FOR PRESIDENT
HERBERT HOOVER, of California.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
CHARLES CURTIS,

HOOVER'S FARM PROGRAM

As usual, Herbert Hoover shows his remarkable faculty for getting to the bottom of things when he tackles the problem of farm relief. He is definite. He sees the need. He sees the difficulties. He has a program. Like the good economic engineer he is, he has surveyed the job in all its aspects and he has drawn the blueprints. And like a man who loves his work, he somehow gets over the idea that he and no one else, is the man to do it.

Never has a presidential candidate stated a problem more clearly, analyzed it more carefully, and asserted more earnestly his determination to solve it, than has the Republican nominee in discussing agricultural relief in his Speech of Acceptance.
