SATURDAY, APRIL 4, 1903.

The rush of foreigners to this country seems to be increasing in magnitude, great as it has been in the past. Since the 1st of march to this date nearly 100,000 immigrants from Europe have landed at the port of New York alone. Large numbers of the newcomers are Italians who expect to obtain employment on the underground railroad work in New York. It is said that most of those who have recently arrived belong to a distinctively better class of people than previous immigrants, but, whether this be so or not, there is a menace to the institutions of the country in this phenomenal enlargement of the population by the addition of such a mighty stream of aliens. Heretofore the country has assimilated a hetrogeneous mass of foreign immigrants in a truly marvelous manner, but its capacity for such assimilation will be severely tested if this irruption continues.

For the month of April the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, which is the largest producer of anthracite coal in the country, has made a general reduction of 50 cents per ton on the output of its mines. This reduction leaves coal just $1 per ton higher than it was in April 1902, with the certainty that an advance of ten cents per ton may be looked for each month until the price prevailing up to the close of March shall be restored. This means that consumers must not only pay the operators the extra ten cents per ton for mining, allowed under the award of the Strike Commission, but supplement that amount with about a thousand per cent. additional. In plain terms, the operators will pay the miners an increase of ten cents per ton for mining the coal and will charge the consumers a dollar more than they were paying on the old basis. With the operators the game with the consumers has been a "heads I win, tails you lose" proposition from the outset. It looks very much as if the great coal strike of 1902 will put millions of dollars in the operators' treasuries. But consumers, for the present at least, have no redress, and must submit to the inexcusable demand.

WHAT ARE IT'S PRINCIPLES ?

The Baltimore Sunday Herald published an account of an interview with Senator John T. Morgan, of Alabama, in which that gentleman counsels the Democratic party to return to the principles held as cardinal by it before the Civil War. The Silver and Philippine questions he regards as issues of the past. The payment of the national debt and the redemption of all contracts, public and private, he says, should be upon a specie basis. He holds that free trade should exists between all parts of the United States, "whether they be States, territories, insular possessions, dependencies, territorial districts, or anything else." That Cuba should be encouraged to adopt free trade for herself and also to come into the United States that she may have free trade with the American Union. That tariff duties shall be imposed for revenue only, and, as the government is a purchaser of nearly everything that enters into commerce, it has the right to protect itself against monopolies and, hence, the way to deal with these combinations is to enact laws providing "that any person or corporation that produces or transports any article that is used by the government and enters into any combination to monopolize or forestall the market at any place whatever, shall be liable to the pains and penalties prescribed by the Sherman act."

Mr. Morgan says he don't profess to be a platform builder or party organizer, but simply a Democrat. That, of course, is a matter personal to himself, but in some respects he is widely at variance in his views with the party of which he has been an adherent all through a course, on its part, which he deems was at variance with its true principles. And this course it has pursued for years and through numerous national contests. It went wrong on the medium to be employed in the payment of the national debt and vigorously championed the greenback heresy, in direct violation of what Senator Morgan declares is one of its fixed principles. It coquetted with dissatisfied Republicans in 1872, and nominated one of the most pronounced protectionists of that party as a candidate for the Presidency, in direct violation of what the Senator says is another of its cardinal principles—a tariff for revenue only. It vigorously espoused the doctrine of free trade in 1892, but after winning a victory on the issue adopted a tariff law mongrel in character—protective in some directions and free trade in others. In 1896 it coalesced with Populists and Free Silver Republicans in an effort to force unlimited silver coinage upon the country, which would have depreciated the purchasing power of a dollar of that coin one half; and it repeated this effort in 1900, coupling with it opposition to the retention of the Philippines.

Now Senator Morgan, who evidently regards the issues named as having been political heresies, counsels their abandonment and return to ground which, partially at least, has long been occupied by the Republicans. In fact, about the only issue he would leave remaining between the parties is the tariff. True, his suggestion as to the kind of legislation which would be effective against monopolies, and which in his opinion should be adopted and receive Democratic sanction, has not been invoked by the Republicans, but is not at variance with the spirit which they have exhibited in dealing with the question, though it may have too much the appearance of paternalism to be in harmony with the Jeffersonian code, which Democrats boast as the foundation of their party's principles.

Senator Morgan's views and suggestions, however, only emphasize a fact, which must be apparent to those who have been carefully observing the course of the Democratic party and noting, for years past, the material of which it is composed, and that is that the party is, practically, a heterogeneous mass, without fixed principles and intent only on finding some issue that will win, regardless of its bearing or relation to the opinions and principles of its founders. It may advocate a certain course of action this year and abandon it next year if it fail to gain popular sanction. Next year it may sanction something repudiated a year ago. Long ago it abandoned steady and stable doctrines and has followed will-o-the-wisps into the quagmires of defeat and political disaster, so that neither Senator Morgan nor any other authority can give an intelligent answer to the question, "What Are Its Principles?" nor define its permanent status on any single issue.

MADE CHIEF JUSTICE.

President Roosevelt has announced the appointment of Hon. Harry M. Clabaugh, one of the associate justices of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, to be chief justice, in place of Chief Justice Bingham, who will retire April 30, having reached the age of 75 years.

Judge Clabaugh has been in active public life since his early manhood. He came to Westminster nearly 24 years ago and began the practice of law. When Judge Smith was elected to the bench in 1882 he formed a law partnership with the latter's former partner, Col. Wm. A. McKellip, and some years afterwards, when Judge Charles B. Roberts became a member of the judiciary, with his son, John M. Roberts. In 1883 Judge Clabaugh was the Republican candidate for State's Attorney of this county, and in 1887 for State Senator. In 1895 he was elected Attorney General of the State. President McKinley appointed him an associate justice of the Supreme Bench of the District of Columbia, as the successor of Hon. Louis E. McComas, and he now succeeds to the chief justiceship. His promotion creates a vacancy in the office of associate justice which the President announces will be filled by the appointment of Ex-Senator Jeter C. Pritchard, of North Carolina.

Judge Clabaugh and his family usually spend the summers at their beautiful country home, "Antrim," adjoining Taneytown.

MANY LABOR STRIKES.

The strike spirit is abroad and in many localities operatives and mechanics are quitting work on the refusal of their employers to grant their requests or demands for increased wages,

In New York employees in the building trade are striking and it is estimated that 15,000 or 20,000 workmen will join the movement.

On Wednesday last at Indianapolis, Ind., 300 bricklayers struck for higher wages; at Veedersburg 109 employees of the Wabash Clay Company; at Logansport 250 masons and bricklayers; at Fort Wayne the paper hangers; at Peru laborers on traction road; at Evansville 800 men and boys in the furniture factories. These places are all in Indiana.

At Danville, Ills., 500 men are idle through a strike of the plumbers.

In many towns of Eastern Pennsylvania strikes of masons, carpenters, plumbers, paper hangers, painters and other mechanics were called on Wednesday.

At Wheeling, W. Va., men employed in the building trade are striking.

About Shamokin, Pa., several thousand miners employed in individual colleries have quit work because the operators required longer hours' work.

At Columbus, Ohio, 600 men employed in the breweries have refused to continue at work, and at Cleveland 500 painters have struck for higher wages.

At Saratoga, N. Y., 300 men, in various trades, are voluntarily idle and demanding an increase of wages.

Railroad laborers on Long Island; textile workers at Lowell, Mass.; tailors and others at Toledo, Ohio; coal teamers at Providence, R. I.; sewer pipe laborers at St. Louis, Mo.; drivers and others in collieries on the Cambria and Clearfield Railroad, in Pennsylvania, and men in many other places have joined the strike procession.

TAKING PHILADELPHIA TRADE.

An evidence that Baltimore is slowly but surely bringing trade from Philadelphia and New York to her gates is the remarkable increase during the last six months of the business of the Lloyd L. Jackson Company. Since the beginning of the second fiscal year, on December 1st last, this Company has done a business of over $1,400,000 with buyers from the South and Middle West, and this, too, without injuring the trade of the other large wholesale houses in the city. In speaking of the advance this morning, General Jackson, who is president of the Company, said:

"Baltimore is rapidly taking the leading position as a vender of wholesale dry goods, and already she has beaten Philadelphia in the field, and is encroaching upon New York. I have frequently seen cases of out-of-town buyers who have been to New York and have then returned to Baltimore to make their purchases, having been convinced by occular demonstration that the goods that we are able to furnish here in Baltimore are every bit as good, and in many instances less expensive, than those they get farther North.

"In reaching out for this business we have not stepped upon the toes of the other large wholesale houses in the city, and there have been no price-slashing tactics resorted to as a means of bringing trade to our doors. We have done our business in a legitimate way, and have brought buyers to the city that heretofore have never dealt here. In this manner we have not only helped ourselves, but have materially aided other kindred business houses, as for instance the boot and shoe trade. Philadelphia has lost her jobbing trade almost entirely, and Baltimore has fallen heir to it."

The Lloyd L. Jackson Company began business on December 1st, 1901. It has a capital of $1,000,000, of which $600,000 is 6 per cent. cumulative preferred stock, and the balance is common stock.

The above is from the Baltimore Evening News of the 1st inst., and refers to the company of which Mr. Fred. D. Miller, president of the Miller Bros. Co., of this city, is one of the directors and also general manager and assistant to the president. Numbers of citizens of this county are stockholders of the company.

The Burdick Murder Inquest.

Judge Murphy, of the Buffalo, N. Y., Police Court, who held the inquest in the Burdick murder case, summed up his views of the case on Tuesday, and expressed the opinion that the identity of the murderer had not been proven. He, however, declared that Arthur R. Pennell, the lawyer who was killed by his automobile plunging into a quarry, had a stronger motive than any other person for desiring Burdick's death, and that the facts brought out by the inquest would constitute just grounds for his arrest if he were alive. Judge Murphy criticised Mrs. Hull for want of frankness in giving her testimony and for her attitude toward the authorities charged with the investigation. It must be borne in mind, however, that the course of the prosecuting attorney in his examination of Mrs. Hull as a witness, must at once have impressed her with the fact that he was suspecting her of the murder and was endeavoring to elicit from her some evidence to confirm the suspicion. That she would resent such a suspicion and assume an attitude of indignation toward the person harboring it was the most natural thing in the world. Certainly no evidence to criminate her was elicited during the inquest. There is no evading the strongest sort of suspicion that Pennell either committed or instigated the murder, and evidently that is Judge Murphy's opinion.

Mr. Charles W. Miller, who recently retired from the position of assistant trainmaster of the Western Maryland Railroad, has leased the City Hotel, Hagerstown, for 10 years, and purchased the equipment of the former proprietor, John L. Cost.

MANUAL TRAINING DEPARTMENT.

Work in the Manual Training Department of the Westminster High School, which was opened Sept., 1901, is progressing very satisfactorily under the direction of Prof. E. A. Hidey. Some of the citizens of Westminster have expressed a desire to visit this room and know more of the plans and methods by which the work is accomplished, but they are uncertain as to the propriety, or the proper time to go. Without any impropriety, or disturbance to the work, it will be all right for the citizens to visit this room between the hours of 3 o'clock and 4 o'clock, on Wednesday and Thursday of each week, during the month of April.

I am glad to see that the teachers of the High School in Westminster show a determination to keep up with the procession in all matters of literary and educational qualification. They have regularly organized a Teachers' Reading Circle, obtained all the books suggested by the State Reading Circle committee, and they have weekly meetings to compare notes and discuss the questions and principles which make successful work in the school room. Many other teachers in the county have purchased the books and are doing good reading in the line of preparation. These are healthful signs of progress in public school work, and I am quite anxious to see continued improvement in general fitness for teaching. The time is fast passing when just any person can teach a public school. It requires preparation, tact, energy, good judgment, and hard work. Teachers who exhibit a lack in these directions will have to stand aside for those who can do the work in the school room successfully.

S. Simpson.

Mr. Henry S. Jean, of Harrisonville, Baltimore county, was awarded $3,500 damages by a jury of the Circuit Court for Harford county, on Saturday last, against the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company, for injuries sustained in falling from a train of the defendant, at Pennsylvaina Avenue Station, Baltimore, in December 1901. The case was removed to Harford from Baltimore county. The plaintiff was so severely injured that amputation of one of his arms became necessary. He claimed that as he was leaving the train it started before he reached the station platform and that his fall was caused by the negligence of officers of the company. The jury was 19 hours reaching a verdict.

The following appointments, made by General Traffic Manager B. H. Griswold, of the Western Maryland Railroad and West Virginia Central & Pittsburg Railway, and approved by Acting Vice President H. A. Bishop, went into effect April 1: Wm. T. Hunter, general freight agent, and F. M. Howell, general passenger agent, with offices at Hillen Station, Baltimore. G. W. Harrison, division ticket and baggage agent of the West Virginia Central and Pittsburg Railway, with office at Piedmont, W. Va.

The Atlantic coast was swept by a violent gale during Sunday night and Monday and the wrecking of a number of vessels is reported as one of the results. The wrecked vessels were, as a rule, of small tonnage.

Manchester Items.

Along the line of surprises our town received one of par excellence on Thursday evening, about 8.30 o'clock, when a quartette drum corps put in an appearance upon North Main street, halted in front of the residence of Mr. Wm. H. Wilson and rendered several stirring selections. Soon word was passed that it was a serenade to Mr. Wm. Shearer and bride, the latter of whom was Miss Mollie Wilson, who had appeared in the parlor of the Reformed parsonage, where Rev. S. M. Roeder, in the presence of his family, performed the marriage ceremony and the twain were made one. The bride wore a gown of crepe mode de chene, with hat and gloves to match, and carried a large bouquet of white carnations and ferns. The groom wore the conventional black, with white tie. After happy congratulations they returned to the Wilson home where they were congratulated by their immediate friends. That it was a surprise wedding is putting it but mildly as far as the general public is concerned. The surface indications were such as to lead persons to think it would lead to a marriage, and there were rumors afloat that it would take place at Easter. But they had determined otherwise, and gave the public a complete surprise. They have our best wishes that prosperity and happiness may meet them at every turn along life's pathway.

The remains of Mrs. George Simpers, who died at the home of her son, Mr. Benjamin Simpers, near Greenmount, at the age of 81 years, were laid away to rest on Thursday. Rev. H. H. Flick, officiating. A year ago her aged husband was buried in the Lutheran Cemetery of this place. Several months ago she was stricken with paralysis, from which she never fully recovered and frail nature yielded to death's demands. Masenhimer & Bergman had charge of the funeral.

Grand High Priest Geo. S. Motter, accompanied Grand Patriarch Adrian Hughes, with a complement of grand officers, to Cumberland on Monday, where they instituted a new Encampment of Patriarchs and enjoyed a royal time in the councils of the fraternity.

The sales of Messrs. Chas. H. Everhart and Wm. H. Gettier's household effects, on Saturday last, were well attended and fair prices realized.

The funeral of Mr. Ezra Frock, last week, was largely attended by relatives from a distance.

Mr. and Mrs. John Berngen, who had been living in Missouri for some years, recently sold their home and came East, intending to locate in this their native section of the country. They were the guests of their brother, Mr. Augustus Berngen, and family for some days last week, but having changed their minds, they bid their friends farewell intending to go West again and locate in Indiana. Mrs. Berngen was a daughter of the late Daniel Bixler, of this district.

The Union tannery, South of town, has been sold to some parties from Pennsylvania who expect to repair and operate it.

Mr. Charles T. Warner and family, after a residence of 21 years in our town, left on Monday evening for Baltimore, where they expect to make their future home. Mr. Horatio Loats occupied their home on North Main street on Tuesday. Mr. Ed. Yingling moved into the Hoffacker home, on Foundry avenue; Mr. George Trout to his home at Millers, and Mr. Theodore Fuhrman and family occupied the home vacated by Mr. Trout on York street.

Mrs. Wm. N. Gettier spent Friday and Saturday visiting friends in Baltimore.

Monday's rain storm was almost equal to that of last week. It was driven by a N. E. wind that toppled many fences and trees, and tottery buildings were tried to their utmost. An old landmark that had withstood the storms of many years, the old tannery on South Main street, had one section blown out upon the pavement about 2 P. M., but luckily no person was passing at the time.

Miss Fannie G. Ross spent several days with friends in Baltimore, this week.

Mr. and Mrs John Houck, of Baltimore, were the guests of Dr. L. Trump and family, this week.

The members of Trinity Mite Society held their bi-monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, at the Reformed parsonage. After the routine business they all enjoyed a social hour with the family.

Mr. John C. Denner, Jr., moved to his farm near Maple Grove on Tuesday with a full outfit for tilling the soil.

The foundation walls for a new barn are in place at the home of Mr. Wesley Burgoon at Cape Horn, and workmen are nearly ready with the frame work.

Rev. S. M. Roeder preached the fourth of his series of sermons, on the subject of Envy, on Sunday evening, from the latter clause of the 15th verse of the 20th chapter of Matthew.

Mr. Lee McGee moved to his home, bought from Mr. John Kelbaugh, south of town, on Tuesday.

Mr. Jacob Gummel moved to the farm of Mrs. Wine, near Sticks's, Pa., on Tuesday last.

Rev. S. M. Roeder will hold Preparatory and Confirmation services on Good Friday morning, and Holy Communion on Sunday morning, 12th inst. Preaching every evening during Holy Week.

Mr. Leander Smith, south of town, and Miss Bassom, of Houcksville, were quietly married on Wednesday evening, 1st inst., at the Reformed parsonage, by Rev. S. M. Roeder.

Mrs. Miranda Rudisil moved from York street to the Myers home, on Main street, on Thursday last.

DIED.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of our husband and father, Augustus Brown, who died suddenly, two years ago to day, April 5th, 1903.

At early morn as was his wont,
He fondly said, Good-bye,
But only left us for a while
In other hands to die.

Before the eventide arrived,
How sore our hearts had bled,
For he who left us full of life,
Was brought back to us dead.

By his Wife and Daughter Minnie.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving but sad remembrance of our dear father, Augustus Brown, who departed this life two years ago, April 5, 1901.

"Gone but not forgotten."

In the graveyard softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly
In his lonely silent grave.
Farewell, papa, may your slumber
Be as gentle as your love,
And when God wil call us homeward,
May we meet in Heaven above.

By his Children.

TEACHERS' HAND BOOK.

Rule No. 2 in the Hand Book will be a protection for our teachers against persons who might insist on taking the teachers' time during school hours. Some facts have reached this office which suggest the propriety of calling attention to this regulation for the guidance of teachers.

It may be well to state that, on general principles, the Examiner never gives any recommendation or indorsement of any book offered to the teachers of Carroll county by any book agent. In any case where the teacher might desire an opinion from this office, it would be necessary to see the Examiner in person, or write to him.

The Spring term will close April 17th. Teachers' Association will be the 24th instant; the school year for Carroll will close Friday, May 1st; and the final examination of pupils will be held the last three days of the summer term, April 29th and 30th, and May 1st.

Why Not Cure Your Cough or Cold ?

WESTMINSTER, April 10th, 1900.

MR. JOS. B. BOYLE:

Dear Sir:—For many years I have suffered intensely, on taking cold, from a very troublesome cough, for which I have used a number of various remedies, and obtained but TEMPORARY RELIEF. During the past Spring I was again troubled with the same cough, and through a friend was induced to try YOUR Pectoral Syrup, which not only gave almost INSTANT RELIEF, but a PERMANENT CURE. It gives me great pleasure to say that I believe it to be the best remedy I ever used for the purpose for which it is recommended. Hoping that any person afflicted as I was may be fortunate enough to give it a trial, I am, Truly yours,

EDWARD LYNCH.

For Sale by all Druggists and Merchants in the Country. PRICE 25 CENTS. feb-24-ft
