IN MEMORIAM

Hutchins—In sad but l ving memorance of my dear mother, Sarah E., who passed away January 10, 1936.
You suffered hours, yes, hours of pain,
To wait for cure, but all in vain
Till God alone knew what was best,
He called you home to give you rest.
We often sit and think of you,
And speak of how you did do
T think you could not say good by
Before you closed your eyes to die
For all of us you did your be
Oh, God, grant you eternal re
Her loving son, Harry, Jr.

In loving remembrance of George H. Chaney, who passed away Dec mber 24th, 1926, aged 66 years.
God saw the road was getting rough,
And the hills were hard to climb
He gently eased his loving arms
And whispered peace be thine.
His weary hours, his days of pain,
His weary nights are past
His ever patient worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.
By his loving Wife and Children

Scaggs—In memory of our darling mother, Carrie M. Scaggs, who left us six months ago to-day, and my dear sister, Elsie M. Scaggs, who left us two years ago to day, January 9th.
We do not know the pain she bore;
We did not see her die,
We only she went away,
And did not say good-by.
Her smiling face and pleasant ways
Are a pleasure to recall,
She had a kindly word for each of us,
And died beloved by all.
Devoted Daughter and Sister,
Mrs. Mildred Bowlger.

Wood.—In loving remembrance of my dear mother, ANNIE M. WOOD, who passed away November 15, 1935.
You left behind a broken heart,
That loved you so sincere.
That never did and never will,
Forget you mother dear.
Come to me in my sadness,
Wrap your arms around me tight,
And ask God to comfort
Your heart broken daughter tonight.
By her devoted daughter, A. B.

A New Year Dawns.

A new year dawns for you and me,
New scenes and untried ways,
New hopes and opportunities
Await the coming days.
We'll cross the threshold with our loved ones
Not four to face one more
The great unknown awaiting us
Beyond that open door.
With all its problems, joys and sorrows
The old year slips away,
Gone forever to return;
We would we have it stay
But onward march and upward
Hours, what'er befall,
On the threshold of the new year
We hear our Master's call
We not to cross the threshold now,
And face another year;
Remember that He goes before
Our untried faith to cheer.

WORLD WIDE WINGED WORDS

New York . . . Dr. Frank B. Jewett, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, has been appointed to a special service board to investigate lighter-than-air craft and the future of dirigibles in the United States will be decided largely by that board's recommendations. This body is composed of eight scientists and engineering experts appointed by Dr. Karl T. Compton, chairman of the Navy's Science Advisory Board and announced recently by Secretary of the Navy Claude Swanson, who said the study would include the design and construction of dirigibles for both commercial and military purposes.

Buenos Aires . . . Substantial gains in telephones were reported by the largest telephone company in Argentina last year. This company at the close of the year operated 193,649 dial telephones as compared with 173,588 the previous year. There were 88,447 manual telephones as compared with 82,850 previously. Long distance calls also increased. Users of the service made 7,822,600 calls in 1934 as compared with 7,514,000 in 1933. The company reported 70,200 international calls as compared with 59,300 the previous year, according to Assistant Trade Commissioner Jule R. Smith.

Washington . . . Telephone service has just been established with Honduras. The service is operated by way of the Miami, Florida, radio station. The rates for a three-minute conversation are $21 and $7 for each additional minute. Calls may be placed between 10:00 a. m. and 6:00 p. m. week days and from 10:00 a. m. to 12 m. Sundays, except to Nicaragua. There on the Sabbath the service is not available after 11:15 a. m.

Madrid . . . A net gain of 22,537 telephones was reported for last year by the Compania Telefonica Nacional de Espana, which was approximately twice the increase of stations during the previous year. At the close of 1934, this company operated 303,766 telephones as compared with a total of 50,000 telephones at the close of 1924, the year in which this company was organized.

Cairo . . . Important telephone improvements are being made throughout Egypt. Tanta, an important town, is now dial operated. Alexandria is installing a dial system, which is expected to be placed in operation during the late summer of this year. Central battery telephone systems have also been installed at Helnan, Caliub, Assiut and Damanhur, Charles E. Dickerson, Jr., commercial attache, reports.

London . . . Telephone communication between South West Africa and the Union of South Africa will soon be possible. This means that overseas telephone service will be available if this new connection is established. The progressive policy, according to the African World, shows that the Department of Posts and Telegraphs will link by telephone all territorial exchanges with Upington. Telephone repeaters have been installed at various points so that clear conversation may be had between South Africa's most northerly central offices Tsumeb and Upington, a distance of 1,1[illegible] miles.

25,000 Mile Telephone "Party Line" Connects Pioneer Groups

President Walter S. Gifford utilizing the 25,000 mile "party line" to address telephone pioneers throughout North America on their twenty-fifth anniversary.

Telephone Pioneers of America recently celebrated the silver jubilee of their organization with parties in about 150 towns and communities throughout the United States and Canada, connected by a 25,000 mile "party line" extending from St. John, New Brunswick, Canada, to Miami, Florida, and from San Diego, California, to Edmonton, Alberta, and points between.

Pioneering Spirit Praised

Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, speaking from New York City, praised the pioneering spirit of the telephone men and women. "New generations of pioneers will live and serve as the years go on," he said, "and they will see changes and conditions in the material and mechanical things with which the telephone job is done; changes in contrasts so startled that one does not dare to predict what they may be. But this we may predict: in the spirit—the pioneering spirit—of the men and women of the telephone service there will be no change."

Organized November 19th

Telephone pioneers are men and women with twenty-one years or more service in the telephone industry. The Telephone Pioneers of America was organized in Boston, birthplace of the telephone in 1876, November 3, 1911. Chester I. Barnard, president of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company at Newark, president of the pioneers, was master of ceremonies. He introduced J. E. MacPherson, senior vice president of the pioneers and vice president of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, who was at St. John, and James L. Kilpatrick, president of the New York Telephone Company, president-elect of the telephone pioneers, who spoke from New York.

Longest Telephone Hookup

A dramatic presentation of significant events in the development of telephone communication was presented over this hookup which was the most widespread on a single telephone circuit in the history of voice communication, according to telephone officials.

Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor, daughter of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, speaking from Washington over a telephone hookup connecting pioneer chapters and employee groups of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies, told of personal recollections of her father. Lloyd B. Wilson, president, and John A. Benson, operating vice president of the companies, spoke. James Oliver Martin, president of the Alexander Graham Bell Chapter, presided and introduced the speakers at Washington.

This celebration was concluded by the groups throughout the United States and Canada standing and singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Pioneer men and women in the service of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies and connecting companies in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia are now affiliated with chapters in their respective states.

Each chapter is affiliated with the Telephone Pioneers of America, which was founded in Boston, the birthplace of the telephone, in November, 1911, for the purpose of promoting and continuing the friendships made during the progress of the telephone industry and to recall from time to time the facts, traditions and memories of the telephone business. Any person, male or female, having served twenty-one years in telephone work is eligible for membership.

Alexander Graham Bell Chapter No. 15 served the officers and employees of the Chesapeake and Potomac Companies since it was chartered September 12, 1922, but last year it was decided in the interest of increasing the membership, and having greater representation at the meetings of the pioneers, to organize other chapters.

The first of the new chapters was organized at Charleston, January 27, 1934, as West Virginia Chapter No. 42. There are now 135 members in this group. Its officers are Col. W. T. Williamson, Charleston, president; Miss Elah D. Sinnett, Charleston, secretary-treasurer; and H. W. Vannoy, Clarksburg, vice president.

Old Dominion Chapter No. 43, organized at Richmond, October 5 last, elected Charles Gantt Harris, Richmond, president; James B. Pearce, Norfolk, vice president; and Albert S. Tasner, Richmond, secretary-treasurer. This chapter has more than 100 members in all parts of Virginia.

Telephone Pioneers of Maryland met at Baltimore, October 15, 1934, and organized the Maryland Chapter No. 44. This group has an enrollment of 440 members. Its officers are James W. Talbot, president; Herman F. Thomas, secretary-treasurer of Baltimore; and Robert C. Harris, Easton, vice president.

Alexander Graham Bell Chapter at Washington is headed by John C. White, president; Frank W. S. Evans, vice president; and Miss Carolyn H. Martin, secretary-treasurer. The membership of this chapter is about 180.

U. S. Teletypewriter Exchanges Now Serve 9,000 Subscribers

Teletypewriters—Operators switching teletypewriter (two) communication lines between various subscribers. Teletypewriter exchanges now span the entire continent to form a national teletypewriter system serving over nine thousand subscribers.

Teletypewriter service, now used by more than 9,000 subscribers comprising well over 200 classes of business located in every section of North America, has become an important factor in business and social life. The production of food, clothing, farm implements, transportation facilities and many other industries now use teletypewriter messages to speed their communications here, there and everywhere throughout the country. Teletypewriter exchange service was first operated through switchboards in November, 1931, in the same manner that telephone connections are made.

The diversity of food suppliers using this service, as compiled by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, for example, includes: bakers, bean merchants, beverage manufacturers, canners, cereal plants, coffee houses, confectioners, dairy producers, distilleries and wineries, fish houses, flour manufacturers, grain producers, food manufacturers, fruit and vegetable stores, grocers, meats, poultry and packing house producers, rice brokers, salt manufacturers, sugar refineries, tea stores and vegetable commission merchants.

These are among the more generally known classes of industry operating teletypewriter services as shown in a directory compiled and published at intervals, listing the names and teletypewriter numbers alphabetically by cities throughout the country. Also, a teletypewriter directory listing subscribers by classes of business is available.

Teletypewriters are typewriters that operate electrically over long distance telephone lines. Teletypewriters were first employed in conjunction with leased lines for communication between two or more stations on a full-time basis. The advantages of this means of communication were quickly recognized and the size of the leased network grew rapidly until it became evident that it would be desirable to switch teletypewriters to various typewriter stations located either in the same city or distant cities. As a result teletypewriter switchboards were installed for the interchange of messages from one point to another within the city, state or nation.

ASSASSIN

A Drinker of Hashish!

In eleventh-century Persia, a secret order was founded by Hassan Ben Sabbah, indulging in the use of the Oriental drug hashish, and, when under its influence, in the practice of secret murder. The murderous drinker of hashish came to be called hashish in the Arabic and from that origin comes our English word assassin!
