GAME TO-DAY

The Washington College football team held its first scrimmage of the season Monday at Chestertown, and Coach Kibler says that he is highly pleased with the showing of his charges. The Chestertown aggregation will open its season to-day with the Rock Hill College squad, and although the latter team has had the advantage of an early start, the followers of the Washington team look for victory.

Half-back Bowen is the last veteran to report, which will greatly strengthen the eleven on the attack. The Washington College team has high hopes of landing the intercollegiate championship of the State this season, which title they lost to St. John's last year. Saturday's game will give the followers of the team a chance to compare it with the champion St. John's squad, as the latter downed Rock Hill this season, 33 to 0.

County Seats' Public School Day.

A public school day is to be held in every county seat in the State during the coming session, at which the State Board of Education will assist.

This decision was made by the board at its meeting at the Rennert, in Baltimore, Wednesday morning.

The State Superintendent, M. Bates Stephens was instructed by the board to arrange a schedule of meetings, one for each county, which will cover the entire State.

"Our idea," said Governor Goldsborough after the meeting "is to stimulate interest in educational matters among the school children, the teachers and the citizens in general. Dr. Stephens will form a schedule and will declare a holiday in each county for the day when the meeting will be held. We expect to have leading educators and business men take part in the meetings and to invite the teachers, scholars, parents and all others interested to come to the county seat with their lunch baskets and hear what the speakers have to say. The work will begin this fall and we will go into every county in the State."

GOING TO CHURCH.

Ever sit down and examine your excuses for not going to church? How many of them didn't originate in laziness, a vague disinclination to have the minister disturb your mind with things you know you ought to do? After a week of business worries, a change of scene and outlook might do good, whether you are a church member or a non-affiliated maverick doing about the best you can in the world. If churchgoing is not a mental stimulus—and it often is—it's a pretty fine tonic.—Sun.

PUTS BAN ON DIVORCE

NEW YORK, Sept 27.—In about a month a new canon will be enacted by the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, which meets here in October, forbidding even the innocent party to a divorce to marry.

The present canon makes it hard enough, and unless one can prove absolutely that he is the innocent party it is all but impossible to find a clergyman in America within the fold of the Episcopal Church who will perform a remarriage, as was shown by the difficulty the late John Jacob Astor had in getting married to Miss Force. The Colonel was a liberal supporter of the church. He was even a vestryman in a prominent New York State parish, and he is said to have offered a fee of $1,000 to the clergyman who would officiate, but even these potent agencies were not sufficient and he was married by one not in communion with his own church.

As late as 1904, when the General Conference met in Boston, an attempt to enact the stringent canon, which even its opponents admit will pass this year, failed of a constitutional majority.

A STRANGER representing himself as the owner of a two thousand acre farm on the Eastern Shore, and the producer of a high grade seed wheat, found easy pickings on the Western shore this week. He sold wheat at $8 a bushel, alleging that in the soil there it would easily produce 45 bushels to the acre. One of his purchasers became suspicious and investigated and found that the supposed farm was a myth.

THE local telephone force has been somewhat changed recently because of the resignation of Miss Laura Lambert to accept a position in Philadelphia. Miss Phelan, Chief operator from Baltimore, has been coaching new help including Misses Reba Reed, Dora Hodgkins, Stacey Medders, Ida Jester. Better service is promised.

CHESTERTOWN POSTOFFICE.

Mr. Barroll and Son Accompanies Mr. Samuel Hicks to Washington.

The appointment of a postmaster at Chestertown to succeed Mr. M. Wilbur Thomas, is expected within the next week. The Organization agreed on Mr. Eben F. Perkins as their candidate without any friction whatever, and they expect him to be named. Congressman Covington will press the claims of Mr. Perkins. He is fitted in an eminent degree for this place and has a splendid endorsement from his home.

The Anti's had lead several to believe that they would be supported by the "powers that be," and when the final "show down" was made there was much chagrin evident among those who were turned down. Mr. J. Hydie Thompson, an active, energetic young business man of Chestertown, and a good Democrat, was left without endorsement, as was Mr. Robert Moffett, a "butcher," but none the less a successful business man and good citizen. It is said the "Boss" gave out the edict that Mr. Sam Hicks must be made postmaster, thus corroborating the statement made in the NEWS some weeks ago that Mr. Barroll would certainly give him his support.

In connection with the postoffices in Kent and elsewhere, the following dispatch from Washington will be of interest:

Washington, Oct. 1.—President Wilson sent to the Senate today his second list of Maryland postmasters. He nominated four western Marylanders upon the recommendation of Representative David J. Lewis.

Franklin B. Beall, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee for Allegany County, was named to succeed William Pearre at Cumberland. This was the most important vacancy in the State.

Hope H. Barroll and his son Wethered Barroll came to Washington early this morning and called upon the President in behalf of their candidate for postmaster at Chestertown, one of the five vacancies in Representative Covington's district. They were accompanied by Samuel C. Hicks, whom it is said they want appointed

The Kent county leaders saw the President for a few minutes only. They stated that they did not talk patronage matters with President Wilson.

Barroll Sees Burleson.

As soon as they left the White House however, they went to the Postoffice Department to see the Postmaster-General. It is understood that the President referred them to Mr. Burleson, saying that the department's indorsement was all important in matters of this sort.

Representative Covington has indorsed Eben F. Perkins for the Chestertown office. Mr. Perkins has been recommended by the new State Central Committee of Kent county and by a large number patrons of the office.

The Postmaster General gave Mr. Barroll and his son a courteous hearing, but no promise. Mr. Burleson has already sent the name of Mr. Perkins to the White House and it would have gone to the Senate today if any of the Eastern Shore nominations had been made.

In all the President has named nine postmasters in Maryland in seven months. One of these was in Baltimore, four were on the Eastern Shore and four in Western Maryland. The four Shore appointees have never been confirmed and may not be for a long time. They are in the hands of Senator John Walter Smith, having been referred to him by the Postoffice Committee of the Senate.

CIGARETTES CAUSE FIRE

Big Blaze at the Chestertown Paper Mill Sunday—Volunteer Company Does Valiant Service—The Loss is About $1,000.

Just at noon Sunday the fire bells in Chestertown gave the alarm of fire, the scene of which was at the strawboard mill. Hundreds rushed to the mill to see millions of pounds of stock paper on fire. Close to this paper were the dwellings and ricks of straw, but fortunately no wind was stirring.

The Chestertown Volunteer Fire Co responded promptly and under Chief Harry Cannan soon had two big streams of water playing upon the fire. There was no steam up at the mill, but within twenty minutes Engineer Arthur Joiner had fire started and the big pump driving a big stream from the mill pond. Relays were formed and a steady stream of water was poured on the baled paper all day Sunday, Sunday night and Monday.

Superintendent Wood had his employes to harness up mules to loaded wagons and haul the straw away from the immediate vicinity of the fire. Walter Bennett, Stewart Matthews, W. C. Peregoy and other employes were active in the work of saving the big mill.

The origin of the fire is quite evident. Shortly before the blaze broke out, or was discovered, several boys were seen running from the pile of straw, having been hidden behind the pile of paper smoking cigarettes. Some weeks previous to this a number of boys were run off the property, and so quickly did they escape that they left the stump of a cigarette which had ignited the grass, and the superintendent had to put it out!

THE big rain of Thursday and the day before washed out the road at head of Still Pond Neck and damaged other roads in Kent. When the damage in other sections are known, however, Kent's damage pales into insignificance.

THE great lecturer, John G. Woolley, will be in Chestertown Wednesday, Oct. 15. A full account of his coming was in last week's NEWS. He will speak in Christ M. P. Church at 7.30 P. M.
