SATURDAY MORNING..... JULY 26, 1884.

The Difference.

Rev. R. W. Todd is the poet of the Wilmington Conference. He read a commemoration poem at the memorial service recently held at North East. It is a meritorious poem, comparing modern things with those of times past, Mr. Todd says:

"In these busy times, men live so fast,
So push and crowd and cram at life's repast,
That they have little time for inclination
To linger at the fount of free salvation.
If, to hear Twain or Perkins, they a shilling
Pay; then, for ninety minutes, they are willing
To swelter through the ordeal, and esteem it
Too short. But the same audience will deem it
A heartless outrage, if the Heaven-sent legate
Intent on saving them should, by this, belate
Their dinners fifteen minutes. Thus, we see
That what men please to call the great disparity
'Tween preaching old and modern, is the rarity
Of old time appetites, and old time charity."

EARNING THEIR PIN MONEY.

Women who Make Small Sums in a Very Tedious Way.

A woman with a white cloth wrapped about her head tossed a huge basket filled with rags on top of a barrel in a low shanty on Washington street near Market. Then she transferred it to her shoulder and staggered off with it to an inner apartment. She was barefooted and wore a ragged gown. Presently she came back with an empty basket and began filling it from the piles of rags which lay on the floor. Two other barefooted women, with baskets and heads done up with white cloths, followed her in and went to picking over the rags.

"They are looking for pins," said the proprietor of the rag-shop to the reporter who stood by him at the open window of the shanty. "I give them all they find among the rags, and they find lots of them. Each of the women finds a pin every two or three minutes. The bosoms of their dresses will be stuck full of pins by the time they get through with their day's work."

"What do they do with so many?" the reporter asked.

"They sell them. There are plenty of little laundries and dress-making establishments that will buy second-hand pins at about half the rates of new ones."

"How much can one of these women make out of pins in one day?"

"Never more than five cents, but that is enough to make her happy."—Chicago News.

An Intelligent Bird.

In Germany the stork is a very familiar sight. The female stork usually builds her nest and raises her young in the tower of a village church. The birds are never harmed, hence they return every year. It is customary in Germany to appease the curiosity of children in regard to any increase in the family by telling them that the stork brought the newly-arrived little stranger, and the young children implicitly believe the legend. One morning the head of a family said to his little boy: "The stork brought you a little brother last night." "Yes, I know it already," replied the boy. "How did you come to know it?" "I heard you tell the stork, just as he was going to fly away, that he had better take your umbrella, as it was raining."

The Way to Dig Potatoes.

I will give a very simple and easy way to dig potatoes. It is my plan, and I think it is the best in the world, where a farmer does not raise enough to justify him in buying a potato digger. Take a litter or four-prong manure fork and push it under the hills of potatoes, then with a slight effort and a simple twist of the wrist, turn the hill upside down, and nothing remains to be done but to pick up the roots. It makes no difference how grassy the patch may be, this plan works like a charm, either for Irish or sweet potatoes, and the potatoes are saved without a cut or bruise.—Maryland Republican.

BARBED WIRE FENCES FOR TELEPHONE LINES.—Mr. Sedgewick Davis writes to the Baltimore Sun to say that he attached a telephone to a barbed wire fence half a mile long, after making a circuit of about two miles, over which he talked very well indeed. He says: "I believe every line of barbed wire can be used with telephone, and if the wire is of good quality, long distances can be covered as well as not. I predict that ere long railroad companies will use their barbed wire fences in this way, and that farmers and others will follow suit." An experienced practical electrician at the head of one of the largest telephone companies, says the Sun, believes that under ordinary circumstances a barbed wire fence could be used for transmitting telephonic messages without any special preparation, but that in wet weather some insulation of the wire would probably be necessary. The whole thing could only be determined by experiment. He thought farmers would so utilize their fences.

IN a brief address before the Young Men's Democratic Club, of Albany, N. Y., Governor Cleveland closed by saying:

To reach the sober thought of the nation and to dislodge an enemy intrenched behind spoils and patronage involves a struggle which, if we underestimate, we invite defeat. I am profoundly impressed with the responsibility of the part assigned to me in this contest. My heart, I know, is in the cause, and I pledge you that no effort of mine shall be wanting to secure the victory which I believe to be within the achievement of the Democratic hosts. Let us, then, enter upon the campaign now fairly opened, each one appreciating well the part he has to perform, ready with solid front to do battle for better government, confidently, courageously, always honorably, and with a firm reliance upon the intelligence and patriotism of the American people.

MANY of the white evening dresses now seen so much at the seashore are extremely costly, and two or three hundred dollars' worth of lace trimming is not considered an extravagance. Their beauty is much enhanced by the gleam of soft-lined silk beneath, upon which the creamy null gauze or nun's veiling is mounted.

"FINE morning, Your Honor," affably remarked the man who was arrested the night before for being drunk and disorly. "Yes, indeed," heartily responded the Justice; "quite a fine morning; in fact, a $10 fine morning."—Detroit Free Press.

A CONNECTICUT MAN has invented a temperance tester. It is so constructed as to tell how much a man may drink, and still be a temperance brother.

"SUNNYSIDE" PURE BONE AND DISSOLVED PHOSPHATE

Price $30.00 per Ton of 2,000 Pounds. New Bags, 167 Pounds Each.

To those desiring a Dissolved Bone Phosphate, without Ammonia, the action of which is superior to most articles sold as Acid Phosphate or South Carolina Bone, we offer our

"SOLUBLE PHOSPHATE & POTASH FERTILIZER."

Price $20.00 per Ton of 2,000 Pounds. New Bags, 167 Pounds Each.

The above brands are sold and delivered, 12 bags to the ton, and in fine and dry condition for drilling. EXTRA MOISTURE IN A FERTILIZER ADDS TO THE COST.

You should count the cost of the Fertilizer by the cost per acre. As the soil requires more of a lower priced Fertilizer to the acre than one of a higher grade, the consequence is that the extra quantity required, the extra labor in applying it, and the poor results obtained, make the lower grade of goods more costly.

With perfect confidence we refer buyers to all who have applied our Fertilizers.
