Tuesday last the supper and entertainment held by the Christian Endeavor Society of St. Paul's Reformed church, this city, was well patronized despite the inclement weather. Dr. C. E. Roth, of Reading, Pa., delivered an address on "Young People's Work."

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Oursler and son Robert are domiciled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Stoner, this city. Mr. Oursler has charge of the convicts employed by Messrs. Thomas, Bennett, and Hunter, contractors of this city, who are building state roads in this county.

It was demonstrated very soon that he had a talent for business as well as music. When Miller Brothers went out of business Prof. Morelock accepted a position with Wentz Brothers and Frey, proprietors of a large department store, in Hanover, Pa., where he remained a short time.

Music was his leading talent. He was obsessed with it. Hanover and vicinity, with many musical organizations and many musicians, offered a fertile field in which to display and develop musical talents. Realizing the advantages with which he was surrounded Prof. Morelock quit the dry goods business and devoted the rest of his life to teaching, at which he became eminently successful.

While residing in Westminster he was the leader of the First Maryland Infantry Band and went with the regiment to the Texas border, at the time of the Mexican trouble. While in Hanover he became the teacher of bands in that town and in several towns nearby, but during the last few years he taught privately and was the leader of the Hanover Boys' Band.

R. L. DOLLINGS TO PAY 20 CENTS ON DOLLAR

Wednesday by a decision of Judge Dickinson of the U. S. District Court at Philadelphia, Pa., stockholders of the R. L. Dollings Company of Pennsylvania will receive a dividend of 20 cents on the dollar. The court disallowed the claims of the International Note and Mortgage Company for $519,383, and of the Crane Ice Cream Company of Pennsylvania for $97,122. These claims would have wiped out the funds in the hands of the Dollings receiver.

Following an attack of tonsilitis, Miss Evelyn Stem, daughter of Mrs. Elsie Stem, this city, is ill at her home with inflamatory rheumatism.
