Clover Seed

Our first shipment of Clover, Alsyke and Timothy for this season arrived this week. We think the seed are as fine as we ever had to offer. The market has been steadily advancing and if the demand continues the price will go still higher. Our prices now are lower than if we had to buy to-day. We think that those who place orders now for future delivery will not regret it, as all indications point to further advances. This year's crop is only 64% of a normal crop, and much seed is being exported, which is making the demand on this country very heavy.

Come in and see the seed, as they are in the sack.

Money Talks

To be sure money talks, especially money that is actively employed. Money that is idle is money asleep, and money doesn't talk in its sleep.

The place for money is in a reliable bank like ours, safe but subject to check. Hoarding money takes it out of circulation, and it is constantly liable to be lost. Money on deposit talks and the things it says to you are "security comfort, satisfaction." We invite you to open an account at the

NEW EXAMINER ELECTED

Dr. Edward J. Clarke, of the faculty of Washington College, was yesterday elected Superintendent of the Public Schools of Kent county, in place of the late Prof. J. L. Smyth. This is a most excellent appointment and will meet with universal approval.

WEDDING NOTES

The engagement of Mrs. Richard D Hynson, of Chestertown, to Rogers Wilson of Wilmington, has been announced. The wedding will take place in Baltimore on February 16. Only the immediate families of the bride and groom will be present. After the wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will live at Indian Hill, near Newport. Mr. Wilson is a son of the late Andrew Gray Wilson of Wilmington, and is a brother of Mrs. Lammot duPont. He recently purchased Indian Hill from John M. Mendenhall.

The wedding of Mr. Ned Westcott and Miss Marie Lewis is announced to have taken place several weeks ago. Mr. Westcott is a son of the late Capt. Geo. B. Westcott, of Chestertown, but is now with the Cosden Oil Company, in Oklahoma. Miss Lewis is a daughter of Captain John Lewis, of Queen Anne's. They are now living in Oklahoma.

At the minister's home, Galena, Md., December 30, 1917, by Rev. A. P. Prettyman, Villiam A. Hollett and Florence Kirby.

CRADDOCK—DAVIS.

Miss Mary C. Davis the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Davis, of near Sassafras, Md., was united in marriage to Joseph Craddock, of Philadelphia, on Thurday of last week at 5:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. P. Prettyman, of Galena, Md., at the bride's home.

The bride was gowned in a seal brown traveling suit, and carried sweet peas and maiden hair fern, and was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Irving W. Spry. The groom was attended by Mr. Irving W. Spry. Little Josephine Davis, niece of the bride, was flower girl. McCauley's orchestra, of Galena, furnished music. Caterer Stevenson, of Smyrna, served the supper, after which amid showers of rice and congratulations they left by auto for Elkton, Md., to take the train for a short southern trip after which they will reside in Philadelphia, where Mr. Craddock is employed on the Bulletin.

INCREASE TEACHERS' SALARIES

The effort being made for salary increases to teachers in service meets with approval on all sides. The public little realizes the importance of this measure. Some of Kent's best teachers have been loyal to pupils and patrons by refusing to leave their schools upon offers of advances in salary. This loyalty should be recognized by an increase in salary here and a bonus at the end of the year, if the Legislature passes the bill now before it. It is as follow:

(a) To fix the minimum salaries of elementary teachers: Teachers holding 3rd grade certificates, to start at $400 and conditional increases up to $475, after eight years' service. Teachers holding 2nd grade certificates to start at $450, and conditional increases up to $525, after eight years' service. Teachers holding 1st grade certificates to start at $500, and conditional increases up to $600, after eight years' service.

(b) To fix the minimum salaries of secondary teachers: To start at $600, and conditional increases up to $800.

(c) To provide for the first time a salary for colored teachers, the minimum being: Teachers holding 3rd grade certificates, $30 per month; teachers holding 2nd grade certificates, $35 a month; teachers holding 1st grade certificates, $40 per month.

As to the present emergency, Governor Harrington realizes that under the laws it is impossible for the counties, the city and the State alike, to make any changes in the amount of money available for increased pay to our teachers. It has been ascertained that the sum of $210,000 appropriated for this purpose for the year 1918, by the State, and matched dollar for dollar by the counties and city, respectively, will accomplish the following:

(a) A bonus of $100 to all teachers employed nine months or longer who are receiving $700, or less.

(b) A bonus of an amount to all teachers receiving over $700 and less than $800, necessary to equal $800.

(c) A bonus of $50 to all teachers employed in schools of seven months, but less than nine months.

By the passage of an enabling act for which a bill is being prepared, the proper authorities of the counties and of the city will be legally permitted to borrow funds with which to match the state appropriation for this purpose, this sum to be immediately available and distributed to the teachers on or before June 1, 1918.

THE Carmine store building on Main street, Chestertown was sold yesterday by S. Scott Beck, Esq., to W. Frank Jarrell for $5,100 00.

A MEETING of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. Wm. T. Hicks on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 5, 1918, at 2 30 o'clock, p. m. Business of special importance.

THE special meeting of Fairlee Grange will be held next Wednesday afternoon. On account of storm no meeting was held this week. Sandwitches and coffee.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN spoke to a crowded house at Annapolis Tuesday afternoon. He paid his respects to Baltimore by calling it "saloon-ridden" and "brewery-ridden." He replied to W. L. Marbury's arguments and attacked the saloons without gloves.

THE TOMATO MARKET

The farmers of Kent county never were in a more unsettled state over the tomato situation than at present. Last year, when $15 per ton was offered for tomatoes, he thought the climax had been reached, but before the season was half over, he found out his mistake. The prevailing price on the market for those who did not contract was from 45 cents to $1 05 per basket. The NEWS, on good authority, can state that a packer in Kent county is ready to pay 40 cents per basket for the coming season. Some of the farmers in Still Pond neighborhood have placed 50 cents as their figure.

At the annual meeting of the Tri-State Packers' Association, held in Philadelphia January 23 and 24, resolutions were passed urging upon the government, wherever poseible, that those engaged in agricultural and food industries, as well as the labor necessary thereto, be relieved from milltary service, also calling upon the farmers to co-operate by growing the greatest acreage possible of sugar corn, peas and tomatoes at prices which, while liberally rewarding the farmer and in keeping with prices for other farm products, will yet patriotically help to decrease the high cost of living and lighten the already "heavy burden" for our people at home and our allies abroad, and in this patriotic effort both farmer and canner must co-operate with the utmost enthusiasm and mutual good will.

HOG CHOLERA HERE

How To Treat The Disease—Department Of Agriculture Tells Farmers How They May Successfully Combat Ravages Of Dreaded Malady.

Due to the presence of hog cholera in Kent it would be wise for our farmers to familize themselves with the simptoms and remedies for the disease, which has caused great loss in recent years.

Cholera is a highly infectious disease, the virus being carried by dogs, cats, buzzards, implements or persons from infected districts. It is more prevalent in the summer and fall months.

Diagnosis of Hog Cholera

An early diagnosis of the disease is very important if the outbreak is to be controlled or the herd saved. A thorough diagnosis depends upon:

1. The history of the outbreak.
2. The symptoms shown.
3. The abnormal appearances found in the body of a hog dead from cholera.

Symptoms

1. Loss of appetite.
2. Weakness of limbs.
3. Chills, high fever—104-109, norma 101-104.
4. Dullness and inflammation of eyes.
5. Resent being disturbed, joints stiff.
6. Rough coat, hacking cough.
7. Breath abnormally fast.
8. Often red or purple discoloration of skin on ears, belly, nose or between thighs.
9. Digestive disturbances, become emaciated and may develop a chronic form of the disease.

Prevention and Control of Cholera

1. Prevent contamination.
2. Practice sanitary methods, so as to keep the natural resistance of the hogs high.
3. Control through inoculation or vaccination.

The three methods of innoculation are: serum alone, simultaneous and combination treatments. The serum alone is the simpler and less expensive. This treatment consists of the introduction into the hog of anti-bodies produced in the body of a hiperimmune hog. These anti-bodies effectively protect against hog cholera for from several weeks to three months, by which time the outbreak is usually under control. The other two methods of innoculation give permanent immunity, but can be administered only by a competent veterinarian.

The cost of the serum runs from 25 cents for a 50 pound hog to 75 cents for a 200 pound hog. The cost may now be somewhat higher. However, it is business to insure against loss. If there is cholera in your immediate neighborhood experience would advise this kind of insurance. There is no sure cure for hog cholera. There is a preventative. The time to lock the stable is before the horse is stolen.
