Entertainment

—BY THE—

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

BYRON W. KING Lectures and Entertains at STAM'S HALL, Chestertown,

September 7, 1904, 8 P. M.

MR. KING has a national reputation. As an orator and elocutionist he is unsurpassed. He has a voice that can be adapted to express any and every emotion, a presence that is commanding, reverential, odd, comic or ludicrous, as the occasion requires; a countenance that at will is changed to express any and every emotion of the human heart, and a vigor of delivery which inspires all his efforts.

MR. KING is, taken all in all, the most interesting and versatile elocutionist of the day. At Chatauqua he has been the inspiration of its session. Some of his selections have been grand in diction, others affecting and pathetic in their style, others so ludicrous as to call down the house, and others so funny as to excite almost fatal laughter. No lecturer has contributed more to the enjoyment of the Chatauquas than Byron W. King.

All the citizens, as well as teachers, should turn out to hear Prof. King, a teacher of teachers, at once eloquent, pathetic and electrical.

The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to establishing a Teachers' Professional Library, which shall afford the teachers of the county an opportunity for a full course of professional reading, without which no school system can hope to make real and substantial progress.

College Appointment.—The Board of Visitors and Governors of Washington College have appointed Miss Idell Baker, of Chestertown, as perceptress of Normal Hall and Miss Nannie Dixon teacher of music. These are excellent appointments, both ladies being specially well fitted for the duties assigned them. The college is fortunate in securing such ladies.

Married.—Miss Nora J. Hickman, a well-known young lady of Chestertown, and Mr. Charles Lambert, also of Chestertown, were quietly married at 2 o'clock Tuesday by Rev. W. L. White, pastor of Chestertown M. E. Church.

Initials Wrong.—Mr. George M. Porter, the well known resident of Worton Station, was in the NEWS office Tuesday to correct an error in a small advertisement of a farm for sale. The owner of the farm is Mr. Joseph H. Porter and not Mr. George M. He says he has no farm for sale but is ready to purchase one, that he is a rival to Andrew Woodall, etc.

Arm Cut.—Mr. John Hogan, of Buck Neck, Bell farm, met with a serious accident on Monday while using a corn knife. He raised the knife to cut off a stalk of corn when a bee struck his face and stung him! Instead of cutting the corn the knife fell on Mr. Hogan's arm and cut his wrist quite severely. Dr. Hines dressed the wound.

Body Recovered.—The body of Leo Winkler, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Winkler, of 136 North Washington street, who fell from the steamer Louise and was drowned off Tolchester wharf Tuesday morning, was found by Capt. John T. Harrison, master of the steamer Emma Giles, at 6.15 o'clock Friday night. The body was floating in the bay, near the mouth of the Craighill channel, off the Magothy river, twelve or fourteen miles from the scene of the accident.

A Sudden Death.—Mr. Thomas J. Thompson, agent of the Tolchester Company at Buck Neck, died Monday morning aged 60 years. Friday morning while dressing himself he was stricken with paralysis, from which stroke he never recovered and died as stated. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon, Revs. C. T. Denroche and J. M. Sheridan officiating. The pallbearers were Samuel G. Lee, M. M. Rasin, J. W. Kelley, J. W. Tarbutton, Vincent Lee and Sam'l Latham; interment at St. Paul's, John N. Dodd Undertaker.

Personalty Sales, &c.—The sale of Mr. P. A. M. Brooks' personalty took place Monday and good prices were realized on stock of all kinds, but the implements sold low. Three pair mules brought nearly $1,000, while horses and cows went high. C. H. Hurlock was auctioneer.

Mr. Runkle's sale of horses on Tuesday was attended by a large crowd, but low prices were realized on the "colts." The brought from $10 to $20. Auctioneer Greenwood held the crowd well.

Benjamin Greenwood, son of the veteran auctioneer, made his debut on the green Tuesday in the sale of several small tracts for the Sheriff and did well. M. M. Rasin bought the Jacob Wilson lot for $105 and W. J. Tarbutton the Freeman lot for $20.

Exciting Time at Betterton.—The Betterton Justice of the Peace, Mr. A. L. Harris, was kept quite busy on Saturday. There were five cases before him, the most interesting being the case brought against Mr. F. P. Canby by Mr. James G. Lord, who charged Mr. Canby with disorderly conduct in shooting at him and friends with a rifle and attempting to strike them with a pitchfork in the public road near his gate. There were fourteen witnesses, according to whose testimony it seems that Mr. Lord and friends were playing with a ball, which was knocked over the fence on Mr. Canby's property. The trouble began when three of the men went on Mr. Canby's land to look for the ball, which was lost in the weeds. Mr. Canby ordered them off, using his rifle and pitchfork to hurry them along, following them out in the public road with the fork. This caused considerable excitement in the neighborhood, especially among the ladies, who screamed and one of them fainted, but was able to attend the trial next day as a witness. Mr. Canby was found guilty and fined $1 00 and costs. Mr. Canby, believing that he has a lawful right to use his rifle on trespassers, has appealed the case to the October term of court.

Married.—Mr. Eugene T. Lucas and Miss Harriet E. Thompson were married Monday, Aug. 29th in New York. Mr. Lucas is a former Kent countain and son of ex-Postmistress Lucas, of Chestertown.

A "SPEAK-EASY" seemed to be doing a big business not many miles from Chestertown Tuesday.

Bedworth, Jr.'s Victory.

Bedworth, Jr., Wm. Bell, owner and driver, acknowledged as Maryland's fastest horse, while cheered by the largest crowd of the meeting, won a triumphant victory in the free-for-all at the gentlemen's Driving Park Thursday. There were only three starters, Bedworth Jr., Sam Rysdyk and Effie Powers, and from their past performances a race of the hottest sort was expected.

Bedworth, Jr., won the race in straight heats, and those who took the field end had big bank rolls after the race was over. Sam Rysdyk sold an even money favorite against the field before the race.

In the first heat the three scored down almost abreast, with Sam Rysdyk controlling the pole. Bedworth Jr., shot out in the front shortly after getting the word and took the pole, holding it all the way. Sam Rysdyk kept right at Bedworth's sulky wheels, but the son of Bedworth had grand speed and finished the heat in the lead in the fastest time made on a local track this season —2:08¾. Effie Powers fell back early in the race and finished lengths behind. There was again lively selling in the second heat, with Sam Rysdyk bringing $10 against the field at $9.

The contest was mainly between Bedworth and Rysdyk, and the two raced neck and neck nearly the entire distance. It was in the homestretch that the victor stepped out in front and in a fine burst of speed won by a half head The race in these two heats was an exhibition of skilful driving, and the two reinsmen did their level best to keep their horses steady. In the third heat Rysdyk broke just after leaving the wire, and before he settled himself Bedworth and Effie Powers were far ahead of him. They got such a lead that he was distanced.

THE lecture and entertainment to be held in Stam's Hall next Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Teachers' library fund will be well worth attending. Mr. King is a wonder.

WELSH BROS. show exhibited on Hubbard's lot Tuesday and was attended by 1500 people. It was one of the best 25c. shows ever here and the attendants were orderly and quiet. Such circuses are a pleasure to visit. A pony colt three weeks old attracted considerable attention.
