By order of the County Central Committee.

WM. WOOD, Chairman.
JNO. H. MITTEN, Secretary.

There was a large gathering of the clans at the Democratic State convention on Wednesday, all intensely curious to know the will of the man who carries the control of the party in his vest pocket. He didn't leave them long in doubt, and there was unutterable woe in a large part of the camp when it became known.

The worst treated man in Maryland is Thomas G. Hayes. He was led to believe until the last moment that he was the choice of Mr. Gorman for the Governorship. But Mr. Hayes was too sound on reassessment to suit the wealthy manager of the party, and so was left in the lurch.

The Democratic State convention, held in Baltimore on Wednesday, in the usual terms pronounced in favor of a reassessment. This makes the fifth consecutive Democratic State convention at which a resolution pledging the party to reassessment has been adopted. It has less significance now than on any former occasion, as the candidate for Governor is notoriously hostile to the only kind of reassessment law—a measure that will disclose all properly properly taxable—that will be acceptable to the people. The Democratic masses have simply been again cheated in their desire for such a reassessment as will equalize the burdens of taxation.

Holding portfolios in Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet seems to have a powerful effect upon the opinions of some of the distinguished gentlemen enjoying that favor. For instance, Mr. Carlisle and Hoke Smith, who previous to their identification with the administration were both free silver coinage men, have undergone a complete change of mind on the subject. Mr. Carlisle made several powerful speeches in Kentucky and Tennessee, quite recently, against the heresy, and Mr. Smith has just concluded a campaign in Georgia on the same line. He admits that he was a free coinage man in 1890, but declares that the conditions have changed since that time. So they have, but not the conditions which relate to the coinage question. Every argument that was offered in favor of free coinage in 1890 can be as justly presented to-day. The unlimited coinage of silver was as much a heresy then as it is now. Mr. Smith wasn't right when he favored it if he is right when he opposes it. He wasn't a member of the Cabinet of an anti-silver President in 1890. He is now. This is a change of condition plainly perceptible to the public, but every objection to free silver coinage to-day was as pertinent five years ago as it is now. There has been no change in that respect, at least.

What Price Was Offered?

Dr. Frank T. Shaw is reported by yesterday's Baltimore Morning Herald as saying to Mr. Hurst, the Democratic nominee for Governor:

"I deeply regret that treachery on the part of several men in Carroll county on whose pledges I had reason to rely, whom I have helped to whatever consequence they have in politics, deprived me of the gratification of giving you the entire vote of the county in the convention. As it was, I had but one man on the delegation, but he was steadfast and proof against every price. I wish you an overwhelming triumph in November, and long life and happiness."

Apart from the charge of treachery in the above quotation there is a strong suggestion of inducements of a substantial character made to keep the delegation solid. What were they?

Mr. Baker Does Not Want It.

A leading Republican of Baltimore is quoted in the Baltimore Herald of Sunday last as saying in reference to the Gubernatorial nomination, and the alleged candidacy of Hon. Wm. G. Baker: "I know that Harford is nominally for Baker, but he does not want the nomination, and her vote will go for Lowndes."

The remark that Mr. Baker "does not want the nomination" tallies with his own declaration in a letter recently written by him to a Republican of this city, which contains the exact words quoted in this paragraph. "I do not want the nomination," he writes, "and have never said to an individual that I desired to be a candidate." And again: "I understand that Mr. Clabaugh wishes to be a candidate for Attorney General, and if he does I do not wish to be in his way. I am sure our Congressional District cannot have two candidates, and I do not wish, under the circumstances, to be in anybody's way." About the same thing was said by Mr. Baker personally to Mr. Clabaugh, and he so states in the letter referred to.

Mr. Lowndes and Reassessment.

Somebody has put in circulation in this county a report that Hon. Lloyd Lowndes, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the Republican Gubernatorial nomination, and who, it has been generally supposed would be the choice of the Carroll Republicans, is opposed to reassessment, and that he appeared before a committee of the Legislature, in company with Mr. John E. Hurst, to oppose the passage of a bill for that purpose. The real story as told to us by a reliable gentleman, who is well informed in relation to the matter, puts a very different face upon it, and one that is highly creditable to Mr. Lowndes. Mr. Lowndes was in Annapolis at the same time the Hurst committee was engaged in presenting objections to the assessment bill, but he was there for a different purpose. That purpose was to urge the passage of a bill to pay the wages earned by and due to a number of workmen for labor on the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal. He went to Annapolis at his own cost and charges to urge an act of justice to men who could not afford to employ and pay counsel to present their claims.

Mr. Lowndes is declared to be outspoken in his advocacy of a just reassessment measure, being heartily in sympathy with his party on that and other issues involved in the pending campaign.

It is deemed only fair and just to him to make this statement public, to the end that his candidacy may not be unfairly affected by a false report.

Story of the Statistics.

Official statistics of the trade, commerce, manufactures, wages, revenue, expenditures, &c., of the government of the United States are not very attractive to the average Democrat. They are not in harmony with his theories of free trade and tariff reform. In the matter of revenue and expenditures for instance, the official statistics show that from 1866 to 1893, both inclusive, there was a balance in the treasury at the close of each year, from the receipts of that period, ranging from about $2,341,000 to $145,543,000. During all that period no deficit occurred, but for the fiscal years ended June 30th, 1894, and June 30th, 1895, the deficit exceeded, in the aggregate, $112,000,000, and would have been five to ten millions more if debts due had not been carried over into the fiscal year which began July 1st, 1895.

Contrasting the wages paid to the workingmen of the country in the years 1892 and 1894 we find a shrinkage of more than a thousand millions of dollars. The exact figures, as shown by the statistics, giving the wages in each of the years mentioned, are: 1892—$2,282,823,265; 1894—$1,255,552,796.

In 1892 the value of the manufactured products in the United States was $9,370,107,624; and in 1894, $5,247,260,269, showing a percentage of shrinkage about equal to that in wages.

If the Democratic free trader has a pet theory it was that less protection and frere trade would increase the demand for American products in foreign markets. The real fact is that in the fiscal year ended June 30th, 1892, exports of American products reached the value of $1,015,732,011, while for the year ended June 30th, 1895, such products were exported to the value of only $793,553,018, a shrinkage of more than two hundred and twenty-two millions of dollars.

In 1866 the interest bearing debt of the United States was $2,332,331,208. Up to and including the year 1892 the debt, upon which interest was paid, had been reduced to $585,029,330. More than one thousand seven hundred millions of the debt was paid during the period referred to, and not a single year passed in which there was no reduction in its volume. From 1892 to 1895 the debt increased to $716,202,060, and as there is still a deficiency in revenue, under blundering Democratic revenue legislation, another loan to make it good is an extreme probability, thus adding still more to the interest account to be met by the people.

Who can honestly doubt that the conditions thus briefly summarized are due to the different economic theories of the two leading parties of the country? or that the adverse exhibit of the last two years finds its explanation in the administration and control of the executive and legislative departments of the government by a party threatening the introduction of the principle of free-trade? The contrasts are too decided to admit of any other conclusion.

The Prohibition Ticket.

The Prohibition State convention which met at Glyndon on Wednesday and Thursday, nominated the following State ticket:

For Governor—Joshua Levering, of Baltimore,

For Comptroller—J. D. Nicodemus, of Frederick county.

For Attorney General—W. Frank Tucker, of Baltimore.

Mr. Levering was present and positively refused to accept the nomination. His language was: "Under no circumstances am I able to accept the nomination." The convention persisted, however, and adjourned without changing the ticket. A committee was appointed to confer with and if possible induce Mr. Levering to accede to the wishes of the convention.

Western Maryland in the Cold.

"The question is now being heard," says the Baltimore Sun. "'Where is Western Maryland at?' and so far no one seems to have heard any satisfactory reply. Two adjoining counties on the Eastern Shore each gets a candidate, and the third candidate, Mr. Hurst, is an Eastern Shoreman by birth. Then where is Western Maryland 'at?' Two men from that portion of the State were placed before the convention—Mr. Jones and Mr. Douglas. Neither of them raised a ripple. In judicious political management the distribution of candidates is always carefully considered. The counties which are classed as Western Maryland counties, those comprising the sixth congressional district, along with Carroll, have four thousand more democratic voters than the entire Eastern Shore, including Cecil county. Frederick county alone has about one-third as many democrats as the nine Eastern Shore counties combined. And yet this great section of the State is as bare of candidates as a cupboard of Mother Hubbard. Heretofore it has always been considered prudent to put one of the three candidates in the Western Maryland counties. Why this policy was abandoned is not explained, but if Mr. Gorman had directed his convention to select all three candidates from the same election district, it would have been done with cheerfulness. Never since Jonah, the son of Amittai, was elected to be thrown overboard by the mariners of the vessel which sailed from Joppa to Tarshish, was there such an election."

Democratic State Convention.

It was Mr. Gorman's convention; no doubt about that. From first to last two-thirds of the delegates simply recorded his will. Mr. Thomas G. Hayes was the logical candidate, as he was the typical exponent of the people's desire for a reassessment. He declares he had Mr. Gorman's solemn pledge and promise that he should receive the nomination. Instead, the party autocrat selected Mr. John E. Hurst, a reputable and wealthy merchant of Baltimore, who has been publicly known as an enemy of the only sort of reassessment that will be acceptable to the people, as his candidate. The convention recorded his will by voting 86 for Mr. Hurst and 31 for ex-Judge Wm. A. Fisher. Four of Judge Fisher's votes were from Carroll county. One of Carroll's delegates Mr. Slasman, voted for the Gorman candidate. Mr. Slasman was with the Young Democracy in their fight against Gormanism last year. Conspicuous by his side in the State convention and wearing a delegate's badge, was Sheriff Arnold, a circumstance that provoked remark and gave rise to the expression that entire confidence was not reposed in the properly accredited delegate's fealty to the great boss' fortunes.

"The convention was held at Harris' Academy of Music, Baltimore, on Wednesday and Mr. Bernard Carter was the presiding officer. Candidates for Governor, Comptroller and Attorney General were nominated as follows:

For Governor—John E. Hurst, of Baltimore.

For Comptroller—Marion DeKalb Smith, of Kent county.

For Attorney General—Charles C. Crothers, of Cecil county.

Mr. Smith is the present Comptroller, and Mr. Crothers is a member of the Elkton bar.

Death of Judge Hoffman.

Hon. Henry W. Hoffman, Associate Judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit of Maryland, died at his home in Cumberland, on Sunday last, in the seventieth year of his age, having been born December 17th, 1825. We believe Judge Hoffman began his public career as Acting State's Attorney of Allegany county. He was unknown outside of that county until 1855, when he was nominated as the American candidate for Congress against Hon. Wm. T. Hamilton, and was elected by a handsome majority. He was defeated for re-election in 1857, but was elected Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives. He was Collector of Customs at Baltimore from 1861 till 1865. In 1883 he was elected Associate Judge, as the Republican candidate, and from that time until his death, discharged the duties of that honorable station with dignity and ability. He leaves one son and two unmarried daughters.

His campaign against Hon. Wm. T. Hamilton, in 1855, was one of the most interesting ever known in the Western District, which then comprised only the three counties of Frederick, Washington and Allegany, including the present Garrett county. A series of three joint meetings—one in each county—was arranged, the first of which was held in Frederick. On that occasion Mr. Hoffman was ill, went on the stand in a feeble physical condition and was obliged to retire in a few minutes. Mr. Hamilton was permitted to monopolize the entire meeting and spoke without limit. Mr. Hoffman's partisans were deeply chagrined and their Democratic opponents correspondingly elated. But Mr. Hoffman recovered and bore his part bravely and well in the meetings at Hagerstown and Cumberland. Another meeting was finally arranged for Frederick and was held shortly before the election. Mr. Hoffman opened in a half hour's speech. Mr. Hamilton was given an hour in reply, the former closing with a speech of half an hour.

In his introduction Mr. Hoffman laid a trap for his competitor into which the latter fell at once and in the end was routed so completely that he retired from the stand before the meeting closed. Mr. Hoffman received a perfect ovation and the incident turned the tide so thoroughly in his favor that at the election, a few days afterwards, he received the largest vote cast for any candidate in Frederick county, members of the Legislature, State's Attorney and other county officers having been chosen at the same time.

Mrs. Catharine Zinn Zacharias, widow of the late Rev. Dr. Daniel Zacharias, who up to the time of his death in 1873 had been pastor of the Reformed Church in Frederick for thirty-eight years, died at her home in Baltimore, on Thursday of last week, at an advanced age. Her remains were interred in Mount Olivet Cemetery, Frederick, on Sunday last, Rev. Drs. E. R. Eschbach, of Frederick, and J. Spangler Keiffer, of Hagerstown, officiating.

The seed division of the Department of Agriculture will be abolished on October 1. Secretary Morton has issued an order stating that the practice of distributing seed broadcast at government expense will be discontinued during the fiscal years 1895 and 1896 and the service of the employes engaged in that work will not be required after October 1.

A Washington dispatch to the New York Press, July 29th, says: The increase of the National Debt, under President Cleveland's Administration, as shown by official records to-day, was $296,830,317.

A CARD.

TO THE REPUBLICANS OF CARROLL COUNTY.

On Monday, the 29th of July, I called on Mr. Harry M. Clabaugh, for the purpose of discussing the political outlook. During the conversation I stated to Mr. Clabaugh that I would like to go to the Cambridge Convention as a delegate and asked him to use his influence for me. He said it would depend upon how I stood. I told him I was for him for Attorney General and would do anything to help him to win. He then said, "that is not enough." I asked him why. He said I must be for Lowndes for Governor too. I told him I did not think it wise to commit the county for anybody for Governor until we saw what our friends, the enemy had done. He said he had made a combination with Lowndes and wanted this county for him, and in view of the fact that I was a candidate for State's Attorney I had better not meddle with the State ticket, but that if I did oppose the nomination of Mr. Lowndes he would oppose my nomination as State's Attorney, that he did not want anybody to go to the State Convention, except those who would do as he said and nothing else.

Now I understand Mr. Clabaugh has publicly denied the above conversation. What I have said above is only part of the conversation and I would not now make this statement in writing had Mr. Clabaugh not seen fit to deny it. Respectfully,

JOSEPH D. BROOKS.

State of Maryland, Carroll County, to-wit:

I hereby certify that on this 2nd day of August, 1895, before me the subscriber, a Justice of the Peace of the State of Maryland, in and for Carroll county, personally appeared, Joseph D. Brooks, and made oath on the Holy Evangely of Almighty God, that the matters and things stated in the above statement are true as therein set forth.

GUSTAVUS W. CRAPSTER, J. P.

For the SENTINEL.

The Fight is Against Mr. Clabaugh.

MR. EDITOR:—Will you be kind enough to publish the following letter, with the comments thereon:

WESTMINSTER, MD., JULY 25TH, 1895.

——— Esq.

DEAR SIR,—I write in confidence to say that Mr. Clabaugh will endeavor to have delegates sent from your district to our Convention on Aug. 5, who will favor Lowndes for Governor and Clabaugh for Attorney General.

While many of us do not object to Mr. Lowndes, we think that it is in bad taste to turn down Mr. Baker—coming as he does from our own Congressional district; that whether Baker is or is not nominated the Counties in this Congressional district ought to be in touch with their representative in Congress.

Mr. Clabaugh of course opposes Mr. Baker as his—Baker's nomination, would necessarily prevent Clabaugh's. But as Mr. C. has been a candidate very frequently, is now and has been for years Chairman of the State Cent. Committee, and still a young man the impression prevails that he can afford to wait and not disturb the harmony that promises the election of entire County ticket this fall.

If you feel as many of us do throughout the County I wish you would interest yourself in the Coming primaries in your district, and have Baker men sent from ——.

Very Truly Yours A. H. HUBER.

The above indicates clearly that the fight that has suddenly developed among the Republicans in this county is not specially in the interests of Mr. Baker, but is first and and last against Mr. Clabaugh. The assertion that "many of us do not object to Mr. Lowndes" shows the drift in that direction. A letter was received by a gentleman in New Windsor, a day or two ago, from the author of the above, in which it was suggested that that district could be captured against Mr. Clabaugh by the absence of his friends from the voting place. The receiver of the letter was enjoined to see that "no Clabaugh delegates are sent to the convention." Could anything be clearer than that the purpose of the opposition is to prevent a delegation from being sent to the State convention favorable to his nomination for Attorney General?

FERTILIZER
For the Farmer.

Reduced in Price,
Quality Maintained.

From 35 to 38 bushels of wheat per acre and a "rousing crop of grass in the bargain," by the use of Zell's Fertilizers.

For sixteen years I have been selling Zell's Fertilizers and the equally famous Chemical Co. of Canton's Fertilizers, with a steady increasing demand for them. This, with the most flattering testimonials that could here be produced, if we had space, from many of the most progressive farmers in Carroll and adjoining counties, and the much reduced price for which these goods are offered for the season of 1895, should convince the farmers that they cannot do better elsewhere. We will not be undersold by the same quality of goods. I have but little expense in the sale of these Fertilizers and therefore can sell on small margin. Should I not call on you personally, just come, prepared to load your wagon, to the Machinery Building of J. Q. Stitely, Westminster, Md., or to the Warehouse of the subscriber at Union Mills, Md.; or at the Warehouse of Fink & Weikert, Littlestown, Pa.; or at C. Crumrine's, Melrose, Md.

Wash Goods.

If ever clothes presented an opportunity of making a woman attractive and charming, this summer's styles in Wash Fabrics have accomplished that result. She has appreciated the fact, too, and the "summer girl," daintily arrayed in delicate patterned Lawns and beautifully colored Organdies and Dimities, is prettier than she ever was. We have a line of summer goods of which the most fault-finding cannot speak but with praise.

Choice of 75 pieces of this season's Wash Fabrics, consisting of finest Lawns, Dimities, Imported Piques, Fine Organdies, in all the latest styles. None of them were any lower than 12½ cents a yard, and the majority ran as high as 15 and 18 cts. per yard. You may make your selection at 8½ cts.

Remnants.

Remnants are a sort of hobby with us. Of course when a person has a hobby, a great deal of attention is devoted to it, so it is with us. We have devoted more time this season in the selection of our Remnant stock than ever before. Our pride has not stood in the way during this sale, however, as you may see.

We have taken all the remnants of Calicoes that have accumulated last few weeks and are closing them out at 3 Cents a Yard.

50 cents takes any Parasol this week.

It may be a little warm to talk Blankets, but we have something that will interest you and cost a great deal more a month later. Price 59 cents. See them.

A few pieces of the Ribbon left advertised last week at 10 cents a yard.

We did not have enough of the Misses' and Children's Tan Shoes in Button and Lace last Saturday to meet the demand; so this week we put in all we have that sold from $1.00 to $2.00 for the almost give away price of 50 cents a pair.

We thank you for your very liberal patronage past six weeks, during the generally dull season, but it has been a very busy one with us. We are now making preparation for the greatest fall business in the history of our beautiful city. We extend our thanks to the many strangers sojourning in our city and vicinity who have visited our stores and from whom we have heard many expressions of praise bestowed upon our city and stores. We hope to see you every summer and that you may be as proud of our little city as we are and give it a good word whenever you can.
