CHESTERTOWN - JUNE 30, 1888.

OIL STOVES.

A lady correspondent of the New England Farmer gives a description of an oil stove which she has tried: The first warm days cause the housewife to seriously study ways and means of getting rid of unnecessary work, especially that which will keep her over the hot stove. But plan as she may, there is just about so much to be done; this or that kind of work may be curtailed in theory, but face to face it demands a certain amount of energy and time.

There are means, however, of making the burden lighter, and reduction of heat for cooking and ironing is one of them.

This can be brought about chiefly by the use of oil stoves, and to one asking whether these stoves will do all they are advertised to do, or whether they are the cause of more steps and vexation than they save in heat and care of a kitchen stove, there are conflicting replies and reports of both success and failure. The reason for this is: Some women see at once the possibilities in a labor saving invention, and have the mechanical faculty of getting all the benefit from it intended and promised by the inventor, while others are helpless in case of any hitch in the working of the different parts, and are apt to discard the "labor saver" and return to the old way. The contents of many an attic will bear witness to women's lack of ingenuity in seeing through a simple machine, and also to the impractical things invented and sold with the hope of lightening women's work. But the oil stove can hardly be called a machine with intricate workings, and it is far from being impractical, for in the last dozen years the use of these stoves has increased almost beyond belief. Many housekeepers use one for all kinds of work; the dressmaker keeps an iron hot; the invalid can have hot water at a moment's notice, and the baby need not wait long for its milk to warm, by the use of a single wick or lamp stove.

Again, with an oil stove the boarder has a warm room in spite of an impecunious landlady, and the office or studio is also heated with the same convenience. Sometimes a room is never satisfactorily heated because of a defect in the chimney, failure of furnace pipes, or perhaps it has not been convenient to buy a stove for only occasional use. An oil stove burning, even without a heating drum, will readily warm the room, but with the addition of such attachment all the heat is utilized, and where fuel has to be bought this is a cheap and cleanly way of heating a room.

But these are winter or general advantages of using the oil stove. Its greatest value lies in the saving of work in the kitchen. There is an absence of ashes and dust, a fire is used only while needed, and is extinguished in a second's time; the stove is always ready for use in a hurry, can be used when one is dressed for the afternoon; will not heat the kitchen, as a window or door left ajar so the draft does not come directly across the stove, will take out all the heat rising from the burning wicks. The first stoves were made of tin, the oil being in the lower tank, with an open reservoir for water, perhaps an inch deep above, through which the wick tubes passed. It was very important to keep up the supply of water, as, if allowed to evaporate, there was the possibility of an accident arising from melted soldering. There are stoves now made with a water tank between the flames and tank of oil, which is regarded by some as a safeguard; on the other hand, some of the best iron stoves do not have it and are practically non-explosive.

Quite a Lot of Differences.

We of America and Europe shake each other's hands. A Chinaman shakes hands with himself. We uncover the head as a mark of respect; the Chinese keep their heads covered, but take off their shoes for politeness. We shave the face, they shave the head and eyebrows. The Chinaman's waistcoat is outside his coat, and his drawers are outside his trousers. We blacken shoes, he whitens them. We have soup as a first course and dessert at last; the Chinese have dessert at first and soup at last. We want our wines ice-cold; they drink theirs scalding hot. We bury in the earth; they on its surface. With us black clothes is a badge of mourning; with them white garments indicate the loss of friends. In that land of opposites it is the work of the men to fly kites, walk on stilts and play at shuttlecock, and, to keep up their odd way of doing things, they play the game with their feet instead of their hands. In China women do men's work, and men are the milliners, dressmakers and washerwomen. With us the right hand is the place of honor; with them it is the left hand. In dating letters we place the year last; they write the year first. They always speak of the mariner's compass as pointing to the south. We pay our physician when we are sick; they pay when they are well, but as soon as they get sick the pay stops. Here men kill their enemies; a Chinaman gets revenge by killing himself. We use a soft pillow; they a block of wood. They launch ships sidewise, ring bells from the outside, and actually turn their screws in the opposite direction from ours.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Childhood's Capacity for Suffering.

A child enjoys himself more heartily, when he does enjoy himself, than an older person does. That everybody admits. A child suffers at heart more keenly, when he does suffer at heart, than does an older person. That is not recognized by everybody. A child's power of enjoyment is made a proverb. A child's power of mental suffering is hardly thought of by the world generally. Now and then the deliberate suicide of a child because of some little disappointment to which an adult would hardly have given a second thought startles the community and is spoken of as a very remarkable occurrence. Yet, as a matter of fact and as a matter of course, a child's intenser sensitiveness gives it the same added power of suffering as of enjoyment, and the little ones about us have a harder time of it in the days of their childhood than we know anything about—save as we remember our childhood, and retain more or less of its freshness in our maturer years. We say that we "take things more philosophically as we grow older," which is only another way of saying that we grow tougher-hearted. But even if this be the case with ourselves, let us remember that the little ones who lack our measure of philosophy deserve, therefore, a larger share of our sympathy. It is good to have the light-heartedness of a child. It is hard to have the heart-racking sorrows of a child.

Bobby Sustained the Solemnities.

"Bobby," cautioned his mother, "the Bishop is to dine with us to-day, and you must be very quiet at the table. I want him to think that you are a good little boy."

Very much impressed, Bobby ate his dinner in silence, until his plate needed replenishing.

"Pa," he said, devoutly, "will you give me some more string beans, for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

When to Be Asleep.

Let us bear in mind the anecdote of the two friends who were room mates:

"Peter, are you asleep?" said one.

"Why?" replied the other.

"Because if you're not asleep I should like to borrow a dollar of you."

"Then—I'm asleep."

PURIFY YOUR BLOOD.

Impurities in the blood produce diseases. Bodily and mental health depend upon a healthy condition of the blood. The blood, particularly in the spring and during the hot summer months, becomes clogged with impurities, which poison it and generate disease. A harmless blood purifier, without a particle of mineral poison in it, such as mercury or potash, is necessary to remove these impurities and to restore the healthy tone of mind and body. The best purifier and tonic known to the world is Swift's Specific (S.S.S.). In regard to its wonderful purifying and tonic powers we give a few testimonials as follows:

Mr. Wm. A. Slebold, with Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce Street, New York, writes March 20th, 1887: "I feel it my duty for the benefit of others who may be afflicted as I was, to write you this letter, which you can use as my testimony in any way you choose. I will answer any inquiry from others in relation to the facts herewith stated. In February last I suffered great pain and inconvenience from boils, all over my neck; I could not turn my head without acute pain and my blood was in poor condition. After trying all the usual remedies in such cases, and finding no relief, by the persuasion of Mr. J. W. Fears, Manager of your New York Office, I used one bottle S. S. S., and I improved rapidly and very soon I was entirely relieved of my "Job's Comforters." Now not a sign of my affliction can be seen. I feel strong and cheerful. S. S. S. is a fine tonic as proved in my case. I sleep soundly and my appetite is good.

Dr. J. N. Cheney, a well-known physician writes from Ellaville, Georgia: "I use S. S. S. in convalescent fever cases with the best results. It will, in my judgment, prevent summer dysentery, if one will take a few bottles in the spring, thus preparing the bowels for the strains of summer."

Mrs. Scott Lisson, 116 Zane street (Island), Wheeling, West Virginia, writes: "Having used S. S. S. for the blood, I can safely say that it beats anything I have used to cleanse the blood and make a new being out of a person."

Mr. M. S. Hamlin, Winston, N. C., writes: "I use it every spring. It always builds me up, giving me appetite and digestion, and enabling me to stand the long, trying, enervating hot summer days. On using it I soon become strong of body and easy of mind."

THOMPSON---Up Town.

TO THE PUBLIC GENERALLY:

Having been well patronized by the people of Chestertown and vicinity for the last seventeen years we tender our most sincere thanks for same and will in the future as in the past do our utmost to please all. We have and intend to keep in stock a full line of all of which will be sold at close figures. We have now a Ladies Button or Lace Shoe at $1; a man's Solid (or no sale) Plow Shoe at $1 a pair; a man's Dress Shoe at $1.25, $1.50, $2 and $2.50; and the best Glove Kid Top, Kid front, worked buttonhole Shoe for Ladies and Misses at $1.75 that we ever saw—Having sold 600 pairs of them in two (2) years without one just complaint. We also have a Kid-top Shoe for Ladies at $1.25 a pair, but please bear in mind that when you buy a pair of $1.25 kid-top shoes of us you will not get our $1.75 shoe, as we only advertise what we can and will do and nothing more.

LIME, HAIR, WHITEWASH BRUSHES, &c. We are selling the W. J. Lime, which is said by both carpenters and masons to slack at least one-fourth more than other lime, and having made a special contract for same would like builder as well as whitewasher to call and get prices.

We also have Wm. Lea & Sons, C. A. Gambrill's, and other brands of FLOUR, which we are selling by the Pound, Bag or Barrel as cheap as it can be bought in the city for the cash, as we sell Flour by the barrel for the CASH ONLY.

We aim to keep a little of everything and by buying our goods close for cash and discounting all our bills we are enabled to meet all and any competition. Again thanking you for past favors we ask a continuance of same. Respectfully,

May 7, 1887. W. C. A. THOMPSON.
