A QUEER PROCEEDING.

About the queerest judicial proceeding in the annals of the courts of Maryland, or, for that matter, of any other commonwealth, will be the petition of Mr. Murray Vandiver, for the Democratic managers, for a writ of mandamus to compel Governor Warfield to advertise the constitutional amendments purporting to have been passed at the last session of the legislature. The Governor says he will not advertise them, but he has about nine months in which to change his mind, as to the irregularity of the legislature's proceedings, before the time when they should be advertised, in any case, shall arrive. Then there are other ways in which such mandamus proceedings might become unnecessary. For instance, Governor Warfield may die, or resign, and be succeeded by the president of the Senate, who would undoubtedly recognize the validity of the amendment laws and promptly make them public in the manner prescribed. They might be advertised by authority of the Democratic State Central Committee in precisely the manner in which the Governor would do, if he considered it his duty, and, in that case, the Boards of Election Supervisors might agree to print them on the official ballots. Of course that would be irregular, but not more so than the mandamusing of an officer to perform a certain duty nine months before the period prescribed by law for its performance.

A WELL TIMED SERMON.

The Thanksgiving sermon delivered by Rev. C. S. Slagle, in the M. P. Church of this city, last week, and which is published by request in the SENTINEL of this issue, was a well timed and able presentation of a subject of more importance than most questions of the day. There is no denying the fact that corruption in the politics of the country is alarmingly prevalent and that much of it is due to the neglect of political duty on the part of citizens who are too much absorbed in attending to their private affairs to take an active part in the selection of the officials charged with the administration of the local and general governments. This is especially true in relation to the preliminary steps by which candidates for office are chosen. So many citizens, as a rule, refrain from participation in party primaries that it becomes a comparatively easy matter for corrupt men, by the use of a little money, to control them and foist candidates of their own choosing upon the party which they represent.

Party organization is not to be decried. It is essential to the proper conduct of any political campaign. But organization has, in a great measure, degenerated into combination for control of the party, rather than to properly direct its contest with the opposition. This is a condition that sorely needs correction, but which is not likely to be corrected while a considerable body of citizens abstains from active participation in politics.

The stream must be purified at the fountain or all efforts to accomplish its purification elsewhere will inevitably fail. Hence it is the duty of all citizens to see to it that primaries are properly conducted, the bribery of voters suppressed and good men and true selected by delegates to county conventions as candidates for office.

It need scarcely be said that every citizen should take sufficient interest in general elections to cast his ballot for the candidates of his choice, but to see also that that choice does not include candidates unworthy or unfit to be elected. If all citizens would thus meet their political obligations the atmosphere of politics would soon be cleared of the unwholesome vapors that now often arise and obscure the most important issues involved by making success dependent upon the illicit use of money in corrupting voters.

Private John Smith, of the Army Hospital Corps, who married a negress, was dismissed from the service by the War Department on the ground that she has another husband living.

When the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, the greatest of all world's fairs, closed at midnight last night about 18,750,000 persons had passed through the turnstiles in the seven months it had been open to the public; more than $30,000,000 was expended in the construction and maintenance of the great show, and about the same amount was spent by the public within the Exposition grounds.

Thomas E. Watson, lately Populist candidate for President, made an address at Crawfordville, Ga., on Wednesday, in which he bitterly assailed the Democratic party and the "Solid South."

M. C. I. Notes.

The winter term opened Monday, November 28th. Among the new students who enrolled are: Clarence Sorrell, Washington, D. C.; Lottie Aberlin, Cordova; Verley Koontz, John S. Messler, Linwood; Norman Hann, Medford; Wilbur Stoner, Ella Peifert, Howard Mackley, Union Bridge.

Quite a number of students spent Thanksgiving at their homes or at some friend's home and are back greatly invigorated for the new term's work.

Miss Margaret Harlacher, accompanied by Miss Ruth Wine, visited her home at Hanover, last week.

Miss Anna Hoover enjoyed a visit from her mother over Thanksgiving.

Miss Mary Grabill, '04, who is now doing missionary work, visited her Alma Mater from Friday till Tuesday.

The Choral Class is preparing Gaul's Cantata, "Ruth," for public rendition on Thursday evening, December 22nd.

Miss Bessie Wine visited Miss Lora Fahrney, in Frederick, from Wednesday till Monday.

Winfield Items.

It has been quite a while since we appeared in the locals of the SENTINEL but I want to say we have not been dead nor sleeping—just resting.

There has been quite a number of important events transpiring since our last letter. In fact they are now too numerous to mention, and we will just let you know what we are doing at present.

The past week has been what might be termed the butchering week. It has been no uncommon sight to see our jolly townsmen going from house to house with bloody hands and clothing, seeking their prey and calling for the key to the cellar door. On Monday last Mr. Howard M. Zile killed 22 hogs for himself and neighbors. The heavy weights have not come in yet.

The Winfield Academy held its first oyster supper for the year in the Academy Hall, Thursday evening, (Thanksgiving,) and there was the largest crowd present that has ever attended a supper yet, due chiefly to the excellent entertainment which Mr. Arthur Zile gave with his stereopticon. There were about 75 pictures of the most beautiful scenery in the world thrown upon the screen. Mr. Zile will give a course of illustrated lectures during the winter at the Academy and in towns throughout the county.

Thanksgiving services were held at Ebenezer M. E. Church Thursday morning at 10.30, by Rev. Mr. Watson. Both of our ministers had something to be extremely thankful for. The Ladies' Mite Society took quite a donation to the senior pastor, Mr. Watson, and the young folks of the community threw their mites together until they became mighty enough to secure a $10 gold piece which they presented to Mr. Jarboe, the Jr. pastor, at the close of the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnes, of McKinstry, and Mr. and Mrs. Marion Pool, of Mt. Airy, spent Sunday with Miss Debbie Zile.

Mr. Fred. Y. Cronk, of John Hopkins, and his friend, Mr. Davidson, spent the Thanksgiving vacation with Mr. Cronk's parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Cronk.

Manchester Items.

Thanksgiving day was not generally observed here, business places were all open and general work was carried on. Rev. S. M. Roeder held services in the Reformed Church but they were slimly attended. At night an entertainment was given under the auspices of Daniel and Jacob Lodge, I. O. O. F., by Prof. W. A. Chambers, of Pittsburg, Pa., assisted by J. E. Lowe, of Gettysburg College. Mr. Chambers acquitted himself well in his selections as an entertainer. Music was furnished by Miss Pearl Burns at piano, accompanied by Miss Hazel Maurath on violin. The fine piano used through the kindness of Mr. Julius, of York, Pa., was purchased by Mr. W. L. F. Bergman.

The 1904 sewing society was nicely entertained at the home of Mrs. E. W. Fuhrman on Thanksgiving evening.

Home Missionary service was held in Trinity Reformed Church on Sunday evening, using a service furnished by the Board of Home Missions.

Mr. David Leese died at his home on North Main street at 6.30 Wednesday morning, at the age of 75 years. A year ago Mr. Leese was quite ill for some months, but again rallied to be able to engage at his labors; but from the time he was taken some weeks ago he gradually grew worse with heart trouble, from which he unexpectedly passed away. His remains will be laid to rest on Sunday morning in a family lot. Rev. H. H. Flick officiating. He leaves two sons, Messrs. John and George Leese, of this place, and three daughters, Miss Ella, at home; Miss Mary, of Baltimore, and Mrs. George Bixler, of Germantown.

About noon another aged citizen passed peacefully away in the person of Mrs. Daniel Neuinger. She had been ailing for some months with a general breaking up of her system, and was 73 years old. Her remains were laid away to rest on Friday, Rev. H. H. Flick officiating. She was twice married, and was a step-mother of the late Rev. P. Warner, of the Lutheran Church. She leaves an only brother and several nieces.

Mr. John Houck, of Baltimore, was a guest at the home of Dr. L. Trump at Thanksgiving.

Miss Dollie Boetler, of Baltimore, was a visitor among friends here last week.

Mrs. May C. Gettier and daughters, Norma and Ethel, spent Thanksgiving with friends in Baltimore, and enjoyed the play of "The Shepherd King."

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Dubbs entertained Misses Eliza and Rica Cox and Mrs. Henneman at dinner Thanksgiving day.

Miss Ida M. Roeder, of Kee-Mar College, Hagerstown, and Miss Miriam Roeder, of Millersville Normal School, Pa., spent the Thanksgiving holidays with the home folks here.

Messrs. Wm. R. T. Denner and Harry Masenhimer, of the Johns Hopkins University, were home during the holidays.

Mr. Frank Shaffer is fitting our school house with a hot water plant for heating the building.

It was presented in July last at San Francisco for the first time in this country in conformity with Mr. Frohman's new arrangement with Mr. Miller, which stipulates that the star shall hereafter be exploited on the Pacific coast each summer in the new play or plays that may be selected for his winter season in the East.

Gratified by the reception given his drama, "The Shepherd King" in Baltimore, Mr. Wright Lorimer has asked and obtained time for a return engagement at the Academy of Music. He will therefore begin a second visit to Baltimore January 2, 1905, to remain two weeks.
