Democratic Tendency.

In the language of Patrick Henry, we know of no way of judging the future but by the past, and judging by the past we wish to know what will be the future of this country if Democracy again asserts its control, and its fond and cherished institutions are reanimated from amidst the political wreck and ruin into which it has crumbled before the advancing car of progress and enlightenment. That our country has prospered in former years under the Democratic regime we do not for one moment doubt. The fact is too clear to be denied. But when its champions saw that its power was broken by the creation of a party advocating more liberal ideas, and more in consonance with the declaration of our fathers, it immediately set to work to undo that which had been effected by the patient toil of years. That one grand act has branded that party with eternal shame, and, shorn of its former glory, it stands to-day as the apologist of treason. It sought to obliterate the landmarks of Republican government and establish an Aristocracy in its stead. The Union of these States, framed and cemented by the blood of our revolutionary sires, it endeavored to disrupture, and plunged the nation into the horrors of civil war.—It has made dreary and desolate the homes of thousands both at the North and at the South, and filled the land with widows and orphans. It has laid waste our fertile valleys, and caused gaunt and ghastly famine to stalk abroad in the land, and the cry of starving humanity comes up from every quarter of the South. All the opprobrium and disgrace known to the worthy seions of Democracy they labored persistently to fasten on those who were nobly battling for the cause of truth and justice. They murdered in cold blood the people's President, and cast a shadow of gloom over the land which is yet visible. In a word, they fought against every principle at variance with the cursed institution of slavery, and for its preservation they were willing to destroy the government.

But, thanks to an overruling Providence, the dogmas of secession and slavery have been scattered to the four winds of heaven. The power of Democracy has been broken, and the more sublime and more potent principle of universal justice to all men is now proclaimed on free America's soil. We have advanced to a higher degree of civilization, and unexampled prosperity and happiness awaits us. We have endowed millions of human beings, lately crouching beneath the slave-driver's whip, with all the rights of citizenship, and our march is henceforth onward and upward.

And are the people of this country to abandon these glorious results, and allow themselves to relapse into the age of Democracy and barbarism? Every nerve is strained by the advocates of these measures to again bring about such a state of things. In Maryland this is particularly the case. The Constitution tinkers are busy at work in the State capitol, and the result of their labors are soon to be submitted to the people for their confirmation. Then are we to determine whether we will join with our friends at the North in the march to a higher, nobler sphere, or be dragged by the corrupt Democracy to flounder amidst the wreck and ruin it will entail upon us. If we allow the Constitution now being framed to be foisted upon us, we need expect no onward march either in wealth or intelligence. The blighting effects of slavery will never be removed at the hands of Democracy, but every effort will be made to resuscitate it. Our rich agricultural and mining interests will remain undeveloped, and our commerce will be hampered. We need labor, we need capital, and unless the power is wrenched from the hands of those who seek to degrade labor, our position is stationary, and the zenith of our glory is already attained. With Democracy is closely allied the idea of non-improvement, and it is only after the most cogent illustrations are afforded that it lends a helping hand to advance our country's good. On the other hand, the cornerstone of Republicanism is freedom and progress, and it is under its influence that this nation is to be built up, and our people excel in prosperity the civilized world. It has never proved recreant to its principles, but, being well defined and equitable, they have been rigidly adhered to, and are destined, at no distant day, to be acknowledged as the true theory of this government.

Ridgeley.

We may, perhaps, receive the censure of some of our friends in and around this place for speaking a word in behalf of the praiseworthy zeal of some of those who have lately taken up their abode with us, assisted by a number of our oldest and most enterprising citizens, in their attempt to build up a town that shall rival our own in population, wealth and intelligence. But we cannot refrain from our duty as public journalists, and allow county improvements to pass unnoticed by us, although we naturally feel more pride in our own town and the advancement of its interests. Wherever the spirit of enterprise is manifested, it is there we extend our commendations, and this spirit having been already commenced at Ridgely, we are willing to encourage the work to the best of our ability, and, at the same time, spread the knowledge of the enterprise into other counties and States.

This town of Ridgely is to be located on the farm lately sold by Mr. Thomas Bell to a company of Philadelphians, under whose liberal patonage and direction it is to be built. It is about four miles from Denton, immediately on the line of the Md. & Del. Railroad, which is expected to be completed to that point in a few weeks, an extra force of workman having been put upon it. The location of the town is very desirable, being situated on a gentle eminence, and commanding a view of the surrounding country.—It is to be made the depot for this place. The station house is already built, and a large frame hotel is being pushed rapidly towards completion. Forty houses, we understand, are already contracted for, and will be built the present year. A large brick yard is to be erected there, and many other conveniences not usually found in older towns in this part of the country are to be located so as to attract the attention of settlers in this county, and draw their capital to this town. Mr. Wm. H. Wilson intends, shortly, to remove his steam saw mill from our town to Ridgeley. Everything is being pushed rapidly forward, and the town of Ridgeley bids fair to rank in importance with any of its neighbors.

We hope the zeal manifested in the commencement of this town will not abate in the least, but be stimulated by the example of other towns whose sites a few years since were one vast wilderness in whose mazy depths the "wild fox dug his hole unscared." Let the good work be steadily pushed on, and if, through the enterprise of its citizens, Ridgeley outstrips Denton in importance we say amen.

NEGRO TESTIMONY.—The Constitutional Convention at Annapolis has adopted an order directing the Committee on the Legislative Department to report an order referring the whole subject of the right of the colored people to testify to the Legislature. This is equivalent to a refusal of the Convention to take the matter in hand, and justifies the course of the late Legislature in voting away the people's money to pay the fines of Judges and Justices of the Peace who would ignore the Civil Rights bill. The Delegates to the Convention proclaimed, prior to their election that the granting of this right would be one of the first acts of that body, and, as usual, they have been false to their promises. We hope the people of this county will remember this when the Democratic Constitution is submitted to them.

IMPEACHMENT OF PRESIDENT JOHNSON.—The Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives, which has for some time been engaged in investigating the charges preferred against President Johnson, adjourned on Monday till the 20th inst. The committee voted four to five against presenting articles of impeachment, but passed resolutions of censure declaring that "the President merited the condemnation of the people," ayes 7, nays two. The question of a July session of Congress is undetermined.

RETURN OF JUDGE KELLEY.—Judge Kelley, of Pennsylvania, who has been for a week or two making speeches in the South, arrived in Washington on Saturday, and expresses himself as agreeably disappointed in the tone of the sentiment of the Southern people. He says all are ready and desirous to accept the terms of the reconstruction acts, save a few editors and the stay-at-home men, who kept well out of harm's way during the fight. The Judge says he was well received everywhere but at Mobile.

Local Intelligence.

The Orphans Court of Caroline county will sit on Tuesday, June 11th, 1867.

JOB PRINTING.—We desire to call the attention of our patrons to the fact that we are enabled to do all kinds of job printing with greater facilities than ever before. We have just received and put up in our office a new printing press, and, together with a large and varied assortment of job type, we are now prepared to print all size bills, from a label up to a full sheet. Our charges are moderate, and all work will be executed with neatness and dispatch. Give us a trial.

LAND SALE.—Mr. Robert Dawson has sold his farm, containing about one hundred acres, situate on the county road leading from Denton Bridge to the Brick Mill, to a New Yorker, for the sum of $2,700.

SALE OF A FARM.—Dr. Wm. A Tatem will sell at public sale, on Tuesday next, his farm. It is a desirable location, and those in want of a home will have an opportunity offered them to purchase one.—See advertisement.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.—Messrs. Somers & Hitch have opened at Denton Bridge a lumber yard. Our community have long felt the want of such an enterprise, and now that it has been started we hope our citizens will extend to them their patronage.

CHANGE OF ROUTE.—The steamer Champion, of the Individual Enterprise Line, will hereafter run tri-weekly, between this place and Baltimore. She will leave her wharf at Denton every Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings; returning from Baltimore every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings. See advertisement.

REGISTER IN BANKRUPTCY.—Geo. M. Russum, Esq, of this town, has been nominated and confirmed by Judge Giles as a Register in Bankruptcy for the First Congressional District of Maryland, embracing the Eastern Shore counties. We have no doubt Mr. Russum will make an able and efficient officer, and will perform the duties of his office with credit to himself and honor to the Government.

SCHOOL EXHIBITION.—A very interesting school exhibition came off at Concord M. E. Church on Friday evening last, under the direction of Miss Sue Duncan.—the church was crowded to its utmost capacity, and the children all performed the parts assigned them with the greatest possible grace. This was the first exhibition that was ever given at that place, and the success attending it was of the most meritorious character.

MARYLAND EDUCATIONAL JOURNAL.—We have received the second number of this journal, and, from the cursory perusal we have given it, we feel no hesitancy in saying that it fully comes up to the point of merit which is claimed for it.—It is devoted to Popular Instruction and Literature, and has an able corps of editors. Every family should have this journal. Published by E. S. Zevely, Cumberland, Maryland, at $1.50 per annum.

A BOLD THEFT.—On Saturday night last, Mr. Barkalow, residing about four miles from town, left his horse and carriage standing in front of Redden and McMahan's store until a rather late hour, and whilst he was making merry with his friends, some thief unloosed his horse and drove off, leaving him to reach his home as best he could. A new suit of clothes was in the carriage at the time.—The horse and carriage have since been recovered, but the clothes are still missing.

ENCOURAGING.—Our books for the past month will show an increase in the circulation of the Union. Thirteen new names have been added to our lists. Situated as we are, and contending against the elements brought to bear against us, this result is highly gratifying. We will endeavor to increase the Union in interest to its readers, and hope our efforts will be amply rewarded. A little exertion on the part of our patrons would double our circulation, and we would then be able to present a paper that would compare favorably in size and appearance with any county paper in the State.

THE BODY OF ARTEMUS WARD.—The body of Artemus Ward arrived at New York on Friday, by the steamer Deutschland. It will be taken to Maine immediately for interment.

REPORTED FOR THE AMERICAN UNION.

PRESTON, June 3d, 1867.

John Allen, residing near the wood-wharf, just above Dover Bridge, met with an accident a few days ago, by being thrown from a refractory mule. He was considerably bruised, but his injuries were not considered serious by Dr. Stafford, who was called to attend him.

Two commodious dwellings are now being erected in this village—one for J. B. Fletcher Esq., and the other for our friend E. T. Moore, Esq., which, when completed, will add not a little to the appearance of things around town. Mr. Isaac L. Noble is "bossing" for Mr. Moore, and Wm. S. Bradley, for Mr. Fletcher—both competent workmen.

Our friend, Thomas F. Cox, leaves to-day for Talbot, to take charge of the job of Millwrighting for Captain E. L. F. Hardcastle, near Wye Mills. His work will be well done in the superintendence of Tommy; and Preston will miss him much during his absence.

The teachers of the 3d and 4th Commissioners District met at the Academy at this place, on Saturday last, and formed a Teachers' Association. We learn that a proposition will be submitted to the 1st and 2d District Association to unite and form a county Association, to meet once in each school term. We think that arrangement, if can be effected, will be an improvement.

The citizens in Bethlehem School District contemplate holding an election, at an early day, to vote for a new school-house. One is very much needed at that place, and no teacher is more worthy of a good and convenient building than our friend Trice. A neat school-house, with an efficient teacher will enhance the value of propety, in that locality, to four times the amount of the cost of the building.

H. P. Gootee of Baltimore, and Dr. Benjamin Gootee, of Smyrna, Del., are on a visit to this place, called by the extreme illness of their brother, William H. Gootee, Esq, who, it is thought, is past all hope of recovery.

There is but little doing, politically, in this part of the county—both parties seem to be holding their breath, and waiting to see what will turn up next. The friends of Jeff. Davis, are evidently alarmed at the coolness of the Republicans. Treason will yet be made odious.

NEMO.

(COMMUNICATED.)

GREENSBOROUGH, May 3d, 1867.

Mr. Editor:—In your editorial notice of the outrage perpetrated in our town a short time since you omitted to mention all the particulars in the case, and that which you have omitted I now furnish you. The statement you gave is correct so far as it goes. After the occurrence, the negro in mention made complaint before A. B. Roe, Esq., who issued writs for the arrest of the perpetrators, but for some cause none were made. When the parties learned that writs had been issued for their arrest, they immediately went to the place where the negro was at work, called him from it, and after they had got him a sufficient distance from his coworkers, they fell on him and beat him in a most brutal manner. They then threatened to take his life if he made any further complaints. Is there no redress for these wrongs, Mr. Editor? and especially when perpetrated by returned Rebel soldiers? Caroline stood firmly by the Government during the war, and if there is no redress by civil proceedure, then it should come under the notice of the military authority. You may hear from me again.

HORNPIPE.

A STATE TEMPERANCE CONVENTION TO BE CALLED.—The Board of Control of the United Temperance Organizations of the City of Baltimore, held a meeting at their office on Wednesday evening, at which it was resolved to call a State Temperance Convention to assemble in this city at an early date, said body to be composed of delegates from every county in the State, the ratio of representatives to be the same as adopted by other State Conventions.—The Board appointed a committee, consisting of P. G. W. Ward, C. W. Virtue, R. Booth, Rev. David Evans, A. Hyam and Alexander Lynch, to draft an address to present to the people of the State, urging upon them the importance of organizing ward, township and county temperance societies or clubs in each and every county of the State. They also intend to publish and distribute throughout the State, temperance documents. And for that purpose solicit contributions from the friends of the cause, the same to be left at the office of the Secretary, Alex. Lynch, No. 13 Lexington street, corner of Davis, or paid to the financial committee appointed to receive such donations. The Board intends to make every honorable exertion within their power to obtain for Maryland, a prohibitory or stringent liquor law license system. Also to enforce the present Sunday liquor law, every violation of which, if reported to them will be presented to the grand jury. The office of the association is open day and night, where temperance papers and other temperance documents are kept for the benefit of strangers and all friends to the cause. The officers of the Board consist of Robert Booth, John A. Applegarth and C. W. Virtue, Vice Presidents; A. Lynch, Secretary, and J. J. Grove, Treasurer.

—The Board expects that the friends of Temperance in Denton, and throughout Caroline county, will immediately organize temperance societies, and report to the office of the association the names of the officers and number of members in each association.

They also request the friends of the cause to forwhrd donations for the purpose of aiding them to defray the expenses of the association.

A NEW MOVE.—Petitions are being circulated through the city for signatures, to be presented to the State Convention at Annapolis, setting forth that the present mayor and city council of Baltimore are not the choice of a majority of the voters of the city, and praying the convention to make provision in the constitution for a municipal election in Baltimore, to be held as soon after the adoption of the constitution as possible, for the purpose of selecting a new municipal government.—Balto. Sun.

Although this is a new move, it is by no means an astonishing one, and, we imagine, the Convention at Annapolis will remove the Mayor and City Council without the presentation of any petitions. If they are removed, it will not be because they are "not a majority of the voters of the city," but because the spirit of loyalty is manifested in them. This is contrary to the teachings of Democracy, and, as such, must be wiped out.

—The Philadelphia Inquirer publishes the following special despatch from Baltimore:

"Preparations are making by a well known lawyer of this city to lay an injunction upon the State Treasurer at Annapolis, the Governor, Comptroller and other officials, to prevent their paying any money out of the State Treasury to defray expenses, in any shape or form, of the Constitutional Convention now in session in Maryland, or any expense for acts it may order, including printing, holding elections and all else appertaining thereto. This is to be done on the ground of the existing Constitutional Convention being unconstitutional and illegal. The case promises to be of much interest. The injunction is to be applied for in a few days. The particulars anon."

TRIAL OF ALLEGED MURDERERS.—Jas. Pippin and James McGinnis, under arrest for the murder of J. Edwin Roberts, at Church Hill, Queen Anne's county, Md., last fall, have removed their trials to Talbot county. They were removed from Centreville jail on Monday and lodged in Easton jail, where they now await their trial, which will commence on Wednesday next. James Ll. Martin, Esq, of Talbot, and Lloyd Tilghman and Albert A. Emory, Esqs., of Queen Anne's have been engaged on the part of the prisoners, as counsel. P. T. Kennard, Esq, of Talbot, and Thomas J. Keating, Esq, of Queen Anne's, will prosecute on the part of the State.—Easton Gazette.

—The pardon of George W. Gayle, of Alabama, who was charged with inciting the assassination of Mr. Lincoln, and is commonly known as the "million dollar man," because he offered to be one of a thousand to give ten thousand dollars each to procure the assassination, is announced. The reasons which induced the President to consent to the application are said to be the importunities of his wife, and the fact that Gayle is a poor half-crazy, harmless, worthless sort of a fellow, whom nobody credits with either energy or brains enough to carry out any such design as he talked about.—Balto. Commercial.

MARINE DISASTERS IN MAY.—Forty-five marine disasters occurred during the the month of May. Of this number three were steamers, seven were ships, seven were barks, three were brigs, twenty-four were schooners, and one was a sloop.—Seven vessels were abandoned, four were foundered, one was burned, one sunk after collision, and six are missing, supposed to be lost. The total value of property lost and missing is estimated at $2,585,600. The total losses during the first five months of this year, are estimated at $13,163,800, which is $750,000 less than during the same period last year. Balto. Sun.

THE CHOLERA.—Dr. Harris, Superintendent of the Bureau of Vital Statistics in New York, thinks the people of that city had better begin to prepare for another cholera visitation. In a long communication to the board of health he calls attention to the fact that the pestilence has been making rapid progress in various countries, and he recommends, accordingly, a free application of disinfectants. He says he does not desire to create unnecessary apprehension, but to rouse up the people to such timely preventive measures as will be most likely to secure them immunity.—Balto. Sun.

A BORDER STATE CONVENTION.—In compliance with the resolutions of the late Republican Convention which assembled in Baltimore on the 14th ult., the State Committee have issued a call for a Border State Convention to be held at Baltimore on the 12th of September.

CLOTHING.

THE undersigned would say, most respectfully, to the community generally, that he keeps on hand an assortment of to suit the seasons, at his tailoring establishment, No. 58 W. Fayette street, Baltimore, Md. Past experience induces me to say that I can give you as good a fit, and as much for the money, as any in the trade. If you will take the trouble to compare prices, I am sure you will give me a trial. As respects a fit, no one need hesitate; none shall go away without entire satisfaction. I would rather lose the sale of a garment, than a customer should hold me in unfavorable remembrance every time he puts it on. This is no humbug. Those who know me well will subscribe to what I say. My first object is to promote my own interest; the second, yours. Come and realize the fact. In furnishing their own goods can have them made and trimmed in good style.
