Wreck of the Steamer Hungarian.

Another Terrible Catastrophe.—A large screw steamship was on Sunday week, lost upon a ledge of rock to the east of Cape Sable. The vessel was observed from the shore, but as the sea was running very high at the time, it was impossible to communicate with those on board; and during Monday, as the vessel broke up and settled before the eyes of the spectators, conjecture was at a loss to identify the unfortunate ship. On Tuesday, however, it was ascertained that the steamship Hungarian, which left Liverpool on the 8th, was the lost vessel.

A rumor obtained currency in N. Y. on Wednesday, to the effect that fifty persons had been rescued, but it was without any foundation whatever. Its origin could not even be traced. The crew of the lost vessel amounted to 110, which includes about 40 waiters. As this number was somewhat reduced at the present season, it is probable the crew did not exceed 100 persons. She had accommodations for 150 cabin and 300 steerage passengers. There is no reason to hope that any of those on board survive.

☞ A very intelligent and attractive young lady, named Clara Fisher, was sentenced at Buffalo last Friday, to four years and six months' imprisonment at Sing Sing, for larceny at a dry goods store, committed while pretending to purchase.

E PLURIBUS UNUM

WESTMINSTER:

FRIDAY, MARCH 2, 1860.

WOOD!

WE are in want of Wood. Will some of our kind friends who are indebted to us for subscription or jobbing, be good enough to bring us a load or two immediately? Feb. 10

☞ The Legislature of this State will adjourn on the 10th inst.

☞ We are again placed under obligations to our Senator, the Senator from Frederick County, and our representatives in the Legislature for numerous favors.

☞ The marriage notice of Mr. John Kroh, published last week, we are requested to say, was a hoax. Mr. K. is a man of family and has been married for a number of years.

☞ We earnestly request our friends who know themselves indebted to us to call before the First of April and settle their accounts, or pay us as much on the same as they can. We have large amounts of money to raise by that period, and therefore urge the matter upon you. To the rescue, friends.

Concert.

The inclemency of the weather on Wednesday night of last week prevented the members of our Brass and Orchestra Bands from holding their Concert.—They propose, however, making one of their best efforts during the Spring term of Court. In the mean time they will leave no opportunity unimproved in acquiring knowledge in the delightful science of music.

Amusement at Odd Fellows' Hall.

On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings last our Concert-going people were very agreeably entertained by the mirth provoking performances of Nachman's Operatic and Burlesque Troupe. Musically considered, they exhibited scientific skillfulness, and in joking and dancing they are certainly not easily surpassed. We commend them to favor wherever they may go.

Fox Chase.

On Saturday afternoon our sporting gentry recreated themselves by having a fox chase. Reynard was pitched out at the Almshouse gate. Three minutes start was given, when "Tray, Blanche and Sweetheart" were let loose upon him. He took a direct Southern course, and after an interesting chase of about four hours, proved himself too smart for horsemen, footmen and hounds, by making his escape.

The Late Election in Baltimore.

The chairman of the committee on Elections on Monday reported to the House of Delegates on the contested Elections of the sitting members from Baltimore, and also on the contested election of the Clerk of the City Circuit Court, declaring them void and illegal, and the office of the Clerk declared vacant. The Speaker of the House is recommended to issue his warrant for the election of the ten Delegates to represent Baltimore in the present General Assembly. The reports lay over for action at an early day.

Loss of a Valuable Horse.

Our produce and grocery citizen, Mr. JOHN BOWERS, had the misfortune to lose "old Whitey," who had become familiar and a pet with all those who daily witnessed his trips up and down town in the little green grocery wagon. Poor old Whitey, he was taken sick some weeks since, and not improving in the least, but suffering intensely all the time, his humane master had him killed on Monday to end his misery.

"He was faithful, he was kind,
And you'll never, never find,
A better horse than Old Whitey."

Go Thou and Do Likewise.

The following lines were written upon an envelope enclosing a dollar and a half from one of the patrons of the Manheim Sentinel:

"The little sum enclosed within,
I send to a worthy printer,
For work he did and trusted out,
A year ago this present winter.
Let not the message be delayed,—
God knows 'tis time the bill was paid."

—Knowing that all our subscribers in arrears may not be poets, we take occasion to state that any letter enclosing a remittance will be just as acceptable without verses as with them—the jingle of gold dollars being more pleasant in paying our expenses than the jingle of poetry.

Fire in Baltimore.

One night last week the Store of Frank F Horner & Bro., 305 Baltimore street, Baltimore, formerly of this County, was discovered to be on fire.—The flames were soon suppressed, and then it was ascertained that the fire originated in the counting-room in the rear of the store, from a coal stove.—The loss of the Messrs. Horner will exceed $10,000 or $12,000. They have an insurance on their Stock of $50,000.

Constitutional and Union Convention

This convention, says the Clipper is to be held in Baltimore. The time will be designated hereafter by the National Executive Committee. In the address which we published yesterday, Philadelphia was mentioned as the place of holding the convention. It was at first determined by the committee to have the meeting of delegates held there, but upon a re-consideration, Baltimore was selected for that purpose.

Cow Died.

A very valuable Cow, one of the best in the State, and about the finest one in town, belonging to Jno. Jos. BAUMGARDNER, died on Tuesday night last.

Would not have Him Flogged.

A slave boy, named Barras, was recently arrested in New Orleans, charged with having disposed of $3,000 of his master's money without authority. The master, who was an old Frenchman, refused to allow him to be flogged, claiming that he was "too smart," and that he has done his business for thirty years.

☞ An address "to the People of the United States" has been published by the National Central Executive Committee, advising the formation of a new party, to be called "the Constitutional Union party" pledged to support "the Union, the Constitution and the enforcement of the laws."

Inasmuch as in Maryland, there has never been any show or attempt to organize any party opposed to either of these things, and there has been a very successful party acknowledging these objects as the very end and aim of its political action, there does not seem to be here any necessity for any such new organization. The address states that both the Democratic and Republican parties are sectional. It acknowledges by necessary implication and by the respectable signatures attached to it, that the American party is national and conservative. And since there is only in Maryland, the Democratic party opposed to the American party, and no Republican party at all, there seems to be no sort of necessity whatever for this new party among us.

The American party is thoroughly organized in this State. It failed to carry the last State election only because of the John Brown foray, and the combination of forces upon the Senatorial question. It could carry the State tomorrow in favor of any Union Conservative National man. And we think there is no necessity whatever to have any other combination to carry out the very proper and reasonable objects of this Constitutional Union party. Let us send delegates by all means to the Convention they propose to hold at Philadelphia, or in Baltimore. The American party has all the organization and machinery required to call a State Convention, and send delegates, who could, from its principles, be none other than Conservative Union men, in favor of all the measures of public policy advocated by those gentlemen who have signed the Addrsss.

The object of the Convention—if it is to be the selection of a candidate, who shall be national, conservative and anti-sectional, is one which every man opposed to Democracy here will approve of and aid. But if it is to found a new party, and disband those which have formed themselves on the exigencies of the times, and the necessities of the country, to which time alone can contribute, we respectfully say that this is no time for that. The enemy is again at our gates.—We must fight them with the weapons we have, and have tried and proven.—And our true policy is to name that man who can be voted for in all parts of the country, in every State—who can unite the Opposition, and whom we can oblige the Convention that is to assemble at Chicago to take, or else be beaten and whipped as they were in 1856, and will be, until the year 1900.

Troops for Mexico.

The Secretary of War is preparing an order for a movement of the U. States troops now stationed in Utah and other points in the West. Owing to the present deplorable condition of affairs along the Rio Grande, and at various points on the Mexican frontier, there will undoubtedly be a large movement of troops in that direction. The administration are determined, if possible, to put an end to the guerilla warfare which has been carried on along the Mexican frontier. By order of the commander of the West, a detachment of the Third infantry now at Fort Leavenworth, under Lieut. Enos, of the Mounted Rifles, will proceed to Camp Alert, on Pawnee Fork. The detachment will escort all outgoing mails that may have accumulated at Little Arkansas and Pawnee Fork.

Washington's Birthday

The anniversary of the birth of the Father of his Country—George Washington—was celebrated at the National Capital on Wednesday of last week in a most imposing and patriotic manner, notwithstanding the extreme inclemency of the weather. The immediate occasion of the demonstration was the inauguration of the equestrian statue of Washington, ordered by Congress from Clark Mills, Esq., at a cost of $50,000, soon after the successful erection of his equestrian statue of General Jackson.

EDUCATIONAL.

MR. EDITOR:—In looking over your paper of week before last, I noticed an article headed "Educational," and signed "Observer," which is calculated to create an erroneous impression unless further noticed.

My design now is not to impugn the motives of our friend "Observer" in noticing the School lately opened in the Old Fellows' Hall, by Miss H. P. LOAR, but to correct the impression that might go out from the reading of his article. This School has been commenced with no other view than to organize a permanent Institution for the instruction of females in all the higher branches constituting a thorough English Education, including French, Drawing, &c., and not designed, as a Primary School to prepare youth to enter higher Schools, as might otherwise be inferred, and as I presumed "Observer" himself thought, at the time. Far be it from me to find fault with "Observer" in this case, for an error of the head, when it is so plainly manifest that the heart is right; for, I am sure, there can be but one opinion in regard to his good intentions in making the publication. Far be it from me to reiterate the true sentiments of all who are acquainted with Miss Lord, when I say that she is an Eastern lady of ability and refinement, and eminently deserving an extended patronage"—and we may here safely add that she possesses the art of imparting instruction to others, in the different branches of her profession which is rarely equalled,—if indeed surpassed, by any.

J.

☞ It ever affords me pleasure to correct wrong impressions, and I therefore most heartily approve of the above, by friend "J," but utterly repudiate any intention to underrate either the object of the School, or the merits of the Teacher, and if such an impression has been created in the minds of any, it is evidently a construction of language not designed by me. My only desire having been to commend the School to the favorable consideration of our citizens. OBSERVER.

RAILROAD MEETING.

The adjourned Railroad Meeting assembled at Poolesburg the 13th ult., HEZEKIAH POOL acting as Chairman.

On motion of Burgess Nelson, Esq., a Committee of three was appointed to draft a petition to the General Assembly of Maryland, to incorporate a Company to construct a Railroad from the Deerpark Chapel to intersect the Western Maryland Railroad at the most convenient point. Burgess Nelson G. W. Ism and Dr. L. J. Grove were appointed on the above Committee.

On motion of Dr. L. J. Grove, the meeting returned thanks to the Editor of the Carroll County Democrat, for publishing the proceedings of the meeting held at Union School-house.

On motion of Dr. L. J. Grove, the proceedings of the meeting were ordered to be signed by the officers and published in both the Carroll County papers.

Barn Burned

We learn that the Barn of George W. Manro, Esq., Freedom District, this County, together with all its contents, was destroyed by fire on Monday night last. Loss about $800, and no insurance. Mr. M. was absent at the time. The family and servants had retired for the night, when the fire was discovered. All the cattle were saved. The fire is regarded as the work of an incendiary.

Serious Fire in Frederick

The Herald says that about twenty rooms in the back building of the City Hotel, in Frederick, were destroyed by fire on Thursday night, week. The roofs of the main building were covered with snow, which, together with the skill and efficiency of the firemen, prevented the spread of the flames to that and adjoining buildings. The loss and damage sustained by Messrs. McPherson & Need the proprietors, is estimated at $4,000, covered by insurance.

☞ Twenty three buildings in Brantford, Canada, were destroyed by fire last week, at an estimated loss of from $150,000 to $200,000.

THE CLOSING YEARS OF LIFE are often rendered wretched by ailments which are lurking in themselves and easily cured if taken in time.—Affection of the liver, stomach, and other organs concerned in digestion, are the most frequent. They naturally make the sufferer nervous, irritable and complaining, and relatives and friends are forced to bear the brunt of their ill humor. The use of Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters will prove an efficient remedy for this evil. It will not only strengthen the whole physical organization, but entirely cure the most obstinate cases of Indigestion, Diarrhœa, Dyspepsia, and Liver Complaint. The first physicians in the country are loud in their praise of this preparation. Another recommendation of the Bitters is that it is so palatable to the taste that it may be used even as a beverage.

Farewell dear friend, thy sufferings are o'er,
Jesus has called thee home;
Thy face on earth we will see no more,
While through this world we roam.
Thy voice is hushed, thy form is cold,
Thy spirit is safe in Heaven;
Where clouds of sorrow are never roll'd,
Nor friendship's bonds are riven.
Thou hast left this world of care and pain,
And father, and brothers, dear;
They tried to save, but all in vain
The monster death was near.
Thy companions will often think of thee,
And sigh that thou art gone;
And no more on earth, thy face they will see,
The will of Heaven it must be done.
Though friends will mourn thy early doom,
And miss thee with an aching heart;
But in that home beyond the tomb,
Friends shall meet and never part.
Their peaceful hearts shall know no fears
In that glorious home above;
There Christ will wipe away all tears,
Where all is joy, and perfect love

Uniontown, Feb. 28. AMERICUS.

In Memory of Addison D Zepp,

Who departed this life January 13th, in the 22d year of his age.

How true the language of the sage, "Life is but a walking shadow; a poor player who struts and frets his hour upon the stage and then is heard no more." One has fully observed that "Death loves a shining mark."—But shall death conquer? We have every assurance that in this life he shall, for every generation since the days of Adam have placed in his icy hands the keys that shall open eternity to their view. Experience exhibits to us the fact that we are pilgrims and sojourners in a strange land, and that our lives are connected with eternity. It is evident that we are all in the same line of march, and with firm and steady steps are marching to the tomb. But we have the infinite satisfaction and happy assurance in the word of God that christianity shall triumph over death "And I heard a voice out of Heaven saying, there shall be no more death." Many and various are the vicissitudes of life to which we are subject. Some of our "Shadows flee away" more quickly than others. Some live to a "good old age." Others are cut off in the bloom of youth. Of the latter class was our friend. By his affable manners and gentlemanly deportment, he won for himself a circle of friends who were proud of his acquaintance and who cherish his memory.—Another family have been compelled to feel the bitter pangs of sorrow when looking for the presence of the absent one as they circle the fireside or surround the family board.—Death seized him as his victim and hurled him to the tomb, snatched him from the bosom of the family circle and severed him from his friends, deprived a family of a son and brother, and of society a worthy member. What shall we say to the bereaved family? Shall not the smile of love which played upon his countenance and felt from his eyes (which challenged the attention of the beholder,) as he was gently impelled down the stream of time which gave evidence that he had been "pluming his wings for immortality," and that his spirit was then ready to take its flight from the shores of time to that land of bliss

"Where the wicked cease from troubling
And the weary are at rest,"

be sufficient to calm their throbbing hearts and dry their tears? And that he is now in glory crowned with an immortal crown and enjoying the presence of God. And although not the remembrance of kind acts as they are reviewed, re-kindle the silent emotions of the heart and start the tear of affection to the eye, remember that these actions arrested the attention of Him who sees Omniscient eye scans the universe, and who by His power translated his spirit from this world of sin to an inheritance at His right hand, and that he is reaping now in heaven the reward of his actions upon earth. Consoling is the thought that though do need to perish here, we may again be reunited in the kingdom of heaven. Parents, strive to meet him in that land of bliss where we shall all tune the harps of Zion and ascribe the praise to the Redeemer of Israel—Sisters, live for God, and you will again meet your dear brother in that country "where there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain," where sorrow and sighing shall flee away.
