School Census Due November 1-12

The biennial school census which is required by Maryland law will be taken in 1954 by using the L.B.M. mark sensing method.

The time for taking the census is between Nov. 1 and Nov. 12, 1954. All cards should be completed during this period.

All persons are to be enumerated from birth to 18 years inclusive.

Parents who have children from birth to six years and no other children in school can be helpful by giving the date of birth, the district in which they reside and their full names and their local school principal.

Information is needed about children who do not attend any school. This would include the pre-school children ,handicapped children, the group which is beyond the compulsery school age, and the group which is of school age and not enrolled in any school. One purpose of the school census is to locate persons of school age who are not attending any school. The census includes private and parohial schools, too.

Plans Changed For Surprise Alert

Maryland's participation in "Operation Quick Kick", the surprise State-wide air raid alert scheduled to be held sometime this month, Nov. 8, 9th or 10th, has been cancelled, Sherley Ewing, State Civil Defense Dirtcetor announced today. Reason for the change in plans was that the District of Columbia has announced it will not sound the public warnings or have public participation exercises, Mr. Ewing said.

At the same time, Mr. Ewing said that Baltimore City and the five surrounding counties would participate in a surprise test at their own request.

"Operation Drop Kick", as the Baltimore area test is code-named, will be held at the same unannounced time as other States hold theirs, he said.

The counties involved in the surprise exercise will be Baltimore, Howard, Anne Arundel, Carroll and Harford. Other areas in the State have decided not to participate, Mr. Ewing said.

The District of Columbia blamed its withdrawal from the regional alert on a shortage of warning devices. A new shipment of sirens has been delayed, according to D.C. officials.

Mr. Ewing said that it "would be unrealistic for Maryland counties near the Nation's Capitol to participate without the cooperation of Washington."

He said counties outside the Baltimore area felt that the Test had lost its inter-state significance and most of their organizations were "played out after Hurricane Hazel operations, anyway."

Asked why he had changed the name of the Baltimore area exercise from "Quick Kick" to "Drop Kick," Mr. Ewing said it was "because it looks like we had to drop the ball."

Four Separate Weekend Accidents In Queen Anne's

A motorboat, a house and five automobiles were involved in four separate weekend accidents on Queen Anne's County highways that resulted in minor injuries to two persons.

The boat suffered its damage when a car operated by Marcelino Cruz, 31, Chester, smashed into a large barricade at Kent Narrows where the old bridge once stood to carry traffic to Kent Island. The boat was behind the barricade and had one side pushed in.

State Police arrested Cruz for driving under the influence of alcohol, operating without a license and reckless driving. He is in the county jail awaiting a hearing.

About 2 a.m. Saturday, some seven hours previous to the accident at the barracade, a car operated by Sara Brown, 28, Kent Narrows, knocked an oyster shanty off the foundation at the Narrows. The house was owned by William C. Baxter. State Police charged the woman with reckless driving and set a hearing for Nov.11.

The cars were damaged but no one was hurt one mile west of Hope on Route 305 about 9:15 a.m. when a car operated by Marion J. Schuyler, 25, Centreville, stopped to give assistance to a stalled vehicle and was rammed by a car driven by Milford M. Usilton, 37, also of Centreville. Schuyler was charged with failing to give a signal and Usilton with following too close.

Mrs. Thomas Austin, Grasonville, received a back injury and was taken to the Memorial hospital in Easton by the Queenstown Vol. Fire Co. ambulance, when the car she was driving ran off the road and hit a fence about 1:10 a.m. Sunday on Route 18 near Grasonville.

Halloween Pranksters Cause Car Mishap, 2 Hurt

The Queenstown Fire Company ambulance took Bobby J. Green, 21, Grasonville, the driver, and Susan Jenkins, 15, Grasonville, to the Memorial Hospital in Easton, where Green was released after treatment. Miss Jenkins was held for observation and treated for brush burns.

Queen Anne's County Remained Democratic Tues.

Traditionally Democratic Queen Anne's County remained in that column in Tuesday's election with almost 5,500 votes polled, over 1,500 more than the number voting in the primary. Fort the first time in 20 years the Republicans put a complete county ticket in the field.

Robert P. Dean was elected state senator, getting 3,101 votes to 2,029 for his Republican opponent, David Williamson. Dean a farmer of near Centreville, is past president of the Queen Anne's County Farm Bureau.

Harry C. Butler was unopposed for state's attorney.

The three Democratic candidates were named county commissioners: Clayton C. Carter, present state's attorney, 3,521; S. Grayson Chance, 3,383; E. Oliver Legg, Sr., incumbent 3,286. Their Republican opponents: Franklin S. Wharton, 2,130; Daniel J. Shortall, 1,850; Philip W. Reeves, 1,636.

Tilghman Eaton and Charles E. Risley, Democrats, won the House of Delegates race with 3,427 and 3,343 votes, respectively. Their opponets were: David L. Jones, 1,616; and William V. Riggs, Jr., 1,950.

In the gubernatorial race, Dr. H. C. Byrd, Democrat, won the county, polling 3,163 votes to 2,314 for his opponent, Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

For attorney general, C.F. Sybert, Democratfl polled 2,993 votes to 1,952 for E.D.E. Rollins, Republican.

State Senator Edward Turner, of Queen Anne's County, seeking the House of Representatives seat, received 2,915 votes to 2,455 for Edward Miller ,the GOP incumbent.

McKeldin Wins Second Term as Governor

Theodore R. McKeldin "the first Republican in Maryland history to win a second term as governor.

In 698 districts of 1,345, McKeldin piled up 205,303 votes to 169,167 for Democrat H.C. Byrd, who retired as president of the University of Maryland in January to make his first bid for public office. McKeldin's lead of 36,136 was mounting hourly.

In addition to a governor, Maryland voters balloted on seven congressional seats, where Republicans have held a 4-3 margin.

Early indications were the vote was heavy despite a day of steady rain and ,in some sections, snow flurries. Throughout most of the state election officials reported large turnouts ,and in the Maryland suburbs of the District of Columbia, there were predictions the vote might exceed that of the 1952 presidential year.

Miller Leads Turner in Congressional Race

U.S. Rep. Edward T. Miller took the lead on the Eastern Shore in his bid for reelection.Ninety out of the 181 polling places in the nine shore counties gave Miller 17,362 votes to 15,838 for his Democratic opponent, State Senator Edward Turner.

In Wicomico County the vote was Miller, 5,764; Turner, 4,446.

'Great Need' For Observers, Says Civil Defense

A "desperate" need was cited today by Civil Defense authorities for volunteer observers to man the Centreville Heights Observer Post at Centreville Heights on a 24-hour basis.

Officials from the Baltimore Filter Center this week called for volunteers to give "two hours a week" to spoot for planes. Anyone who wants to volunteer may contact the Civil Defense office in Centreville, telephone 581.

It was pointed out that the post has operated on a parti-time basis, but the entire operation is meaningless until it operates around the clock.

The two high schools in Centreville, the Centreville High School and Kennard, have come forward to offer assistance by taking charge of the post one day a week.
