OLD SHOES.

How much a man is like old shoes;
For instance, both a soul may lose;
Both have been tanned, both are made tight
By cobblers. Both get left and right.
Both need a mate to be complete,
And both are made to go on feet.
They both need healing, oft are sold,
And both in time turn all to mould.
With shoes the last is first; with men
The first shall be the last. And when
The shoes wear out they're mended new;
When men wear out they're men dead, too.
They both are trod upon, both
Will tread on others, nothing loath,
Both have their ties, and both incline
When polished in the world to shine,
And both peg out. Which would you choose
To be a man or be his shoes?

Headway of Great Ships.

The question as to how far a fast steamer could run with engines stopped was referred to Mr. Nash, the secretary of the board of pilots. Mr. Nash has been connected with the board for over fifteen years, and has been present at many of the trials to which pilots are subjected for running ships ashore and like mishaps. He calculated that if the engines of a ship running nineteen knots an hour in dead water were stopped and reversed, she would not begin to gather sternway until she had covered a distance of at least two miles. Two of the best pilots of the port being called into the office, each made separate estimates, and the result agreed with the calculations of the secretary. One of them said that long experience aboard these fast ships had proved to him that if two such vessels were approaching each other, each making nineteen knots an hour, and the danger signal was heard when they were four miles apart, it could not avert the impending danger if the weather was thick, because they could not be stopped until the point of meeting had been reached, and all their masters could do would be to "trust to luck" to slip safely by.

Another pilot gave the following instance of the difficulty of stopping a big iron tramp steamer: "Her master told me that once, when he had the ocean all to himself, he determined to make some experiments, so that, should he ever be called up and questioned by the Board of Trade Committee, he would be prepared to answer intelligently. His ship had low power engines, and could not do much better than twelve knots an hour in dead water. While running her at full speed he ordered the engines stopped and reversed, and with his log and timepiece he discovered that she ran fully four knots before she began to gather sternway."

As to the sluggish manner in which these long, wedge-shaped ships answer their helms, it seems unnecessary to say anything, because their defects in this respect are so well known. We had an instance of this two weeks ago, when the large Cunard steamship Aurania, with plenty of sea room and fair warning at the helm when a long way off, could not weather the Southwest Spit at the entrance to New York Harbor, because the current was a little stronger than usual on account of the spring tides. The captain of the Aurania says he can stop his ship, when running at full speed, in a distance not much over a mile, and an officer of the Alaska calculated the distance at one mile and a-half.—Scientific American.

A Fluctuating Market.

A passenger from Springfield was telling of his purchase of an overcoat from a Hebrew merchant on South Clark street. The price was $30.

"If dot goat doan't snit you, pring it pack right avay, an' ve'll git you your monish pack, subject to all fluctuations in the market. If de goat market goes up, you get more monish as you paid vor him; if the goat market goes down, you loose the difference only, my dear, besides havin' de use of de goat."

The passenger from Springfield paid over his $30 and took the coat. Next day having examined the garment more thoroughly, he concluded that he didn't want it, and so took it back.

"Vot! Dot goat not suit you?" exclaimed the merchant. "Vell, ve take him back. Isaac, put dot goat on the shelluf, an' gif de shendtlemans six dollars."

"But I paid you $30 for the coat, and want my money back."

"So, my friend, but goats haf gone down last night. I guess it vos de war news from Europe. Goats are gone down, an' ve have marked our whole stock at gost. Isaac, $6 for the shentlemans. You only lose the difference, my dear, an' you had de goat all night."—Chicago Herald.

KNOCK HIM DOWN.—The Philadelphia Inquirer says: "If a man points an 'unloaded' gun at you, knock him down immediately." This is excellent advice, and we trust it will be universally followed. In Georgia, and in several other States, it is a misdemeanor to point a deadly weapon at a person. Such should be the law everywhere. But every man should be a law unto himself in this matter. It is perfectly right to resent such practical jokes as are played with firearms, whether they be loaded or unloaded. These silly tricks do not always end fatally, but they constitute ample provocation for a square knock down. When you find yourself face to face with a man who insists on "playing with you" in this manner don't stop to argue with him. Knock him down!—Atlanta Constitution.

PLAIN TALK.—Men swear and swear all their lives, until in the end they are nothing but the condensed quintessence of profanity, and men lie and lie until they couldn't tell the truth at three trials to save their life. There are women right now in this hall who follow like a butterfly the world of fashion and the way of the world and the life of the world until we had just as lieve preach to a dead horse as to preach the gospel of the Son of God to you. You'll die in the ball-room some day, or in the millinery shop having a new hat fixed up!—Sam Jones in Cincinnati Commercial.

EACH ENTERTAINED A DIFFERENT OPINION.—Bobby was in the parlor when Albertus called, and Maud was upstairs getting ready to present herself. "Good evening, Robert," said Albertus, briskly, "Miss Maud has not arrived yet, I see?" "Nope," replied Bobby, carelessly; "she's makin' something, I s'pose." "Industry, Robert, is a shining virtue. But what is Miss Maud making?" "I dunno; they were talking about you at the tea table; Maud said she was makin' a mash, ma said she was makin' hay while the sun shines, and pa said she was makin' a fool of herself."

POLITE MASHER (in railway train)—"Is this seat engaged?" Pretty girl—"No, but I am."

OFFICE OF
The Board of Health
FOR KENT COUNTY.

CHESTERTOWN, May 11, 1887.

IT is deemed advisable by the health authorities to again bring before the people of the county the great importance of the maintenance of proper sanitary regulations. The board had occasion last summer to congratulate itself upon the fact that its suggestions had not entirely failed, and hope that the public health may be as good and even better during the hot weather, upon which season we are now entering.

To this end we would urge the householders, both town and country, to see that their premises are at once put in a state of cleanliness. The accumulations of filth, garbage and other waste material likely to be a source of complaint and sickness should be destroyed. There is no better way to do this than by burning it. All privies, sinks, cellars, closets and like places should be cleaned and thoroughly disinfected; pools of stagnant water should be drained, and the various little things that affect the eyes and nostrils should not be allowed to remain.

It may be well at the same time to call the attention of the public to Section 5 of the Public Laws, in regard to "Malignant and Infectious Diseases" as follows:

"And be it enacted, that any person, parent or guardian, or other party, who carelessly carry about children or others affected with infectious diseases, or who knowingly or wilfully introduce infectious persons into other persons houses or permit children under their care to attend school, theatre, church or any other public place where they will be brought in contact with others, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars for each and every offense."

The secretary of the State Board of Health prepared and published a list of disinfectants as follows:

DISINFECTANTS TO BE EMPLOYED.

For free and general use in privy vaults, sewers, sink-drains, water-closets, stables, pig pens, and on refuse heaps, &c., the following are the cheapest and most effective disinfectants and germicides known:

No. 1—Chloride of lime (bleaching powder), 1 lb.; water, 4 gallons. Dissolve the lime in the water. This solution (4 gallons) will cost not more than 5 cents, or about fifty cents per barrel. A gallon or more may be used daily in an offensive privy vault, and such quantities as may be necessary in other places. In the sick room it may be used in open vessels. Sheets, clothing and other articles used by the patient should be immersed in this solution diluted (one gallon of this solution to eight of water) for two hours, or until ready for the laundry. The solution is not poisonous and does not injure clothing.

No. 2—Corrosive sublimate, one-half ounce; water, four gallons. The cost of this solution is about double of that of No. 1. It is used in the same way and for the same purpose. The only advantage it has over No. 1 is that it is without odor. It is poisonous, but its bright purple color will prevent its being mistaken for any other solution.

No. 3 (Powder.)—Chloride of lime, one pound; corrosive sublimate, one ounce; plaster of Paris, nine pounds. Pulverize the corrosive sublimate, and mix thoroughly with the plaster of Paris; then add the chloride of lime by gradually mixing. As an antiseptic and deodorizer this powder is unsurpassed. It is to be sprinkled one-quarter of an inch thick upon the excreta or matter to be disinfected, and subsequently moistened if the material is dry.

In addition to which we advise the free and frequent use of lime for cellars, stagnant pools and other out-door places.

W. FRANK HINES,
SECRETARY.

A REMEDY FOUND AT LAST TO CURE
HOG CHOLERA!
LIEBERMAN'S
Hog Cholera Remedy
WILL POSITIVELY CURE AND PREVENT HOG CHOLERA!

IT is not a new remedy, but has been tried and experimented with for two years and found that if used when the hogs are first attacked that it will cure the Diseased Hogs and prevent the contagion from spreading to the others in the same pen.

SYMPTOMS OF HOG CHOLERA:

It is essentially a malarial fever. The animal however fierce and obstinate formerly is found more gentle and tractable; it shows decided signs of fever, elevated temperature alternating with cold shivers; the ears are more or less lopped; hindquarters weak and the hog shows a strong tendency to lie down on the least provocation and hide in the litter, rising only when wanting to drink; no appetite but great thirst. It often stands drawn together, with arched back and tucked-up abdomen. Its gait is staggering and its grunt weak. Its cough is weak and has a peculiar hollow sound, not easy to describe. It breathes hard, with pumping flanks and soon loses flesh. The skin is harsh and scaly and soon becomes discolored with purplish patches around the snout, between the forelegs and inside the thighs.

Wm. M. Slay, administrator d. b. n. of Caroline C. Perkins:
versus
James Willis, H. C. Pennington, Lydia P. Pennington, Owen Hayes, Lottie V. Hayes, James L. Willis, John W. Willis, Harry P. Willis, John E. Willis, Mary P. Willis, James L. Willis, trustee, John E. Willis, trustee.

In the Circuit Court for Kent County, in Equity.

THE object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain mortgaged premises in Kent County which were on the sixteenth day of February, in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-four, mortgaged by a certain Laurence S. Vansant and Sarah J. Vansant, his wife, to Peregrine L. Wickes, and duly assigned to Caroline C. Perkins, since deceased, of whom the complainant is administrator de bonus non.

The Bill states that on or about the sixteenth day of February eighteen hundred and sixty-four, the said Laurence S. Vansant and Sarah J. Vansant, his wife, conveyed certain real estate, which is particularly described in the Bill and its accompanying exhibits, unto the said Peregrine L. Wickes by way of mortgage to secure the payment of a bond of the said Laurence S. Vansant and wife, to the said Peregrine L. Wickes, bearing even date with said mortgage, for the sum of five thousand dollars, containing a condition that it become void on payment by the said Laurence S. Vansant and Sarah J. Vansant, to the said Peregeine L. Wickes, or his assigns, of the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars on the ninth day of February, in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine and not before, and pay the interest on said sum of twenty-five hundred dollars semi-annually.

That the said bond and deed of mortgage were duly assigned by Peregrine L. Wickes unto Elizabeth C. Wickes, and by said Elizabeth C. Wickes back to said Peregrine L. Wickes, and by the said Peregrine L. Wickes to Caroline C. Perkins, in her lifetime, on or about the ninth day of August, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven.

That the Equity of Redemption in said real estate passed by proper legal conveyances from the said Laurence S. Vansant and Sarah J. Vansant, through the hands of various individuals into the possession of the said James Willis, on or about April 28th, 1873, and that the said James Willis conveyed the said Equity of Redemption to his wife, Lydia A. Willis, on the 6th day of December, in the year 1876.

That the said Lydia A. Willis departed this life some time in the year 1885, and by last will and testament devised all her interest in and to said real estate upon certain contingencies in said will described unto the said James Willis, Lydia P. Pennington, wife of H. C. Pennington, Lottie V. Hayes, wife of Owen Hayes, James L. Willis, James L. Willis, trustee, for John W. Willis and Harry P. Willis, John E. Willis, and John E. Willis, trustee for Mary P. Willis.

That the said Caroline C. Perkins departed this life intestate, in the year 1881, and that administration, de bonus non of all and singular the personal estate of the said intestate, hath been granted by the Orphans' Court of said Kent County, unto George T. Perkins and Wm. M. Slay, and that said George T. Perkins has been released as administrator by said court, leaving the said Wm. M. Slay sole administrator, and that the aforesaid bond has been displaced and has never been in the possession of the said administrator; that the time limited by the said bond and deed of mortgage for the payment thereof has elapsed and no part of said principal sum of $2,500 has been paid, and no interest thereon has been paid except the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars, which was paid by said James Willis to said Wm. M. Slay.

That the said H. C. Pennington, Lydia P. Pennington, James L. Willis are adults and non-residents of this State, and that John W. Willis and Harry P. Willis are infants and non-residents of this State, and that all of said non-residents reside in the State of Delaware.

It is thereupon this 5th day of May, 1887, adjudged and ordered, that the complainant by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newpaper, printed and published in Kent County, once in each of three successive weeks before the thirtieth day of May, instant, give notice to the said absent defendants of the object and substance of this Bill, and warn them to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the thirtieth day of August next, to answer the premises and show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to pass as prayed.
