The W. C. T. U., of Kent county, request that the Sunday schools and churches of the county direct the people's attention to the evils of cigarette smoking. The following incident is to the point:

A school teacher out in the Sixth district writes: "On last Tuesday one of my boys came to school with two packages of cigarette paper. We put them in a pint bottle and then nearly filled it with water, by Thursday it was so thick that the liquid would hardly run out of the bottle. The boys caught a mouse and gave him about a third of a teaspoonful. He never lived to leave the boy's hands. The boys were convinced that it was poisonous, but the girls declared that the boys squeezed the mouse so hard that it died. So on Friday the boys came to school with three sparrows and two mice. We took them one at a time and gave them a third of a teaspoonful. The birds flew around the room a short time and then fell helpless to the floor and died in ten minutes. They seemed to be in awful pain. The mice ran around the room as if nothing had gone wrong for a while, then fell in a fit from which they never recovered."

Sunday next is known as anti-cigarrette day among White Ribboners.

Widening Chester Draw.—Mr. Chas. W. Clements, of Crumpton, was before the Kent county commissioners on Tuesday last advocating the widening of the Chester River draw at Chestertown. Mr. Clements says he is backed by all the people in the upper section of Kent and Queen Anne's counties and by the Merchants & Manufacturers Association of Baltimore. Mr. Clements gave some strong arguments for the improvements which will enable the steamer Love Point to run to Crumpton. The Md., Del. & Va. Railway Co. say they will run a boat to Crumpton if the draw is widened. The Kent and Queen Anne's Commissioners will have a joint meeting at Crumpton in about two weeks when this question will be discussed.

MR. WM. A. BELL, of Chestertown, was thrown from his sulky yesterday morning while speeding his horse at a 2.40 clip, cut his eye and was otherwise shaken up. Dr. Simmons attended him.

Save Money On Summer Goods At Baltimore's Best Store.

The continued hot weather has brought home to people everywhere the fact that the getting of summer goods for wear and household use cannot comfortably be put off any longer.

Naturally, everybody who has to get anything wants to get it where satisfaction is certain, and where prices are lowest for the quality.

A great many thousands of people know that the best place to go—or send—is Hochschild, Kohn & Co.'s, Baltimore, and the store therefore does a volume of business that is little short of wonderful.

Our readers will surely serve themselves well by depending on Hochschild, Kohn & Co. for whatever they want that the big store sells. You can have your money back if anything you get there does not come up to your expectations in every way.

ROCK HALL ITEMS

The hot weather of last week brought the ice man into great prominence in this section. Mr. M. Alexander is making daily delivery of ice which the citizens of this place highly appreciate.

Summer boarders. Many of them are also among us as a consequence of the warm weather.

The high temperature and humidity, together with the re-opening of Clayton's meat store by Mr. Frank Wheatley has given a little respite to A. Casey & Co. in their meat and produce business. They have been hard pressed for some time in meeting the demands of the public in meat supplies.

Mr. Geo. Colyer has joined the gasoline fleet in our harbors. He has just equipped one of his canoes with gasoline power and proposes to take life a little (?) easier, but Norris just can't see it that way, he is still in a rush.

Mr. J. M. Collison is treating his dwelling to a brand new coat of robin egg blue paint with trimmings to match, and himself to a package of clean, sweet Spanish filled cigars while he applies the paint.

A Mr. Snyder of Oklahoma City, Okla., addressed an audience on Monday night on the subject of the Socialism doctrine. His talk was quite interesting, and he made many telling hits that every one of his hearers knew to be true, but it is hardly possible that Socialism is the Moses to lead the country out of the wilderness of political corruption. Mr. B. H. Coburn presided at the meet, and introduced the speaker with enthusiasm.

Last week proved to be a week of good luck to the purse net fishermen, from 200 all the way to 1200 bunches of rock fish were caught to the boat. One crew had 200 single rock which measured two and a half feet each. One Crew, Capt. G. T. Sewell, failed to get home on Saturday but it is thought that he was one of the lucky ones as it is known that he made several trips to the city. Fish prices, however, took a tumble from 17 to 6 cents a pound.

Mrs. Miller, proprietress of Hotel Miller, widow of Wm. Miller, was stricken with paralysis on Sunday and lingered until Tuesday afternoon when she died, aged 56. Thus another most estimable and christian lady has gone before. She leaves eight grandchildren. Her funeral took place Thursday and was largely attended by relatives and friends from various parts of the county. Her pastor Mr. Burr, conducted the service and funeral director Casey had charge of the arrangements. Interment in Wesleyan cemetery.

Bessie, the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rosenstiene, while playing along the beach with two other tots, got out too far from the shore at Tolchester on Sunday and but for the heroic effort of Miss Ella Ryan who waded out after her would no doubt have been drowned. Miss Ryan succeeded in rescuing the child safely and placed her in the arms of her mother.

STILL POND NOTES.

Misses Avis Dodd and Inez Russell, of Chestertown, have been the guests of Miss Katherine Howard the past week.

Miss Lelius Walters is visiting friends in Brooklyn.

Misses Bertha and Alta Price spent several days of the past week with their grandparents at Betterton.

Mrs. Samuel Coleman and daughter, Miss Pearl, have returned home after spending several months in Baltimore.

Mrs. James Warren and Mrs. Charles Severson visited relatives near Rock Hall on Sunday.

Rev. W. G. Koons, our Presiding Elder, preached an interesting and very helpful sermon in our church last Sunday evening to the largest audience that has ever greeted him here during his work as an elder. He was so happy to see so many present he said he felt that he did not want to close the service and he had the large congregation sing again and again the chorus of a familiar hymn. The quarterly love feast preceded the preaching service in which many took part. It was a most blessed service.

Don't fail to be present at church next Sunday. Our pastor's subject in the morning "The Easy Yoke." In the evening a special service subject "A Glance at our National Beginning and Some Lessons From Them." Also at this service Master Leslie Schofield will repeat his solo which he sang at the Children's Day service. Also others who took part in that service will be asked to assist in the service Sunday evening. A part of this service will be in observance of the "Stainless Flag Sunday." Special singing.

The Official board will meet next Monday afternoon July 1st at 2 o'clock, in the office of Wm. H. Krusen. A full attendance is desired.

Our Epworth League will hold its next business and social meeting at the home of Mrs. Sallie Norris on Thursday evening July 11.

Mr. Samuel L. Coleman and Miss Alice Hackett were quietly married at the M. E. Parsonage on Wednesday evening June 26. Congratulations.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

We, the members of the quarterly conference of the Still Pond Methodist Episcopal Church, desire to record our deep sense of loss in the death of our brother and fellow worker, Franklin H. Harper. He was so well and favorably known that we scarcely need record our high appreciation of his manly Christian character, of his loyalty to the church of his choice and of his undying devotion to Jesus Christ.

We share with the whole community the sorrow and deep sense of bereavement in the loss of one who has been so intimately related to the welfare of our church, our county and our town. Our comfort is, that he was a Christian and lived well and has entered upon his eternal reward.

We hope to meet thee again when we too pass
To where thou hast gone, the host of God to swell.
We hope to meet thee again by the sea of glass
With the redeemed of earth in peace to dwell
Till then farewell, farewell.

J. S. HARRIS,
C. B. KRUSEN,
G. W. COVINGTON, } Committee.

The Directors of the Chestertown Bank of Maryland at a meeting held on June 17th, 1907, passed the following resolutions in respect to the memory of FRANKLIN H. HARPER, lately deceased:

WHERAS, It has pleased Almighty God to take from our midst one of our fellow directors, and associates Franklin H. Harper.

Resolved, That by the death of Franklin H. Harper, the bank has lost a valuable official, the community a kind, genial and public spirited citizen. His private life was beyond reproach, and he was ever ready to lend a helping hand to the friendless and needy. His loss will be deeply felt in the business world in which he was an active participant.

Resolved, That we share most sincerely the sorrow that has befallen this community and the bereaved family.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in the county papers, and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

CHESTERTOWN BANK OF MARYLAND.

Horace Johnson, a well-known colored citizen of Chestertown, died the past week after several months sickness. The wife of John Dent, another of Chestown's well-known colored people also died on Wednesday last.

MISS HICKS IN JAMESTOWN.

Though Blind, Cheerful—Presented a Gold Bracelet for Poem by Baltimore Committee—Writes of Her Affliction.

The Sun in speaking of our Galena poetess has the following interesting item:

"Cheerful and optimistic in spite of the great affliction from which she suffers—total blindness—Miss Minnie E. Hicks, one of the successful competitors in the Jamestown poem contest recently held by the Baltimore committee of the Jamestown Exposition, is of an unusually interesting personality.

She is an eager, earnest student, whose yearning for knowledge, whose interest in things beautiful—in literarture, art and other branches of study—has only been whetted by the handicap under which she is obliged to work and study.

The patriotism and feeling in the words of her version of "Maryland, My Maryland," are those that are unquestionably born of the true spirit of love, liberty and the pride of one's native soil.

Of herself, her work and her love of reading and good literature, Miss Hicks writes as follows:

"My father is William T. Hicks, a relative of Thomas Holliday Hicks, who was Governor of Maryland during the Civil War; my mother was formerly Miss Ida Dawson Cooper, of Talbot county, and her old home, a beautiful place on the Chesapeake Bay, has been in the possession of the Cooper family for nearly two centuries.

"I was born at Church Hill, Md., in 1879 and moved to Galena with my parents two years later.

"Owing to my defective sight, my attendance upon the public school was irregular, and the small store of knowledge which I acquired was chiefly from general reading, for I insisted upon reading or having read to me every book that came in my way. I was unusually thoughtful and observant for a child, delighting in the beauties of nature and storing up memories and impressions which have been of inexpressible value to me in later years.

"When I was in my eighteenth year I lost my sight entirely, and with it, it seemed to me then, everything that made life worth living. The following year I entered the Maryland School for the Blind, with the one idea of finding something to divirt my mind from the great affliction which had come to me It is to this school and the kindly interest and encouragement which I met with at every step of the way from the superintendent—at that time the late Dr. F. D. Morrison—and from each member of the faculty that I owe whatever I have done or may be able to accomplish in the future.

"I soon awoke to the fact that life in its reality was still mine, bounded, it is true, by limitations which call for all the energy and perseverance at my command, but still mine, with all of its duties and possibilities. With this realization I threw myself unreservedly into the work before me and was graduated with the class of 1903, returning home to knit together the broken threds of the old life and the new.

"Since then the time has passed quietly filled with the duties of home and church, in which I take my part along with others, and occasional literary efforts. My song, "Dixie Boy," has been published recently, and I am hoping much for its success, especially in the South. I can still indulge my fondness for reading, besides the books which are read to me, I get them from the libraries in Baltimore and Philadelphia printed in New York point and other systems used by those who cannot see. I also derive great pleasure and benefit from the Matilda Ziegler Magazine for the Blind, which goes far to supply a need that has been long felt by the many intelligent blind persons of this country."
