VOL. 78. CHESTERTOWN, MD., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1917. NO. 19

ROCK HALL

The big electrical storm of Saturday night hampered the success of the Grange supper at this place. All was bidding fair for a grand success before the terrific downpour of rain.

Service at the M. E. Church Sunday morning was in compliance with the President's proclamation on prayer for victory.

District Superintendent W. A. Wise conducted quarterly meeting on Sunday night, after preaching by a visiting minister.

C. H. Davis, of the city police force, was a visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Davis, from Thursday to Saturday of last week.

Frank McCloskey, also a member of the Baltimore police force, was a week-end visitor here among friends. Both men are in fine trim.

Price Orr will not move to the home of Mrs. Hague, as reported last week. He will occupy the property of W. T. Ashley, on the west side of town.

Rev. J. W. Prettyman, Mrs. Susan Hague, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Crew, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hague, and daughters, Mrs. A. P. Levy and son, Mr. and Mrs. J. R Ryan, Jr., and daughter, Margaret, and Messrs. N. G. Ryan and C. M. Ryan were visitors at the home of Miss Daisy M. Ryan on Sunday. The occasion was the reception of Rulon Levy and little Mildred and Marjorie Hague into the church militant by the baptismal route. Rev. Mr. Prettyman was master of ceremonies. The celebration of the 5th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Crew also took place previous to the christening ceremony. A sumptuous dinner was served, and it sure was a grand one. It was one time we all of us put a square meal over on Hoover without the interference of Hooverism.

The town fathers are filling up the many holes on the thoroughfares of the town. Great pity our county commissioners or road engineer can't do the same for the roads in this section.

The cold snap of Wednesday morning caused our watermen and potato growers much alarm.

Charles Rodney, of Philadelphia, has been visiting the home folks here.

Clarence Culley expects to move his family to Baltimore next week. Mr Culley has a position there.

Mrs. Hyson Dill returned from Baltimore by way of Rock Hall, and is visiting friends and relatives there before returning to her home in Worton.

Wm. H. Fithian, U. S. N., spent last week with his family. Mr. Fithian was accompanied by his friend, Wm. Fullerton, of Essington, Pa.

The condition of Mrs Jacob Wooleyhan, who was paralyzed some time ago, remains about the same.

Allie, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Culley, received a badly lacerated scalp one day last week by falling on her nursing bottle. Dr. Selby was called in and dressed the wound.

Miss Iona Apsley, of the State Normal School, spent the week-end with her parents, Capt. and Mrs. Jos. Apsley.

Walter Lewis, of Baltimore, was home for a few days.

The severe electric storm which passed over this place on Saturday evening was most unusual for this time of the year. The wind blew down much late fruit, corn shocks, etc., while the heavy rainfall caused many washouts.

The war tax begun in earnest Thursday. It now costs 3 cents for letters, 2 cents for postal cards, etc. It is the time when those who have not felt the burdon of the measure as it relates to spirits, tobacco, pleasure boats and some kindred luxuries will have the first taste of what the war needs of the Government will have imposed. It will effect the big and little consumer alike in requirements and business relations.

Every phrase of the tax except to the stamp tax for documents, checks and other purposes and the income tax went into effect Thursday. Those which have been delayed go into effect December 1, and some January 1.

WEDDING NOTES

Miss Louise Curtis Crane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis E. Crane, of Chestertown, and Captain W. Earle Withgott, U. S Reserve Corps were married on Thursday evening last at Emmanuel P. E. Church, amid a scene of beauty and enchantment. The church was filled to its utmost capacity with friends of the two families and the special and elaborate decorations were wonderful. The bridal party entered the church in following order: the two ribbon girls, Merritt Page Beck and Elizabeth Wickes dressed in white dresses with pink ribbons; the ushers, Wm. Mason Shehan, Thomas M. Bartlett, John S. McDaniel, Royce R. Spring and Alfred B. Mason of Easton, James L. Bacchus, Morris K. Barroll and S. Scott Beck, of Chestertown; the bridesmaids, Miss Gertrude R. Sommerwell, of Woodberry, N. J., Miss Ethel Bacchus, Miss Eugenia Hynson, Miss Rebecca Aldridge all handsomely attired in pink satin gowns trimmed with silver lace, large pink geogette hats, carrying orchid color chrysanthemums; the maid of honor, Miss Miriam Hubbard, dressed in orchid brocade with silver hat, carrying orchid chrysanthemums; the matron of honor, Mrs. William Kirkwood Robinson, with dress of orchid satin, silver picture hat carrying snap dragons; the two little flower girls, Nancy Jean Usilton and Theodosia Chapman dressed in white dresses with pink rose buds, scattering rose leaves across the path of the bride who followed on the arm of her father, Curtis E. Crane.

The bride was gowned in a magnificent costume of white satin beautifully embroidered with pearls, full court train hung from shoulders with shower bouquet of bride's roses, veil of tulle and orange blossoms. At the altar the bride was met by the groom in full U. S. uniform with his best man, his brother, Julius H. Withgott, of Easton.

Before the ceremony "O Promise Me" was artistically sung by Miss Isabelle Beck accompanied by Prof. Marten Ten Hoor on the violin. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Henry B. Martin of Chestertown and Dr. Henry Davies, of Easton.

Mrs. Jesse Medders rendered appropriate music on the organ during the wedding.

After the wedding an elaborate and brilliant reception was given at the bride's home, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis E. Crane on Water street. The house was beautifully trimmed in chrysanthemums and evergreen and Iula's orchestra, of Baltimore, furnished music. About two hundred persons were present.

The bride and groom left about 9.30 P. M by auto for the North and left Washington last night for Anniston, Alabama, where the groom is with Uncle Sam's forces in training for work in France where it is likely he will be sent in a few weeks.

The presents received were certainly a great testimonial to the popularity of the young couple.

The Food Conservation drive in Kent under the direction of Mrs. Wm. G. Smyth, captain, has been a great success. Not more than a half dozen people refused to co-operate. The lieutenants and recruiting officers did their work faithfully and a great saving in food will result. In the percentage the total number of cards signed bears to the total allotment, Kent is in the lead with 46 per cent., 938 cards having been signed.
