The guard of which Porter had charge were unable to render him any assistance as the force was but small. The parties, too, who inflicted this summary punishment upon Porter were requested to take him to Baltimore and have him regularly tried; but this was refused, the soldiers preferring to take the law in their own hands.

Porter, it is said, belonged to Company D, 18th Veteran Reserve Corps. His time had almost expired, and he was to have been discharged yesterday.—Balto. Clipper.

THE PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER.

Published every Morning, (except Sunday,) by William W. Harding, No. 122 South Third Street Philadelphia.

THE GREAT NEWSPAPER OF

PHILADELPHIA

THE trying times of the nation's history in which we live, render a live newspaper an indispensible necessity to every man who would keep himself informed of the important events which are daily transpiring. To furnish a paper which will meet the just expectations of the public in such a time as the present, requires an amount of labor and of extraordinary expense of which the community at large have no conception. The publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer has spared no effects or money to make it all that it could be made. Besides improving and strengthening the home force during the past year, several of the best Reporters and Letter writers in the country, have been sent, at a great expense with the Army and Navy, and have frequently given the public the first and fullest accounts by telegraph and by mail, of important events at the Seat of War What the Inquirer has done is but an earnest of what will be done, in order to give its readers the best accounts of every event of interest connected with the great rebellion, and at the same time have it maintain its reputation as the best general newspaper in the country.

The increase in the circulation of the Inquirer during the year, is the best evidence of the extent to which the public rely upon it for the news of the day. Its circulation has averaged for several months past, over three hundred and sixty thousand copies a week, or sixty thousand a day, and it has during the year in times of excitement reached over seventy thousand—testing the capacity of our fast presses to the utmost to supply the demand. By the newly invented system of stereotyping—the type used with the same effect as if they were new every day.

The Inquirer is independent in politics

Prices at which the Philadelphia Inquirer is served by careful carriers everywhere or sent by mail twelve cents a week, and sold by all news agents. Daily paper, 50 cents for one month payable in advance—Daily paper two months, one dollar. All letters should be addressed to Wm. W. Harding, Publisher, Inquirer Building 122 South Third Street, Philadelphia.

The celebrated author in this admirable essay clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.
