LOVE JAILS YOUTH

Hears of Jealous Girl's Deception and Returns to Cell.

A. B. Spain, Formerly of Albion, Ind., Violated Parole When Told Young Woman Spurned Him—Located at Memphis, Tenn.

Jeffersonville, Ind.—Love for a girl and a desire to right a wrong he had done her through a misunderstanding, has prompted A. B. Spain, twenty-three years old, to return to the state reformatory here to serve the remainder of a term from which he was paroled after a violation of that parole.

Spain's story came out the other day in Memphis, Tenn., where he had been working for some time. He said that he was reared on a farm near Albion, Noble county. Several years ago, in a prank, he, with others, stole several bushels of corn from a neighboring farmer. The latter failed to see the joke, caused the arrest of the boys and some of them were sentenced to the reformatory.

Spain, who was one of those sentenced, served three years and two months of his time, and was then released on his promise, among others, not to leave the state. He returned to Albion and continued at the trade of a tailor, which he had begun to learn in a local institution.

There was a girl. Spain loved her, and finally proposed and was accepted. Life seemed to hold nothing but joy. The wedding was to take place as soon as he had saved enough money to furnish a comfortable home. Then one day another girl came to him with a letter which she said was written by his fiancee. It was as follows:

"Dear Bessie: I am going to look for a new flame and I want you to help me. That jailbird still thinks I am crazy enough to marry him. He doesn't have sense enough to know I have been laughing at him in my sleeves all the time."

Spain took the first train for Indianapolis. Then he went to Louisville, Ky., knowing he was violating his promise not to leave the state, but caring not. Finally he reached Memphis and obtained employment. Recently he received a letter from his brother, with whom he had kept up a correspondence. This told him that the girl he had left was grieving for him, and that the one who showed him the note had acknowledged that she wrote it because of jealousy for her more fortunate friend. "I am going back and serve my time," said Spain. "It's the square thing to do."

BLIND MAN'S CHILDREN AID

Sightless Candidate for Municipal Honors in England Visits 1,500 Electors in Person.

London.—A blind man who sought municipal honors is J. A. M. Kreamer, an independent municipal reform candidate, who took part recently in the Stepney borough council election. He is forty-nine years of age, and, though totally blind, visited every one of the 1,500 electors in the constituency.

"I am an independent municipal reformer," he said. "My sons, John and Harold, and my daughter Gracie are my youthful canvassers. John is thirteen years of age and is my guide and constant helper. Harold, aged eleven, and Gracie, aged eight, are also able assistants."

Mr. Kreamer has been blind since he was eight years of age. He has always taken a keen interest in politics, and is chairman of the North Ward (St. George's-in-the-East) Unionist association and ex-chairman of the Conservative club.

SISTERS WILL GET $500,000

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt to Make Gift to Protestant Organization of New York.

New York.—An endowment of $500,000 for the Big Sisters movement for the care of homeless and wayward girls o fthe Protestant religion is expected from Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, it was learned here. Mrs. Vanderbilt, who founded the movement, intends that this sum be applied, it is said, to make the organization an enduring one.

Announcement is expected from Mrs. Vanderbilt at the same time that she has given $150,000 for the erection of a spacious new home either on Long island or in West Chester county for the Big Sisters.

LIONS ARE GIVEN TURKEY

Kings of New York Zoo Get First Taste of Our "National Bird," and Like it.

New York.—The lions in the New York zoo has a taste of turkey recently for the first time in their lives. They have been brought up on dressed beef ever since they left a milk diet. Keeper Snyder bought a turkey for each of the ten. The animals were suspicious of the new food at first, but a few sniffs convinced them that it was all right, and when they were through not even a wishbone was left.

Girls Wear Gaudy Hose.

Marshalltown, Ia.—Thirteen high school girls who went to class wearing hose of gaudy hue, intending it as a joke were sent home to make a change to more somber shade.

MONTENEGRINS LONG VICTORS

They Are Reckless at Play and at Arms, but Honorable, Says a London Letter.

London.—It was Mr. Gladstone who once described Montenegro—the black mountain—as the shore where, after bloody Kossovo, the wreckage of old Servia was washed by the oncoming Turkish tide, says a London letter. They who escaped into these fastnesses were families of caste, chieftains and nobles, who for five centuries and more have remained unconquered.

Their very vices show breeding, a recklessness at play and an extravagance in dress. Yet gamblers though they are and dandies, they are honest as to cash, and if a purse of gold be dropped by accident upon the highway it will be discovered by its rightful possessor.

Prison life itself is ruled by honor, for convicts who may have pulled a trigger wander abroad, meet their friends, join in festivals, and are known only by the dull music of a clanking chain.

The Montenegrin is not devoid of education. He has his school in every hamlet, and there is an amazing story of the great Ivan, the prince who burned his capital Zabijak to save it from the Turk, setting up a printing press in Obod just twenty years after Caxton had begun his enterprise at Westminster. The machine vanished amid the chaos, but it revealed an instinct.

It is an armed men that the Montenegrins now interest us. When they go marketing to the Austrian coast town of Cattaro they are required by the authorities to rob their belts of the mighty pistol, but at the frontier they resume it, and it is the symbol of their liberty.

Humble homage to the queen is rigidly exacted by King Nicholas, and in the palace of Cettinje, princesses, so far from being disdained, are described, paternally, as "my country's most valuable export."

To behead one's enemy is the final joy of the Montenegrins, who, therefore, dislike long range artillery and the modern rifles which are received from Russia as Christmas presents for the reigning houses.

TOY DOG SCARES ELEPHANT

Stampeded by Black and Tan About the Size of Kitten, Beast Creates Havoc.

Paris, France.—Stampeded by a toy black and tan about the size of a small kitten, one of the hugest elephants Paris has ever seen did $1,000 worth of damage the other night in the traffic-thronged Boulevard Beaumarchais.

The elephant was shuffling along the boulevard for advertising purposes, attended by an ebony-skinned, white-turbaned mahout, armed with a long prod pole. Dashing from the crowd on the sidewalk, the dog opposed the elephant's further passage, offering battle with a cackle of wild yapping.

Horrified, the elephant wheeled and broke into a ponderous gallop, trumpeting shrilly. The dog pursued, snapping at his heels. The mahout tried to stop the runaway, but his charge was hysterical with terror. Into a tobacco shop he dashed full tilt. The door was too small for him so he took part of the wall with him.

Showcases went over and tables were smashed, chandeliers crashed to the floor and customers piled themselves in heaps in an effort to escape being flattened. The elephant had little time to waste on them, however. He merely tore down the rear wall and rushed into a back yard where, finally, the mahout caught and calmed him. Under cover of the confusion the dog vanished.

TELLS OF PREHISTORIC RACE

Interesting Disclosures in a Report to the Peabody Museum of Harvard.

Cambridge, Mass.—A report from field workers who have been in the west for the Peabody museum of Harvard describes a number of relics of a prehistoric race that once flourished in Nebraska and was sufficiently civilized to build permanent houses far different from the Indian tepees.

"We dug into the foundations of the abodes of these prehistoric people," says the report, "and secured a collection of flint and jasper scrapers, knives, shell spoons, arrow heads, bone hoes, besides various forms of polished axes, together with a great variety of ornaments."

HOTELS USE THUMB PRINTS

St. Louis Tavern Keepers Plan Identification System for Cashers of Checks.

St. Louis.—The adoption of the Bertillon thumb-print system to protect hotels against check frauds was advocated at a banquet of the St. Louis Hotel Clerks' association. John Lewis, a night clerk, urged a system whereby a stranger desiring to cash a check be required to ink his thumb on a rubber pad and register its imprint beside his written signature on the check. The members of the association adopted a resolution to bring the suggestion before the next meeting of the St Louis Hotelmen's association.

Hurled Cheese at His Wife.

Springfield, Mass.—Ordered by the court not to molest his wife, Stephen J. Kennedy thought he could evade the order by heaving chunks of cheese at her, but he was jailed anyway.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

BULLETIN.

Convenient Transportation Facilities.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, by main lines, branches, subsidiary lines, and connections, covers the Eastern country so completely that the people of almost every community may avail themselves of its facilities.

The lines reach the cities, the big towns and the little towns, so that whether the impulse to travel be for business, pleasure, or social purposes, it may be satisfactorily carried out, as far as transportation facilities are concerned, by taking a Pennsylvania Railroad train at the nearest point.

Through cars are operated over the lines between all important centres of population, and an excellent dining car service is available at the usual hours for meals on the through trains. The all-steel equipment of the trains adds greatly to the security and comfort of passengers.

The spirit of the holiday season stimulates the wish to travel, and the facilities of the Pennsylvania Railroad and its connections appeal with equal force to the home-coming young folks and the migrating people of maturer years.

The comprehensive train service, apart from the local trains well known in each community, covers a wide extent of territory.

BETWEEN THE EAST AND THE WEST.

There are splendid limited trains between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Harrisburg, Altoona, Pittsburgh, and points in the West, notably Chicago and St. Louis. Included among these are the "BROADWAY LIMITED," the 20-hour train between New York and Chicago; the "24-HOUR ST. LOUIS," to St. Louis and Chicago; "THE PENNSYLVANIA LIMITED," to Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, and Cincinnati; and the "CHICAGO LIMITED," to Chicago, Cincinnati, and Cleveland. These are all-Pullman trains and provide the highest grade of service. In addition there are a number of express trains to Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, Columbus, Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, and other important centres of the Middle West, which provide both Pullman and all-steel coach service. Among these are the "Chicago Special," "Chicago Express," "St. Louis Express," "Western Express," and the "Cleveland, Cincinnati and Chicago Express."

TO THE SOUTH.

Those contemplating a trip South, to the resorts of the Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, and the Gulf Coast, will find a number of fine trains between the important terminal cities of the Pennsylvania Railroad; and cars to the more important cities of the South, running through from and to New York via Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia. On January 6, 1913, the through Limited Trains between New York and Florida will be placed in service.

COMMERCIAL CENTRES LINKED.

An examination of the time tables of the Pennsylvania Railroad will show that practically all important commercial centres on its lines and connections are linked by through trains, through cars, or convenient connections, affording accommodating service.

Anyone who wishes to go anywhere should consult the nearest Ticket Agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He can give all the information a traveler requires.
