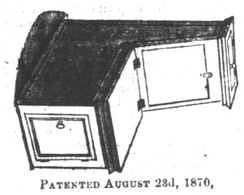
The American

EARTH CLOSET,



PATENTED AUGUST 23d, 1870,

By

C. KIEFFER & J. R. D. SEEDS.

THIS Closet is intended as a general substitute for all out-door houses and water closets. It may be placed in dressing room, bed room, or closet, without the least inconvenience or annoyance if directions below are properly attended to.

Earth or Coal Ashes must be well dried or freed from moisture, before filling the hopper; it must be well sifted to free it from stones and coarse particles. When the hopper is filled, raise and drop the lid before using it. This will leave one discharge of earth in the receiver, and it is ready for use until the contents of the hopper is exhausted, when it will again have to be filled, and its contents used as before.

The Closet is invaluable for the sick chamber, it being a complete disinfector and deodorizer; no offensive odor whatever. It may be placed close to the bed of the sick and remain any length of time without the least annoyance to the attendants or the patient, and no doubt prevents the spread of many contagious diseases in a family.

NEXT, A GREAT SAVING.

Independent of the great convenience of the Closet, the refuses of the Closet can be made a source of profit. The lowest estimate I have seen is $5, for each member of a family, old and young, a year, and the excrements can be handled and applied where it is wanted without half the annoyance of common fertilizers.

This Closet need only to be seen to be approved, and used to be appreciated.

Extract Catawba

GRAPE PILLS.

Component Parts—Fluid Extract Rhubarb and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

FOR LIVER COMPLAINTS, JAUNDICE, BILIOUS AFFECTIONS, SICK or NERVOUS HEADACHE, COSTIVENESS, ETC. PURELY VEGETABLE, CONTAINING NO MERCURY, MINERALS OR DELETERIOUS DRUGS.

H

These Pills are the most delightfully pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone, and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the finest ingredients. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar-coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. Price Fifty Cents per Box.

E

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS OF DISSIPATION, ETC.

In all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the 'Poison' has, by the use of 'powerful astringents,' been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after Marriage.

Use Helmbold's Extract Buchu for all Affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. Price, One Dollar and Fifty Cents per bottle.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

cannot be surpassed as a Face Wash, and will be found the only specific remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples, Spots, Scorbutic Dryness, Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels Redness and Incipient Inflammation, Hives, Rash, Moth Patches, Dryness of Scalp or Skin, Frost Bites, and all purposes for which Salves or Ointments are used; restores the skin to a state of purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most superlative and congenial character, combining in an elegant formula these prominent requisites, Safety and Efficacy—the invariable accompaniments of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent Lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the Extracts Buchu, Sarsaparilla, and Catawba Grape Pills, in such diseases as recommended, cannot be surpassed.—

THE METHODIST, of New York, has always been edited with marked ability by Rev. Dr. CROOKS. Its publishers have just added to its editorial corps, Rev. ABEL STEVENS, an equally experienced journalist, and author of the best History of Methodism extant. They have also engaged contributions and sermons from the Rev. T. DE WITT TALMAGE, whose success and popularity as a preacher, writer and lecturer, are almost unexampled, and whose free Tabernacle in Brooklyn, with its congregation of over 3,000 people, is one of the marvels of the age. Rev. HENRY WARD BEECHER has a Lecture Room Talk every week.

THE METHODIST abounds in good things, is never dull or dry, has stories for children, hints for farmers, and something for everybodo. THE DRUNKARD'S DAUGHTER.

BY G. W. BUNDAY.

Out on the street with naked feet
I saw the drunkard's little daughter;
Her tattered shawl was thin and small;
She little knew, for no one taught her.

Her skin was fair, her auburn hair,
Was blown about her pretty forehead;
Her sad, white face bore sorrow's trace,
And want and woe that were not borrowed.

Heart-broken child, she seldom smiled,
Hope promised her no bright to-morrow;
O, if its light flashed on her night,
Then up came darker clouds of sorrow.

They softly said, "We have no bread,
No wood to keep the fire a burning;
The child was ill, the wind so chill,
Her thin blood to ice was turning.

But men well fed and warmly clad,
And ladies robed in richest fashion,
Passed on the side where no one cried
To them for pity or compassion.

That lone night fled, and then the light
Of rosy day in beauty shining,
Set the dome and spire and roof on fire,
And shone on one beyond repining.

Asleep—alone—as cold as stone,
Where no dear parents sought her;
In winding sheet of snow and sleet,
Was found the drunkard's lifeless daughter.

A LETTER FROM JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, OF MASSACHUSETTS.

QUINCY, May 6, 1871.

A. Warren Kelsey, Esq:

DEAR SIR—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a communication from you enclosing two extracts from newspapers upon which you request my criticism; and I infer from your letter that you wish to learn my opinion upon the public questions discussed in those articles.

You are quite welcome to them if you are willing to accept them as simply the speculation of an individual. I represent nobody, and do not boast a follower in the world; nor do I know that my notions are shared by any considerable portion of any party.

The people of the United States feel instinctively that they are going wrong, but they are told that it will be dangerous to retrace their steps. They know that the path upon which they have entered is beset with pitfalls; but even a bad pass is better than the precipice. The sweep of reaction is stayed by the dread of revolution. The policy of shrewd Democrats and the duty of good citizens is to dispel this apprehension, no matter how foolish it may seem to them. Short of honor and good faith no sacrifice should be deemed severe which would suffice to lay that haunting spectre. For that reason I deplore the halting, hesitating steps with which the Democracy is sneaking up to its inevitable position. For this cause I share your regret at the ambiguity which seems to search for a sallyport through which to dodge its destiny. And while I better like the spirit, I equally condemn the policy of those who openly proclaim their purpose of revolution. Such indications of sentiment annoy me, simply because they prolong a situation fraught with great danger to the dearest interests of us all. The dominant party can retain a power which has grown too great for the public welfare only by an indefinite extension of the moral conditions of the civil war.

The Republican organization can rally to no cry but a slogan, and conquer under no standard but a spear. The party needs strife to insure its success, but good feeling is necessary for good government.

Now the hostility to the Fifteenth Amendment is the stock in trade of the fomenters of strife; is it worth gratifying at the risk of permanent subjection?

The South is galled to-day, not by the presence of the amendments to the Constitution, but by the utter absence of the Constitution itself. They feel a Congress which assaults them, but they find no Constitution to protect them.

Is it not silly then to squabble about an amendment which would cease to be obnoxious if it was not detached from its context?

It is quibbling upon a technicality of law, and relinquishing the substance of liberty. The Constitution was struck down by the assault upon Sumter, as all constitutions must necessarily fall before the face of the supreme arbitrament of war. It can never be lifted up while war is flagrant. The people will never resign the attitude of hostile vigilance which is the real significance of the present administration until they know that no one of their war trophies is longer disputed. Then they will gladly resume the habits which they love and the good nature which they repress. What then is the meaning of the grotesque contortions of those who profess a fondness for camels and yet strain so fantastically at this gnat? For the essence of all democracy is equality—nothing but the equality of all men before the law. Equal and exact justice to every man, and each to share in the government of all. That is the only genuine democratic doctrine. But who dares face an intelligent people upon his lips, and denounce a measure which is too democratic for Democrats only because the enfranchised are black? Surely the Northern Democracy should not be forced into such stupidities by the conscientious scruples of their southern brethren. Deference is doubtless due to their constitutional qualms, and yet some lenity toward revolutionary processes of amendment might be reasonably expected from supporters of secession. If we can condone the fault, is it too much to ask paroled prisoners of war to pardon it?

No! You have given our cry, "Universal amnesty and universal suffrage." I would only add the constitutional Union of the States. For the old Constitution is just as good as it ever was, for South as well as North, in spite of the marks of the mailed hand which must remain upon for a warning to those that come after us. There is nothing in it now which is not perfectly compatible with the happiness, welfare, and liberty of all the people of all the States. It is only the Administration that is at fault; it is the interpretation which is violent. Do you imagine that Thomas Jefferson, do you think that James Madison would say that their old organic frame permits a protective tariff or paper money; authorizes national banks or Presidential diplomacy; countenances military tribunals, centralization, and the crowning and perfect infamy of the Ku-Klux bill?

It was never the Constitution which invaded or conquered a State; it is not the Constitution which oppresses the States. It was war—civil war. Close the war, and you restore self-government to the States. If they cannot secure their own peace and happiness, let us look around next year, not for the next President, but for the next Dictator.

Now, if you or any other man doubt the soundness of my judgment in this matter, all I ask is a true Democratic administration, and you shall see it for yourself. Yours respectfully,

JOHN Q. ADAMS.

AN INFAMOUS ENACTMENT.—How infamous in a Republic should the party be held that confers upon its candidate for President the power in time of peace to suspend the writ of habeas corpus, and declare martial law over the whole or any part of the country at his own will and pleasure, he to be the sole judge of the time, occasion and necessity. Grant has been put in possession of despotic powers, with the army and navy placed at his control to enforce his decrees; and all for the purpose of enabling him to re-elect himself. It is a crime against the principles of American liberty that should receive universal execration. A grosser insult could not have been offered to the people of the United States. A stronger proof that the 1776 no longer animates American citizens it would be impossible to present than the passage of the Force bill conferring upon the President the powers of a despot, and the people resting in supineness, and not calling the perpetrators of the outrage to summary punishment.

THE BRAINS OF THE PARTY.—Wendel Phillips leads the Radical party. He does not walk abreast of the officeholders, nor fawn at the feet of the favored. He is the pioneer. He cuts down the trees, opens the road, and prepares the way for the party. Do you doubt this? Said Mr. Phillips to Mr. Mr. Lincoln in 1862: "Issue a proclamation declaring the slaves of the South free." "I can't do it, and I won't," answered Mr. Lincoln. But he did it. "Hold the South as conquered territory, and fix the bayonets of your armies at the throats of her people," said Mr. Phillips in 1865. "Oh, no, that would never do," answered the Radical party. But the cotton crop had not ripened in 1866. Before every inch of Southern soil was at the mercy of satraps in epaulet-straps. "Reconstruct the Constitution of the United States," said Mr. Phillips in '66, "and incorporate into the organic law of the land the malicious spirit engendered by civil conflict." Radicalism hesitated, wavered, yielded, and in 1867 the Fourteenth Amendment was declared.

RESTORATION OF INDEPENDENCE HALL.—A suggestion has been made to restore Independence Hall as nearly as practicable to its condition and appearance in 1776. This should be done. The Hall as it is now fails to satisfy the patriotic anticipations of many who regard it with the highest veneration. It is a great mistake to make it a curiosity shop. Some of the objects there now are possibly as fitting as any other decorations could be; but others are sadly out of place, and detract from its dignity. Every person of good taste, and especially every one who cherishes the memory of the immortal event of which the old Hall was the scene, should wish to have the restoration made, with the tables of the President and Secretary, and a fac simile chair for each one of the illustrious fifty
