msa_sc2901_scm2352-0399 ©Maryland State Archives

THE KENT NEWS.

Frustra, laborat, qui omnibus, placere, studet.—"He labours vainly, who endeavors to please every one."

$1 50 PER ANNU, in advance

CHESTER TOWN, Md.

E. MANSFIELD.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1852.

VOL. 13. No. 29

NEW FALL GOODS.

Small Profits and Quick Sales.

Great bargains for cash

W ELIASON has just opened a large stock of goods, which he purchase ind Philadelphia and Baltimore for his Fall sales, and at the lowest prices or cash and he is confident that he can supply his customers, and all who may avour him with their trade, at prices so low as to give general satisfaction. His tock embraces a general assortment of the following articles:

DRY GOODS,

Delaines, Alpacas, Cashmers, Calicoes; Swiss, Book, Plaid and Cambric Muslins, Laces, Edgings, Cashmere and Cotton Hose, Gloves, Linen Hkfs., SHAWLS, Ginghams, Linen and Cotton table Diapers, Scotch Diaper, Cotfringe, Super Longcloth Shirting Blanets, &c

Cloths, Cassimers, Sattinets, Tweeds, Satin and other Vestings, Wool and Canton Flannels, Brown and Bleched Muslin, ten and twelve quarter bleached Sheeting check ticking, Super. Irish Linens, Silk cravats and Hkfs., suspenders, Buttons Thread, knitting Cotton, Carpet Chain, Cotton Yarn, Oil Cloths, Table Covers, &c

HATS AND CAPS.

Men's Silk Hats, Cassimer and Fur Kossuth Hats, Wool Hats; Plush, Cloth, and Oil Cloth Caps.

Boots and Shoes.

Men's and boys boots of superior quality, very low; Men's and boys' lace Boots Women's morocco and leather Jenny Lind ties, Women's slippers and boots; boys and Misses Shoes, of all sizes and prices

Hardware.

Knob Locks, Stock Locks, Lead Lock Pad Locks, Latches, Hinges, Screws, Nails, Hatchets, axes, Horse Rasps, Smith and mill files, Brads Ovens, Kettles &c.

Superior Razors, Knives and Forks pocket knife, Scissors, Albata table and teaspoons. Coffee Mills, Slates, Brittania and Iron Spoons, &c.

Groceries.

Good Sugar Cf. and Scts. Loaf and crushed sugar, Coffee, Molases, Salt, Bacon Flour, Superior teas, Cocoa, Chockolate, Mustard, Spices, Soap, Candles, &c.

He has also a good Stock of Tin Ware, Queensware Stoneware, Saddles Bridles, Collars, Traces and Plough lines, Buckets, PLOUGHS and plough Castings Brushes, and many other articles which he is selling at very low and REDUCED prices. Persons wishing to buy cheap will do well to call and examine his stock

October 2, 1852.

New Goods.

5 PER CENT DEDUCTION FOR CASH

B. B. PERKINS

HAS just returned from the City with his first purchase of FALL GOODS. He has now on hand a GOOD ASSORTMENT such goods as are needed for the season. Persons in want of goods are invited to examine his stock wishing to increase my cash business I will deduct 5 per cent from all CASH BILLS amounting to one dollar and upwards I will continue to sell goods for ALL KINDS OF PRODUCE at the highest market prices, and on six months time to punctual customers.

Sept. 11 1852.

NEW GOODS!

Wilmer & Walker

HAVE just returned from Philapelpeia with a large and varied stock of

New and Seasonable Goods, which they offer very cheap. Our friends and the public are invited to call and examine for themselves.

Chestertown, Oct. 23, 1852.

New Fall and Winter Goods.

Collins & Hynson,

HAVE just returned from Philadelphia and Baltimore with a very large assortment of

GOODS,

of every description suitable for the season, which they are selling very CHEAP They are determined to sell at small profits for CASH OR PRODUCE Our friends and the public generally, are respectfully requested to call and examine our assortment for themselves. All kinds of country produce taken in exchange for Goods.

Oct. 16, 1852.

More New Goods.

WILLIAM P. FRANCIS,

HAS just returned from the city and is now opening a large and beautiful assortment of

Seasonable Goods,

which he will sell very low. Call and examine his stock.

Oct. 16, 1852.

New Fall Goods.

Stock, Large & Cheap!

W. N. E. WICKES,

HAS completed his purchases of FALL and WINTER GOODS, and now offers a stock large various and cheap as has ever been offered to this community Among the DRY GOODS is such a variety of Dress Goods, Shawls, &c which both as regards style and cheapness is worthy the attention of the Ladies. The stock of gentlemen's wear, Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings, &c. is large and desirable, embracing the finest qualities and latest styles—5 4 and 12 4 bleach'd and brown Sheetings, ble'd and brown Shittings, Irish Linens, white, red, yellow and brown Flannels, Linseys, plaid Domestic, wool and cotton Kerseys, Blankets, canton Flannels, Linseys, plaid Domestic, wool and cotton Kerseys, Blankets, Tickings, Hosiery, Gloves, linen cam. Handkfs, sewing Threads, cotton, pins, &c. &c &c.

Groceries

Crushed and brown Sugars, Laguayra and Rio Coffee, cery choice Teas, Soap, Candles, Molasses, Port, Maderia and Champagne Wines, Brandies, &c

Hardware.

Ivory, horn and buck tea and dinner Knives; Locks, Hinges, Bolts, Screws, Augers, Ovens, Kettles, Spades, Shovels, Forks, Nails, &c. A full assortment of China and Glass Ware.

BOOTS, SHOES AND HATS.

Laeies Gaiters and walking Shoes, Misses and children's Boots and Shoes, men's and boys coarse and fine Boots and Shoes. Fll styl Silk Hats, bl'k Slouches, plush, silk and col'd cloth and glazed Caps, together with an assortment of fancy Soaps, Perfumery, &c. &c making a large and varied assortment of GOODS, all of which have been selected with care, bought cheap, and will be sold at prices that cannot fail to give satisfaction. The public are respectfully invited to an examination.

October 16, 1852.

Lumber! Lumber!

THE subscribers have this day associated themselves, for the purpose of conducting the lumber business.

N. WILEY,
B. B. PERKINS.

May 1, 1852.

WE have just received from Port Deposit the largest stock of ever offered in this market—comprising an assortment of 1, 1½ and 2 inch BOARDS, JOICE, SCANTLING, SHINGLES, &c., which we will sell at small profits, for cash, or on a short time, to punctual customers.

LUMBER

Our friends and the public generally, are invited to call and examine our stock before purchasing.

Interest will be charged from date on all bills, not paid within sixty days.

N. WILEY & PERKINS.

June 5, 1852.

Lumber,

shingles, Boards & Scantling.

T. W. ELIASON,

HAS a large stock of Boards, 1½ and 2 inch Plank, Joists, Studding, Hemlock fencing, Pine Pales, and

Shingles

Some of his Boards and 1½ and 2 inch Plank snitable for making Doors, Sash Weatherboarding, Flooring, &c., are seasoned and fit for immediate use. He will sell at moderate prices for cash or on short credit to punctual customers and will charge interest from date on all bills not settled in 90 days.

June 19, '52

CHEAP

BOOTS & SHOES!

THE subscriber has just returned from the city with an assortment of which he offers to the public on the most accommodating terms. His stock consists of the following:

BOOTS & SHOES.

Ladies Morocco Slippers,
" " thick sole shoes,
" Gaiters.

A large lot of Children's Morocco and Leather Shoes—Misses' and childrens' Gaiters Also a fine assortment of his own make, which he will sell very low. He has on hand a large stock of Leather, which he is prepared to manufacture to order, at the shortest notice.

JOHN W. PRICHARD.

May 25, 1852.

OYSTERS!

THE undersigned will keep during the present Oysters, which she will sell serve up in the best manner—her stand is the house formerly occupied by the printing office, where she will be pleased to see her friends and the public—oysters for sale by the gallon.

CLARA ALLEN.

Oct. 2, 1852.—tf.

COATS.—Among my assortment of clothing may be found a few double coats.

ABEL J REES.

Rees' Corner, Oct. 9, 1852.

WOLF & SLAGLE,

WHOLESALE GROCERS,

No. 110 Pratt Street, between South St and Cheapside, Baltimore,

HAVE on hand a large and well selected stock of

GROCERIES, WINES AND LIQUORS, which we offer to our friends and customers upon the most reasonable terms—we are receiving daily additional supplies to our regular stock, which enables to furnish our customers with fresh and and good goods, at the lowest cash prices.

EDMUND WOLF,
CHAS. W. SLAGLE.

Oct 2, 1852.

OYSTERS, &C., &C.

THE undersigned again takes this method of informing his friends and the public that his Saloon is neatly fitted up, where he will be ever ready to serve up OYSTERS fried, stewd, roosted &c. Having been at considerable expense in fitting out his establishment, he hopes to receive a generous support

The upper Saloon will be reserved for the ladies,

Terrapins will also be served up in season. Suppers prepared at short notice. Oysters for sale by the gallon.—He will also keep for sale, Cakes, Mineral Water, &c. Cake, Ice Cream, &c, made to order at towards. Beef Steak, Ham and Eggs, Coffee, &c., can also be had at any time.

LEVI ROGERS

Sept 11. 1852.

Boots & Shoes!

100 Pair of Long Boots made expressly for my sales, suitable for negroes (no Yankee about them) which we will sell at 10 per cent less than the same article can be bought in Baltimore—also a good assortment of mens fine sewed boots, and a good article of pegged work—prices from $2 50 to 4,50—a general assortment of boys' and youths' long boots, with a general assortment of Lace Boots, Shoes, &c. A few pair left of those heavy lace boots for negroes wear, homemade—price $150. Call and see them.

ABEL J. REES.

Rees' Corner, Oct. 9. 1852.

Wool!

Wool! Wool!

THE undersigned, agents for Thomas Murphy, Bohemia Mills, will receive wool to be manufactured or exchanged for Kersey.

JNO. L. STAM,
WM P. FRANCIS.

June 19, 1852.

NAIL, Tooth, Hair, Shaving, Whitewash and Blacking Brushes, at

W. N. E. WICKES'.

LADIES and Gent. Kid, Silk, Thread and cotton Gloves; a large assortment.

W. N. E. WICKES.

ALWAYS on hand all kinds of Plough castings such as is used by our farmers.

WM. P. FRANCIS.

THE KENT NEWS.

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER,

Devoted to Agriculture, Politics & Gen'l News.

IS PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY.

EDWARD MANSFIELD,

PROPRIETOR.

TERMS:

$1,50, payable in advance—$2 at the expiration of the first six months, or $2,50 at the end of the year—5 copies for $6—10 copies for $10. No subscription received for a shorter period than six months, and no paper will be discontinued until all arrears are paid.

Terms of Advertising.

Advertisements not exceeding twelve lines will be inserted three times for $1, and 25 cents for each insertion thereafter. Larger ones in proportion.—A liberal deduction will be made to yearly advertisers. Advertisements must have the number of times marked, or they will be published till forbid, and charged accordingly.

All communications must be post-paid.

POETRY.

(From the Baltimore Weekly Sun.)

AUTUMN.

O'er the sky the clouds are hanging,
Mantling all its azure hue,
And obscuring all the beauty
That was pictured in its blue;
By me winds are sighing lowly,
Chanting summer's funeral song,
And before their blast so chilling
Hurrying Autumn fast along.

Hushed are nature's tuneful warblers,
Singing once so very gay,
Freighting every breath with music,
Hailing every new-born day
Yes, their haunts they are deserting,
And, with many a merry chime,
They are off to cheer with gladness,
Some more joyful, sunny clime.

Summer's rich and verdant foliage
Is fast fading round me now,
Soon to weave a yellow chaplet
For old winter's snowy brow,
And as Autumn wraps all nature
In its sombre robe of gloom,
Something seems oft to remind us
We are hastening to the tomb.

Soon we'll hear the tread of Winter,
On his bleak and icy tour,
Bringing many a mournful tiding
To the hamlets of our poor.
But there is one ever ready
To exclaim, 'Hail Winter! come!'
For with it I will be wafted
To the sweet embrace of home.

A Kentucky Rifleman.

A British officer who was in the battle of New Orleans, mentions an incident of thrilling strangeness, and very discriptive of the Western hunter, many of whom marched to the defence of New Orleans, as volunteers in the army under the renowned Andrew Jackson:

We marched, said the officer, in a solid column of twelve thousand men, in direct line upon the American defences. I belonged to the staff; and as we advanced, we watched through our glasses the position and arrangements of our enemy with that intensity an officer only feels when marching into the jaws of death, with the assurance that, while he thus offers himself as a sacrifice to the demands of his country, every action to be successful or otherwise, will be judged with the most heartless scrutiny.

It was a strange sight, that long range of cotton bales—a new material for breast-works—with the crowd of human being behind, their heads only visible above the lines of defence We could distinctly see their long rifles lying over the bales, and the battery of Gen. Coffee directly in front, with its great mouth gaping towards us, and the position of Gen. Jackson, with his staff around him But what attracted our attention most, was the figure of a tall man standing on the breast-works, dressed in linsey woolsen, with buckskin leggins, and a broad brimmed felt hat, that fell around his face, almost concealing his features.—He was standing in one of those picturesque and graceful attitudes, peculiar to those natural men dwellers in the forests The body rested on the left leg, and swayed with a curved line upwards; the right arm was extended, the hand grasping the rifle near the muzzle, the butt of which rested near the toe of his right foot, while with his hand he raised the hat from his eyes, and seemed gazing from beneath intensely upon our advancing column The cannon of Gen Coffee had opened upon us, and tore through our ranks with dreadful slaughter; but we continued to advance, unwavering and cool, as if nothing threatened our progress.

The roar of cannon seemed to have no effect upon the figure standing on the cotton bales, but he seemed fixed and motionless as a statute. At length he moved, threw back the hat-rim over the crown with his left hand, raised the rifle to his shoulder, and took aim at our group. Our eyes were riveted on him. At whom had he leveled his piece? But the distance was so great that we looked at each other and stared. We saw the rifle flash, and my right hand companion, as noble a looking fellow as ever rode at the head of his regiment, fell from his saddle. The hunter paused a few moments without moving the gun from his shoulder, then reloaded and assumed his former attitude Once more the barrum was thrown back, and the gun raised to the shoulder. This time we did not smile, but cast short glances at each other, to see which of us must die; and when again the rifle flashed, another of us dropped to the earth. There was something awful in thus marching on to certain death

Gen. Coffee's battery, and thousands of musket balls playing on our ranks we cared not for—there was a chance of escaping unscathed. Most of us had walked upon batteries hundred times more destructive without quailing; but to know that every time the rifle was leveled towards us, and its bullet sprang from the barrel, one of us must assuredly fall—to see the gleaming and flash as the deadly iron came down, and see it rest, motionless, as if poised upon a rock, and known, when the hammer struck and the sparks flew to the fulminated pan, that the messenger of death drove unerringly to its goal—to know this, and still march onward, was awful.

I could not see nothing but the tall figure standing on the breast-work. He seemed to grow, phantom like, taller and taller, assuming through the smoke the supernatural appearance of some great spirit. Again did he reload and discharge his rifle with the same unfailing aim; and it was with indescribable pleasure that I beheld, as we neared the American lines, the sulphurous smoke gather around us, and shut that spectral hunter from my gaze. We lost the battle; and to my mind, the Kentucky rifleman contributed more to our defeat than anything else, for while he remained to our sight our attention was drawn from our duties; and when at last we became enshrouded in the smoke, the work was complete—we were in utter confusion, and unable, in the extremity, to restore order sufficient to make any successful attack.

So long as thousands and thousands of rifles remain in the hands of the people, so long as men come up from their childhood able, ere the down appears on the chin, hit to the centre of a mark, or strike the deer at one hundred and fifty yards in the most vital part, so long as there is a great proportion of the Republic who lives as free as the wild Indian, knowing no leader but their own choosing; knowing no law but that of right, and the honorable observance of friendly intercourse, America is unconquerable; and all the armies of the combined world though they might drive them from the seacoast & across the Alleghany Mountains, would not be able to subdue the free souled hunter among the mountains and great prairies and mighty rivers of the West.

CURING HAMS—METHOD OF SMOKING—Messrs. Editors:—For the last ten years, I have been most successful, in curing the best of bacon, and as the season is just at hand for this process of husbandry, I beg a small corner to give it to the readers of the Telegraph, although it may serve for other latitudes. It is as follows:—

To three tablespoon fulls of fine salt, add one oz. of finely pulverized saltpetre, and three tablespoons of good molasses, all mixed well together which quantity is for each ham or shoulder—Let it be well rubbed over the fleshy part of the ham and as each piece is so prepared, pack it close in the cask intended for the brine. After remaining ten days add your brine made from the best Turk's Island salt, purified by being well boiled and to be sufficiently strong to bear up a large potato After lying in the pickle thirty days they are ready for the smoke house

My method of smoking is simple, and withal safe I use short sticks of green Hickory wood put into a large pot covered over, leaving just space enough for the air to keep the fire alive, but not to blaze; and thus we have a steady smoke until the wood is all consumed. We therefore, have a sweet smoke imparted to the meat, with a handsome cherry red, without a sooty and bitter rind.—[Po. Tel.

The Cincinnati Commercial is responsible for the following story:

Last Sunday, in one of our old churches an old gentleman, a worthy member of the Christian persuasion, fell asleep and began dreaming he was on a hunting excursion. All of a sudden, and to the astonishment of every body, he bellowed out: 'Fetch him, Dash; a glorious shot—three woodcocks with one barrel, hurrah or mel' and he rose up in a his seat and cheered lustily. He woke himself by his hallooing, and immediately seized his hat and walked out, blushing like a red pepper.