Rules of Court.

We publish on our first page to-day the Rules of the Circuit Court for Carroll County. We trust they will prove acceptable to our readers, and recommend the preservation of a copy of the paper for future reference.

Cane Found

The fellow who broke into our townsman Durbin's house on Monday night and stole a variety of articles, forgot to take his cane with him. By proving property he can get the cane, and not even be asked to pay for the advertisement in another column.

Declared for Breckinridge.

The Democrat is a trump, and showed its hand last week by running up the Breckinridge standard. This course has produced considerable feeling among the Douglas boys who speak very determinedly of establishing a paper of their own as soon as arrangements can be made.

Sudden Death.

We learn of the sudden death of John Englar, of Wakefield Valley, this County, on Sunday night last. He attended the woods meeting at the Brick Church during the day, heartily partook of supper, retired to bed in his usual health, and in the morning was found a corpse.

Stole a Gate.

One night last week some bad boys stole the gate from the yard of our townsman R. A. M. Miller. Perhaps they were practising a little thinking probably, that when they reached Heaven's gate it might be shut on them, and being skilled, hist it off its hinge and slide in.

First Gun from Freedom.

A few days ago in old Franklin a little while ago they were brugging about big potatoes, and now Freedom fires a gun of triumph and beats Westminster with a head of Timothy, which must have measured 16 inches when pulled. It was grown on the beautiful and productive farm of S. R. Gore, and sent us by Wm. H. H. Cook.

Railroad Meeting at West End.

A very respectable and pleasant little meeting of the friends of the Western Maryland Railroad to give expressions of gratitude to the Mayor and City Councils of Baltimore for rendering aid in building the road, was held at the West End on Friday night last. C. W. Webster, Esq., entertained the crowd for some time in the delivery of a good, practical and impressive speech, illustrative, chiefly, of the general benefits of the road to all classes of society. The Cornet Band added interest to the meeting by its scientific performances.

Something Like a Know Nothing Concern.

Thus far in the campaign we have had some spicy times in town, fully equal to the amusements of Ethiopian troupes, and comparable in relish only to a shark in snapping a cotton-headed Greeleyite. The double headed democracy here are about equally divided in ability, influence and skill, and as spunky, courageous and determined as though the salvation of the country depended upon the success of each.—The quarreling is all among themselves—they be largely against each other on the results of the State, the County, and even the Districts with a rashness that is really exhilarating to the Union party, who held the position of the woman whose husband was fighting a bear, caring not the weight of a straw which whips. Each cabal sweat, swelter and swear, bet, brag and buy, and by way of vigorously prosecuting the campaign the Douglas clan advertised a meeting to be held at the Fountain Hotel on Saturday night last, which resulted in a perfect Know Nothing Council. Some six or seven were closeted, and their proceedings were certainly characterized with the dignity of harmony, as the room was as quiet as though the defunct body politic lie enshrouded therein. We left them in session with closed doors, and dismiss them for the present with the expectation that they will do better next time.

Sunday School Convention.

The attention of Superintendents of Sunday Schools throughout the County is directed to the advertisement of the Missionary Secretary of the Maryland Sabbath School Union, to be found in another column. It is hoped every School in the County will be represented, and an impetus given to the cause which, will be productive of much good. The meeting has been called on the first Saturday in September, in the Methodist Episcopal Church, Westminster, but should the attendance be large, will adjourn to the Town Hall, that building having been secured for the purpose.

Hair Tonic

A very elegant and superior toilet article of Trichaphya or Hair Tonic, so pronounced by our better-half, for the preservation, beauty and restoration of the hair, has been presented us by our enterprising young Taneytown Druggist, John McKellip. We believe it to be one of the best toilet articles for the hair now in use. Prof. Wood's is unexcepted. It removes itching, dandruff, makes the hair soft and glossy, preserves its color, fastens it and stops its falling. The Tonic can be had at the Drug Stores in town at 25 cents a bottle. McKellip also manufactures Cholera and Diarrhea Syrup, which may safely be said to be the great remedy for summer complaint. This can also be had in large and small bottles.

Western Maryland Railroad

A visit of inspection by the Mayor, Register, and Comptroller of Baltimore was made over our road on Saturday, all of whom were satisfied with the work and its importance.

The corps of topographical engineers have surveyed one route which enters the East End of town by passing through Mr. Yingling's factory and near Mr. Parker's dwelling. They are now engaged in running and leveling the Patapsco Valley route, which will enter town at the West End in that beautiful valley between John S. Murray and F. Awald, but where the Depot will be located we are unable to state.

Fire in the County.

On Saturday morning the oven and dry houses on the farm of Charles Boyle, two miles West of town, were destroyed by fire. The oven had been filled with wood and fired, and a strong South East wind prevailing, blew the flames forth, which communicated to the roof. There was no person about the house at the time except the woman who was baking, and before assistance could be obtained both buildings were burnt. The safety of the main dwelling may be attributed to the wind blowing in a contrary direction at the time.—The distance between the residence and the building burnt was only a few yards. The entire property on the farm is fully insured.

Committee Meeting.

The chairman of the County Executive Committee has called a meeting at the Court House on Monday next. It is desirable that every member be present in order to mature the programme for the campaign. Let there be no halting, no hesitating, but stand by your colors and come up to the meeting like men who love the country's interests at stake. Whatever may be the difference of sentiment and feeling among the democracy, let us be true to ourselves by maintaining an unbroken front and march in solid phalanx to the support of Bell and Everett.

Lay or, Mac Duff!

According to the Democrat of last week the Douglasites are in bad company—among the niggers—sweet perfumed place for dog-days! Read what the Democrat says: "A Douglas democrat is only a deceptive name for a Black REPUBLICAN—every day they are going over to the Black Republican ranks." Bravo, Democrat—Stick to the text and lather every renegade that refuses to muster in your ranks. Carroll County knows Democrats, hearts, souls, breeches and boots, as nigger worshippers! Lavender association—team of thousand lovers union—may you never, under so tyrannical a master, have worse fare than horseradish without vinegar, onion without salt, and assafoetida bread without old Hunker!

Laying a Corner Stone.

The corner stone of a new Methodist Protestant Church for East Baltimore mission, Revs. Jesse Sweey and Oliver Cox, missionaries, was laid with appropriate ceremonies on Monday afternoon last.—Addresses were delivered by Rev. David Wilson and Dr. E. Yeates Reese. The building will be a commodious one, with a front of the finest pressed brick, in the Doric style of architecture. It will have a front of 50 feet on Broadway, running back to a depth of 72 feet.

Fell from a House.

We learn from the Democrat that George Grove, son of Mr. Jacob Grove, a boy about 12 years of age, fell from the third story of a large brick house, now in progress of construction in this place, last fortunately the fall was broken by his falling on one of the workmen, who placed himself in position for that purpose, and he was comparatively uninjured. We suppose he fell about 25 feet.

The Arabia sailed from Boston for Liverpool on the 24th with $200,000 in specie.

RAILROAD MEETING AT NEW WINDSOR!

IMMENSE CONCOURSE OF PEOPLE!

Great Enthusiasm at the action of Mayor Swann!

BRILLIANT ILLUMINATION, FIRE WORKS, BONFIRES, SPEECHES, &c.

The friends of the Western Maryland Railroad held a meeting at New Windsor on Tuesday evening last. It was a complete success, surpassing in point of numbers and enthusiasm any demonstration in the County since the building of the Road was first talked of, or since its completion has become a fixed fact. The people of New Windsor went into the matter of having an earnest, successful expression of public feeling in a manner and with a determination to succeed. The hour for the organization of the meeting was named for six o'clock.

So we repaired thither, and as the time for organizing drew near we began to fear that, judging from the few persons that had then arrived, they were going to have but a thin attendance; but we were soon initiated into a secret by the Committee, which it would be well to follow in future meetings, that they had called the meeting through the papers two hours earlier than they actually designed holding it, so that it would give all ample time to participate in it. As the sun sank down behind the Western Hills and the long faint streaks of golden tinge gradually disappeared before the shades of evening, the sturdy farmers came in with their wives and children and swelled the number to a great crowd—old men and women, young men and maidens, boys and girls; indeed every phase of society was fully represented. From all sides you could hear the expression "that this promises to be the largest meeting ever held here!" At 7½ o'clock a Procession was formed under the command of Capt. WILLIAM ECKER, headed by a large Transparency with the names of Thomas Swann, the City Council, &c., followed by a band of martial music, a large procession of people and the bright blaze of several tar barrels borne on poles by the boys. Every house was a perfect blaze of light, and the streets resounded with hearty cheers for the Mayor of Baltimore. After parading through the principal streets, the procession returned to the Square, where was erected a stand tastefully dressed with evergreens. Transparencies stood on either side, bearing appropriate mottos. At eight o'clock the meeting was called to order by Philip Slingluff, Esq., and on motion, the following officers elected:

President,—Jonas Ecker.

Vice Presidents.—Samuel Hoffman, Job Hibberd, Capt. Wm. Ecker, Joel Haines.

Secretaries,—J. H. Christ, E. A. Atlee, Wm. A. McKellip.

The President, on taking the Chair, stated the object of the meeting to be the returning of thanks and an expression of feeling on our part at the noble and generous action of Baltimore City through her constituted authorities in endorsing $500,000 worth of the Bonds of the Western Maryland Railroad. He congratulated the people of New Windsor and the surrounding country upon the general enthusiasm that has crept into all classes of society at the flattering prospect of a speedy completion of the Road, not only to this point, but still on, on until it shall connect with the richer soil of Washington County—that he felt it to be no inconsiderable honor to be called upon to preside over what he believed to be one of the largest meetings ever held in this place,—that he hoped the time was not far distant when the people here would have an opportunity of personally paying their respects to the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore City,—that he could assure them in the name of all present, and of the country far and near, that a hearty welcome will be given them when they shall make their first trip over the Western Maryland Railroad to the rural districts,—that it was a time for general rejoicing, and it was right and proper that the pent up feelings of years, that had been so long deferred, should at last come out in the joyous shouts of all. After alluding to the untiring, unswerving and indomitable energy of the President and Board of Directors, both past and present, he concluded amidst long and continued cheers.

Hon. JOHN E. SMITH followed, in an interesting, able and eloquent address. It would be folly to attempt to give even an outline of his speech. Rich in the beautiful, rare in its wit, and spicy with its humor, he seemed to outdo all his former efforts in behalf of this Road, if he paid a beautiful tribute to the past and present officers of the Company, and ended by introducing JOHN WILLIS, Esq., late of the Patriot, of Baltimore city, who made a practical speech of great force. He reviewed the prospects of the Road, the effect it must necessarily have upon every department of industry, the superlatively beautiful country through which its route will lay, and how many or rather how few there are in Baltimore City who have a just conception of the fertility of the country surrounding the beautiful village of New Windsor. He congratulated the people upon the brightening of the skies that for so long seemed to frown most inauspiciously upon their efforts to connect this great and prosperous region with the Metropolis of the State. He believed that he could show to the satisfaction of all that this Road would pay if even built no further than Union Bridge, but that Baltimore City was interested in pushing it further on until it shall bring back to her the large trade that is now being carried to northern markets, and believing that you desire to see not only your own region prosperous, but that on further West (our good old State that has never faltered when the hour of trial came,) should enjoy with you the benefits to arise from opening this great public highway, will call forth your united and hearty cooperation, and if we are united, if the country puts its shoulder to the wheel, and the City shove with it, I tell you there will be no such word as fail. He could not but feel that there was no man in Baltimore who could visit this country without being deeply impressed with its great natural advantages, both agricultural and mineral. He then gave a long account of the difference between the prices of various articles here and what will be their actual value when the Railroad is completed. The speaker was frequently applauded in a real genuine country manner, which means, with the force and power of lungs accustomed to breathe the pure air of our healthy and invigorating region.

The Ladies sent to the stand a most beautiful Bouquet, which was handed to the speaker and called forth a response worthy alike to him who made it as well as to those for whom it was intended.

JACOB H. CHRIST and Dr. J. F. BURRINGTON were next called upon and responded in short addresses, which were well received.

The New Windsor Band, under Prof. PICHLMAN, discoursed most eloquent music at intervals during the meeting, and also after its adjournment.

INCIDENTS.

The meeting then adjourned. The President announced that as the crowd had feasted on words beautifully conceived and eloquently expressed, he proposed that they should wash them more effectually down by calling at his house near by, where there was an abundance of lager beer, which he believed would answer the purpose admirably. This proposition was responded to heartily. Many other citizens extended the hospitalities of their dwellings to those who accepted their invitations.

We wended our way to the Hotel kept by our friend Mr. JACOB LEPPO, and soon found out something was astir. A few moments sufficed to inform us that although the public speaking had ended in the street, there would be speaking of a different kind in the large and commodious parlor of the Hotel, where each and all could practically realize the sentiment of a sedate poet when he says:

"But give me a sly flirtation
By the light of a chandelier,
With music to fill up the pauses,
And nobody very near."

Soon, very soon, young ladies and gentlemen were tripping it upon the light fantastic toe, and bid fair not to think of going home until morning. It was a gay, an animated scene. It fully impressed us with the thought, how delightful it is to see the young people of a place moving harmoniously together, and with what ease they can assemble themselves together for an evening of pleasure.

Every assemblage must have the ridiculous as well as the sublime mixed up with it, and we do not know but that the two going hand in hand together afford real substantial amusement. It is but a slip from the sublime to the ridiculous, but in the case here it was a seat, an elevation rather higher than persons ordinarily get when ridiculously inclined.

After the meeting adjourned the boys gathered several rails and brought them to the stand, none of them, however, that have made the Black Republican candidate celebrated, nor were they of that lot exhibited in New York at a negro worshiping mass meeting from which tooth-picks were peddled around through the crowd to procure money to circulate campaign documents. These rails could not boast having been split by honest old Abe's hands, but by others, we suppose, equally as honest, and from what we believe, infinitely more so. The boys were full of the Railroad, and as a matter of course some one had to have a ride on the rail. A fit follower of Abe Lincoln in more than one respect, but especially in color, was put astride of it, and taken out of town in less time than it takes us to write. It impressed us with the idea that if an opportunity offered, they would ride one of old Abe's white followers out of town much sooner and with less care than they did this representative of the sable race.

Thus ended the second popular demonstration in our County at the generosity of Baltimore City. It is but justice to say that the Committee, composed of Messrs. Jacob Leppo, Philip Slingluff, William Delphy and Mordecai McKinstry, deserve unlimited praise for the admirable manner in which everything passed off.

The Pacific Railroad

The ceremony of breaking ground on this end of the great Pacific Railroad, the first link in our national highway, took place in Kansas City on the 25th ult. The occasion was celebrated by salutes, bonfires, barbecues, festivities and speeches from the most prominent railroad men of the west, including Mayor Waughs, Col. Doniphan, Col. Gilpin, and Mr. Taylor, President of the road, Governor Roberts, of Kansas territory, and many others. It is estimated that 10,000 people were on the ground and assisted in the ceremonies.

No Encampment at Frederick.

The Military Convention which assembled in Frederick last week determined not to hold an Encampment at that place on the 10th September. The committee were unable to procure tents either in Maryland, Pennsylvania or Virginia, which presented an insuperable obstacle to the project.

☞It is announced, on the authority of private advices received in Washington, that the terms of a union between the Douglas and the Bell men in Georgia have been agreed upon. Each candidate is to have five electors, and if the whole ten votes will be sufficient to elect either they are to be cast for him. No doubt is entertained that this project will result in the defeat of Breckinridge in Georgia, and in several other Southern States where it is to be tried. It is believed also, in Washington, that the Breckinridge ticket will be withdrawn in New York, and that the whole vote of the Democracy will be cast for Douglas—this step being considered necessary for the defeat of Lincoln.

Wake up Snakes!

We say nothing of fast horses and big hogs, but as for Snakes, we can beat the world. On the 29th of July, near Taneytown, was shot by Mr. David Bowers a Garter Snake four feet in length, and count then one hundred and five young snakes. A good country for snakes, these white grounds. J. W. L.

The Great Holland Remedy!

BOERHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS.—Persons subject to nervous or sick headache, will find in Boerhave's Holland Bitters a sure, safe and pleasant remedy. It soothes the throbbing head, corrects acidity of the stomach, assists digestion, and creates a healthy appetite. It is, without doubt, a most delightful preparation, and an effectual remedy. The fact that it is now a very popular medicine throughout all the Holland settlements in Wisconsin, New York, Michigan, Illinois and Indiana, speaks much in its favor. See advertisement in another column.

☞Our Baltimore exchanges of Friday last brought us the intelligence of the death of John Reese, father of William Reese, of this place, which event took place at his residence in Baltimore on the 26th inst., in the 85th year of his age.

☞A citizen of Albany, Georgia, has forwarded a challenge to Heenan, to fight a negro "boy" down there, for any sum between $1,000 and $10,000, in twelve months from date. Heenan has the proposition under consideration. The said Albany boy stands six feet two inches high, weighs 162½ pounds, and is 27 years of age.

☞Another fine specimen of Oats has been left at our office by George Smith, of the Fourth District, "Barrens." They comprise four heads averaging 12 inches each, thickly studded with plump grains. The Millenium is certainly drawing near, as the waste places (barrens,) are beginning to blossom as the rose.

☞Bradley T. Johnson, late editor of the Frederick Union, has formally withdrawn from that paper. It will in future be conducted by James T. Smith and Charles Cole, under the Douglas banner.

☞A meeting was held in Baltimore on Friday for the purpose of perfecting arrangements looking to the establishing of direct trade between that city and some port in Europe.

☞A mob attacked a number of houses of ill-fame at St. Louis, on the night of the 25th, and destroyed property valued at $30,000. Sixty-three rioters were arrested by the police and fined $5 each.

☞The Express from Pike's Peak arrived at St. Louis on the 27th, with $26,000 in gold dust, the largest amount ever received.

☞The total amount of guns now in store in the Springfield U. S. Arsenal is 166,022.

☞The Steamer Fulton left New York for Southampton on the 21st with 120 passengers and $656,593 in specie.

☞Mary Foster, a blind girl, of Bennett's Corners, New York, recently eloped with Mr. Perkins, a cripple.

☞The schooner Virginia arrived at New York from Vera Cruz on the 19th, with $114,000 in specie.

☞The steamer Sonora sailed from San Francisco for New York, on the 26th, with $1,010,000 in specie.

THE HOME BOOK OF HEALTH AND MEDICINE, a family Doctor embracing the Laws and Means of Physical Culture adapted to practical use. Laws of Digestion, Breathing, ventilation uses of the lungs, Circulation and Renovation, Laws and Diseases of the Skin, Bathing and Clothing, Temperature, Food and Cooking, Poison, Exercise and Rest, etc. etc. How to prevent Consumption, with general opinions and directions conducive to a long and healthy life and remarks relative to the right use of Physicians, by W. A. Alcott, M. D. With thirty-one illustrations. One volume. 12mo., 300 pp., handsomely bound in cloth. Price $1.00. And upon receipt of the price and 21 cents additional for Postage, a copy of the book together with a handsome present, worth from 50 cents to $100, will be sent to any address in the United States.

From the American Presbyterian, Philadelphia.

"This is a valuable treatise on the preservation and culture of health. It contains the substance of a course of popular lectures, prepared by Dr. W. A. Alcott. It is measurably free from all hobbies and extravagancies. It teaches how we may avoid the too common use of medicine and nostrums, and when it may be proper to consult and employ a physician. It contains very many valuable and practical suggestions on the various subjects spoken of in the title page, and may prove a very useful book in all families, not so much to teach how to cure diseases as to prevent their occurrence. The laws and means of physical culture adapted to practical use are laid down in a manner within the comprehension of all.

Technicalities have been avoided, and the rules and observance of all the laws are simply exemplified.

A work of this character is so essential to families, particularly to young mothers, that few should be without it.

The great number of deaths among infants already created an alarm in families, and reflections have been made upon the failures of physicians in their attempt to cure them."

The philosophy of diet is one of the features of the book and the causes of consumption a most important one. This is treated by the doctor in a most striking and original manner and his means of how to prevent it are laid down in plain and unmistakeable language.

This portion of the volume so important to the 100,000 persons who are even nowdying of consumption—for nearly that number die annually—will repay the reader which will eventually have a most desirable effect."

And upon receipt of the price with 21 cents additional for Postage, a copy of the Book, together with a handsome present worth from 50 cents to $100, will be sent to any address in the United States.

From the Herald.

"There are lessons of deep abiding interest, and of inestimable value to be learned in studying the lives of the men who purified their all to secure the blessed inheritance of free institutions which we now enjoy. We do not learn merely the dignity and sacredness of true patriotism, by following them in their career amid the storms of the Revolution but all the virtues which adorn humanity are presented in such bold relief, in the private and public actions of that venerated company, that when we rise from a perusal of a narrative of their lives, we feel as if the noble qualities of our common manhood had been passing before us in review, and challenging our profound reverence.

The biography of a great man is an history of his own times; and when we have perused the record of the actions of the men of our Revolution, we have imbibed a general knowledge of the great events of that struggle for Freedom. If this proposition be true, then we feel that this volume has a claim to the public regard, for the author has endeavored to compile within as small compass as a proportionate view of the subject would allow, the chief events in the lives of the men who stood sponsors at the baptism in blood of our Infant Republic.

The memoirs are illustrated by copious notes explanatory of events alluded to in the course of the biographical narrative and these will be found a highly useful feature of the work."

Copies of either of the above books, with a hand some gift, worth from 50 cents to $100, will be sent to any person in the United States, upon receipt of the price, and 21 cents to pay postage, by addressing the publisher, who is desirous of calling public attention to his liberal method of transacting business.

With each Book that is bought at his Gift Bookstore, a Present is given—worth from 50 cents to One Hundred Dollars.

LETTER FROM DAY'S MILLS.

A WORD ABOUT SPRINGFIELD CHURCH, ETC.—After a week of arduous engagements, very many of our country dwellers seem to suppose that the duties of their cots is more conducive to health than the exposure to the glaring sunlight and heat necessarily encountered in getting a few miles to Church, forgetting—aside from all moral considerations—that recreation and rest are not synonymous, the former acting as the right and proper medicine for body, the latter, rightly bestowed, for both. Perhaps so accordingly, contrary to our inclinations in view of ill health, we were induced by our "better half" just in her "teens," to accompany her to Church some few miles distant. So off we drove and were soon at Springfield Church. We would like to give a description of this place; for with its history is interwoven some of our brightest reminiscences—but cannot do so now.—The edifice has been built some twenty years; and though it stood for several years partially incomplete it is now finished with taste and elegance and is in a prosperous and promising condition, under the conduct of the Rev. Mr. Simpson. It would be superfluous to say that Mr. S. is acceptable as a minister.—The simple fact of a large, intelligent, and attentive congregation, in regular attendance, renders that fact self evident; and is the best attestation of praiseworthiness. Twelve likewise experiments prove that theirs is a well behaved congregation; charitably speaking it would be a negative slander; for so perfect is the decorum that one never thinks of behaviour, and forgets to admire the entire rectitude of conduct.

The worship here is most interesting, comprising that effective blending of the intellectual, dignified and yet continually human and frail, that springs from hearts which we hope are as "large" as the manifestations are impressive; and as self abased as they seem to be heaven exalted. Likewise, that very interesting part of public worship, singing here is fine; and, "though our cranium has no tune," we will venture to pronounce it well executed; containing much of the pathetic under current and to all save the attentive ear imperceptible chords, which is a natural component of the human voice even in speaking; and without any of that overstrained effort to do things nice, which we have often seen destroy the effect of voices neither wanting naturally in volume or intonation, but which supplanted both by an effort at artistic modulation utterly foreign to that most effective of all graces, natural simplicity.

The church is supplied with Pews, and the Pews with Hymn-books, a fine improvement. We are told that they have an Sunday School in connection, and we widely differ from the conjecture of that people so backsliding in their efforts to do good—of the Presbyterian persuasion. A LOOKER ON.

On Thursday last, by Elder D. Sayler, Mr. PETER SMITH, of Frederick County, and Miss MARGARET ROWE, of this County.

On Thursday last, by Rev. Jacob Holmes, Mr. FREDERICK N. HOOK to Miss JULIA A. SPENCER, all of this County.

We appreciate the kind attention of the happy couple in making us the gratified recipients of a generous remembrancer, in the shape of wedding cake. Our best wishes accompany them, and hope their union may prove a bond of peace, of sympathy of soul, and harmony itself attuning all their passions into love—that embarking on the smooth surface of a summer's sea, for them

May gentle zephyrs play in prosperous gales,
And fortune's favor fill the swelling sails.

"Mourn not ye whose child hath found,
Purer skies and fairer ground;

Free from thorns and fresh with dew.
Mourn not ye whose child hath fled,

In Westminster, on the 26th ult., WILLIAM HENRY, son of Michael and Mahala Baughman, aged 8 months and 4 days.

There is no death! what seems so is transition;
This life of mortal breath
Is but a suburb of the life elysian,
Whose portal we call death.
He is not dead—the child of our affection—
But gone unto that school
Where he no longer needs our poor protection,
And Christ himself doth rule.

On the 30th ult., near Uniontown, at the residence of his grandfather, JOSEPH FRANCIS, infant son of Granville and Ann Wilson, aged 9 months and 22 days.

Dear sweet Franky, thou hast left us,
We thy loss most deeply feel,
But this God that has bereft us,
He can all our sorrows heal.

Funeral service by the Rev. John C. Owens, from 2d Samuel, 12th chap 23d verse: "But now he is dead, wherefore should I fast? can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me." L.

At her father's residence, near Sandy Mount, on the 11th of July, ELIZABETH, daughter of Stephen Oursler, in the 20th year of her age.

In the death of this estimable young lady our entire community deeply sympathize with the bereaved parents and sorrowing friends, for of her it may be truly said, "none knew her but to love, none named her but to praise." Possessed of every virtue which elevates and adorns the female character, her presence was ever a harbinger of joy and welcome, while her kind and generous disposition seemed all to sympathy and consolation in every sorrow or affliction. Early in life she sought and found acceptance with the Saviour of mankind, and a truly consistent and pious life has characterized her stay upon earth, and in the hour of death clearly manifested a christian triumph. Ah, who that stood by her bed side, when she bade a calm adieu to sorrowing friends, and her happy spirit passed to the realms of bliss, but could re-echo the prayer of one of old, "let me die the death of the righteous, and my last end be like his." What a heavenly consolation has she left behind, that her sorrows and sufferings, which had been great, were all ended, and the celestial messengers of Heaven were waiting to usher her weary soul to the bosom of her Saviour, where no joyous strain of praise shall resound for ever and ever. We should shed no tear of regret, but rather endeavor to imitate the bright example of her life, and by an exercise of that faith which sustained and upheld her in a dying hour, be prepared for our own release from mortality and entrance into that life which is immortal.

Oh now may faith's consoling power
Our tears of grief restrain;
For who that saw thy parting hour
Could wish thee back again?
Triumphant in thy closing eye
The hope of glory shone;
Joy breathed in thy expiring sigh,
Thy last faint tone was prayer.
Thy passing spirit gently fled,
Sustained by grace divine;
Oh, may such grace on us be shed,
And make our end like thine. L.
