POETRY.

From the York County Star.

WE ARE NOT ALL HERE.

We are not all here—
But memory now is stealing,
Back to the sunlit happy hours of youth,
Awakening all its scenes of holier feeling,
And childhood's dreams of beauty and of truth.

We are not all here—
But memory, like an ocean,
Bears on its waves the wreck of pleasures dear,
And casts it off, with slow and melancholy motion,
Torn, crush'd and broke, with sullen murmur near.

We are not all here—
And yet the heart doth rove,
Back to our childhood's holier, happier hours,
When life to us was but a dream of love,
Lighted by stars and jeweled o'er with flowers.

We are not all here—
And ne'er can be again,
For some have ceased life's happy song to sing,
The harp is broken, and the silvery strain
Must needs be silent on the shattered string.

We are not all here—
But when life's fleeting even,
Breaks mid the glories of Eternal day,
Then shall we meet in our sweet home in heaven,
There meet again, never more to stray.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Turning from Error to Truth.

The following interesting case of the conversion of a Roman Catholic Priest is reported in the north of England newspapers: The Rev. Tobias de Reme Bolton, a Romish Priest in Newcastle-upon-Tyne, waited upon the Rev. C. T. Fox, last Sunday evening, in order to renounce in his presence the errors of Popery. He produced his letters of Priest's orders, and also a letter of good character up to the present time, signed by his Bishop—so that whatever attempts may be made to blacken his character, it is evident that he is of good standing and unblemished reputation with his own denomination, up to the time of his renunciation. He stated likewise, that it was his intention immediately to marry a lady who had been brought up in the Romish faith, but, like himself, had had her eyes open to see the errors of the system. This event took place on Tuesday, when Mr. Bolton was married by the Vicar of Newcastle, to Miss Stokoe, niece of the Coroner for that town. Mr. Bolton stated that it was the immorality of the system, especially as displayed in the disgusting details of the confessional, which first opened his eyes to the unscriptural character of the Church of Rome.

Outrage by a Roman Catholic Bishop.

We have just learned, from a very respectable source, says the Franklin county (Vt.) Journal, of a most atrocious outrage upon individual rights and property by a Roman Catholic Bishop, which is in substance as follows:

On Tuesday last, the Roman Catholic Bishop of Vermont, now residing at Burlington, visited Highgate for the purpose, as it appears, of obtaining title to the church and lot recently built at Highgate Falls. Four individuals, who were Irishmen and Roman Catholics, refused to deed the Bishop their right and interest in a said church—whereupon the Bishop threatened them with immediate excommunication and denunciation of the Romish Church, but all this did not overawe those who ventured to think and act independent of his Holiness,—when the Bishop at once proceeded to excommunicate and administer Ecclesiastic Denunciation upon the four persons who refused to obey his holy mandate. But the matter did not rest here,—His Holiness sent for an axe and crow-bar, and tore the four pews up and threw them from the church. We understand legal proceedings have been commenced against this law violating priest.

Brooks Sustained at Home.

A large meeting of citizens at Columbia, S. C., sustained Brooks for his assault upon Senator Sumner. Strong resolutions were adopted approving his conduct. Don't this look like South Carolina was degenerating?

☞ The steamer Asia sailed from New York on the 28th for Liverpool. She took out 170 passengers and $160,000 in specie.

☞ Fifty thousand herring were taken at Chappagonansett Creek, Holmes' Hole, Mass., a few days ago. Over 300,000 have been taken there this season.

For the Sentinel.

On Dress.

The object of Dress is four-fold: 1st, it is designed as a covering. 2nd, as a means of warmth; 3d, as a defence; 4th, to improve our appearance. These purposes of dress should all be considered, and in the order here presented. That dress, which best answers all these purposes combined, both as respects the material and the form or fashion, is unquestionably the best and most appropriate.

It is certain [illegible] that the impression which a person's first appearance makes upon the minds of those around him are deep and permanent; and the subject should receive a measure of our attention, on this account. It is only a slight tax which we pay for the benefits of living in civilized society. When, however, we sacrifice every thing else to appearance, we commit a very great error, we make that first in point of importance, which should be fourth.

Let your dress be as cheap as may be without shabbiness, and endeavour to be neither first nor last in fashion. Think more about the cleanliness, than the gloss or texture of your clothes. Be always as clean as your occupation will permit; but never for one moment believe that any human being who has good sense, will love or respect you merely on account of a fine and costly coat. Extravagance in the haunting of play-houses, in horses, in every thing else, is to be avoided, but in young men, extravagance in dress particularly. This sort of extravagance, this waste of money on the decoration of the body, arises solely from vanity, and from vanity of the most contemptible sort. It arises from the notion, that all the people in the street, for instance, will be looking at you as soon as you will walk out; and that they will, in a greater or less degree, think the better of you on account of your fine dress.

Never was a notion more false. Many sensible people, has happened to see you, will think nothing at all about you, those who are filled with the same vain notion as you are, will perceive your attempt to impose on them, and despise [illegible]

Rich people will wholly disregard you, and you will be envied and hated by those who have the same vanity that you have, without the means of gratifying it.

Dress should be suited, in some measure, to our condition. A surgeon or physician need not dress exactly like a carpenter; but, there is no reason why any body should dress in a very expensive manner. It is a great mistake to suppose, that they derive any advantage from exterior decoration.

For after all, men are estimated by other men according to their capacity and willingness to be some way or other useful; and, though, both the foolish and vain part of women's fine clothes frequently as something, yet the greater part of the sex are much too penetrating to draw their conclusions, solely from the outside appearance. They look deeper, and find other criterions whereby to judge. Even if fine clothes should obtain you a wife, will they bring you in that wife, frugality, good sense, and that kind of attachment which is likely to be lasting?

Natural beauty of person is quite another thing; this always has, it always will and must have, some weight even with men, and great weight with women. But, this does not need to be set off by expensive clothing. Females eyes are, in such cases, discerning; they can discover beauty though surrounded by rags; and, take this as a secret, worth half a fortune to you, that women, however vain they may be themselves, despise vanity in men. IN SHORT, ALL FINERY IS A SIGN OF LITTLENESS.

ABSENCE.

Mr. Fillmore.

Several of the leading opposition journals in the interior of New York assert with the utmost confidence, that Mr. Fillmore can carry that State. The Albany Statesman describes him as eminently the man for the times, and calculated to satisfy and pacify the country, from one extremity of the Union to the other. The Milledgeville (Georgia) Recorder, an old line whig journal, which has heretofore refrained from taking position in favor of Mr. Fillmore, now comes out in the strongest manner, and thus refers to the letter of Mr. Haven.

It removes all doubt in regard to the position of Mr. Fillmore, and his acceptance of the nomination. Mr. F. always has stood by his country. He will do so still. He will sink or swim with those national conservative Union men, who stood by him and the Constitution in 1850, and saved the country from disruption and anarchy. Unless we greatly mistake the signs of the times, the country will now stand by him. Factions, sectionalism, fanaticism, and war against him, but the honest and patriotic masses, who love country more than party, will rally to the support of Fillmore and Donelson, the people's candidates; and with the "Constitution and the Union" as their battle cry, they have in prospect a glorious victory.

The Political Fact of the Day.

The man of the Country—the great and solid business and middling classes—are moving firmly and silently forward in support of Fillmore and Donelson.

Democratic.

The model Democracy have become notorious for their abuse and defamation of all native born Americans who have, with patriotic virtue, combined together for the preservation of our glorious constitution, and who have rallied around our sacred Union with a firm determination to preserve it whole from the insidious designs of political and ecclesiastical Demagogues, who, with the aid of their foreign allies, would sell their country for a mess of pottage, and strangle the genius of Liberty in their unprincipled scramble for spoils and power.—Language fails to give expression to the bitter animosity of the Foreign party.—The vilest epithets are too mild and virtuous to be applied to native born Americans. Those most loud in their denunciations of the American party are the Bar-Room and store-box politicians of the Democracy—the echoes and cats paws of the party. They but echo the commands of their leaders. There is no class of politicians whom we more dislike to come in contact with, than those above named, nevertheless we had the misfortune to come in collision with one of them the other day. He pitched into us like a young earthquake, denouncing the American party in the democratic sterotyped phrases, of "cut throats, church burners, woman roasters, blackguards, theives, abolitionists," &c. We let him blow off his gas, which was sufficient to have driven an ordinary steam engine, and then we very quietly told him that we were very much obliged to him for his gentlemanly language, and good opinion of the American party; but that we were happy to inform him that we were long ago aware that the epithets which he applied to the American party, were intensely DEMOCRATIC, and sufficiently decorous in the estimation of all store-box politicians, for application to all members of the American party.—With that he made his exit.

How he Should be Run.

Most fully and heartily do we subscribe to the following sentiment of the Alabama Journal. As Millard Fillmore showed himself every inch the President of the whole people, and not the tool of party or faction, [illegible] people in the pending contest:—

"Let him be run as Millard Fillmore," says the Journal, "and on the principles declared in practice in his Administration, testing his views and principles by the plain and enduring record of his acts, not by vague generalities on paper.

Mr. Fillmore running on his own merits and on his own principles, as tested by his Administration, will concentrate all the elements of the opposition, and his success is certain."

Singular Larceny.

John Slabach, Sr., and his four sons were tried for larceny in Lancaster co., court a few days since. It appears that Jacob Hartman, of Brecknock township, not having much faith in banking institutions, had deposited money in a box in the woods to the amount of seven hundred dollars; this Slabach and his four sons finding, the father appropriated to his own use. Slabach, Sr., was convicted and sentenced to six months imprisonment in the county jail. The others were acquitted.

A Spaniard sent his son to the University of Salamanca, and told him to study economy and eat beef rather than poultry. On arriving, the young gentleman asked the price of cow. "About twenty dollars." "And partridges." "Twenty-five cents." "I must live on partridges," said he, "they are decidedly the cheaper of the two."

What flatterers of power some of the noblest poets have been? Spencer gives his heroines golden hair—not flaxen or foxy, mind, but golden; and Shakespeare makes his women swear a little now and then. Queen Elizabeth was a rousing swearer, on occasions, and her hair was of a coarse reddish color.

A learned writer says of books—"They are masters who instruct us without rods or ferules, without words or anger, without bread or money. If you approach them, they are not asleep; if you seek them, they do not hide; if you blunder, they do not scold; if you are ignorant, they do not laugh at you."

"Phillura, dear," said a loving husband to his loyal spouse, who was several years the junior, "what do you say to moving west?" "Oh, I'm delighted with the idea. You recollect when Mr. Morgan moved out there he was poor, and he died in three years, worth a hundred thousand dollars."

Religion, in a general sense, is properly the comprehension and acknowledgement of an unseen spiritual power and the soul's allegiance to it; and Christianity, in its particular sense, is the comprehension and appreciation of the personal character of Christ, and the heart's allegiance to that.

The meanest man in the world lives out in West Troy. In helping him out of the river once, a man tore the collar of his coat; the next day he sued him for assault and battery.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES! SECRETS FOR THE MILLION

A Most Wonderful and Invaluable Publication.

DR. HUNTER'S MEDICAL MANUAL,

Being an Original and Popular Treatise on

MAN AND WOMAN:

Their Physiology, Functions and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with never failing Remedies for the speedy cure of all diseases of a private and delicate character, incident to the violation of the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

THE Author of the above volume is a graduate of one of the first medical schools in the United States and having devoted a quarter of a century to the study and treatment of Syphilis and kindred disorders as a specialty, he has become possessed of most valuable information in regard to the same, and is able to compress into vade mecum compass the very quintessence of medical science on this important subject; where all of the experience of the most eminent physicians in Europe and America is thoroughly demonstrated in his own highly successful practice in the treatment of secret diseases in many thousand of cases in the city of Philadelphia alone.

The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is literally unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons he has been induced to extend the sphere of his professional usefulness to the community at large, through the medium of this Medical Manual and Hand Book for the Afflicted.

It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, whether used as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited upon mankind for the sins of sensuality and impurity of every kind.

It is a volume that has achieved the unqualified recommendation of the first physicians in the land, while many clergymen, fathers, mothers, philanthropists, and humanitarians, have most freely extended its circulation in all quarters where its powerful teachings would be likely to be instrumental in the moral purification and physical healing of multitudes of our people, among the young, volatile and indiscreet, otherwise the pride and flower of the nation.

The author argues particularly, most strongly against every species of self-defilement, and warns parents and guardians, in searching terms, to guard the young of both sexes from the terrible consequences concomitant of their ignorance of physiological laws and sexual impurities and irregularities, whether exhibited by precocious development or arising from vicious and corrupting examples of their schoolmates or otherwise. To those who have been already ensnared to the "paths that take hold on hell," a clear and explicit way is shown by which they may secure a return of sound health, and regeneration of the soul from its terrible pollution.

It is well known that thousands of victims are annually sacrificed at the shrine of Quackery—especially those suffering from Venereal or Syphilitic dismal maladies which spring directly or less remotely from the indulgence of carnal passions and sad violations of Nature.

In view of these facts, and when it is considered that about 100,000 persons die annually in the United States of Consumption—a large majority be[illegible] ing the victims of the voluptuous indulgence of their progenitors, agreeably to the Scriptural denunciation that the sins of the parents are visited on the children, even to the third and fourth generation—The author, imbued with sentiments of enlarged philanthropy, will scarcely be censured for any effort to restrain the vices of the age, by the humble instrumentality of his Medical Manual.

One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address, post-paid, COSDEN & CO., Publishers, box 197, Philadelphia.

IMPORTANT TO WHEAT GROWERS! THE SPRING-TOOTH STUBBLE RAKE.

THE Subscriber, having purchased the right for the above named Implement for Frederick, Washington, Carroll, Montgomery and Howard Counties, in Maryland, invites the attention of Farmers to the annexed certificates and references, and informs the public, that he is now manufacturing the Rakes, and will have them for sale in the above named Counties, in time for the coming harvest. It is needless to enumerate the advantages of

The Spring-Tooth Stubble Rake,

as it has in thousands of instances demonstrated itself to be invaluable; so that no one instance is known, in which a farmer would relinquish its use for thrice the price paid for it; but he prefers to let a few of those who have used these Rakes, speak to their brother farmers on the subject.

Communications addressed to the Subscriber, at Winchester, Virginia, or to Jonathan Tyson, Esq., B. & O. Railroad Depot, Frederick, Md., will receive prompt attention. J. W. BARLEY.

CERTIFICATES.

Frederick City, Md., July 2d, 1855.

Having observed an advertisement in our Frederick papers, setting forth the value of the Spring-Tooth Horse Rake as an agricultural implement, (particularly needed at this season,) and being struck with its adaption to rough land, I determined to test it; and by permission of Mr. John W. Barley, the proprietor for Frederick, Washington, and Carroll Counties, I this day procured one at the Frederick depot from Mr. Tyson, and fully testify that it works admirably, and after a severe trial of its strength and elasticity, remained sound and perfect; I therefore heartily recommend it to farmers as something that will pay.

A RITCHIE.

Frederick County, Sept. 18, 1855.

Mr. J. W. Barley—Dear Sir: I purchased and used during the past harvest one of your Spring-Tooth Horse Rakes, and I do cheerfully certify that I saved three times as much wheat from the same quantity of land, and with the same kind of work done, as I have been in the habit of saving with the best revolving rake.

J. D. EICHELBERGER.

February 13th, 1856.

This is to certify, that we have used Barley's steel Spring-Tooth Grain Rake, and say that it is the best Rake of the kind to take up grain that we have ever used, and would respectfully recommend it to the [illegible]

JACOB NICKEL.

Middletown Valley, Md.

With reluctance, I took one of the Spring Tooth Horse Rakes to try last harvest, and I do not think any one could have made me believe they were the article recommended, until I used one. Upon examining them, I supposed they would tear all my clover up, but upon trial, I found it the only thing I ever tried to answer the purpose completely; and I immediately sent for another, deeming them superior to any ever used.—They rake and double the wheat. Any boy can rake with them, and I believe, rake three times as much wheat as with the Revolving rake, or any other I ever used.

JOSEPH L. HUFFER.

☞ Reference is also made to the following farmers of Frederick county, who have used the Spring-Tooth Stubble Rake, and certified to its advantages:—John Leather, Urbanna; John Degrange; Lewis Castle, James T. Day, J. N. Chiswell, John McPherson, of Wm., Frederick city; John Herring, of C., and Hanson Safer, Middletown; Jacob Walker, Peter Eruner, Isaac Michael, Thomas Sim, John Baker, and H. Baker, Liberty; Chas. S. Simmons, Buckeystown; John H. Allnutt, L. A. Thomas, James L. Davis, John A. H. Cunningham and William Richardson. [May 2,–3m.
