WESTMINSTER, MARYLAND.

W. L. W. Seabrook - Editor.

Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

SATURDAY, APRIL 1, 1893.

Dr. C. W. Chancellor, of Baltimore, has been appointed Consul at Havre, France. Dr. Chancellor is the well-known Health officer of this State. His appointment seems to have created general surprise, as few persons had any knowledge that he was an applicant. The bosses probably understood the matter, although it is claimed they were as ignorant as others concerning it. Dr. Chancellor ought to be well qualified to perform the duties of the office to which he has been appointed.

The administration of President Cleveland has not thus far been annoyed to any considerable extent by delegations from Maryland visiting Washington in the interests of applicants for office; nor is it likely to be in the future. Applicants for positions are well aware that such methods of pressing their claims would be fruitless. The Democratic bosses in this State manage the appointment business without consulting the wishes of the masses of the party. The duty of the latter is simply to vote the democratic ticket and accept the dictum of the bosses concerning other matters without question.

If, as is alleged, United States Senator Roach, of North Dakota, embezzled the funds of a bank in Washington, D. C., of which he was an officer before he took up his residence in the Northwest, his presence in the Senate is a reproach and a disgrace to the country. It is to be hoped the Investigation the Republican Senators insist upon will relieve Mr. Roach of the charge made against him, but if, instead, its truth shall be established, it is not likely the majority will consent to his expulsion. It will be a matter of shame and regret, in that case, that one guilty of a felonious transaction shall be the occupant of a seat in the Senate of the country, but it will be without remedy.

An extra session of Congress, to commence in September, is, it is said, an extreme probability if not a certainty, the President having determined to call the Senate and House to Washington at that time for the purpose of expediting financial and tariff legislation. It will be much easier, however, to assemble the people's representatives in extra session than to induce such action as the President desires, especially on the subject of the currency. It is clearly apparent that at present the Democratic party is hopelessly divided in regard to the silver question, and that a decided majority of Senators and probably of Congressmen is opposed to the President's views. The persuasive influence of public patronage may modify the purposes of some Congressmen, but most of them are fairly representing their constituents and cannot afford to incur their displeasure even to gratify the dispenser of the official loaves and fishes.

Major Rathbone, who preceded General Adam E. King, of Baltimore, as Consul-General at Paris, was, we believe, permitted to serve a full term of four years. Gen. King has not yet served three years, but President Cleveland has nominated Samuel E. Morss, of Indiana, as his successor. Morss is the editor of the Indianapolis Sentinel, and a malignant and bitter partisan. Gen. King's record as an officer has been highly creditable and his services as a soldier entitled him at least to the same degree of courtesy extended to his predecessor. But the administration, with all its pretence and profession, is fast demonstrating its adhesion to the old maxim, "To the victors belong the spoils." Mr. Josiah Quincy, the Assistant Secretary of State, it is said, accepted the position for the purpose of consummating changes in the consular agents of the government as speedily as possible, and will retire from service as soon as the work is thoroughly accomplished.

Col. Elliott F. Shepard, of New York, died on Friday of last week, from the inhalation of ether, administered by Dr. Charles McBurney and Dr. J. W. McLane. Col. Shepard was suffering with calculus of the bladder and was about to submit to an operation for the removal of the stone. But a small quantity of ether had been administered when the physicians detected unfavorable symptoms and immediately employed every possible means to restore the patient. Their efforts were partially successfully, but Col. Shepard soon began to sink and lived but a short time. He was in the 60th year of his age, and was a very prominent citizen of New York. He married a daughter of the late W. H. Vanderbilt and besides the many millions thus acquired was very wealthy in his own right. He was the owner and editor of the New York Mail and Express. He was an ardent Republican, an earnest christian, and one of the most liberal and generous of men. His death is deeply deplored.

It is said that applicants for positions as chiefs of divisions in the Treasury Department at Washington have been surprised to learn that a sort of civil service examination is required to make them eligible. This examination is non-competitive and not technical, but aims to test, in a practical manner, the applicants' capability to perform the duties of the positions sought. Under it, probably, men may be able to demonstrate their ability to perform the official functions required, who could not pass an ordinary civil service examination for subordinate positions. The weakness of the present civil service system lies in its technicality. The examinations are theoretical instead of practical and a school-boy may pass where an experienced business man would fail. It is not necessary that an inspector of customs should be able to tell which are the three most northern States, or through what States a straight line drawn from New York to New Orleans will pass, and yet just such questions have been propounded to this class of applicants. Civil Service Reform needs to be reformed on the line of the method pursued in relation to chiefs of divisions in the Treasury Department.

A Tariff Reform Measure.

A special committee of the Tariff Reform Club of New York has prepared the draft of a Tariff bill, which, when perfected, will be submitted to Secretary Carlisle for his information in formulating a measure embodying the administration idea of reform. Whether the club bill will also be submitted to Congress is not clear. It is radical in its free-trade, or tariff for revenue features, laying down the broad principle that no duty should exceed 25 per cent. ad valorem. It adopts the ad valorem system in preference to specific duties, thereby opening wide the bars to frauds upon the revenue. It does not mention sugar, coffee and tea among the articles to be taxed, but the summary of its features states that, while "most provisions are made free of duty, some, which partake of the nature of luxuries, are put in the 20 per cent. schedule." The articles mentioned are doubtless among that number.

We regard the measure, as it is outlined, as pernicious in the extreme and, if adopted in its main features, thoroughly destructive of American prosperity.

Party Against Patriotism.

Unselfish patriotism is a sentiment which some Democratic newspapers seem unable to comprehend or appreciate. For instance, the St. Louis Republic stigmatizes Senator Morgan, of Alabama, as a "Ben Harrison Democrat." The head and front of the Senator's offending is found in his approval of the measures of the Harrison administration to maintain the rights and honor of the country in its controversies with Italy and Chili, as well as in its course concerning the alleged aggressive attitude of Great Britain in the Bering sea matter. Some other Democratic Senators, probably moved by a partisan desire to antagonize all the measures of a Republican administration, either opposed the government in these controversies or remained indifferent to the results involved; but Mr. Morgan exhibited the spirit of true patriotism by approving the means employed to enfore our just rights. The issues of events, thus far, have more than justified his course, and, whatever may be the outcome of the Bering sea difficulty, the people of this country are justified in the conclusion that the American case will be patriotically and earnestly maintained by Mr. Morgan, who is one of the arbitrators, on the part of the United States, now engaged in the consideration of the matter. He can well afford to regard with indifference the criticisms of the St. Louis Republic or any other newspaper or individual, because patriotism is ever and always more honorable than partisanship.

A Horrible Murder in Prince George's County, Md.

A murder, equaling in atrocity that of Dr. Hill, of Kent county, was perpetrated in Prince George's county, about three miles from Upper Marlboro, the county seat, on Sunday afternoon last. The victim was Mr. Francis M. Bowie, a wealthy and prominent citizen, and a brother-in-law of Mr. F. Snowden Hill, Collector of Internal Revenue, who resides on a farm adjoining that of Mr. Bowie. The circumstances of the crime are briefly as follows: Mr. Bowie had been in Upper Marlboro during the afternoon and returned to his home between three and four o'clock. Shortly afterwards he mounted his horse and rode to a distant field to look after some sheep. He did not return, and as night drew on his wife became uneasy about him. An employee of the household was sent to look for him and soon returned with the word that the horse he had ridden was found, but that no trace of him had been discovered. Mrs. Bowie then notified some of her neighbors and a search was instituted and continued far into the night, but without result. On Monday morning the proper authorities at Upper Marlboro were notified and appeared on the scene. Before their arrival, however, evidences of a struggle were discovered in a lonely spot in the field to which Mr. Bowie had gone, with blood spots on the ground, and soon, guided by these signs, the dead body of the unfortunate man was found in a well, fifty or sixty feet deep, near by. When brought up it was seen that death had resulted from violence and that a foul murder had been committed. One side of the neck was bruised and lacerated from blows of a blunt instrument, presumably a club which was found on the scene, and the frontal bone was crushed in, probably by a blow with a stone. A gold watch carried by Mr. Bowie was missing, but the real motive of the crime is not entirely apparent.

It is strongly suspected that the murder was committed in revenge and that it was premeditated and carefully planned, as Mr. Bowie is said to have had many enemies. Some months ago an attempt was made to burn his residence in the night while he and his family were asleep.

The prominence of the victim and the atrocity of the crime have created great excitement in the community and every possible effort will be made to discover the person or persons guilty of the murder.

Mr. Bowie was married in 1878 to Miss Ida Hill, a sister of Revenue collector F. Snowden Hill. Eight children of the marriage, the oldest a girl of thirteen years, are living. He was about forty-five years of age, owned four or five fine farms, comprising altogether about 900 acres, and his wealth is estimated at $100,000 to $125,000. Dan Barber and Wm. Pinkney, two colored men, have been arrested on suspicion of complicity in the murder.

Walter R. Sharar, the fifteen-year-old son of Mr. George Sharar, of Hagerstown, was seriously wounded by the accidental discharge of a revolver in the hands of Frank Shriner, son of Mr. H. C. Shriner, train-dispatcher of the W. Md. Railroad at Hagerstown, on Thursday evening of last week. The boys were playing with the revolver when the accident occurred. The ball pierced young Sharar's lung, inflicting a dangerous wound. Dr. Charles Boyle is attending the lad.

Hon. Herman Stump, of Harford county, who represented the Second District of Maryland in Congress from 1889 to 1893, has been nominated Superintendent of Immigration, by the President. Mr. Stump was chairman of the House Committee on Immigration of the last Congress. The position is an important one.

Baltimore Letter.

St. Barnabas' Episcopal Church, on the corner of Biddle street and Argyle avenue, was destroyed by fire early on Wednesday morning. The cause of the fire was a defective flue. When the fire department arrived on the scene the building was enveloped in flames. Several dwellings near by were slightly damaged. The parsonage, however, although adjoining the church, was uninjured. The building was insured for $20,000. The contents were not insured.

The great Krupp gun, now on the Longuiel at Sparrow's Point, which was to have been removed from that vessel last Saturday, will be taken out by the end of this week. All the attachments of the monster have been removed. Great crowds are daily viewing the gun.

The school exhibits of the public schools of this city are being prepared for the World's Fair. The specimens include written examinations in different studies, mechanical and free-hand drawings. The work reflects credit on the public schools of Baltimore.

The physicians are much perplexed over several cases of cerebro-spinal meningitis in the northwestern section of this city. Several deaths have resulted from the disease and quite a number of cases have been reported to the health commissioner. The Health Department is taking active steps to check the infectious disease, which is really epidemic in the section referred to.

The Baltimore City Directory for 1893 has been issued. It shows an immense increase in population and in manufacturing industries during the last year. The population is 36,000 over that of 1892, which shows very rapid growth. In manufactories about $100,000,000 is invested, giving employment to over 100,000 hands who earn over $40,000,000 per annum. This great development is exciting universal attention, and would hardly be credited but for the statistics. This is the greatest increase in the history of the city.

The mayor and city council have been discussing the erection of a new City College building, the amount to be appropriated, the site, and minor subjects concerning the college. It will be remembered that the old building on Howard street was partially destroyed by the sinking of the arch of the Belt Line tunnel. The newspapers are doing all in their power to have the building erected, and they also urge that all advantages of a first-class college should be placed in the new structure. Among other improvements over the old building will be a gymnasium and chemical laboratory.

A Branch Railroad Projected.

Frederick correspondence of the Baltimore Sun, under date of the 24th inst., contains the following: A projected branch railroad from Liberty to Union Bridge, to connect with the Western Maryland Railroad at that point, is now the subject of considerable discussion in the towns and villages in the northeastern section of Frederick county. Preliminary steps, it is said, have already been taken and the construction of the road in the near future is well assured. At the present time the nearest shipping point to Liberty is about eight miles distant. The region to be traversed is highly cultivated and populated by an intelligent, thrifty and prosperous class of people who are chiefly engaged in farming pursuits. The town of Liberty alone has nearly 1,000 population. In the vicinity are located the well-known Liberty copper mines.

While Mr. Walter Black, of Florence, Howard county, was cleaning up his garden on Wednesday, a spark set fire to a straw rick which was burned. From the rick the flames spread to the large bank barn containing 200 bushels of wheat, 10 tons of hay, a lot of harness and agricultural implements, all of which were destroyed. A lot of fencing was also burned and the dry grass in the field catching on fire about fifty acres were burned over. A woods was also in flames. With great difficulty the fire was gotten under control by neighboring farmers. The loss is about $2,000, thought to be covered by insurance.

That veteran criminal, John Price, was sentenced by Judge Roberts, in the Circuit Court for Howard county, on Thursday, to seven years in the Maryland penitentiary for shooting Carrie V. Rock, of Baltimore, with intent to murder.

THE PANSY FOR APRIL would be a notable number had it only the American Literature paper to recommend it to the readers' notice. For the historians Parkman and Prescott will be read and admired so long as there are English-speaking students to read their gracefully written English. A fine picture of each accompanies the article. But there are stories, bits of narrative, and poems, as well as stirring pen pictures drawn by "Pansy" and Margaret Sidney, the young folks' favorite writers. The Junior Society of Christian Endeavor has likewise been remembered in the P. S. Department, which is always an attractive feature of this highly commendable young folks' magazine. The publishers will send a sample back number free to those wishing to examine the magazine. Price $1.00 a year; 10 cents a number. D. Lothrop Company, Publishers, Boston.

"A TEXAS STEER"

will be given at Harris' Academy of Music, Baltimore, for one week, beginning with a matinee Easter Monday, April 3rd. Chas. H. Hoyt's phenomenal success with "A Texas Steer" everywhere that it has been produced, has aroused the curiosity of play goers and created an extraordinary demand for seats at Harris' Academy earlier in the season. The piece is described as a comedy, and in its composition Hoyt has proved himself capable of taking a prominent place among American dramatists. The prologue shows how, in Texas, a cattle king is elected to Congress, much against his will. The remainder of the comedy shows his political career in Washington. The cattle king has a bright, plucky daughter, who has a military admirer in Texas. When he encounters her at the Capital he is somewhat ashamed of her unsophisticated ways. She quickly detects this and adapting herself to her surroundings soon manages to hold her own in the best of society. The piece is a clever combination of pathos and humor and is inspired by actual facts.
