SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1898.

Because the Treasury gold reserve has passed the $162,000,000 mark and is still moving upward, it is no reason why statesmen should not provide for a rainy day and enact such currency legislation as will preclude the possibility of the draining of the Treasury gold. It is hoped that enough sound-money Democrats will be found to co-operate with the Republicans in the Senate to insure the adoption of some such currency measure as that suggested by President McKinley in his message to Congress.

Leading statesmen of the country with Sound Money proclivities, still profess agreement with the policy of International Bimetallism. Even Secretary Gage, one of the most pronounced anti-free coinage men in the country recently expressed concurrence in the international coinage theory. The real condition of the subject is calculated to beget doubts, in the common mind, of the sincerity of such professions. To the ordinary observer all prospect of an international agreement on the subject is at an end. England flatly declines to have anything to do with the project; Russia and Japan are going on a gold basis; Mexico appears to be contemplating a similar movement and other smaller countries are likely to take the same direction. The general trend of the world is toward the single standard, with gold as the unit of value. Isn't it about time this country ceased following the will-o-the-wisp of bimetallism and settled down upon the only sound and secure basis, in harmony with the other great nations of the world?

A Sound Money Party.

An admirable test of the relative soundness of the Republican and Democratic parties, on the financial or currency question, was given in the result of the vote in the Senate and House of Representatives, on a joint resolution, introduced last week, by Senator Teller, of Colorado. The resolution, in substance, declared that the bonds of the United States, payable in coin, can be properly paid in silver as well as gold.

The proposition, though apparently logical, as silver and gold circulate on a parity, is really unsound and calculated to destroy the very means by which the limited yet large quantities of silver in circulation is kept from depreciation. If it were decided that matured bonds, or accrued interest, should be paid in silver, no power on earth could prevent such depreciation and such a panic would ensue in the finances as this country has never yet witnessed. And not only that: such a course would be practical repudiation. By implication, at least, the Government of the United States is pledged to the payment of its indebtedness in the best money current. That money is undoubtedly gold. The silver thus far coined by the Government is only kept on a parity with gold because the pledge and promise of the nation to so maintain it has the faith of the people behind it. The moment a bond or the interest on a bond shall be paid in silver, that moment faith in the integrity of the Government will be destroyed, and silver coin, as a circulating medium, will drop to its intrinsic value of less than fifty cents on the dollar.

Senator Teller's proposition, if it had been adopted, would, undoubtedly, have had that effect. The effort to commit the Government to such a course was the most insidious scheme yet invented by the free silverites to bolster up the cause of Bryanism, and the division upon it was mainly along party lines. The resolution was passed by the Senate by a vote of 47 to 32. All the Democratic Senators present, with a single exception, voted for it. They were joined by the Silver Republicans, Populists and eight straight-out Republicans. Of the 32 Senators voting in the negative 31 are Republicans and 1, Mr. Caffrey, of Louisiana, is a Democrat. There were five pairs, a Republican being paired against it, with a Democrat who favored it, in each case. Senator Gorman, of Maryland, was one of the Democrats thus committed to the support of the resolution.

The party division on the question in the House of Representatives was still more marked. The resolution was defeated in that branch of Congress by a majority of fifty. Only two Republicans voted for it and only two Democrats against it.

Here, then, we have the issue of a depreciated currency or sound money presented by the Democrats, Silver Republicans and Populists, and squarely met by the regular Republicans. Again it has been demonstrated that the Republican party is the only considerable political organization opposed to Bryanism and unsound currency. It is the sound money party of the country and does not shrink from the issue, no matter in what guise it may be presented. There are many sound money Democrats, but the Democratic party, as an organization, is in favor of all the schemes of the silverites, of which the Teller resolution was one of the most taking and best calculated to mislead the people and destroy the circulating value of a large amount of the money of the country.

Some people imagine that the defeat of Mr. Bryan ended the controversy and that other issues would take the place of the 16 to 1 free coinage fallacy. This Teller proposition indicates that the battle for sound money must be fought over again. The proposition was probably introduced for the purpose of providing the free silverites with apparently plausible ground of complaint against the adherents of a sound money standard. In this matter nothing but increasing vigilance can defeat the schemes of those who are seeking to force upon the people an unlimited amount of depreciated currency. Such schemes must be defeated, in whatever guise they may appear, if the honor of the country and the welfare and prosperity of the people are to be maintained, and hence we have endeavored to present, in brief, a statement of the inevitable consequences which must be involved in any legislation of the character proposed by the Teller resolution.

Local Legislation.

The Senate bill to sanction the bequest of 200 shares of the Baltimore and Reisterstown Turnpike Company to the Presbyterian Church of Taneytown, by the late Col. John K. Longwell, was passed by the House of Delegates on Tuesday.

Senate bill to amend the game laws of Carroll county was referred to the Carroll county delegates in the House.

Senator Hering introduced a bill to provide for the restoration of certain public records in the office of the Register of Wills of Carroll county.

Speaker Schaeffer of the House of Delegates has not yet announced a full list of the committees. On the committees thus far appointed Carroll county is represented as follows: Agriculture, Mr. Stansbury; Militia, and Contingent Fund, Mr. Hesson; Hygiene, Dr. Norris.

In these days of newspaper enterprise no achievement seems great enough to surprise the public. Among the most remarkable of such achievements, however, is that just undertaken by the Philadelphia Press for the prompt distribution of its Sunday edition, which consists in employing a special train to carry the papers to Harrisburg, from which point they are sent north, northwest, west and south. The first trial of this enterprise was made Sunday morning last, when the special left Philadelphia at 12.30 A. M. and reached Harrisburg at 3.00. The run would have been made in half an hour less, but a train having the right of way was overtaken and could not be passed. A single mile was covered in forty-five seconds. At another point a minute and twenty seconds was consumed in running a mile and a half. From Harrisburg a train started west at 3.10, with part of the papers; at 3.35 part of the load was started north and at 3.45 a third lot was sent down the Northern Central to Baltimore. The balance of the papers were carried down the Cumberland Valley by a special locomotive. The Press announces that the arrangement is a permanent one.

Mr. Gould, of Montgomery county, on Wednesday, introduced a bill in the House of Delegates to empower the Baltimore and Washington Transit Company to build a railway from the District of Columbia to the line between Maryland and Pennsylvania, through Prince George's, Montgomery, Carroll and Frederick counties. The line, operated by electricity, is already built a short distance out of Washington and the next point to be reached is Sandy Springs, Montgomery county. Presumably, as the route lies through Frederick as well as Carroll counties, it is expected to traverse the western section of the latter.

Ex-Governor Frank Brown was chairman of a meeting of citizens held in Baltimore, in December, for the purpose of taking steps to secure a state appropriation for the erection of a new armory for the Fifth Regiment, and was authorized to appoint a committee to present the matter to the Legislature. In addition to the members from the city, the committee was to consist of one member from each county, and the Ex-Governor has named Hon. T. Herbert Shriver, of Union Mills, to represent this county. A bill to carry the project to a successful termination will be presented and its passage pressed upon members of the General assembly.

Representative Curtis of Iowa, a member of the Committee on the District of Columbia, in the House of Representatives at Washington, has introduced a bill to authorize the Washington and Gettysburg Railway Company of Maryland to extend its line of road into and within the District Columbia.

The directors of the House of Correction have elected Clarence M. King superintendent of that institution until the annual election, which will be held in March. Mr. King was assistant superintendent under Mr. Slack.

State Treasurer Thomas J. Shryock, who has filled that office with marked ability and fidelity, was re-elected by the Legislature on Thursday, for the ensuing two years.

Letter From Brooklyn, N. Y.

The following interesting letter is from a former citizen of Carroll county now residing in Brooklyn, N. Y.:

169 WASHINGTON ST., BROOKLYN, N. Y.,
FEBRUARY 1ST, 1898.

As it gives me a great deal of pleasure to read the different items in the SENTINEL written by men whom I know, I have been told that it would give them pleasure to read something I might write. I am not a writer for the newspapers, but nevertheless will send you this brief letter for the columns of the SENTINEL, or the waste basket, as you may elect. If published it may be of interest to some Carroll county people.

Mr. Elias Ogg, who, as well as myself, lives in this city, has some nephews living in Carroll county, and, knowing that their uncle is fond of small animals, they have sent him several red squirrels, some chipmunks and flying squirrels, and they make quite an interesting menagerie. One day one of the squirrels got out of its cage, and Mr. Ogg started a chase to get it back. It became so badly frightened that it actually squealed with alarm. It was finally restored to its quarters and a short time afterwards turned white. Whether this phenomenon was due to the scare or not I am not able to say.

The weather here has been cold during the past week. Yesterday we had about 4 inches of snow and those who had been watching for it with longing eyes can have at least a sleigh ride or two.

The health of the people in this city, so far as I know, is generally good.

Yours truly,
ELIAS WELCH.

Surprising a Pastor.

On Friday, January 21st, a number of the members of the Churches of God at Wardlesburg and Winfield paid a visit to the home of their pastor, Rev. J. R. Gearinger, in Winfield, for the purpose of surprising him and his wife. But it was not a surprise in one sense, while in another it was. When the wagons began stopping in front of the parsonage we concluded that it must be donation day and we soon learned that this conclusion was correct. The visitors came bringing quite a large amount of the good things of earth. After they had unloaded the wagons and taken dinner and spent some time in conversation, about 4.30 P. M. the company left for their homes leaving their pastor a donation amounting in value to $78.53. The articles were not overestimated. In addition to this we were presented with a magnificent suit, bought of and made by Sharrer & Gorsuch, merchant tailors, of Westminster, and worth $25.00; a fine dress hat and many valuable articles too numerous to mention. These people believe in christian giving. They adhere to the Gospel and believe the words of the great Apostle when he said, "Remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he himself said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'" They believe the Lord loveth a cheerful giver. We shall express our heartfelt thanks to all who participated in this donation, and shall ever remember them for all their acts of kindness, trusting that God, the Eternal, may give them prosperity in life and eternal life in heaven. Among the persons who came to visit Rev. Gearinger with the donation party were: Milton Penn and wife, John Duvall and wife, John Miller and wife, Oliver Hull and wife, Preston Waltz and wife, Mrs. Sarah Beaver, Mattie Beaver, Lucy Skidmore.

Oh, husband, husband, must it be?
Has death indeed, with noiseless tread
Came in between thy love and me
And left me weeping o'er my dead?

And oh! how desolate and lone
My coming future's doomed to be,
With all my fondest hopes o'erthrown
And robbed of happiness and thee.

Yes, death has robbed me of my darling,
Of the one I loved so well,
Taken from this world of sorrow
Safely home with Jesus to dwell,
Suffered long and bore it patiently
But his pains are over now,
He shall sleep, but not forever,
In the cold and silent grave.

My dearest wife, to you I say,
Prepare to die for die you must:
Little did I think a few weeks ago
That I would so soon be laid 'neath the dust.

By his wife.

AN OPEN LETTER.

WESTMINSTER, April 10th, 1890.

Mr. Jos. B. Boyle:

Dear sir:—For many years I have suffered intensely, on taking cold, from a very troublesome cough, for which I have used a number of various remedies, and obtained but temporary relief. During the past Spring I was again troubled with the same cough, and through a friend was induced to try your Pectoral Syrup, which not only gave almost instant relief, but a permanent cure. It gives me great pleasure to say that I believe it to be the best remedy I ever used for the purpose for which it is recommended. Hoping that any person afflicted as I was may be fortunate enough to give it a trial, I am,

Truly yours,
EDWARD LYNCH.
