AMERICAN SENTINEL.

WESTMINSTER, - MARYLAND.

W. L. W. SEABROOK, WILLIAM L. SEABROOK, } Editors.

Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1909.

Now, will you be good?

"Who struck Billy Patterson?"

It doesn't pay to straddle a buzz-saw.

"There is honor enough to go round."

"United, we stand; Divided," they fall.

"Button, button, who's got the button."

The government of the bosses, for the bosses and by the bosses came to an end in Carroll county on Tuesday.

Messrs. Shearer and Jordan made a brave fight, and take their defeat like brave men.

"And being exceedingly tossed with a tempest, the next day, they lightened the ship."

The Republicans of Carroll County take off their hats to their Democratic fellow-citizens.

The Republican ticket was elected, but after all it was victory for the true spirit of democracy.

The surveyorship seems to belong to Mr. Yeiser. Mr. Roop is equally worthy, but the voters thought that a change was not needed in that office.

The result proves the wisdom of the selection of Mr. John H. Cunningham as chairman of the Republican County Central Committee.

No better man was nominated on either ticket than Ulysses H. Shipley, and the only consolation in his defeat is the fact that an equally worthy gentleman was elected to the treasurership.

The SENTINEL congratulates the successful candidates on their victory—its party on the clean fight it made—and itself that it has no word to regret, nor a line that it regrets having written.

At the battle of Santiago, a chivalrous commander in the United States Navy cried to his men, "Don't cheer, boys, the poor devils are dying." Many Republicans of Carroll feel that way when they think of the Democratic nominees as indivduals, who were defeated, but when they think of the ditching of the Democratic machine they feel that their cheers should be long and loud.

"When the mudslinging begins it is a good sign that politicians are getting desperate. Remember this when you hear some of the Democratic orators." SENTINEL, Oct. 29th.

If the above had been written an hour or two later, the words would have been added, "and when you read the last issue of the Democratic Advocate before the election." "Every little bit helps" and there is every reason to believe that the late entry into the campaign of a new editor of our contemporary, with his mud machine, contributed more than a little to Republican victory, or rather to the wrecking of the Democratic machine.

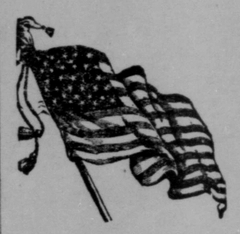
Trousers Trimmed.

That old, old story was never more apt than when told by Dr. Hering, last Saturday night, as he presided at the Democratic wake at Odd Fellows' Hall, this city. Was he inspired by the spirit of prophecy? The story is a good one and was well told, and his compatriots seem to have caught the spirit of the suggestion and given the trousers of their erstwhile bosses the worst kind of a trimming. What was the story? The Doctor said there was once a man, who purchased a new pair of trousers. He found them a little long and asked his wife to shorten them. The maid-of-all-work saw them lying on her mistress' sewing table, and, thinking to save her trouble, cut off a half inch. A young daughter of the house followed the maid's example. An elderly maiden aunt took a slice at them, and finally the wife reduced their length. When the man put them on, he found them an inch too short. The Democrats of Carroll needed no chromo to accompany the parable, and were not only quick to catch the moral of the story, but also speedy in making practical application.

WHAT DID IT?

Many things contributed to bring about the result of Tuesday's election in Carroll county. First of all was the revolt of a large body of Democrats, who are weary of the rule of the machine. Second is the fact that the Republicans recognized the value of this alliance and adhered to one principle throughout the campaign, that of saying nothing unkindly of individual candidates, nor doing anything calculated to wound the feelings of those, whom they expected to be their allies and without whose help they could not have smashed the machine. Third, the selection of Mr. John H. Cunningham as chairman of the County Central Committee, and the magnificent campaign, which he conducted in a systematic and business-like manner. Fourth, a united party confident of success. Fifth, a divided Democracy. Sixth, to the faithful work of the Republican candidates, who unselfishly worked not for individual success, but gave the entire ticket their loyal support. Seventh, the work of the members of the County Central Committee, enthusiastically supporting their chairman in carrying out the plans formulated at many well-attended meetings of the committee. Eighth, to the efforts of a host of faithful workers in every precinct. Ninth, to the issue, furnished by the Democratic party as "paramount" and "vital," arousing the righteous indignation of the people.

For "Old Glory" and the Constitution.



Senator Rayner's speech at Manchester, October 9th, was undoubtedly one of the things that helped swell Carroll's majority against the disfranchising amendment.

With an outburst of fervor he announced "I don't care anything for the Republican party. If I could, I would punish it for what it has done. When in power after the war it would have disfranchised every Democrat in Maryland, if it could, and COMPELLED THOSE WHO WISHED TO VOTE TO TAKE AN OATH OF ALLEGIANCE." Did Senator Ravnor forget that in order to become a United States Senator, he takes the same oath of allegiance, swearing that he will support the Constitution of the United States? Evidently losing sight of the fact that he has taken such an oath, and that the Fifteenth Amendment was a part of that Constitution at the time he so swore, he declared, "The Fifteenth Amendment is an unconstitutional amendment, it is unlawful and never was constitutionally adopted", and then repeated more earnestly than before, "I don't care anything for the Republican party. We propose to get rid of this infamous amendment" (referring to the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States).

"WHO'S GOT THE BUTTON?"

This photograph of the Westminster C. of P., taken at the famous meeting in Manchester, October 9th, showing the the C. of P. in the great act of trying to label men with Democratic buttons, proves three things—that the C. of P. was there—that he did not wear his uniform—that the Manchester Democrats did not want his buttons.

Overheard.

The following conversation between two Westminster Democrats was overheard on Wednesday morning.

1st D.—Ain't it awful, Mabel?

2nd D.—Stop your joking, this is no laughing matter.

1st D.—I ain't joking, I wish the devil had the Dutch.

2nd D.—He'll get them all right next time.

We'll get even, and don't you forget it. We'll give them all the candidates they want next time and then we'll knock the stuffing out of them.
