Short Items Arranged For Busy People With Little Leisure

Centreville has been invited to join the State Federation of the Boards of Trade.

Look out for an influx of mice from the fields and gardens to the house at the first frost.

The local option advocates in Cecil county are holding mass meetings almost every evening.

For the second time this year plum trees on a farm at Winans, Md., are in full bloom.

The first frost of the season was noticeable in Cecil county early on Sunday morning, October 2.

The Delaware State Medical Society will hold its annual meeting in Wilmimngton on October 11.

Good results always folow the use of Foley's Kidney Pills. They contain just the ingredients necessary to tone, strengthen and regulate the kidneys and bladder, and to cure backache.

Frank Thomas, a tenant on the Riley Melvin farm, near Felton, while operating a corn cutter, became entangled in the machine and had both legs severely cut. On one foot the heel string was completely severed.

Death, on Sunday last seperated for the first time since their marriage, Mrs. John P. Evans, of Port Deposit, aged 75 years, from her husband who is in his 84th year. The aged couple were visiting away from home when Mrs. Evans was stricken with paralysis and died.

The town of Frederica, Del., is threatened with an outbreak of diptheria, but the physicians have thus far been able to prevent any deaths from the dreaded disease among children. One child in a family in Camden has died and the schools of the town have been ordered closed.

Since the United States Cruiser USouth Dakota went into commission three years ago 800 men have deserted from her. The Naval officers are unable to account for the large number of desertions, but the enliste dmen say that it is due to the fact that the glamour of life in the navy is not all thatit is painted on the government circulars.

An interesting article on foot ball —"the new game," appears in the Youth's Companion of last week. Football this year is almost entirely a new game because of the extremely important changes in the rules and it is now more than ever necessary to study the rule book thoroughly. A summary of the new principles of play is given in the Companion for convenient reference. They might be called the ten cardinal points of the new game.

Henry Thompson, a farmer near Marydel, was stopped by a highwayman on the public road near that place on Sunday night a week ago. The farmer being a fearless man, when the man seized his horses bridle, drew his whip and lashed both horse and assailant, but this time he reckoned without knowing his man, for the highwayman fired and shot the farmer in the shoulder, inflicting a painful wound. The shot caused the horse to dart away and the farmer drove to a physician's for treatment. The highwayman was not apprehended.

"A Million for Tuberculosis" is the sentiment back of the Red Cross Christmas stamps, which will appear again this yerar. A slight change in the management of this pleasing Christmas charity is noted The American National Red Cross is to issue the stamps as usual, but it will work in close co-operation with the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which will share in the proceeds. Moreover, the stamps are this year to be known as "Red Cross Seals," and are to be applied to the back of the letter instead of the front

SAVED FROM THE GRAVE

"I had about given up hope, after nearly four years of suffering from a severe lung trouble," writes Mrs. M. L. Dix, of Clarksville, Tenn "Often the pain in my chest would be almost unbearable and I not do any work, but Dr. King's New Discovery has made me feel like a new person. Its the best medicine made for the throat and lungs." Obstinate coughs, stubborn colds, hay fever, la grippe, asthma croup, bronchitis and hemmorhages, hoarseness and whooping cough, yield quickly to this wonderful medicine Try it 50c and $1.00. BURIED BY SAND.

Within two feet of where Isaac Rash lost his life by a cave-in of a sand pit about two weeks ago ex-Policeman Frank Russell was buried alive Tuesday evening last, just before 6 o'clock.

Russell, who had taken a contract to haul white sand from the fatal pit along side of St. Jones' River, was digging in the same place where Rash was caught, suffocated and crushed. Russell never had a chance, as the whole embankment came over on him and buried him in six feet of sand

Russell would have been left in his tomb long afterward, but George Brittingham, liveryman, whose cart Russell was using, became anxious about his being in the same pit, and went to look for him. A searching party was formed and Russell, cold in death, was finally dug out. Russell was 48 years old, a member of a well-known family here and was recently married in Milford.—Dover Delawarean.

"IT BEATS ALL"

This is quoted from a letter of M. Stockwell, Hannibal, Mo. "I recently used Foley's Honey and Tar for the first time. To say I am pleased does not half express my feelings. It beats alithe remedies I ever used. I contrtaced a bad cold and was threatened with pneumonia. The first dose gave great relief and one bottle completely cured me." Contains no opiates. Sold by C. H. Redden, Denton, Md.

Lost Bride and Wallet.

Although William Griffen, of Worcester county was careful to try to get cut rates on a marriage license when he was in Georgetown, Del., a week ago, he tried to have the license fee of $2 50 reduced for that day only, he was careless in handing over his pocketbook with all of his valuables and money, amounting to about $75, to his bride, shortly after they were married and now, according to his son's statement, has lost both the bride and money.

Griffen met his bride, Annie C. Hand, near Bishop's, and took her to Georgetown, where, haggling over the price of the marriage license, finally paid the regular price and was married to Miss Hand by Rev. L. E. Pool, of the Wesley M. E. Church. After the wedding a short trip was taken to Ocean City, when after taking the old man's money for safe keeping, the bride, who claimed to be from New Jersey, disappeared.

The son claims to have information as to several cases in which the buxsom bride has figured in a similar manner, and believes that his father has lost both bride and money. The aged man, however, still has faith and is looking every day for his "dear" Annie's return.

Horace Greeley's Cabbage.

Judge Nathan Gough of Clarksburg, W. Va., who served four terms in Congress before being appointed to the Federal circuit bench, told at the Waldorf a story of Horace Greeley. Judge Gough's father got well acquainted with the editor at the organization of the Republican party in 1856 and when the boy came up to go to school here in New York in 1860 he brought a letter of introduction.

"Mr. Greeley seemed to take a fancy to me," said Judge Gough, "and I really saw quite a lot of him. When the time came to go home the Clarksburg fair was about to be held and my father invited Mr. Greeley to accompany me and take a look at the fair, which was a greeat event in those days.

"To my surprise he accepted the invitation and spent the week enjoying the products of the region and meeting both old line Whigs and rampant Democrats. He was especially interested in the truck raised by an old Germn who used to grow bigger cabbages, turnips, potatoes and beets than anybody else and always took prizes.

"The enormous cabbages displayed by the German were especially admired by Mr. Greeley. He pointed at one that seemed equal to filling a bushel basket.

"'How much does it cost you to raise such cabbages?' he asked the farmer.

"'Oh, about two cents a head on the average,' was the reply.

"'Great Guns!' Mr. Greeley ejaculated. 'Why on my farm at Chappaqua it costs me according to the accounts I keep, exactly $4 a head to raise cabbages.'"

THE CALL OF THE BLOOD.

for purification finds voice in pimples, boils, sallow complexion, a jaundiced look moth paethes and blotches on the skin—all signs of liver troubles. But Dr. King's New Life Pills make rich red blood; give clear skin rosy cheeks, fine complexion, health. Try them. 25c at all druggists.

NEW DOUBLE TRACK.

The work of double-tracking the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad between Delmar and Cape Charles is progressing rapidly, and before the busy fruit season next Summer will have been completed. The double track has now been completed for 45 miles out of the 95—the entire distance.

Large concrete culverts have replaced the wooden bridges at King's Creek and Princess Anne, and several smaller ones have been put in at other places; large repair shops have been erected at Cape Charles, while a concrete bulkhead, the third of its kind in this country, has been put along the water front at the warehouse in Cape Charles, while a concrete pier for supplying coal to the tugs and barges is being built on the other side of the harbor, and work trains are busy unloading gravel on parts of the road that need it most.

Besides all these improvements new stations have been opened at Mears and Greenbush. A new depot has been built at Lecato and other station improvements are contemplated at Salisbury and Crisfield.

Orphans' Court.

Orphans' Court was in session on Oct. 4th, with Judges Clark, Liden and Fleetwood present and the following business was transacted:

Mary E. Conly, administratrix of Elisha F. Conley, presented an account of personal property, which was approved.

In the matter of the real estate of Alexine P. Mowbray, deceased, bill of complaint for the sale of same was filed by Fred R. Owens, solicitor, Alberta Webster et al. vs. John E. Mowbray et al. Subpoenas against defendants and order of publication was granted.

Fred R. Owens was appointed administrator of Maggie G. Owens, deceased. Bond filed and approved. Notice to creditors ordered.

Cold Winter Ahead.

John T. Roberts, the well-known weather prognosticator, of Darby, Pa., who has been predicting the weather with certainty for the last 42 years, makes the announcement that a cold winter is ahead, but declares it will not be as severe as it was last year, when he predicted the big blizzard within a day. "December will open up with rains and snows," he declares, "and will become slightly warmer towards the latter part, but January will come in cold and will continue that way all the month. Zero weather will be reached for several days and below or near the freezing point all duing the month. February will be cold and stormy in the early part of the month, with slightly moderated weather in the last half, with rain and snow."

A GOOD POSITION

can be had by ambitious young men or ladies in the field of "wireless" or railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per $month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates six official Institutes in America, under supervision of R. R., and Wireless officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati, O., or Philadelphia, Pa.

Rev. A. W. Lightbourne, pastor of the People's Church, Dover, was honored at the session of Ray's Hill and Southern Pennsylvania Conference, Christian Church at its session at Everett, Pa., last week, by being elected President of the Conference. He was also elected a delegate to the General Conference of the Christian Church, which meets in Troy, Ohio, next month.

W. B. Jordon, of Pedro Migute, Canal Zone, Panama, is visiting his family in Dover. Mr. Jordon speaks highly of the progress of Panama Canal work. He says the climate and living accommodations there are ideal, even better than in the States. The Sanitary Commission has rid the country of all pests. They have no more yellow fever and the zone has been entirely ridden of flies and mosquitoes Mr. Jordon says that if the Sanitary Commission is notified of the appearance of a single fly or mosquitoquito they will immediately dispatch a corps to capture or exterminate it. The best hospital treatment is available to every one at the nominal charge of one dollar a day.

Board Of Trade At Hurlock.

One of the largest meetings of the business men and citizens ever held in Hurlock was that of Thursday night last, when a Board of Trade was formed with the following officers. G. T. Bell, president; Jasper L. Thompson, vice-president; Edward F. Webb, secretary, and R. Lee Glover, treasurer. The Board of Directors is as follows: G. T. Bell, J. L. Thompson, R. L. Wright, J. B. Andrews, W. S. B. Cottman, F. P. Corkran, Samuel Morris, L. K. Harper, H. P. Griffith, J. H. Cottman, B. F. Johnson, S. E. Harper and Edward F. Webb.

Messrs. R. Lee Glover and Jasper L. Thompson were elected delegates to the meeting in Cambridge, October 26, to represent Hurlock in the formation of a State league of Boards of Trade.

WORSE THAN BULLETS.

U Bullets have often caused less suffering to soldiers than eczema L. W. Harriman, Burlington, Me., got in the army, and suffered with forty years. "But Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me when all else failed," he writes. Greatest healer for sores, ulcers boils. burns, cuts wounds, bruises and piles. 25c at all druggists.

Indian Skeleton Found.

On Thursday Mr. Marion Elliott, while digging sand from the top of the hill that rises near the foot of the bridge, on Elliott's Island, unearthed what is supposed to be the skeleton of an Indian chief, as were found some twenty or more stone arrow heads, several stone hatchets and axes. The teeth of the old warrior are as perfect as they were the day he was burried which, no doubt, was several centuries ago. The skeleton was found directly in the path over which vehicles of all kinds have passed for hundreds of years, thus being in keeping with the treatment his race received at the hands of his white brother when he first landed on American soil, the home of the Red Man.

This is not the first remains of the Red Skin that has been unearthed on Elliott's Island. Several have been washed from the banks that border the bay; others have been discovered in different ways, thus proving that at some future time there must have been quite a colony there.

Prevention of Smut in Wheat.

Many of the farmers in this county sold their wheat this year at a reduced price on account of smut in the grain. The following article from the State Experiment Station should be of interest:

"During the past few weeks many inquiries have been received by the Experiment Station regarding the treatment of smut in wheat and considerable damage is reported in many sections of the Eastern Shore. It has been estimated that in price alone, farmers, this year, in the smut district, have lost $300,000, some wheat selling as low as 65 cents per bushel on occount of smut. This is an unnecessary loss as the smut which caused the loss can be easily prevented by treating the seed as described below:

"There are two kinds of smut, the stinking smut and the loose smut. The two are easily distinguished from each other. The stinking smut as the name indicates, has a characteristic odor and is usually not discovered until harvest or threshing time. The loose smut appears at heading time, the whole head being almost a solid mass of smut. Later it all disappears and only the stem of the head is left. The stinking smut is the most objectionable as it greatly deteriorates the value of the flour. Loose smut never lessens the selling value of wheat and the only damage is the decrease in yield which in Maryland the past two seasons, varied from a trace to ten per cent.

"The stinking smut is distributed by the spores (the black smut is distributed by the spores the black smut dust which corresponds to seed in higher plants) adhering to the grain. And in order to prevent this smut, all that is necessary is to kill the adhering spores. It seems to be necessary for the smut spore and wheat grain to be planted in the same place or no infection results. Infection by scattering in fields is very slight, if any at all takes place.

"There are a number of substances with which the seed can be treated for stinking smut but the most simple as well as cheapest is formalin. This should be used at the rate of one pound (one pint) to 40 or 50 gallons of water. Wet the seed with this solution thoroughly either by immersing or by sprinkling. If the seed is immersed it should be left in the solution for ten minutes then spread out to dry. If the solution is sprinkled on, the seed should be raked over until every grain is thoroughly wet, after which the seed may be piled up and left for one-half hour or a little longer and then spread out to dry. After the seed is dry it may be sacked and used when needed. It will take nearly a gallon of solution to one bushel of wheat.

"The treatment for loose smut is much more difficult. The seed must be first soaked in cold water for five or seven hours, then immersed for ten minutes in hot water heated to 130 degrees F. If the temperature goes above 132 degrees F., the germination of the seed will be injured; and if the temperature falls below 124 degrees F., the treatment is not effective.

Agronomist.

LAUGHING FOR IT.

"The people who don't have to do things can always do them better than the people who are obliged to do them," said the cynical bachelor. "If you want to know how to invest money ask a fellow who has never had any to invest. I suppose it's the same with raising children. Nevertheless, I am fond of children, and, never having had an opportuniny of raising any of my own, I am critical about the way of other people, more fortunate than I, raise theirs.

"My brother has a youngster, a boy about six years old, and everything that kid wants he cries for. The minute he begins to cry he gets it, which according to my reasoning, is all wrong.

"Why not make him laugh for it? It's just as easy for a child to laugh as to cry, and it's far more healthful, besides being much more cheerful for the surrounding populace.

"I've tried the experiment with him and it works like a charm. If I happen to have anything he wants and cries for it I make fun of him. 'That isn't the way to get it,' I say. 'Don't cry for it. Laugh for it.'

"It took only about two lessons for him to understand this, and you have no idea what a wonderful change it has made in the disposition of that kid. Still, I'm only an old bachelor and I'm not supposed to know anything about such things."

A GOOD THING.

Here is a good thing we gather by the wayside: "Have you a boy or girl in school? If you have, help them to understand they must obey the rules of the school. Heaven knows that the work of the average school teacher is hard enough without having a lot of bulky pupils to discourage disciple and block the progress of education. The worst thing that can happen to a school is to have within it a few pupils who are 'agin' all the rules of the system and whose balkiness is backed up and encouraged by misguided parents. No teacher under the sun will willingly abuse or discriminate against your boy or girl. There is no reason why any teacher should care to make his own work harder and the government of the school made more difficult by such process. If ever your boy or girl comes home with a tale of woe, investigate it thoroughly before concluding the public school system has been turned into a mere instrument for the persecution of your child. The chances are 100 to 1 that your darling hasn't had enough of the stern end of the discipline. Of course its human nature to 'jump into' the teacher; this helps the status of your child with the teacher; makes him more disciplined; keeps him in good humor and helps things generally, besides the uplifting effect it has on the kids morals. It may start a row that will disrupt the entire school and make civil war in the district. This is nothing, so that your precious offspring is allowed to defy authority and a horrid teacher is taught where to get off." ? ! !

Capt. Bogardus again hits the Bull's Eye.

This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed he said:—"I suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and used several well known kidney medicines, all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley's Kidney Pills I had severe backaches and pains in my kidneys with suppression and a cloudy voiding. On arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley's Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent. better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and again feel like my own self."

DEATHS.

MRS. SUSAN SNOW.

Mrs. Susan Snow, widow of the late Captain Snow, died at her home in Greensboro, Monday morning, of last week, at the advanced age of 84.

Mrs. Snow was a native of Kent county, Delaware, and moved from there to Tuckahoe Neck in 1878, Capt. Snow purchased a valuable farm. She resided there until the death of her husband, which occurred about 10 years ago, when she went to Greensboro, and made her home with Mr. Julian Davis, who is a distant relative. The body was taken to Smyrna, Del., on Tuesday and the funeral services were held on Thursday. Interment was made at the old homestead in Raymond Neck.

BILL MACCABEE, AGED 107.

Bill Maccabee, the oldest veteran of the United States' Navy, who celebrated his one-hundred-and-seventh birthday, September 22d, died early last week in the United States Naval Home, on Gray's Ferry road, Philadelphia, where he had been an inmate for thirty years.

"Old Bill," who in his day faced death in storm and shipwreck and the cannonade of hostile enemies, made his exit from life in bed, with his shoes off, amid the most quiet surroundings. His death had been expected for some time, and for a half-hour before he breathed his last he was unconscious.

For several days the surgeons at the home had noticed that "Bill" was declining rapidly and, when a few hours before his death, they made their rounds they found him unable to move. He was born in Baltimore.

The Farmer's Nightmare.

A farmer had a dream. He dreamed that he raised 4,000 bushels of corn and sold it for a dollar a bushell. This was Paradise, but he had not bumped around long before he discovered that he had sold his corn to 4,000 different people, each of whom refused to pay him his dollar. This was Hell, and he woke up in a cold sweat. Awakening his wife he exclaimed, "Rebecca, Rebecca, I'm going into town early in the morning and pay the Editor for my paper!"

How To Cure Rheumatism.

The cause of Rheumatism and kindred diseases is an excess of uric acid in the blood. To cure this terrible disease this acid must be expelled and the system so regulated that no more acid will be formed in excessive quantities. Rheumatism is an internal disease and requires an internal remedy. Rubbing with Oils and Liniments will not cure, affords only temporary relief at best, causes you to delay the proper treatment, and allows the malady to get a firmer hold on you. Liniments may ease the pain, but they will no more cure Rheumatism than paint will change the fibre of rotten wood.

Science has at last discovered a perfect and complete cure, which is called "Rheumacide." Tested in hundreds of cases, it has effected the most marvelous cures; we believe it will cure you. Rheumacide "gets at the joints from the inside" sweeps the poisons out of the system, tones up the stomach, regulates the liver and kidneys, and makes you well all over. Rheumacide "strikes the roots of the disease and removes its cause." This splendid remedy is sold by druggists and dealers generally at 50c and $1.00 a bottle. In tablet form at 25c and 50c a package. Trial bottle of tablets sent by mail on receipt of price 25c. Booklet free. Write to Bobbitt Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.
