then will be the day and the hour. If it has not—if our rights are yet secure—we cannot be justified.

"Has the time come? If it has, the people who have to bear the burdens of revolution must themselves effect the work.

"I trust the gloom which now hangs over the land will soon be dispelled. Now is the time for the patriot to come forth and consider what is to be gained by a change. We are called upon to desert the gallant thousands who for years have been fighting our battles against fanaticism in the North. Heretofore they have aided us to conquer, and we have been willing to abide with them. Now, after a struggle more glorious than any they yet have made, they been driven. They still offer us the guarantee, of the constitution, and are ready to battle with us in its defence. Let true men, all over Texas and the South, see to it that we leave them not without a cause.

"I cannot believe that we can find at present more safety out of the Union than in it. Yet I believe it due the people that they should know where they stand. Mr. Lincoln has been elected on a sectional issue. If he expects to mantain that sectional issue during his administration, it's well we should know it. If he intends to administer the government with equality and fairness, we should know that. Let us wait and see."

SUFFERING IN THE SOUTH.—The distress consequent upon the troubled state of our national affairs is not confined to any one section of the Union, as will appear from the following paragraph from the Atlanta (Ga.) Locomotive of last week:—"Never before have there been so many laborers thrown out of employment in Atlanta as at this time. Most of the carpenters are idle, (the improvements being all discontinued,) and many of them have large families depending upon them for bread and they can get no work. There is indeed a great deal of suffering among the laboring classes in our midst, and we think something should be done for them."

CONVENTION OF SOUTHERN SENATORS.—Washington, Dec. 8.—The Senators of the slaveholding State are in conference, to-day, at the Capitol, with reference, to the political state of the country. The meeting is without respect to party.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Evening.—No question requiring formal action was presented at the caucus of Southern Senators to-day.

There was a mere interchange of views, and the practicability of several suggestions—among them one for the calling of a Convention of the Southern States—was discussed.

Although a good feeling prevailed, there were no indications whatever to lead to the belief that there will be harmonious action among these States.

After three hours' Session the caucus adjourned without reference to a future meeting.

The Tribune for 1861.

Prospectus.

THE XXth Volume of THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE commenced with the issue of September 1. During the past year the Tribune has been obliged to devote quite a large proportion of its space to Politics, but we shall soon be able to forego Political discussion almost entirely, for months if not for years, and devote nearly all our colums to subjects of less intense, but more abiding, interest. Among these, we mean to pay especial attention to

1. EDUCATION.—The whole subject of Education both Popular and General, will be discussed in our columns throughout the year 1861, and we hope to enlist in that discussion some of the profoundest thinkers and the ablest instructors in our country. It is at once our hope resolve that the cause of Education shall receive an impetus from the exertions of the Tribune in its behalf during the year 1861.

2.—AGRICULTURE.—We have been compelled to restrict our elucidations of this great interest throughout 1860, and shall endeavor to atone therefor in 1861. Whatever discovery, deduction, demonstration, is calculated to render the reward of labor devoted to cultivation more ample or more certain, shall receive promt and full attention.

3.—MANUFACTURES, &c.—We hail every invention or enterprise whereby American Capital and Labor are attracted to and advantageously employed in any department of Manufacturing or Mechanical Industry and real contribution of the Public Weal, insuring ampler, steadier, more convenient, more convenient, more remunerating markets to the Farmer, with fuller employment and better wages to the Laborer. The Progress of Mining, Iron-making, Steel-making, Cloth-weaving, &c., &c., in our country, and the world, whall be watched and reported by us with an earnest and active sympathy.

4.—FOREIGN AFFAIRS.—We employ the best correspondents in London, Paris, Turin, Berlin, and other European capitals to transmit us early and accurate advices of the great changes there silently but certainly preparing.—In spite of the pressure of Domestic Politics, our News from the Old World is now varied and ample; but we shall have to render it more perfect during the eventful year just before us.

5.—HOME NEWS.—We employ regular paid correspondents in California, at the Isthmus of Darien, in the Rocky Mountain Gold Region, and wherever else they seem requisite. From the more accessible portions of our own country, we derive our information mainly from the multifarious correspondents of the Associated Press, from our exchanges, and the occasional letters of intelligent friends. We aim to print the cheapest general newspaper, with the fullest and most authentic summary of useful intelligence that is anywhere afforded. Hoping to make each day a critic on the last," and print a better and better paper from year to year, as our means are steadily enlarged through the generous cooperation of our many well-wishers, we solicit and shall labor to deserve a continuance of public favor

The greatest destinguishing features of the "Newspaper," are Utility, Information and Variety: an Agricultural Department, a Department of Science and Art, with a Little Space for Wit and Humor.

The story department is made up almost wholly of Original Stories, from the best authors, the prompt and liberal payment can draw to its columns. No other family paper pays out more for original reading, and, as may be naturally supposed, no other paper publishes more or better story reading.

The Agricultural department each week occupies some three of the long columns of the Newspaper, and is a most interesting feature of the paper being wholly original, and comprising the best variety for the Farmer and Land Owner, the Horticulturist and Gardner, the Dairyman and Arboriculturan, the Grazier and Breeder, and for all who are interested in the Poultry Yard, Natural History, Rural Architecture, Agricultural Shows, and Implements and plants, as well as for the home and the fireside, Science and the Mechanic Arts. Under this head may be weekly found articles devoted to Mechanical and Chemical Arts, Patents, Inventions, Improvements in Machinery, Engineering, &c., the aim being to present all matter discussed, in a plain and popular form.—Literary Letters, &c. From writers in the country we have weekly letters, descriptive of the resources, character and habits of the people in various sections of the Union. Letters from Washington, the political movements of parties, letters from New York, of the business doings of that Commercial centre, will be continued, and in the midst of a great Presidential canvass, as the country is, these letters will have especial interest.

The News and Market Reports. In offices, machinery and other facilities for printing a Family Paper the Dollar Newspaper is unsurpassed. With monster machines capable of printing 15,000 copies per hour, its columns can be kept open for news to within a few hours of the time of publication. It is thus enabled to publish the latest and most reliable market reports.
