TO THE PUBLIC.

In view of the many inquiries that have been most naturally made during the past week, it becomes our duty to make a frank statement to the public.

Because of the fact that a number of persons are interested in the AMERICAN SENTINEL and job printing office; for the protection of all these interests the undersigned were by the Circuit Court for Carroll County, sitting as a Court of Equity, appointed Receivers, and will continue the publication of the AMERICAN SENTINEL and all the work of the office, under the same business and editorial management that existed before the death of Mrs. E. J. Rippard.

So far as the interests of the public are concerned there is no change whatever in the conduct of the office, and we solicit the continued patronage of subscribers and advertisers, assuring them that they will receive as in the past, faithful and efficient service.

OLD TIMES, OLD FRIENDS, OLD LOVE.

BY EUGENE FIELD.

There are no days like the good old days,
The days when we were youthful!
When humankind were pure of mind,
And speech and deeds were truthful;
Before a love for sordid gold
Became man's ruling passion,
And before each dame and maid became
Slave to the tyrant Fashion!

There are no girls like the good old girls—
Against the world I'd stake 'em!
As buxom and smart, and clean of heart
As the Lord knew how to make 'em!
They were rich in spirit and common sense,
And piety all supportin';
They could bake and brew, and had taught school, too,
And they made such likely courtin'!

There are no boys like the good old boys—
When we were boys together!
When the grass was sweet to the brown bare feet
That dimpled the laughing heather;
When the pewee sang to the Summer dawn
Of the bee in the billowy clover,
Or down by the mill the whip poor-will
Echoed his right song over.

There is no love like the good old love—
The love that mother gave us!
We are old, old men, yet we pine again
For that precious grace—God save us!
So we dream and dream of the good old times
And our hearts grow tenderer, fonder,
As those dear old dreams bring soothing gleams
Of heaven away off yonder.

A Good Cement.

A strong cement which may be used for mending stone jars, stopping leaks in kettles, to fasten in lamp tops and for all sorts of other purposes is made of glycerine and litharge made to the consistency of thick cream. This cement will resist the action of hot and cold water and is well adapted for the mending of all sorts of things which are intended for use as well as for ornament and therefore are supposed to be fit for hard wear. The one point to be remembered is that the cement takes a long time to dry. So after the repair has been made it is well to set the jar or whatever it may be away on a shelf for a week or more that the cement may become perfectly hard before it is used.

Servant (to boarder)—Mrs. Jones says she'd like to have her room-rent when it is convenient.

Boarder—Tell Mrs. Jones, she needn't worry; that's when she'll get it.'

Fond Mother—'Don't you think my daughter's voice should be brought out?'

Musical Critic—'No, pushed back.'

A Brown Whitewash.

It may seem as much a misnomer to speak of brown whitewash as of a white blackberry, but the United States uses a wash that gives a brownish white, not so glaring to look upon when new as a lime wash, and it is claimed to be more durable and to resist water much better. Take three parts of good hydraulic cement, not necessarily the very highest grade and one part of clean, fine sand and mix well with cold water. Wet the surface to be covered, whether wood, stone, or brick, and then apply the wash before the surface dries, which will make it adhere better. Keep well stirred while using.

Too Busy to Grow.

A small office boy, who had worked in the same position for two years on a salary of two dollars per week, finally plucked up enough courage to ask for an increase in wages.

'How much more would you like to have?' inquired his employer.

'Well,' answered the lad, 'I don't think two dollars more a week would be too much.'

'Well, you seem to be a rather small boy to be earning four dollars a week,' remarked his employer.

'I suppose I do. I know I'm small for my age,' the boy explained; 'but to tell you the truth, since I've been here I haven't had time to grow.'

He got the raise.—St. Nicholas.

Lawyer—'Would you believe the sworn testimony of this man?'

Witness—'Certainly not, sir.'

Lawyer—'And why not?'

Witness—'Because, sir, that man hates to tell the truth. He always did. We were boys together, and he used to cry when the teacher made him say two and two made four.'

Lawyer—'Anything else?'

Witness—'Oh, yes. Once he was ill, and described the symptoms so that the doctor prescribed for a sprained ankle when he was suffering from neuralgia in the head.'

Lawer—'That will do.'—Tid-Bits.

If you go in swimmin' said Tommy's younger brother, I'll tell maw!

Tell 'er if you want to, you nasty little muck raker! blurted Tommy, plunging into the water.
