SAD ENDING OF A PLEASURE TRIP

A very serious accident happened on Sunday morning last when Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt, and son Carroll, who was driving the machine, and daughters, Mabel and Ellen, and Mr. Geo. Hottman, of near Manchester, were riding in a new Buick car, on their first long trip, on Sunday last, were crashed into at the intersection of the Sykesville and Frederick pikes at West Friendship, by a large car in which were a party from New York, going at very high rate of speed.

Mr. Carroll Hunt was warned by his father to be very careful at this point of the road, as it was known to be very dangerous, and, accordingly, young Hunt took every precaution, blowing his horn, slowing down, and keeping to the right on the turn.

Mrs. Hunt who was sitting on the rear seat on the side struck by the New York car, said that she saw a large car coming towards them at terrific speed; this car first veered to the right and then suddenly turned to the left and crashed into the front end of their car. None of the occupants remember anything after this as they were thrown out of their car and picked up unconscious.

The smaller car was turned completely around by the impact. It looks as if the accident could have been avoided if the chauffeur of the New York car had kept to the right side of the road as the pike is very wide at this point and ample room to pass, as Mr. Hunt's car was nearly straight in the road. The shock was so terrific that it shook the buildings near the scene of the accident and immediately drew a large crowd to the scene of the collision who were kind enough to give valuable assistance to the injured.

Immediately after the collision the car burst into flames and was practically destroyed. On account of the wreck being a menace to travel it was removed in C. E. Wampler's truck, on Tuesday to Westminster and is now in the rear of J. N. Corbin's furniture store on Liberty St.

Neither car was overturned. The New York car was raised and taken to Baltimore where it was examined and found to be damaged to the extent of about $1500.

The insurance on the burnt car was carried by Stoner and Hobby, of this city.

Those in the Hunt car were assisted to the home of Thomas Cross, at West Friendship, and there treated by Dr. John W. Hebb. It was found that Mrs. John Hunt and Hoffman were the only occupants of the car seriously injured, but all sustained severe cuts and bruises.

Mr. Hoffman sustained a compound fracture of the leg, it is feared his knee cap is broken, which may leave him permanently injured, and internal injuries in the chest. He is now at the University Hospital, and, although his condition is serious, it is not critical.

Mrs. Hunt was badly cut about the face and body, and probably sustained internal injuries. She was kept at the Cross home until Sunday afternoon when she and the other members of the family were taken to her home, the ambulance passed through this city.

The other car was owned by H. W. Bennett, 15 Broad street, New York. Mr. Bennett, his chauffeur, Thomas D. Coughlan, and three other persons were in this machine. One of these, Miss Blanche Bennett, 16 years old, 301 West 106th street, New York, was slightly cut on the forehead and treated later at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

The Hunt party were traveling along in a leisurely manner, having started from their home in the early hours of the morning, to enjoy a stay of several hours in Baltimore. Mrs. Hunt had planned to stay a week with friends, and Mrs. Hoffman, who had been in Baltimore was to return in the car.

The impetus of the New York car was so great that it crashed through a rail fence, a barbed wire fence and then went down a 15-foot embankment. The car held its balance through all of this, however, and none of the occupants were thrown out. As the machine hit the ground at the foot of the embankment, however, one wheel was torn off. The sides of the car and the windshield were badly damagd when the machine crashed through the fences.

All of the injured are doing as well as can be expected and have the sympathy of the community, for the sad ending of their pleasure trip.

ANOTHER KEY CELEBRATION

On Saturday, June 10th, the State Camp of the Patriotic Order Sons of America will finish the work begun last year in marking historic spots at Keysville. Then there was dedicated a handsome marble monument on the farm of Peter Baumgardner, the birthplace of Francis Scott Key. On June 10th a tablet will be placed on the church property at Keysville, donated by Key in 1828 for church and school purposes. The tablet will be of gray marble, sand finish, with the inscription "Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner" donated this ground for church and school use, in 1828. Erected by the P. O. S. of A. of Md." At the same time a flag pole will be erected in front of the Keysville school. It will be of steel, 36 feet in height, and will be kept supplied indefinitely with a flag to be kept afloat during the school term, with the pupils as a guard of honor.

The exercises attending the unveiling of the tablet and presentation of the flag will take place at two o'clock in the afternoon. Preston B. Englar, chairman of the monument committee will preside. The flag will be presented to the school by State Secretary W. J. Carter. The address at the unveiling of the tablet and its presentation to the trustees of the church will be made by past State President William L. Seabrook. Miss Baumgardner, the teacher of the school is arranging an interesting program to be rendered by the pupils.

State Secretary Wm. James Heaps, and others will deliver addresses. Although the event cannot awaken as much interest as did the monument unveiling last year, a large crowd is expected to be present.

Memorial Day at Westminster

Memorial Day in Westminster passed off without a break in the program as published last week, and although the weather was threatening all day, the Opera House was crowded to its fullest capacity, every seat being occupied, and many standing. On the stage, the four draped chairs, with the names Stansbury, Shipley, Holtz and Billingslea, reminded us that four comrades have dropped out of the ranks during the past year, and that the Grand Army of the Republic will before many years have passed be only a sacred memory.

As the name of each was called and his record read, four members of the Boy Scouts in uniform stepped forward and laid a bunch of white flowers on each chair and stood at attention until taps were sounded by Bugler Earle Brown, and the first part of the program concluded. The Scouts were, Terry Crawford, Theodore Derr, LeRoy Smeak and William Townshend.

On the stage in addition to the choir and those who took part in the program, were: Post Commander Jas. S. Baer, Adjutant John H. Mitten, and Past Com.-in-Chief, John R. King, G. A. R. and Major Butts, of Washington, D. C.

The choir under direction and leadership of Mrs. H. M. Kimmey, rendered Kipling's "Recessional" splendidly, the solo part being taken by Mr. J. Smith Billingslea in fine style.

Miss Dorothy Elderdice, who gave Lincoln and Lee," Mr. W. E. Matthews of Sellersville, Pa., "My Father was a Soldier," and Mr. Guy Leister of Western Maryland College, "Lincoln's address at Gettysburg, all received well merited applause, while the music by the Boy Scout Band with its response by the fife and drum corps, rendering alternately "Dixie," Yankee Doodle," "Maryland" and the Girl I left behind me," reminded the old soldiers of the days when they swapped tobacco and coffee across the river, and "Yanks" and "Johnny Rebs," sang their songs in response to each other

The great feature of the program, which was unanimously conceded to be the best ever given, was the magnificent address of Rev. Carleton Barnwell, Rector of Ascension Episcopal church which received the closest attention from the beginning to its close. Past Commander-in-chief, John R. King, broke his record of declining to make a speech, by saying that his coming to Westminster on Memorial Day was always with the distinct understanding that he should not be asked to speak, but that he could not refrain from congratulating us on having such a splendid address, which he hoped would be published so that all who were not fortunate as to be present and hear it could read it.

The program as rendered was as follows:

The music was by a select choir under the leadership of Mrs. H. M. Kimmey. The children were in charge of Mrs. Mary B. Shellman, assisted by Boy Scouts

Before the services the graves in the cemetery were decorated with flowers, and the ritual of the G. A. R. was read at the Urn in the center of the Cemetery which was draped with a large American flag, and two white ribbons bearing the words "Reunited" One Country, One Language, One Flag." The Boy Scout Band played "Nearer My God to Thee" and Bugler Earl Brown sounded "Taps". The parade was led by the Boy Scout Band, and the children were led by Miss Mary B. Shellman, assisted by Misses Helen and Lillian Townshend, Elizabeth Wampler and members of the Boy Scouts who served as marshals. Master Joseph Mathias in policeman's uniform, Master Henry Kimmey as a Scout, and Master Sterling Evans as a Cowboy marched at the head of the line and attracted much attention while the Camp Fire Girls in full costume formed an attractive feature marching behind the children.

The Junior Order fife and drum corps led the veterans and as they marched through the open ranks of the children every child saluted.

The small number of old soldiers able to make even this short march brought tears to the eyes of the many people assembled along the line. Thanks are due Miss Mary B. Shellman, who was, as usual, the prime mover in the day's program, Reese & Samois for the use of the Opera House, Master Harvey Shipley for valuable services in arranging the stage, to the "Sentinel" for printing programs, and names for the chairs, and to all who contributed so much toward making Memorial Day 1916 one of the best, and one that was free from anything that would detract from or mar its sacredness or the spirit of the day.

Co. H Camps at Avondale

Following the procedure of last year Company H left their armory Saturday evening to camp in the meadow of one of the Shriver farms, tenanted by John Gahl, at Avondale.

There were about 45 members of the company under command of Capt. John N. Weigle and Lieut. H. G Dewey, who had returned from a short stay at Saunders range, Glen Burnie, earlier in the afternoon, who marched to the camp. The company baggage wagon was used for the first time.

When the company reached the meadow they pitched their tents and amused themselves in various ways, some lounged around the camp while others went to the festival which was in progress at Stone Chapel.

They breakfasted in the morning about 6 o'clock and ate a breakfast of ham and eggs, prepared by cooks Bowers, Bitzel and Bixler.

After breakfast they were put through an exercise drill by Capt. Weigle. Later in the morning they were again put through a drill.

The Boy Scout Band, accompanied by S. M., C. E. Forlines and director Mr. Charles J. Peltz, arrived shortly before 12 o'clock and wer entertained at dinner by the company.

After dinner the band gave a concert and at 2 P. M., participated in a drill with the company.

Mr. Beacham gave to each member of the company and band all the milk they wanted. Lieut. Berwager delivered a short address thanking Mr. Beacham and Mr. Gahl for their courteous treatment. Then they returned to the camp ground and broke camp for their return home, taking refuge in Mr. Gahl's barn from the rain storm which commenced at that time and lasted about an hour.

After the storm they started for the armory which they reached about 5.30.

Rev. Carleton Barnwell, rector of Ascension Episcopal church, was to have had religious service, but on account of the shower it had to be disposed with.

There were a large number of visitors at the camp.

This camp is held each year preparatory to the annual camp of the regiment which will take place in the latter part of July.

This year the duration of the camp will be about ten days, two of which will be spent in rifle practice at Saunder's range, Glen Burnie, and the remainder of the time will be spent under instruction of officers of the regular army at Laurel.
