| Texas | 20 |
| Virginia | 12 |
| Total | 127 |

New Mexico, with three votes, still is doubtful.

The Result in Carroll

Except the fainting of a lady in a booth in the second precinct of Westminster, election day passed off very quietly in Carroll county. The rain in the afternoon kept voters at home, perhaps, but it also drove many from the corn fields and gave them an excuse to stop work and vote.

Harding and Coolidge, like in many other counties in the country, received a handsome majority of 1509.

Weller, who was fought vigorously by a part of the dry element, received many votes from wet Democrats a majority of 416.

Blakeney snowed Benson under in Carroll county by a majority of 2124. No one, living, or dead, ever received such a majority in old Carroll.

The bond issue beaten by a majority of 529. Carroll county will not go into debt for school buildings and roads. Refuses to barrow 50 cent dollars and promise to pay 100 cent ones in return.

Iverson, Independent Democrat for U. S. Senator, 20,184 votes, and Hawkins, colored. Independent Republican for U. S. Senator, received 5,720 votes in the state.

Blakeney, who was known as a "dry" candidate received hundreds of votes from "wet" Democrats because of their mistrust of Benson, whom they charged with being deceitful, he having, while a member of the House, voted both ways. Mr. Blakeney was not unknown in Carroll and the voters recognized in him a sound business man and one of sterling character. His majority, a record breaker, was 2,124.

In so far as Carroll county is concerned the result in the country pleases many. Harding as President with a sympathetic Senate, and the House of Representatives Republican and bone dry, no amendment to the Volstead Act can be passed.

The Republican party realizes its responsibility and will act accordingly.

LIEUT. HENRY H. FOWLER KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Lieut. Henry H. Fowler, who in his boyhood days spent in this city was known as "young Dommie Fowler", only son of Charles Herbert Fowler, a former resident of this city, but now residing in Washington, D. C., Saturday last was injured in an auto accident in Sanborn, Mass., and died in a hospital in Winchester, Massachusetts, Sunday October 31, 1920, aged about 35 years.

Besides his father he is survived by his widow and two sisters, all of Washington, D. C.

When the Lieutenant was in his teens, through the efforts of Joseph D. Brooks, of this city, the late U. S. Senator Louis E. McComas had him appointed an apprentice in the U. S. Navy Yard, in Washington, D. C., where he served the prescribed course and graduated as a machinist of the first class. Being an ambitious and bright young man he applied for the position of a machinist afloat and was transferred to one of the large battleships. In his new position young Fowler soon demonstrated his ability as a sailor and was promoted gradually until he finally received his commission as a lieutenant.

A few years ago Mrs. Fowler, mother of the Lieutenant died in Washington, D. C., and was buried in St. John's Catholic Cemetery, this city. Upon his return from a sea trip he had a beautiful monument erected at her grave.

Lieutenant Fowler never forgot a favor. After he had received his appointment to the U. S. Navy Yard, and, after he became a lieutenant, he never came to Westminster and left without calling on Joseph D Brooks, to whom he seemed so grateful for securing him an opportunity to achieve something worth while He was a noble young man and his untimely death was a severe shock to his relatives and friends.

CHURCH OF GOD, UNIONTOWN

Sunday school 9.00 and preaching 10:15 A. M., by Rev. J. E. Barbour, the Western Evangelist.

Frizellburg:—Preaching 2:00 P. M. Come hear Rev. J. E. Barbour.

The Western evangelist, Rev. J. E. Barbour, who is paying his first visit East, will conduct an evangelistic campaign at Wakefield Church of God, commencing Sunday November 7 at 7:30 P. M., and continuing three weeks.

He will be assisted by a choir of not less than fifty voices. All ministers and members of other denominations are cordially invited to take part in this revival effort.

When one remembers the Wilson autocracy one is wont to exclaim; Oh, Democracy how far from the paths of Jefferson, Jackson and Cleveland hast thou strayed!
