WESTMINSTER, - MARYLAND.

W. L. W. SEABROOK, WILLIAM L. SEABROOK, } Editors.

Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

FRIDAY, MARCH 6, 1908.

By a vote of 63 to 32 the House of Delegates, on Tuesday, refused to pass an order requiring the Committee on Temperance to report the Local Option bill on Wednesday next. This action is interpreted to mean the ultimate defeat of the measure. Whether this be the proper construction to be placed upon it remains to be seen.

Upon petition of the Bowling Green Trust Co., of New York, Judge Morris of the United States Circuit Court yesterday appointed President Benjamin F. Bush receiver for the Western Maryland Railroad Company. It was alleged that the railroad company will be not able to meet its fixed charges, amounting to $1,000,000, April 1. The answer of the railroad company admitted the truth of the allegation and the appointment of the receiver followed. The company is said to be insolvent. Its property, however, is exceedingly valuable and there is no doubt that its operation will be continued, whatever other effect the appointment of a receiver will have upon its relations with Baltimore and the Wabash system.

To Deport Anarchists.

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Straus has issued a stringent order to all commissionors of immigration and immigrant inspectors to make every possible effort to gain information from the local police and from other sources for the identification of immigrants who are anarchists or criminals, with the view to their deportation. Recent anarchistic crimes and evidences of unusual activity by this class of aliens doubtless prompted this order. About two weeks ago a priest was shot and killed at his church altar, in Denver, Col., while celebrating the Holy Sacrament, by an anarchist who was kneeling with other communicants and who received the consecrated wafer from the man whom he assassinated. A fouler crime is rarely recorded.

On Monday an attempt was made to assassinate Chief of Police Shippy, of Chicago, by an anarchist. The attempt failed but Mr. Shippy's 15-year-old son was shot and fatally wounded and his coachman seriously hurt by shots fired by the chief's assailant. Swift retribution followed the crime in this case, however, as, after a desperate struggle, Mr. Shippy secured a revolver and fired shot after shot into his assailant's body, killing him instantly.

The action of Secretary Straus deserves ample commendation by all law-abiding citizens. There should be no room in this country for men who believe that every man should be a law unto himself and who antagonize all government, even though it be based upon the consent of the great mass of the governed. Men who array themselves against law belong to the criminal classes and, though all anarchists may not be actual assassins, they are always ready to commit murder in the interest of their dangerous doctrines. Strenuous efforts should be made, therefore, to locate all foreigners who entertain anarchistic views and then send them out of the country. The order of Secretary Straus is a step in the right direction and it should not only be rigidly enforced, but be supplemented by such legislation as will make it most effective in ridding the country of the vicious element referred to.

Not Anonymous.

In view of the preamble to the reply of President Lewis to the communication of "J. T. C." in the last issue of the AMERICAN SENTINEL, an editorial word is in place.

Dr. Lewis seems to attach some significance to the fact that the communication appears on the "editorial page." The fact has no significance whatever, but is merely in line with the method of making up our columns, the first page given to miscellany, the third to purely Carroll county news, the fourth to general news and miscellaneous matter, the second to editorials, general news of peculiar interest and communicated articles. In the issue of last week were two other communications than the one in question, all on the editorial page; and Dr. Lewis' reply will be found there today.

Dr. Lewis thinks that the communication should not have been published.

The columns of the press should be open to any reputable citizen, who desires to express his views on any public question, if these views are couched in respectful language. The subject of the communication in question is one of such public interest that discussion of the question involved has been very general and other communications than the one in question have been received by the SENTINEL, that have not been published by reason of the fact that they were either unsigned or phrased in language to which exception might be taken.

Dr. Lewis is of the opinion that if such communication were published, it should "have been required to go out under a name as definite and as responsible at least as the name attacked." The author of the communication did not sign the initials "J. T. C." in order that he might conceal, but for the purpose of revealing, his identity, and it seems to the editors of the SENTINEL passing strange that the president of Western Maryland College was not aware of that identity. The communication of "J. T. C." is addressed "TO THE OFFICIAL GENTLEMEN OF WESTERN MD. COLLEGE," and its author, in requesting its publication, stated to the editors of the SENTINEL that, nearly a week before its publication, he had called on the president of the Board of Trustees of the college and informed him of his purpose to write it and propound the interrogatories therein contained.

Dr. Lewis says: "As to the propriety of endowing free scholarships by the State in its colleges, there is room for honest difference of opinion." And this is, practically, the only question at issue. Certainly, as long as it may be the policy of the State to endow such scholarships and to make provision for the higher education of a limited number of students, Western Maryland College is fully entitled to share, with other colleges of the State, the appropriations necessary to make that policy effective. The college has been eminently successful under the presidency of Dr. Lewis and has done and is doing a good work, which entitles it to the friendly sentiment of our people, that is fully shared by the SENTINEL.

DEATH OF CAPT. WM. L. STORK.

Capt. Wm. Lynch Stork, a prominent citizen of Baltimore and well known in almost every section of this State, died very suddenly at his home last Friday morning, aged about 67 years. Capt. Stork was a son of the late Dr. Theophilus Stork, an eminent Lutheran minister and his mother was a sister of the late Judge John A. Lynch, of Frederick. The late Dr. Charles Stork, for 25 years pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Baltimore, of which Capt. Stork's father was the first pastor, was his brother.

At the beginning of the Civil War Capt Stork was engaged in the book and stationery business in Leesburg, Va., where his uncle, Wm. Lynch, was publishing the leading newspaper of Loudoun county. The sympathies of Mr. Lynch were strongly with the South and he subsequently became an officer in the Confederate Army. He brought his own personal influence to bear upon young Stork to induce him to espouse the Southern cause, and the young man's associates, without exception, pressed him to stand by the South. But his heart and head were so strongly for the Union that at last, to avoid the growing unpleasantness of contending with his relatives and personal friends, he abandoned his business and his stock of merchandise, went to Pennsylvania, and, June 3, 1861, enlisted as a private in the Twenty-seventh Infantry of that State. After several promotions he was commissioned as a captain in the Twenty-ninth Pennsylvania Infantry in February, 1862, and continued in the army till March, 1864, when he resigned and was honorably discharged. He saw much hard service and was in many of the most important battles of the war.

After the war he went to Baltimore and engaged first in the stationery business and then turned his attention to building enterprises, in which he was very successful.

Capt. Stork was a member of the Lutheran Church, of which not only his father and brother, but his grandfather, Michael Stork, were prominent ministers. He was a charter member of Maryland Commandery, Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and vice-president of the Grand Army Club. He was an active, zealous and earnest member of the Young Men's Christian Association of Baltimore and at one time its president. In fact he was a man, in all the walks of life, who commanded the universal respect and esteem of his fellows. It was the privilege of both editors of the SENTINEL to know him intimately and to enjoy his close personal friendship.

Capt. Stork leaves a widow, two sons and three daughters.

COMMUNICATED.

WESTERN MARYLAND COLLEGE.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE AMERICAN SENTINEL:

On your editorial page of the issue of February 28th, you printed a communication to which the letters "J. T. C." were attached, which makes a somewhat indignant and wholly unfriendly attack upon Western Maryland College. This is the first time I have ever been compelled to read in print a word against this institution, and I need not say that I am deeply mortified that that word should have been found in one of our own papers.

I have not been particularly careful to note such things, but I had supposed that an attack such as this, specifically directed by name against a reputable institution or individual, would have been required to go out under a name as definite and as responsible at least as the name attacked. However, that is a matter of opinion. But I am quite sure that no unprejudiced gentleman in Carroll county would think that I am bound to take any notice of an anonymous accusation. Still I am going to make some statements which "J. T. C." may interpret as an answer if he likes, but which are intended to convey information to all who may be interested.

1. All the money received by Western Maryland College from the State of Maryland has been accounted for in annual reports to the Comptroller of the State Treasury; and any person may at any time get full information of the amounts and the purposes for which they have been expended simply by applying to the Comptroller.

2. The State of Maryland has never contributed "large sums of money," nor any sums of money to "the support of Western Maryland College." The history of the appropriations we have received is as follows: In 1878 our representatives asked the Legislature that the free scholarships already provided for should be so divided that instead of being all located at one college, Western Maryland College might have a share of them. The policy of establishing free scholarships was not adopted at our request, nor to help our College. But we thought it fair that a college situated as ours is, in a large and populous district, should share in whatever benefit the State was bestowing on higher education. In this contention we thought we were benefitting our section of the State as well as our College. From that time our College has never received any money from the State except the money paid for the education of students sent here by the State. We do not think this is contributing money to the support of the College in any other sense than our other patrons contribute who send us students, because in all cases we are giving an honest equivalent in return.

3. But even this amount of money the Legislature has not required the tax-payers to contribute. A man who signs himself, "In Behalf of the People," ought to know that the whole State tax in Maryland is devoted to the Public Schools. So that the College has not profited, even in patronage, at the expense of the tax-payers. What we secured from the State in 1878 would now be going into the treasury of another College if we had not asked for a share; and taxation would not have been affected one way or another.

4. As to the propriety of endowing free scholarships by the State in its colleges, there is room for honest difference of opinion. "J. T. C." evidently thinks the State ought not to do it. A great many people do not agree with him. Almost every State in the Union is spending large sums of money in assisting its colleges and universities. The last Legislature in Maryland appropriated $125,700 for this purpose, partly in paying for scholarships, and also in donations. No other State of equal population gives as little as this, and some with smaller population give three or four times as much. Why should not a State assist in promoting the higher education as well as the lower? Can Maryland get along without colleges and college men and women any better than any other State? Can Maryland afford to stop its beneficence with the public school education, while every other State is carrying its men and women on to the higher training of College and University to fit them for the broadest participation and leadership in affairs? Other States are at the expense of sustaining State universities. Maryland chooses the far more economical way of opening a college course to its young people best able to profit by it and least likely to get it, by endowing scholarships in several institutions so located as to be accessible to all sections and to be gained by competitive examination.

5. It is true that Western Maryland College is now asking the Legislature for $50,000, to enable it to erect a much needed building. The justification of this petition is easy and convincing. First, this is the only request of this kind ever made by this college. In the last forty years the college has spent more than $300,000 in buildings and equipment, for which the State has contributed nothing. Secondly, the State has been meanwhile contributing sums of money to other colleges in the State for such purposes; and proposes to continue to do it. Requests for this sort of contribution are now before the Legislature from four other institutions for $240,000. Why should Western Maryland College be censured for setting forth its needs to the Legislature and, for the first time in forty years, asking an outright donation in its time of need; while other institutions doing no better work for the State have been long enjoying this beneficence? And, thirdly, neither the State nor the taxpayer will be the loser by granting the request; but every way the gainer. The taxpayer loses nothing, as I have shown, because his taxes go entirely to another object. The State invests money in the highest good of its young people when it helps its colleges. They should not be pampered; they should not be given money to waste; they should be required to do good work, and better work than they did before receiving the gift. But unless we are ready to say that a college education is a luxury which only the rich are entitled to, and that the State has no business with bringing to flower the genius of its poorest, and opening the way to the highest culture for every boy and girl able to take it; then I cannot see why it may not wisely and righteously extend a helping hand, once in forty years, to an institution that has proved its worth by its work; that has already educated to a greater or less extent more than three thousand young people; that has never made any religious or social or sectional distinctions in conferring its benefits; and that has given Carroll county a richer harvest than all its farms have garnered, and a product more lasting than any of its manufactures. I confidently appeal, therefore, to "J. T. C." and to all other Carroll countians to get behind this request of the College and push it along; for by thus helping us you are helping yourselves.

Colt Show Association.

A meeting of the members of the new Maryland Colt Show Association was held at the Hotel Rennert, Baltimore, on Monday afternoon. From the number of members enrolled happy auguries were drawn of the success of the association. Rules were announced for its spring meetings, the first of which will be held at Prospect Park, June 2-5. By-laws and a constitution were decided upon and the association will be incorporated under the above name. Those present from this county were Messrs. W. H. D. Warfield, of Sykesville, and William Wheeler, of Hampstead. Mr. Warfield was elected as one of the board of governors, and chosen as temporary chairman of the board.

Melrose Items.

Rev. J. B. Snoke, a former pastor of the United Brethren Church of Manchester, now of Des Moines, Iowa, spent a day last week as the guest of Mr. J. B. Lynerd and family, near Manchester.

Mr. Leander Royer and family, of Easton, Va., arrived here last week and he will take charge of his father's farm near here April 1st.

The committee for the new Church at Lineboro reports that preparations for the erection of a modern church building are rapidly progressing, and as soon as the weather is favorable work will be begun in tearing down the old building and erecting the new.

We hear much about the proposed extension of our railroad, but it is only "talk." When substantial evidence is once shown we will help to spread the good news.

Gist Items.

The Ladies' Mite Society will hold its next meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wilson, Thursday, March 10th.

There are quite a number of changes of residences here, this spring. Several are moving this week. Mr. A. J. Wagner has moved from Mr. C. W. Allen's tenant house to his own dwelling which he recently purchased. Mr. G. A. Grau will occupy the house vacated by Mr. Wagner.

Mr. N. G. Pool who is on Mr. A. G. Phillips' farm, has purchased a small farm at Randallstown, Baltimore county, and will move to his new home this week.

Mr. Wm. R. Grimes has rented the farm to be vacated by Mr. Pool, and expects to move in this week.

Messrs. Klee Bros have a very valuable mule sick with pneumonia. Dr. Glenn W. Horner is attending it.

There has been some criticism regarding the Gamber-Gist Items of two weeks ago in reference to Mr. Pennington, a very worthy citizen of Gist. It is a known fact that his neighbors do not let him suffer for want of food when he is sick or well, the only danger to him is that as he is alone he may suffer from the cold in real cold weather, having no one to stay with him.

I had no knowledge of the items referred to until I saw them in print. I notice in last week's SENTINEL that some parties have used very strong language against the writer of the items, such that the SENTINEL Co., could not print them. Its well to keep cool, even in winter.

DIED.

SHIPLEY.—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, Gordon H. Shipley, who departed this life two years ago, March 9th, 1906.

Oh, Gordon, could you speak to us,
And could you live again,
Our aching hearts would then be healed;
But this we wish in vain.

Oft we wander to the graveyard,
Flowers to strew with tender care;
And though, his face no more we see,
He never will forgotton be.

By his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Columbus A. Shipley.

Oh, the memory of that evening
As we stood with breaking hearts,
Seeing the one we loved so dearly
Pierced by death's most evil dart.
A bitter cup, a shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
