THE ELECTION.

The result of the election in this county was very much a surprise to both the Republicans and Democrats. The former were surprised that but one of their candidates should be elected,and the Democrats were surprised at the large majority given for their State ticket which carries with it the election of all of their candidates but one. The returns show that the Republicans made an excellent poll, and with the usual normal Democratic majority of from 100 to 150, would have elected at least one half of their ticket. By a comparsion of the vote for the different candidates with the vote cast for State ticket it will be will be seen that most of them are ahead of the State ticket., and also that the Republicans are farther ahead of their State ticket than the Democrats.

It is hardly necessary to relate the causes for the defeat. The Republicans have nothing to regret. Every candidate made a fine showing, and everyone conversant with Democratic methods knows how the victory was wor. The election was an important one and it was necessary that the candidates be elected no matter what the cost.

We give the returns as nearly correct as we can get them in tabulated form elsewhere.

THE President's remarks at the unveiling ceremony of General Sherman's equestrian statue in front of the Treasury at Washington were, as usual on such occasions, brimful of patriotism, coupled with sound common sense. He paid a high tribute to the leaders and to the men of the greatest war in modern history. The Sherman monument is a splendid work of bronze and the stern soldier-statesman overlooks the seat of operations, later in history, of his peace loving brother as the greatest modern Secretary of the Treasury.

THE smokers of the country will be perhaps interested in the announcement that Professor Langley expects to perfect his aerial navigator, in spite of his recent aqueous encounter, to such an extent that it will be possible to land all Havana cigars in this country without the knowledge of the custom officials.

THE threat of the labor unions to withdraw savings bank deposits from the various institutions of the country to the amount of $300,000,000 gives us an idea of what some of these workingmen have been doing in these piping times of peace and prosperity.

THE price of beef will again shortly soar skyward. The beef trust realizes that the drowning of four cows by the recent New Jersey floods offers an exceptional opportunity for an advance in prices.

THE New York Press makes the sweeping statement that "Tammany cannot be honest." How does the Press know? Can it show that Tammany has ever tried?

THE newspaper have sort of dropped Bryan during the last two weeks. It is up to the Nebraskan to buy another heifer, or at least a blooded shoat.

Homeseekers' Excursion to Florida.

For the benefit of homeseekers, the various railroads to Florida will sell on November 11 special excursion tickets from Washington to the following points at rates quoted:—

Sarasota,	Fla.	$30 05
Braidentown,	"	29 70
Ellenton,	"	29 70
Palmetto,	"	29 70
Manatee,	"	29 70
Punta Gorda,	"	30 90
Arcadia,	"	30 15

These tickets will be good on November 11 only, and to return within fifteen days, and will not be good to stop off in either direction.

In connection with these excursions, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell one-way tickets to Washington, at regular rates, from all stations on its lines east of Pittsburg and Erie, together with exchange orders on the railroads out of Washington for an excursion ticket from Washington to the above-mentioned points at rates quoted.

HAVE YOU HEARD OF THE LION'S MOUTH

The Old Venetian Idea is Adapted by a Progressive American Newspaper to Meet Modern Requirements.

Collier's Weekly is conducting a very novel and interesting competition for its readers each month. To enter the contest all one has to do is to review the issues of Collier's for the current month and answer the two or three questions which are printed in each issue, giving such opinion and such suggestions as will aid in improving the paper. Collier's aims in this way to secure the assistance of every one of its readers in making the paper more to their liking. Every reader, in fact, becomes one of the editors and has his voice in building the greatest illustrated journal of the age.

The first prize each month, awarded for the most helpful suggestion, is $50 in cash, with a second prize of $25 in cash, and eighteen other prizes of sets of books, ranging in value from $32 down to $5, making in all $329 of value given in prizes each month. There are, in addition, cumulative cash prizes, for those who win prizes in successive months, and a big cash prize of $1,000 for the most valuable suggestions during 1903.

For the convenience of intending contestants who can not be promptly supplied by newsdealers, all the copies of Collier's for the current month will be sent postpaid, together with a handsome proof of a drawing by Charles Dana Gibson, upon receipt of 40 cents in stamps addressed to The Lion's Mouth, Collier's Weekly, 436 West 13th Street, New York. A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I began down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, healthy strength." Sold by Hugh Duffy, Hillsboro.

EQUINE JEALOUSY.

How a Trainer Was Led to Develop a Pair of Boxing Horses.

A. B. Powell, the veteran trainer of horses, who after two patient years actually taught two horses to stand up on their hind legs and box with the gloves on, declares that not only are horses jealous, but that it was the outcome of an incident arising from the feelings which the green eyed monster is reputed to inspire which led him to believe he had found a pair of boxing horses.

One of the horses was a thoroughbred Arab, known as Cigarette, and the other a dun horse of Turkish breed called Charley, and a writer in the Windsor Magazine thus describes the incident:

"In the earlier days of Charley's connection with circus life he was presented with a very handsome saddle for use in a certain act. Now, it happened on one occasion that it was found necessary to remove this saddle from the back of the Turkish bred animal and place it upon the jet black Cigarette.

"Later on in the evening a tremendous row was heard in the neighborhood of the stalls where the two animals had been stabled side by side. Some of the attendants ran to see what was up. They found that Cigarette and Charley had broken loose and were practically 'in grips'—kicking, plunging and stamping upon each other.

"When Mr. Powell arrived on the scene the two animals were standing on their hind legs in the regular pugilistic attitude and endeavoring to exchange terrific blows on head and body. They were quickly separated, but the astute trainer had taken his cue, and next day he began to give the horses their first real lessons in boxing."—London Express.

The Tipperary Rifle.

The shillalah, or the Tipperary rifle, as it is called in the south of Ireland, is not a mere stick picked up for a few pence or cut casually out of the common hedge. It grows to maturity under the fostering care of its owner.

The shillalah, like the poet, is born, not made. Like the poet, too, it is a choice plant, and its growth is slow.

Among 10,000 blackthorn shoots perhaps not more than one is destined to become famous, but one of the 10,000 appears of singular fitness. As soon as discovered it is marked and dedicated for future service. Everything that might hinder its development is removed, and any offshoot of the main stem is skillfully cut off.

With constant care it grows thick and strong upon a bulbous root that can be shaped into a handle. The real shillalah is not more than a foot and a half long, while the knob should be about as large as a big man's fist.

The best shillalahs can easily be told by the three sprigs which grow from each offshoot of the main stick.—London Answers.

Thought It Was a Cure.

A parish beadle was once much exercised at the appearance of a strange old gentleman who when the sermon was about to begin took an ear trumpet, in two parts, out of his pocket and began screwing them together. The beadle watched him till the process was completed and then, going stealthily up, whispered:

"Ye mauna play that here. If ye dae, I'll turn ye oot."—London Tit-Bits.

Laying the Board.

"Laying the board" for an Anglo-Saxon banquet was something of a solemn function. The usual hour was noon, and after it was over the tables were removed and the diners went, as an old chronicler observes, "to their cups, to which the English were too much accustomed." Evidently the rule that the guests were not to bring their arms into the hall, but leave them outside with the porter, was no unnecessary one.

GRADUAL DECLINE

This is the fate of sufferers from Kidney trouble, as the disease is so insiduous that often people have serious Kidney trouble without knowing the real cause of their illness, as diseased kidneys allow the impurities to stay in the system and attack the other organs. This accounts for the many different symptoms of Kidney Disease.

You begin to feel better at once when taking as it stimulates the heart, increases the circulation and invigorates the whole system. It strengthens the urinary organs and gives you new life and vigor.

The doctor thought I had stomach and liver trouble, but I became convinced that my kidneys were the cause of my ill health and commenced taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE. It increased my appetite and made me feel stronger, and the annoying symptoms disappeared. I am now sound and well.—J. K. Horn, 1354 Diversey Blvd., Chicago. June 11, 1902.

Cured His Wife

E. C. Watkins, sexton of the Methodist Church, Springfield, Pa., writes: "My wife has been very bad with kidney trouble and tried several doctors without benefit. After taking one bottle of FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE was much better, and was completely cured after taking four bottles."

One Bottle Cured Him

A. H. Davis, Mt. Sterling, Ia., writes: "I was troubled with kidney complaint for about two years, but a one-dollar bottle of FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE effected a permanent cure."
