Constitutional Amendments.

The Legislature of Maryland, at the session of 1890, passed six bills proposing amendments to the Constitution of the State, which will be voted upon by the people at the election in November. The first of these amendments is to Section 17 of Article 2, and reads as follows:

SECTION 17. To guard against hasty or partial legislation, and encroachments of the Legislative Department upon the co-ordinate, Executive and Judicial departments, every bill which shall have passed the House of Delegates and the Senate, shall before it becomes a law, be presented to the Governor of the State; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not he shall return it, with his objections, to the House in which it originated, which house shall enter the objections at large on its journal, and proceed to reconsider the bill; if after such reconsideration, three-fifths of the members elected to that House shall pass the bill, it shall be sent with the objections to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if passed by three-fifths of the members elected to that House, it shall become a law, but in all such cases the votes of both Houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each House respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the Governor within six days (Sundays expected) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he signed it; unless the General Assembly shall, by adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law, the Governor shall have power to disapprove of any item or items of any bills making appropriations of money, embracing distinct items, and the part or parts of the bill approved shall be the law, and the item or items of appropriations disapproved shall be void unless repassed according to the rules or limitations prescribed for the passage of other bills over the executive veto.

Should this amendment receive a majority of the votes cast for and against it, it will supersede the section as it now stands and become a part of the Constitution. Conceding the propriety of investing the Executive with the veto power there can be no very serious objection to this measure. Governors, like other people, may abuse the power and authority with which they are invested, and may, on occasion, commit injustice from personal motives; but, on the other hand, appropriations of doubtful propriety are sometimes passed in omnibus bills, through combinations of legislators more intent on securing the success of their own pet measures than on carefully scanning the claims of others. The power to veto separate items of appropriation bills will enable the governor, in such cases, to prevent the payment of improper claims and other appropriations of an objectionable character. As the Governor already has the power to veto appropriation bills as a whole, it is probably wise to invest him with authority to discriminate between various items of such measures and prevent the adoption of such as may to him appear objectionable.

A fire occurred in the town of McDalles, Oregon, on Wednesday, which destroyed the buildings on seventeen blocks. The loss was about $650,000.

It Benefits All.

An interesting reply to an article under the caption, "How It Hurts the Farmer," over the signature "Noivilbo," will be found in another column of the SENTINEL to-day. Our correspondent exposes some strange exaggerations of the article in question, which originally appeared in the Baltimore Sun and has been printed several times in the Advocate, of this city. "Noivilbo" is undoubtedly correct in his quotation of prices of certain farm implements mentioned, as every farmer, who has had occasion to buy them, within a year or two, is well aware. We believe there never was a time when such implements could be bought at lower prices than at present. We remember well, in the good old anti-protection days of Pierce and Buchanan, when similar implements, but clumsy in construction and made of poor materials, sold for double the prices now quoted. Iron hay, or pitchforks, with iron tines or prongs as thick as a finger and with scant resisting power—a great contrast to the light, strong steel fifty cent forks of to-day—retailed then at $1.00, and other agricultural machinery at rates about the same in proportion.

It is an insult to the intelligence of the farmer to be forever telling him of the enhanced cost of his farming implements under a protective tariff. The simple presentation of such facts as are quoted by our correspondent abundantly disproves the allegation, and no farmer of ordinary information and observation can be in ignorance of it. Protection has done much to enhance the wages of labor by stimulating manufactures, but it has done more to cheapen machinery, by promoting the development of manufacturing industries, provoking to the invention of manufacturing machinery and advancing the interests of all classes of citizens. The Democrats are not only making war upon the McKinley law; they are assailing the principle and system of protection as a theory and urging practical free-trade instead.

It is not true that tariff duties under the McKinley law have, as is generally believed, been increased on most articles of importation. The fact is that duties were generally reduced by it, the principal exceptions being wool and tin plate. The duties of most manufactures of iron and steel, having accomplished their purpose of stimulating home production and so decreasing their cost, have been reduced. The protective duties on tin plate and wool were imposed to promote and develop their production at home. In relation to wool the effect has not been as immediately marked as was expected, owing to the extraordinary low price prevailing abroad; but an impetus has been given to sheep growing, notwithstanding, that promises to be of immense benefit to that industry. Already preparations are going forward, however, for the home manufacture of tin plate which, if the protection now afforded is continued, will become a great industry, employing many men, introducing new methods, and ultimately greatly reducing the prices of that article, as protection has reduced the cost of most other articles to which it has been applied, as is apparent by the prices of agricultural implements mentioned in this connection above. Protection does not hurt the farmer. It benefits him, as it does all classes, by promoting general prosperity.

Democrats for Free Silver.

Now, that the Republicans of Ohio are carrying the war into Africa and are making it hot for the Democrats on the free coinage plank of their platform, the followers of Governor Campbell are alleging that the distinctive tariff character of the campaign has been abandoned because the Republicans are afraid of public sentiment on the subject. This, however, is only a quibble, and the Democrats know it. The Republicans stand by their guns on the tariff question, and every breakfast table furnishes an excellent argument in its favor in the cheap sugar which sweetens the coffee and tea of the people. But the Democratic party has an exceedingly weak point in its line of battle and the hedging of their gubernatorial candidate cannot strengthen it. The party is committed to unlimited coinage, in Ohio, and has practically approved the same thing in Maryland, by its endorsement of Senator Gorman, who voted for it in the Senate. The Republicans of Maryland may well imitate their brethren of Ohio, by pressing home upon the Democrats here the logical inferences of this action. Non-committal deliverances of the party conventions amount to nothing. The true attitude of the Democratic party in Maryland is to be found in its support of Senator Gorman, who, by his vote, has publicly allied himself with the free silver men. Let honest anti-silver Democrats make a note of it and act accordingly.

A New Chairman.

The Republican State Central Committee met in Baltimore Thursday, and organized by electing Mr. Chas. T. Wescott chairman. Mr. Wescott is a good man and there can be no possible objection to him personally. His election, however, was coupled with the direct refusal to allow Col. Vannort, the gubernatorial candidate, to name the chairman of the committee, as has been the custom for the last twelve years. This action has provoked severe criticism and, unexplained, has the appearance of grave discourtesy towards the gentleman whom the Republicans have chosen as their standard-bearer in the campaign. The SENTINEL has taken no part in the factional difficulties prevalent for some time past among the Republicans of the State, and can only express regret that that spirit should be permitted to exhibit its influence at the very outset of an important campaign. Want of space forbids further comment this week.

Hon. Edward Stake, of Hagerstown, has been unanimously nominated by the Republicans of the fourth judicial circuit as their candidate for Associate Judge. Hon. H. Kyd Douglas, of Hagerstown, is now occupying the position under appointment by Governor Jackson. Mr. Stake ran against Judge Syester and the vote was so close that many persons believed he was then elected. He declined to enter into a contest, however, and is now all the stronger for his course at that time.

Wm. Allen, colored, was killed by a mob at Guyton, Ga., on Thursday. He was accused of murdering a white man.

Republican Primaries.

The attention of the Republican voters of Carroll county is directed to the call for primary meetings to be found at the head of our editorial columns. As no contests between aspiring candidates are anticipated, it is apprehended that the interest in these meetings for the election of delegates to the county nominating convention will not be sufficient to prompt a large attendance. Republican voters should bear in mind, however, that the appointment of delegates to the county convention is not the only duty to be performed at the primaries. Members of the County Central Committee are also to be chosen. The call for the primaries designates three as the number from each district or precinct. According to the constitution for the government of the party, adopted in April last, each district is to have a District Committee, with a chairman who shall be a member of the County Central Committee, these chairmen, as a body, to constitute said committee, which may be increased two additional members for each district by the County convention. The call for the primaries is not, therefore, in strict accord with the constitution of the party on this point. It will remain for the county convention to cure the defect, but the members should be chosen with a view to their organization into district committees, with chairmen who shall be, ex-officio, members of the County Central Committee. The convention will probably be called upon to discuss this subject and determine whether the district committees shall be enlarged and whether the County Committee shall be constituted of more than one member from each district. Under the circumstances the Republicans should take more than ordinary interest in these primaries and give special attention to the selection of the committee men for their several districts.

We might add that the importance of presenting a bold and uncompromising front to the common enemy should prompt to deep interest and activity in the matter. Notwithstanding the good name of the Commonwealth has been dragged in the mire by a Democratic administration, the leaders of that party assume a supercilious air and boast of their ability to carry every county in the State. Such boasting is a sign of concious weakness, but the Republicans should rebuke it by a united, active and earnest campaign. Let it commence at the primaries on the 19th inst.

For the SENTINEL.

"How It Hurts the Farmer."

"How It Hurts the Farmer" is the title of a clipping from the Baltimore Sun, which the Democratic Advocate has reprinted several times. It is a reply of the Sun to an inquiry from a farmer of Frederick county, who asks: "What articles used by farmers are sold at high prices by reason of the passage of the McKinley tariff act?" In making the reply the Sun takes the wholesale price list of a New York paper and undertakes to show by it that American manufacturers are charging farmers extra profits on articles which they sell to foreigners at much lower figures. We copy two specimens from the Sun's list as they appear in the Advocate:

"Hoes, $9 per doz.; to the foreigner, $3.15."

"Scythes, fine cutlery steel, full polished, $10.00; to the foreigner, $6."

After the list the Sun remarks: "These figures showing sufficiently that the McKinley tariff is enabling the tariff lords to get too much for their goods, and they show how much more than a fair profit it enables them to get on the articles named."

Your correspondent proposes to show that the whole article must be based on false premises, and must, therefore, be intended for cool and unmitigated humbuggery, instead of useful information to the farmer.

Take the item of hoes, for instance. You can buy, for 25 cents, at any of our country stores, a hoe, as near perfection in its design as can be conceived, light and strong, made of polished steel and with hardwood handle—a most durable and efficient tool. Farmers know they can buy first class hoes at retail for 25 cents each; does not the Sun know it? Does the Advocate know it?

Take the other item, "scythes, fine cutlery steel, full polished." The writer bought one of those identical scythes this season, a beautiful piece of workmanship, sharp and slick, with temper like the famous swords of Damascus! and it cost him only 50 cents at a country store. Did not the Advocate know, when it quoted the wholesale price of scythes to home dealers at $10 per dozen, that they could be bought at Westminster, in the retail hardware stores, for 50 cents each? It is plainly evident that a farmer could buy a dozen scythes at one purchase, from the dealers in Westminster, at a lower rate than the Advocate's quoted wholesale figures from first hands—the tariff lords—to foreigners. The figures to home dealers are so marvelous that the farmer who reads them wonders what kind of gilt-edged hoe there is bringing 75 cents at wholesale; and who makes scythes that cost 83¼ cents each at the makers'.

And hay forks, another item on the list, "at $24.00 per dozen; to foreigners, $8.40." The tariff lords are pitching into the farmer viciously here—$2.00 for a hay fork! The writer bought four "bully ones" for that money, recently.

And another item still—"Peck's hatchets, per dozen $8; to the foreigner, $4." We recommend the Advocate buying one of Peck's hatchets for chopping cherry trees—G. W. could not tell a lie after chopping a cheery tree; and we 'spect 'twas Peck's "little hatchet" he used.

Now look at the conclusion of this clipping from the Sun: "But the farmer buys other things besides agricultural machinery and tools. He buys salt and pays a McKinley tax of 44 per cent. on it, which means that he pays $1.44 for $1 worth of salt." Farmers know they can buy as much salt as they care to carry home for ten cents, so that the tax doesn't hurt.

"On glass tumblers and lamps, 180 per cent." This means, of course, if the Sun's saying so makes it so, that the farmer is compelled to pay $2.80 for $1.00 worth of tumblers. The farmer really can buy neat jelly tumblers, with metallic caps, for 35 cents per dozen, in Westminster—cheap enough for him to buy for the boys to break at a shooting match!

"These figures are eloquent," says the Sun." They tell what has become of the farmer's money. This money has gone in the payment of taxes concealed in the price of what he had to buy,"

Bosh! Does the Advocate believe any such stuff? Do the figures tell the Sun and Advocate such a story? They may be assured that farmers do not take that meaning from them. Farmers like to pay high taxes on some things. Does the Advocate know what the tax is on an article called "Rohrbaugh?" Rohrbaugh is taxed 700 per cent. and the tax is not "concealed" a bit. Farmers buy it in Carroll county, notwithstanding the tax, and have not yet discovered "How It Hurts the Farmer!"

FARMERS!

Lend Us Your Ears.

It is an indisputable fact that the

of Fertilizer in this county has reduced the cost of it to the farmer from

Three to Five Dollars Per Ton

and saved to them

Thousands of Dollars,

Therefore, is it not wisdom on your part to encourage us while we are trying to save you money, and bring you nearer to the manufacturer? We desire to deal as directly with you as possible, thereby saving to you all extra commissions. We therefore invite all farmers, farmers' clubs and grange organizations to call on us before purchasing elsewhere. We manufacture all of our own brands of goods and guarantee them as represented. They are drier, have less acid and moisture than the usual city mixture and will drill perfectly. We guarantee them free from shoddy or any inactive material, and will to produce as good results in a crop contest as any other for the same money, and challenge competition. We are having reports of from 38 to 44 bushels per acre having been raised this year, from the use of our Phosphate. Besides the above guarantee we are offering to wheat growers using our grades, as follows: $10 for the largest yield per acre on one acre or more.

$30 for the largest yield per acre on five acres or more.

$60 for the largest yield per acre on ten acres or more.

See circulars for further description.

Our premiums last year were won by David Cover, of Winfield, and R. F. Cook, of Warfieldsburg

The Biggest Yield of Wheat in Carroll County.

The following letter from Mr. Jno. H. Stem, one of the most reputable farmers in the county, is submitted for the benefit of our patrons and all those interested:

WINFIELD, MD., JULY 23RD, 1891.

H. S. ROBERTS & CO.—SIRS:—I threshed yesterday from a scant nine acre field, sowed with 300lbs. to the acre of your "BIG GUN AND PRIDE FERTILIZERS," 380 BUSHELS OF WHEAT, averaging about 42½ BUSHELS TO THE ACRE. I sowed 1½ bushels of seed to the acre. Those are facts that it seems to me the people ought to know. If any one doubts it, I am willing to substantiate it with my oath, and other proof if necessary.

JOHN. H. STEM.
