THE LIGHTNING DARNER.

CAN BE USED ON ANY SEWING MACHINE. The only Darner that will darn everything, from an infant's stocking to table linens, fine lace curtains, etc., with cotton-linen or silk thread, darning cotton or wool. The simplicity and great variety of darning that it will do—everything requiring mending or darning—puts it in a class by itself. Nothing in the market to compare with it at any price. Sell the best, buy the best, that has unexcelled merits of perfection and usefulness. PRICE 50c. The only complete darning outfit. The Lightning perfection darner solves the darning problem. Fits any sewing machine. Will darn anything. Darning made a pleasure with the use of it on your sewing machine. A great relief from that most dreaded work, doing it in one-tenth the time. You make no mistake in buying such a useful article. You can try it before you buy it.

NOTICE TO ROAD WORKERS.

By virtue of authority vested in me as Road Engineer for Kent county, under the recent local law passed by the General Assembly of Maryland for this county, all work on the public roads is ordered discontinued, as all bills for work must have my approval. No work can be done under the law except by order of the Engineer.

The appointment of Supervisors will be deferred until their need is evident. It will be our purpose to do only necessary work and to help keep the road expenses down to the bottom dollar.

We ask for the co-operation of the tax payers and assure you that we shall do our utmost to give satisfaction.

You will confer a favor upon the undersigned by notifying him of the urgent need of repairs to washouts or damage to bridges, &c.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR Cures Colds: Prevents Pneumonia

AGED 65 AND A "JUNIOR"

Trust Clerk Meginniss of Kent County, Studying Law at Maryland University.

"A man is as old as he thinks he is." That is the way that Nathaniel T. Meginniss, trust clerk to the Supreme Bench of Baltimore, looks at it. And he practices what he preaches, for down there in the junior class of the law department of the University of Maryland each day sits Mr. Meginniss, drinking in the whys and wherfores of Blackstone and other legal lights.

Mr. Meginniss is a junior. That means he is in the first year of his course, and has two more to go before he gets his sheepskin. And Mr. Meginniss is hoary-headed, wears a white chin beard, and is a grandfather. He is full of terse ideas, however, about age. How old is he? Well, that is as far as the reporter got:

"Do you mind telling me your age, Mr. Meginniss?" was the question.

"I'm not ashamed of my age, but I don't see why I should parade it in the paper," laughed the trust clerk.

"Somebody told me that you were 65," was the baited hook that the news getter dangled before Mr. Meginniss.

"Well, somebody told you about right," he said, and his hearty laugh boomed out.

No Stock in Osler Theory.

"And you are just beginning to study law?" murmured the interviewer.

"Sure," said Mr. Meginniss, and a smile began with that "sure," and ended when he had finished his talk and said "goodbye." "Now, look here," he continued, "Dr. Osler said that a man was old at 40, or something like that. He is not. A man is as old as he thinks he is. There is no occasion for a man to ever reach that age where he is rusty and out of touch with the times. Some say that I am too old to begin the study of law. Well, I am not and understand it. Why, I might study medicine when I am through with law.

"A man is never too old to learn. He ought to inform himself along the lines of business in which he is engaged. I don't believe in taking up any kind of work if one isn't well equipped for the place. I am trust clerk to the Supreme Bench and I feel that to study law will better fit me for the position, and that is why I buckled down to the task last fall. Too old! Why some men are too old at 25. A man thinks he is old and straightway he is old."

Born on The Eastern Sho'.

Mr. Meginniss was born in Quaker Neck, Kent county. When he was a year old his parents moved to the First district of the same county, and here Mr. McGinniss spent the days of his boyhood and youth. He graduated from Washington College, at Chestertown, and obtained the position of recording clerk for his county. Up the line he went until he found himself the deputy clerk. Later he became associated with the Consolidated Gas Company, of Baltimore, and was with that concern 24 years, 12 of which he was secretary of the company, which position he resigned voluntarily. Prior to this and upon his advent to the city, he filled every place in a local bank from runner to paying teller. This is his third year as trust clerk. Mr. Meginniss is married and has two grown children, and one grandchild. A daughter, Mrs. Thomas C. Eley, her husband and child live with him and his wife at 2102 North Charles street, Baltimore. His son, Edward B. Meginniss, is in the legal department of a large telephone combine n New York.

"You are not going to spell my name right, I know," said Mr. Meginniss, as the reporter was leaving; "you will do like everyone else, put "Me" in front of it."

"Oh, you object to being Irish," ventured the reporter.

"No, indeed, not a bit of it, but I just want you to get it correct. Maybe it was spelled with an "Me" originally, but it got lost on the way down. Another thing I want to say is that I owe my success and energy greatly to my temperate life. I neither smoke, drink, chew nor play cards. At the bottom of it all, I want to say above all else, is the religious training at home by a godly mother."
