MUNICIPAL LEAGUE IN BALTIMORE.

A municipal league has been organized in Baltimore, the purpose of which is to exclude politics from the city government by electing a non-partizan City Council. Prominent Republicans and Democrats have identified themselves with the movement, which has the approbation of Governor Warfield. It is questionable, however, whether it will attract the general support of the voters of either party.

The basis of the organization is a business administration of the city government, which, without doubt, would be advantageous to the tax-payers. But if desirable in municipal affairs why not in State affairs as well? True, the Democrats have raised questions in the State that are purely political and partizan, but they are only questions looking to future Democratic success and involve nothing affecing the business interests of the State. A league to assure honest elections and make certain that voters having the right of suffrage may cast their ballots and have them counted as they intend to vote, is about as important as any other question that can arise. The reformers may accept this proposition as a rule without an exception: They cannot purify the stream by ignoring the fountain. The municipal government of Baltimore is the creature of the State. They must go back to that and reform the source which gives vitality to its creature, or means will be found to nullify any good work that may be undertaken to inaugurate a purely business administration of such municipal affairs.

DR. OSLER'S NEW THEORY.

Dr. William Osler, for the last sixteen years professor of Medicine at Johns Hopkins Uunversity, and who has recently been called to Oxford University, in England, expressed the opinion, in a speech at the Johns Hopkins University on Wednesday of last week, that a man's creative usefulness occurs before he reaches the age of 40 years, and that after that period he does nothing to add to the sum of the world's useful knowledge. That was not his exact language, but in a subsequent explanation of his meaning, it was reduced in substance to about that. "We should be where we are today if the work of all men over 40 was wiped out," Dr. Osler declares; which simply means that everything done by men over forty years old, in all the past history of the race, practiecally amounted to nothing of value to mankind.

Dr. Osler is writing an essay in which he proposes to demonstrate his theory by citations of the work of eminent scientists before their arrival at the age of forty years, but he will probably be met by an array of facts from other eminent sources to disprove that theory. It is extremely doubtful whether mental deterioration begins with most men at 40 years of age and it is very certain that mental development, in many cases, goes on long after that age.

Dr. Osler is an eminent scientist and has written a number of valuable works and all of them since he became forty years old; but according to his own theory the world would be as well off without them, and would have lost nothing by his death, if it had occurred sixteen years ago. He will scarcely add to his fame by applying his opinion on this subject to his own case. It is probably true that the best work of some men is done while they are between the ages of 25 and 40 years, but it is just as true that no fixed rule can be applied to the subject. It would be quite as easy to determine the probable longevity of different indivduals as to limit the period of their mental development and capacity to a specific and definite age.

SEEKING NOTORIETY.

By sending a message of condolence to the Czar of Russia in relation to the assassination of his uncle, the Grand Duke Sergius, President Roosevelt drew upon himself the wrath of Congressman Baker, of New York, who, on Monday, in the House of Representatives gave vent to his ire in a speech wildly denunciatory of the Executive. Mr. Baker's extravagant utterances caused great excitement in the House and after he had been roundly excoriated by Representative Grosvenor, of Ohio, Mr. Maddox, of Georgia, speaking for the Democrats, utterly repudiated the sentiments of the New Yorker, who is also a Democrat. Mr. Baker's idea, as he expressed it in a resolution he submitted, is, that the assassination of the grand duke was no more reprehensible than the slaughter of the strikers who were marching to the palace on the 22nd of January, to present a petition for the mitigation of their grievances, and many of whom were shot to death by soldiers of the empire.

Mr. Baker's mistake was in likening the method of the Russian Government in dealing with a domestic problem to a purely political assassination. More than one mob has been fired upon and numbers of people killed in the United States, without a word of sympathy or of protest having been received from any nation in the world. About 1855 or 1856, United States soldiers fired upon and killed a number of persons in an election riot, under the very shadow of the Capitol in Washington, but nobody expected a word of interference from any foreign nation. In 1877 the Fourth Regiment, I. M. N. G., fired into a mob in Baltimore and killed several persons, but the incident was not noticed by foreign nations. But the assassination of Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley brought messages of condolence from governments all over the world, including Russia. These were acts of courtesy, which have come to be regarded as obligatory upon nations at peace with a power upon which some great disaster, or tragedy, has fallen and Congressman Baker must be sorely lacking in knowledge of what is due from one nation to another, if he at heart condemns President Roosevelt for his message to the Czar in this case.

It is extremely probable, however, that Mr. Baker is only posing in this matter for the purpose of gaining a little cheap notoriety.

Dr. Edward B. Dawson, of Baltimore, pleaded guilty of common assault and was sentenced to jail for ten years.

New Equipment for the Western Maryland Railroad.

It is announced that the directors of the Western Maryland Railroad have authorized the expenditure of $1,900,000 for new equipment and rails for the Western Maryland Railroad. The money is to be spent in purchasing the following:

18 freight locomotives of the consolidation type.
5 ten-wheel passenger locomotives.
8 switch locomotives.
500 steel hopper coal cars of 100,000 pounds capacity.
700 steel under-framed flat bottom gondolas, with four drop floors, 80,000 pounds capacity.
500 standard steel box cars, steel under-framed, 80,000 pounds capacity.
50 steel under-framed flat cars, 80,000 pounds capacity.
50 stock cars, 60,000 pounds capacity.
4 vestibule passenger coaches.
4 combination postal and baggage coaches.
2,300 tons of steel rails.

The Maryland Steel Company has the contract for the rails, which are now being rolled at Sparrows Point, the deliveries to begin about April 1. It is expected that the delivery of the new rolling stock will begin early in the coming summer.

Charles Worthington Ross, one of the wealthiest and most prominent members of the bar of Frederick county, died at his home in Frederick last Saturday morning, in his 69th year. Mr. Ross was a son of the late Wm. J. Ross, whose high character made him one of the men of mark at the Frederick bar among such men as the late Judge Maulsby, Judge Wm. M. Merrick, Jos. M. Palmer and others who ranked among the leading lawyers of the State. Mr. Ross leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters. He was a graduate of Princeton University and was prominent in numerous financial enterprises. He was a member of the Masonic Fraternity.

Mr. Wm. H. Ruby, the veteran editor and proprietor of the Baltimore County Journal, died at his home at Towson, on Sunday, in his 75th year. Shortly before his death he organized a stock company which will continue the publication of the Journal. The paper was established by Mr. Ruby 40 years ago and has always been ably conducted, being one of the best local papers of the State. Mr. Ruby was born in York, Pa. He was an ardent Democrat and was always strenuous in supporting the Democratic party, but was courteous toward his political opponents. He was a member of the Masonic Fraternity, and also of the Odd Fellows and Elks. He leaves a widow and one daughter.

Mr. R. C. Gordon has purchased from Mr. I. E. Yost, the Waynesboro Record and Blue Mountain Zephyr and the job printing office connected with said papers. Mr. Gordon had been business manager of the establishment during the past two years. Mr. Chas. W. Cremer, who has been editor of the papers for the last five years, will continue in that relation.

The Japanese army, in Manchuria, is making a determined effort to flank the Russian army and severe fighting has occurred, with apparently favorable results to the Japs, it being doubtful whether Gen. Kuropatkin will be able to keep open his line of retreat. Labor disturbances and a revolutionary spirit seem to be increasing in in Russia.

Mrs. Sophia Markell, Aged 89 years, widow of George Markell, died at her home in Frederick, Saturday afternoon, from the effects of a fall she sustained on Tuesday, when she broke her left hip. She was connected with many of the prominent families of the State. Mrs. Markell leaves four daughters.

Letter to Hon. Frank T. Shaw.

WESTMINSTER.

Dear Sir: A gallon saved is $4 or $5 earned. Devoe saves 2 or 3 gallons in 10. How much is it worth a gallon?

A gallon saved saves the painting too; and both together cost $4 or $5—$4 where labor is cheap; $5 where labor is dear.

Our agents in Bridgeport, Conn, Hubbell & Wade Co, tell us: "There are a great many workingmen's houses here. They used to paint lead-and-oil and take ten gallons. We have been selling them ten gallons Devoe lead-and-zinc, and have had, in every instance, two gallons returned." The proportion is often higher than that; we have known it five in ten; but that is exception.

This is the explanation: Devoe is ground by machinery, and is ground fine; lead-and-oil is mixed by hand, and isn't ground at all. Yours truly

Cranberry School's Visit to Baust Church School.

Last Friday 27 pupils of the Cranberry school, accompanied by their teacher, Miss Alma McCaffrey, visited the Baust Church school, which is successfully taught by Miss Florence B. Ogg.

The first intimation of their coming was heralded by the blowing of horns and the shouting of the merry children, as they alighted from their sleds and filed into the school room. Notwithstanding the complete surprise, Miss Ogg and her forty intelligent pupils were equal to the occasion, accorded them a hearty welcome and extended to them that hospitality which is always appreciated by strangers who chance to visit this community. That it was a complete surprise is putting it mildly. Shortly after the arrival of the visitors, the noon recess was announced and then the children commingled and entered heartily into conversation and various amusing and innocent games.

In the afternoon a program was rendered by the combined schools, which comprised spelling, recitations, and vocal music, and thus about two hours were very pleasantly spent before the good byes were said and the visitors started on their ten-mile return trip.

Delicate Operation.

From the York, Pa., Dispatch.

Jerry Starner, the Codorus paper mill employe who had his left leg mangled by having the member caught in the cogwheels of a pump at the mill on Wednesday, February 15, has undergone a most remarkable operation at the hospital and will likely recover. It was necessary to amputate Starner's leg at the hip-joint. The case is the only one of hip-joint amputation in the history of surgery in York county. In removing the leg the complete disarticulation of the hip-bone and the muscles was necessary. The operation was a success and Starner is recovering. One of the hospital staff physicians who assisted at the operation said: "Hip-joint amputations are rare. Starner's will be the first on record in this county. It is seldom that a patient recovers when the leg is removed at the hip-joint Starner's will be one of the few cases of recovery reported. Starner, when he sustained his injuries and before and after the operation, displayed remarkable fortitude and vitality. He was conscious until placed under an anesthetic for the operation. At the mill, before he was placed in the ambulance, he instructed a fellow employe upon the management of the machinery. When we performed the amputation we had little hope of his recovery We thought that shock would kill him. He is now in good condition and will undoubtedly recover." Starner's case will be reported to the surgical journals.
