Republican Success is dependent upon personal effort. Let every man do his part.

An Explanation.

A number of communications have been submitted to the SENTINEL, some from Republican, but more from Democratic sources touching the personal life, habits and conduct of gentlemen on the Democratic ticket. The SENTINEL, in this campaign has not hesitated to give the facts with respect to the public and official record of any man, but has studiously refrained from all reference to the personal life of any individual. This course has not only been in keeping with its own wishes, but the line of conduct to which it is committed by its Board of Directors, in the passage of the following rules and regulations, which are reproduced for the benefit of our correspondents :

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

1. The editor or editors of the AMERICAN SENTINEL shall always uphold the principles of the Republican Party.

2. The AMERICAN SENTINEL shall never be used to promote the interest of any individual or faction in any county contest, but after nominations have been made shall use every laudable means to secure the election of the whole Republican ticket, without favoritism.

3. Nothing shall be permitted in the columns of the AMERICAN SENTINEL, either as communication or paid advertisement, reflecting either by direct assertion or by inuendo upon the personal character, credit or integrity of any individual.

4. Every effort shall be put forth to make the AMERICAN SENTINEL a clean, wholesome newspaper, worthy of place in the homes of our people, and to advance the interests of our county and city, morally, socially and commercially.

Wanted ! Workers !

Twenty-five hundred Republican Voters in Carroll county will receive this issue of the SENTINEL. Every one of them is earnestly requested to become a worker for the ticket from now until next Tuesday night. Our candidates have been working hard. They are worthy of the full support of their party. They make personal request of every man who reads these words that he will put forth his best efforts for the success of the ticket.

Readers of the SELTINEL who examine the official ballot published on the fourth page will find at the top of the third column—otherwise blank, the words "For a Constitutional Convention," in one line and "Against a Constitutional Convention," in another. Not much has been said by either party concerning the proposed call for such a convention, although the State conventions of both passed resolutions against its adoption. This probably means a large majority against it, provided voters take the trouble to mark the ballot on the subject. To make certain of its defeat the Republicans are advised to make a X in the square to the right of the words "Against a Constitutional Convention." It would be a public calamity to have the call adopted. Vote against it.

Nothing can defeat the Republican ticket next Tuesday if every voter who reads these words will do all that he can for its success. Tell your neighbors and friends. Urge every man to go to the polls on Tuesday. A full vote means victory.

Instructions To Voters.

Look at your ballot carefully before unfolding it, so that you will be able to return it as required by law.

Do not hurry in marking your ticket. Take your time; others must wait their turn.

Be extremely careful in making your X mark opposite the candidate you wish to vote for, and see that the mark does not extend beyond the square. Mark it just right, like this [X]

Remember: you must make a mark after EACH NAME you want to vote for, and should the mark extend beyond the square of any one, it will destroy and make worthless the entire ticket.

Do not check up the names after marking them, by putting even the slightest pencil mark on the ticket; it will invalidate it.

Should you, by accident, punch a hole in your ticket (just one,) or soil it in any way, do not use it, but ask for another. Your ballot must be clean, not mutilated in any particular, if you expect to have it counted.

These suggestions may not be necessary, but, "Forewarned is forearmed."

History Repeats Itself.

At the Democratic barbecue, at Manchester, on Saturday last, one of the campaign orators said that the Republicans in past years had elected few of their candidates in Carroll county, and referred to the fact that one of them was three times sheriff. It needs not to be said that his reference was to Mr. George N. Fringer. In some respects conditions in the present campaign are similar to those in the campaign in which Mr. Fringer was first elected. Then as now, the relative fitness of the two candidates for sheriff was the chief issue at that point of the ticket, and all the indications are that history will repeat itself.

Mr. Lynerd's Record Clean.

The Democrats have published a story intended to cast discredit upon Mr. Jacob D. Lynerd, Republican candidate for the house of Delegates, practically charging him with lying, under oath. The circulation of the report cannot hurt Mr. Lynerd among those who know him. His integrity of character is such that even a denial of the story is not necessary, but as showing the desperate straits in which the Democrats find themselves in this campaign, the uncolored facts upon which, they base their fabrication should be made known.

The charge is that Mr. Lynerd "made oath that John E. Zepp, of Manchester, was no longer resident of that district, and had his name stricken from the registration list, while Mr. Zepp was still a resident there and entitled to vote."

Mr. Lynerd was a census taker in 1900. His duties took him to the farm of Mr. John Zepp, in Manchester district, on the Pennsylvania state line. There he found that Mr. Zepp's barn is in Maryland and his dwelling house in Pennsylvania. Mr. Lynerd did report to the registers of voters this fact, designating the man by name John Zepp, identifying him as the son of Mr. Barney Zepp, stating definitely his place of residence, locating and identifying the person whose name he desired stricken from the list. He informed the registers that if the John Zepp in question had a middle name or initial he did not know it. Several Zepps, named John, were found on the list, with various middle initials. Among them was one John E., whom those present, including not only the registers but at least one Democratic leader of Manchester district, supposed to be the man in question, and the name was stricken off.

Upon investigation it was found that John E. is Mr. John Edward Zepp, of Melrose, who was registered properly as John E. and not as Edward, the name by which he is commonly known, and by which Mr. Lynerd has always known him, and the name was replaced upon the list.

Mr. Lynerd never sought to have Edward Zepp stricken from the list of voters of Manchester district, nor made oath that he did not reside in it. The man, whose name he sought to have removed is JOHN ZEPP, WHO DID AND DOES RESIDE IN PENNSYLVANIA, and whose name is John M.

"A Fight For Ideals."

In a recent interview, Mr. David Stewart, of Baltimore, has given utterance to sentiments worthy of himself and which are shared by all men, who seek not merely party success but the highest interests of the people. Mr. Stewart is a lawyer of Baltimore, one of the leading Democrats, supporting Mr. Gaither for Governor.

Mr. Stewart says.—"I was born a Democrat, and have all along as a matter of course voted the Democratic ticket in the absence of reason to the contrary; but it has been a sufficient reason to me that I thought the Republican nominee a better man.

"I do not believe that it makes any difference to the people of Maryland at large whether Republicans or Democrats are elected, though it is important to party leaders that their party should control, just as the control of large financial corporations is of great value.

FIGHT FOR IDEALS.

"There are certain principles..... upon which thinking people intelligently and morally differ, but the great fight in politics is between the apostles of the ordinary and the commonplace and believers in ideas and ideals, and the latter make up the true independent party.....George Gaither and I were classmates at Princeton and at the Law School of the University of Maryland. I knew him as a young man and I have watched his career since, and I believe him to be a very unusual man—a man of sterling integrity, comprehensive mind and great acumen and ability. Judge Crothers I regard as at best an ordinary man with his eyes on the earth.....He seems to be a good servant.....but has none of the qualities of a great leader.....Some times a political party, when it is specially anxious for success, will nominate very unusual men, hoping thus to win, and that is what I think has now been done by the Republican party in selecting Mr. Gaither.

GAITHER'S SUPERIORITY.

"The important question is not whether Mr. Gaither or Judge Crothers have either or both been selected by the party managers, but how far they, if elected, would, respectively, be controlled by the party managers; and I do not see how anyone, reviewing the careers of the two men, can question Mr. Gaither's superiority over Judge Crothers as a man of individuality and independence."

Why a Personal Campaign and Who Made It Such.

After raising the question of the personnel of the two tickets in Carroll county, the Democratic party is now complaining "We hoped in the beginning of the campaign that this would be a straight party fight and personalities would play very little part in it."

By whom was the personal question raised in Carroll county? What do the columns of the Democratic and Republican party papers respectively disclose? The Democrats held their first convention July 29th to select delegates to State and Judiciary conventions. In its issue of August 2nd, the Republican county paper published a report of that convention without unkindly reference to any of its members, or word that could be construed as personal.

The Republican convention to select delegates to State and Judiciary conventions was held August 2nd. In its succeeding issue, August 9th, the county organ of the Democracy published a column of so called snap shots, and OPENED THE CAMPAIGN ON PERSONAL LINES, seeking to hold up many of the Republicans of the county to contumely, by insinuation and inuendo doing all in its power to injure the political reputation of men whose adverse influence they feared.

On Monday, September 16th, the Democratic Convention to name a county ticket was held. It was at this convention that the Republicans were challenged to name the best possible ticket that could be presented to the people in the declaration, "NO MATTER WHAT TICKET YOU NAME IT WILL BE A GOOD DEAL BETTER THAN ANY REPUBLICAN TICKET THAT CAN BE NOMINATED," and thus the personal question directly raised and comparison invited.

On Tuesday, September 24th, the Republicans of Carroll named their ticket, and on the Friday following, in announcing the nominations made, the two tickets were set side by side that they might be compared, and the following was said editorially by the SENTINEL:—"There is an old and true adage that 'comparisons are odious' and never has its truth been better demonstrated than in the unfortunate assertion of the chairman of the Democratic county central committee before his party's convention: "No matter what ticket you name it will be a good deal better than any Republican ticket that can be nominated.

"The only way to determine the relative merit of two party tickets is by considering the men whose names they bear. In determining the relative merit of men, they must be judged by certain qualities, and among intelligent people, the qualities which mark a man as good, better or worse are intellectual or moral.

"Fixing this as standard of judgment, placing the two tickets side by side, as they appear in another column of the SENTINEL, considering each as a whole or in part, and man by man, the Republican party invites rigid comparison, and does not hesitate to say: 'Let the best man win,' whether he be Republican or Democrat."

Thus the issue was joined. The Democrats filed their declaration and the Republicans made their answer. The campaign is the argument. We do not hesitate to say that it would have been better for the Democratic party and certainly would have been a source of great pleasure to Republicans, who seek not primarily party success but first of all the welfare of county and State, if the public and political record of every man on Democratic and Republican tickets could stand the test of the "Light of the Square."

Only that public and political record has been made the subject of comment in these columns. No man has been "vilified, traduced and held up to public scorn and contempt."

It is true that the public has been informed of the fact that Mr. Gettier, the Democratic candidate for Sheriff is the proprietor of a hotel and barroom in Manchester. Is this not a fact, and a fact of which the public should be apprised? Is it not a fact that some of the Democratic leaders on the day of their convention pointed out this fact and declared that Mr. Gettier, because of the business in which he is engaged, was not a suitable man to be named for that position? It is further true that the fact that Mr. Gettier has not been a law abiding citizen and is therefore not a suitable man to be made an officer of the law has been published, not in the repetition of exaggerated street corner gossip, but in the reproduction of the records of the Circuit Court for Carroll County and of a magistrate of Manchester District.

It is true that a part of the record of Mr. Myers, Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates, as disclosed in the journal of the last legislature, has been published. Mr. Myers is responsible for the law on the statute books of the State making it a criminal offense for any one to shoot at a fox chased by hounds followed by hunters. He asks to be returned to the legislature. Have not the farmers of Carroll county a right to be informed as to whom he represented aforetime, so that they may know for whom they should vote that their interests may be cared for in the future?

It is true that the official and political record of Mr. Reifsnider, Democratic candidate for State's Attorney has been referred to. Both are matters of public or political interest and moment at this time; his political record, in view of the fact that the first attack made upon Mr. Stocksdale, Republican candidate for State's Attorney, was the charge that he had once been a Democrat, having left that party at the same time Mr. Gaither, the Republican candidate for Governor, left it; his official record—in view of the fact that his friends have persistently since his nomination made the appeal to the taxpayers of the county, which was publicly made by the party newspaper last week—as tending to show that their interests would be as well cared for if committed to Mr. Stocksdale as they were when in Mr. Reifsnider's hands.

"The Republican candidates have "not" been heralded to the public as men of extraordinary ability, as well as pure minded and even saintly politicians." They have been presented to the people for their suffrages for the various offices to be filled, just as they are, together making up a ticket as good as any ever named in Carroll county by any political party, worthy in every way of the support of every Republican and every fair minded citizen, who is given the opportunity on next Tuesday to say to the Democrats of the county, "It is true that the Democrats might have nominated as good a ticket as any that the Republicans could name, but they have failed to do it, and must now take the consequences."

The result of the election on next Tuesday means more than the choice of Republicans or Democrats for office. The voters of the county should say to both parties, with Mr. David Stewart, of Baltimore, we are "believers in ideas and ideals" and the party that desires to be successful in future must give us men whom we can support without doing violence to our most cherished principles.

If every voter who receives the SENTINEL this week will do what he can from now until Tuesday evening for the success of the ticket, we will certainly win.

A STRIKING CONTRAST.

The State of Maryland honors herself when she honors her sons, who bravely gave themselves from 1861 to 1865 to that cause in whose justice they believed, putting into practice the principle embodied by Abraham Lincoln in the immortal words, "Doing the right as God gives us to see the right." She has no nobler heritage than the memory of heroes who gave their lives at duty's call, no more sacred trust than the perpetuation of that memory to generations yet unborn. For the living she cares in the Confederate Soldiers Home, at Pikesville, to the dead she has erected monuments on many a battle field.

It has been asked "What did the Republican representatives, Messrs. Bushey and Kolb, do in the last Legislature, of benefit to the State, and for which they are worthy of honor?" It has been said that they did nothing but vote. It may be said in reply that when they voted they always voted right. Can the same be said of Carroll's Democratic representatives, either in Senate or House of Delegates? With these questions in mind the Journals of Senate and House of Delegates are interesting reading.

A striking illustration, which marks the contrast, is the history of House bill, File 80, entitled "An Act to erect a suitable monument in the city of Baltimore to commemorate the patriotism and heroic courage of the sons of Maryland, who on land and sea fought for the preservation of the Federal Union in the Civil War, 1861-65."

IN THE HOUSE.

On March 24th, 1906, this bill was reported unfavorably in the House of Delegates, by the Ways and Means Committee. So important was the bill regarded that consideration of the committee's unfavorable report was postponed until Monday night, March 26th, 1906.

On March 27th, in the House of Delegates, the unfavorable report of the committee was considered, and Mr. Dorton moved to substitute the bill for the unfavorable report, which motion was seconded. The yeas and nays were called for, and the motion was carried, Messrs. BUSHEY and KOLB with 47 others voting in the affirmative, and Messrs. FREDERICK and MYERS, with 37 others, voting in the negative. (See House Journal, page 1322.)

On March 29th the bill was read a third time and passed by yeas and nays, Messrs. BUSHEY and KOLB, with 72 others, voting in the affirmative; in the negative, none; Messrs. FREDERICK and MYERS not present or not voting. (See House Journal, page 1519.)

IN THE SENATE.

In the Journal of the Senate, page 1569, is the record: "House bill, file 80, entitled 'An Act to erect a suitable monument &c., endorsed. 'Read the third time and passed by yeas and nays,' which was read a first time and referred to the Committee on Finance."

The members of the Committee on Finance in the Senate were Messrs. Gorman, (Democrat), of Howard, Brewington, (Democrat), of Wicomico, Betts, (Democrat), of Washington, BEASMAN, (Democrat), of Carroll, Young, (Democrat), of 1st Legislative District of Baltimore City, Baker, (Republican), of Harford, Griffith, (Republican), of Calvert.

An interesting item of unwritten history, indicating how the machine works, is the fact that without formal meeting of the Finance Committee, Mr. Gorman, its chairman, reported the bill unfavorably in the Senate, the vote, however, showing that three of his colleagues, including Mr. BEASMAN, justified his action. The record of the Senate Journal, April 2nd, page 1770, is "Mr. Gorman, from the Committee on Finance reported unfavorably House bill, File 80, entitled, 'An Act to erect a suitable monument &c.' Mr. Linthicum moved 'That the bill be substituted for the unfavorable report, which motion was carried by yeas and nays." Sixteen Senators, including Messrs. Young, Baker and Griffith, of the Finance Committee, voted in the affirmative. Ten Senators, including Messrs. Gorman, Brewington, Betts and BEASMAN, of the FinanceCommittee, continued their opposition to the bill, voting in the negative.

Thus it will be seen that every means was employed by the Democratic leaders in House and Senate to defeat this praiseworthy bill, Messrs. BEASMAN, FREDERICK AND MYERS obedient to their behests. When it was seen that no opposition could defeat its passage, that there were patriotic Democrats that could not be whipped into line, another edict went forth, it is said from Mr. Murray Vandiver, and upon its third reading the bill was passed without a dissenting vote, and became the law.

The Republican Senatorial Primary is the Election. Elect a Republican Legislature and John Walter Smith will not be elected Senator.

Mr. Crouse's Explanation.

Mr. Crouse, Democratic chairman, in calling to order the meeting at Odd Fellows' Hall yesterday, explained that when he said to his party's convention that any ticket it might nominate would be better than any that the Republicans can name, he was speaking politically—not personally; that the two parties in Carroll are so evenly divided that they are composed of the same class of people, and that he could not understand how his remarks could be misinterpreted as to their significance; that the people of Carroll, Republican and Democratic, are the best people in the world. The SENTINEL does not wish to be unfair to any man, and in the spirit of fairness, since it made known to the public Mr. Crouse's former declaration, sets beside it his own explanation.

Some of the saloon keepers of Carroll county have combined and are making an organized effort to defeat Townshend for Sheriff. It is up to those saloon keepers who are law abiding citizens, as well as to every man who is opposed to organized saloon interference in politics, to defeat their plans.

Local Self Government.

The Anti Saloon League of Maryland mailed to all candidates for Senate and House of Delegates interrogatories, stating the fact that ten counties of Maryland have voted to have no saloons and parts of other counties have done the same. The question was asked these candidates whether they were willing to give the people of other counties the opportunity to vote on the question if they wished to do so, and accord the same privilege to portions of other counties, parts of which now have local option. In a nutshell the candidates were asked whether they believe in the right of the people to local self government.

The Anti-Saloon League has mailed a circular giving the answers of the candidates to members of the League and others all over the State. The answers of the candidates for Senate and House of Delegates for Carroll county are of interest to the voters. Messrs. Reindollar and Beasman, respectively candidates of Republican and Democratic parties for the Senate answer "Yes." Messrs. Beam, Bushey and Lynerd, Republican candidates for the House of Delegates, answer "Yes." Mr. Snader also answers in the affirmative, though his reply did not reach the Anti-Saloon League in time to be incorporated in its circular. Messrs. Frederick and Norris, Democratic candidates for the House of Delegates, answer "Yes." Messrs. Myers and Selby, Democratic candidates for the House of Delegates, failed to answer the question.

In most of the counties of the State the answers of both Republican and Democratic candidates were "Yes." Among those who say that they would deny to the people of the State the right of local self government is Senator Arthur P. Gorman, of Howard, who answers with a flat "NO."

Low Tax Rate—High Assessment.

Carroll county Democrats are never weary of harping on their claim that the county has the lowest tax rate in the State, a claim that is less real than apparent. The SENTINEL has frequently shown its fallacy, by contrasting the bases of taxation in the several counties, and too much space would be taken in these columns to repeat the process at length. Let such a contrast between the counties of Carroll and Frederick suffice for the present. By the census of 1900 Carroll county had a population of 38,008 and in 1905 levied a tax of $38,453.24 for State purposes, a fraction over $1.01 per capita. The population of Frederick county, by the census of 1900, was 57,932, and the levy for State purposes $48,080.92, or not quite 83 cents per capita. In many of the counties the difference is much greater than this, showing that the assessment in Carroll is, as a rule, on a higher basis than in most of the counties of the State. This gives an opportunity for a lower rate here for county purposes, but imposes a heavier burden on Carroll county taxpayers for State purposes. After all, paying a premium to the State, for the sake of having a low county tax rate on a high basis of assessment, doesn't put money in the pockets of property owners and isn't anything to boast about.

Another feature of this taxation business and one especially creditable to the Republican party is that the tax on real and tangible personal property is less than it would be if the Republicans had not forced the passage of the reassessment law in 1896, under which certain kinds of property, owned principally by persons in good circumstances, and which had previously escaped the tax-gatherer, have been made to contribute to the support of the State government. This reassessment law had been repeatedly promised by the Democrats and as often failed of passage. Once it was passed by one branch of the legislature and defeated in the other. Another time it passed both houses and was vetoed by a Democratic Governor. Again it was not considered at all, so that for ten years or more the pledges of the Democratic party were boldly broken and it was only when the Republicans succeeded in gaining control of the State government that a just and fair assessment law was passed, to say nothing of the proceedings by which certain corporations were constrained to pay dues to the State which had long been withheld under Democratic rule.

Vote Buyers To Be Punished.

The Anti-Bribery Agreement has been signed by all candidates on both tickets, and by all the members of Central Committees except two or three. Violators of the law will be punished.

Both Democrats and Republicans will look out for violators of the Anti-Bribery Laws
