is a companion that should never be left behind. It is for sale by all the druggists in the United States.

LADIES' NEW

SHOE STORE

JUST OPENED IN

WESTMINSTER,

Between the Railroad and Reifsnider's Store, two doors West of Mrs. Shriner's Millinery Store.

The undersigned has just returned from the city of Philadelphia with the largest andsat selected Stock of Ladies', Misses, Children's and Gentlemen's Boots and Shoes ever brought to this market. My Stock consists in part of Ladies' and Misses Glove Kid Balmorals, Lasting Gaiters, Morocco Balmorals, Polish Boots, Oil Goat Balmorals, and Childrens Shoes of all sizes. Also, Gentlemen's Boots and Shoes, such as Men's Calf Custom-Made Boots, Congress Gaiters, Lace Boots, Brogans, Kip and Coarse Boots and Shoes of all kinds.

Being an experienced Manufacturer myself I have had all the above Stock made to order and for the express purpose to suit this market by a celebrated and well known Boot and Shoe Manufacturer of Philadelphia, which for style, finish, durability, comfort and elasticity to the feet, are superior to all others, and are the best fitting patterns that can be found.

I have taken great care in the getting up of my Stock, and can warrant every article to be what it is represented or the loss will be upon me. I therefore invite the especial attention of the Ladies and Gentlemen of Westminster and Carroll county to my Stock of Goods which will be sold at much lower figures than the same goods can be bought elsewhere.

Come one, come all, and examine for yourselves. No charges made for showing Goods.
