AMERICAN SENTINEL.

WESTMINSTER, - MARYLAND.

JOS. D. BROOKS, Editor.

Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

FRIDAY, MARCH 4, 1910.

If you are opposed to a bond issue write to the members of the legislature from this county and tell them so. Kill the beast while it is "aborning."

The advocates of a bond issue seem to have some trouble getting that bill in shape. Every time the committee meets at the office of the Democratic Advocate more opposition manifests itself.

If the people of this county are eventually forced to vote on the question of issuing bonds some people we know of who are nursing political ambitions will wish they had never been born into political life. Popular issues have carried many ordinary men into high positions while unpopular ones have buried in political graves some of the best men that ever lived.

The farmers of this county are about getting on their feet after a period of nearly twenty years of adversity and we think they would be foolish indeed to place a mortgage, for all times to come, upon the property they have worked so hard to own, free of indebtedness, in order to enjoy ? hard stone roads for a few months in the year. Twenty years ago their ancestors were being sold out for debt and everything a farmer bought in those days was paid for in notes and when the notes became due they had to renew them. Now the banks of the county are full of money, although we now have twelve more banks than we had twenty years ago, and the farmers pay cash, or the equivalent, for nearly everything they buy.

If a shrewd business man contracts a debt he has always calculated for the payment of it within a certain period, but the foolish business man will make a debt for something he can very well do without with no thought about the means to meet it at maturity.

The payment of a bonded indebtedness never has been and never will be paid off in the manner its advocates promised, because long before the maturity of the same the advocates are either dead or out of office and a new set of officials, who take very little interest in the matter, are in control and so the debt hangs on and the tax rate keeps getting higher and higher.

Do the farmers of this county really need hard stone roads? Is it not a fact that for about 10 months in the year the roads are pretty good for all practical purposes?

Does not the farmer haul his grain and other produce to the market either before the roads become muddy or after they have dried up in the spring? We all know that the fellows who are cutting down the timber of this county and taking the money out of it are crying for stone roads because they push their business during the winter and then cut our roads up in the spring. When they have cut down all of the timber they then move to some other county. Do the farmers feel like paying interest on bonds to give such people hard roads? They pay very little, if any, taxes and leave the county poorer than they found it.

Do the farmers feel like paying higher taxes in order to give hard roads to the huckster who travel the roads in winter or to the mail carrier? Is the convenience of the huckster or the delivery of mail of such great value to the farmers that they would be willing to place a mortgage upon their property in order to get a few letters and a daily paper a little quicker and with less inconvenience to the mail carrier?

We have been told by the advocates of the proposed bond issue that if the roads were all piked the farmers would not be required to keep as many horses in order to do their work. Do the farmers living on the present turnpikes keep less horses than the ones living on the dirt roads? Is not the question of the number of horses kept by a farmer governed entirely by the number of acres and the character of the land he farms?

If what we have said is true, or if any part of it is true, how can the farmers be benefitted by a bond issue? If the farmers are not to be benefitted then why should they be asked to place an irredeemable mortgage upon their farms in order to afford pleasure to others?

Facing death from shot and shell in the civil war was more agreeable to J. A. Stone, of Kemp, Tex., than facing it from what doctors said was consumption. "I contracted a stubborn cold" he writes, "that developed a cough, that stuck to me in spite of all remedies for years. My weight ran down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. I now weigh 178 pounds." IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of my beloved mother, Mary C. Stoner, who departed this life February 22rd, 1909.

Dear mother, thy sufferings have been ours!
Thy pains have been our grief,
But now in angels' love divine
Thy soul has found relief.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear father, Lewis C. Franklin, who died one year ago, Saturday, February 26th, 1909.

Think not dear father, thou art forgotten.
For by me thou shall never be;
As long as breath shall warm my frame,
My thoughts will be of thee.

Oh, father dear, I love you so,
How sad it was to part,
One dear thought of your sweet face
Will cause the tears to start.

Resolutions of Respect on the death of Frederick Hull.

At the regular meeting of Medford Grange No. 188 Patrons of Husbandry, held on February 16th, 1910, a motion was adopted, appointing a committee to draft resolutions of respect in memory of Brother Frederick Hull.

Whereas: It has pleased Almighty God, in his infant wisdom, to remove from our ranks our esteemed brother, Frederick Hull, who had for years been a member of the order.

Resolved: That we, his fraternal associates, bow in humble recognition of Gods will yet we deeply feel the loss of his presence and that a useful life has ended with the termination of his earthly career.

Resolved: That we sincerely condole with the family in their sad afflictions and commend them for consolation to Him who orders all things for the best.

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family of the deceased brother, that a copy be spread upon the minutes of the Grange and that they be published in the Sentinel.
