MORALS RELIGION AND COMMON SENSE

HELP YOURSELF BY HELPING OTHERS

In working to help others we do the most good to ourselves. The Alpine traveler who carried his freezing brother, saved both his brother and himself. In the effort to carry the brother, new warmth of blood was forced into his own veins and he was enabled to go on until a place of refugewas found for them both.

The miser who was going to drown himself found two sovereigns in his pocket, and thinking it a pity to waste so much money, he gave them to a poor woman who was starving for bread. When he saw how happy the money made the mother and her children, he bethought himself of how much happiness he could occasion by all his hoards of gold in his cellar. He gave up the idea of suicide and devoted the rest of his life to doing good. By helping others, he saved himself. Truly, "He that would have his life shall loose it, but he who looseth his life for My sake shall find it."

Eastern Shore Happenings

Thursday evening the new fire house of the Citizen's Hose Company of Smyrna was dedicated. There are 560 names on the "Honor Roll" and over $5000 has been paid to date. The Town Council appropriated a like sum to aid in the erection of the building. With this money and the funds previously collected in the treasury of the Citizens' Hose Company, a substantial part of the indebtedness incurred has already been met.

A splendid program was enoyed immediately following the parade. The program was held at the firehouse on West Commerce street. There was a band concert and speaking by Congressman Houston, Chief William J. Lutz, of the Wilmington Fire Department, and others. At the conclusion of the exercises the fire house was opened for inspection.

Both William P. Ward, chairman, and W. T. Gardner, secretary, of the Free Public Library for Salisbury drive are delighted at the progress being made in the campaign this week and believe that before the drive is ended the $1200 set as a minimum will have been substantially passed. Already over $1,000 in cash, checks and pledges are in the hands of the committee, which is made up of workers from the Rotary Club, Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce and Woman's Club, and many of the solicitors are yet to report.

An ambitious program, looking to the restoration of thousands of Queen Anne's county land to its former state of fertility by the scientific and practical elimination of acidity, was announced last week following a joint conference of the Queen Anne's County Farm Bureau and representatives of the Extension Service. This year the Farm Bureau and Extension Service sponsored a seed corn testing campaign which netted thousands of dollars to county producers. For the next twelve months the activities of these two agencies will be largely confined to an extensive and intensive campaign to eradicate "sour soil" from the map of Queen Anne's.

Chestertown, Md., Oct. 30.—As a precaution against an outbreak of diphtheria among school children of the town and community, Dr. J. P. Franklin, Deputy State Health Officer ,and Mrs. Brown, the county nurse, have offered to give what is known as toxin-anti-toxin treatment free of charge to all children whose parents are willing to have them take it.

Dr. Franklin proposes giving three treatments, and is offering his services at this time because already one case has been reported, and for the reason that this is the season when the disease makes its appearance.

* * *

Cambridge, Md., Oct. 29.—For the first time in the annals of Dorchester county, as far as is known here, a woman is being asked to pay alimony in a suit now before Judge Pattison. On September 17 Clara M. James filed a bill asking for a divorce from Joseph H. James, asking also for maintenance while the suit is pending an dfor counsel fees and alimony.

With an interruption of only a few minutes, made necessary in order to complete several vital tests, Centreville's new $9,000 Uniflow steam engine and electric dynamo went into action at the local municipal plant Thursday evening, October 29, at 6 o'clock. Since that time the big 240 horsepower machine has been humming along in perfect fashion and has responded admirably to every test to which it has been subjected.

The installation of the new Uniflow engine and dynamo adds tremendously to the generative capacity of the local municipal plant. The Town Commissioners are of the opinion that the splendid equipment will provide safe and satismactory service for many years, and will make possible the steady development of greater power demands.

The recent barrier of brush wood placed around the base of the Henlopen light under the direction of the Cape Henlopen Light Preservation Committee probably saved the tower from tumbling into the sea during the storm of Sunday, October 25th, according to Captain Wiggins, Commander of the U. S. Coast Guard at Henlopen.

Captain Wiggins after the storm stated that not only the tower was still standing, but that if anything the storm had strengthened its position.

"If the barrier of brush wood had not been there to keep the wind from around the base of the light, "Captain Wiggins said, "undoubtedly the tower would have fallen."

Georgetown, Del., Oct. 30.—Lower Delaware sportsmen are cleaning their guns and training their dogs in anticipation of the rabbit and quail season which opens November 15.

According to reports from rural sections, quail and rabbits have not been as abundant in many years as this season. It is believed that the new dog law has had a tendency to conserve the game.

Heretofore worthless dogs have been permitted to roam the woods and fields during the breeding season, and the result has been a wholesale slaughter of young game. Since the new dog law came into effect hundreds of these worthless canines, whose owners could not be located, have been killed in the several districts by the game wardens.

Sportsmen believe that with a more rigid enforcement of the law, which makes it mandatory on the part of a dog owner to keep them chained day and night during certain months of the year, there will be plenty of game and that Sussex county will, in afew years, become famous for its game preserves as it was three decades ago.

Salisbury, Md., Oct. 29.—One hundred men were thrown out of employment at Willards, on the east side of Wicomico county, when fire this morning consumed the lumber manufacturing plant of Hearne Bros. Company. The loss was estimated at $25,000.

A strong northwest wind swept the flames from the town, a greater part of which would otherwise have been jeopardized.

The blaze is believed to have originated in the boiler room, where sparks were blown into a pile of sawdust. The building was quickly destroyed.

Dover, Del., Nov. 2.—Governor Robinson has named delegates to represent the state at the 18th annual vention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association at Miami, Fla., November 23-26, as follows: Albert Warren, Felton; John C. Green, Georgetown; Charles H. Maull, Lewes; Timothy J. Mooney, Washington; E. G. Bradford, E. M. Davis, John W. Morris and Mayor G. W. K. Forrest, all of Wilmington.

Salisbury, Md., Nov. 2.—Shippers and consignees saved $201,502.42 during 1924 through use of the Wicomico river rather than all-rail routes for commodities shipped to and from Salisbury, according to estimates of W. T. Gardner, manager of the Traffic Bureau o fthe Salisbury-Wicomico Chamber of Commerce. Records previously obtained from shippers and watermen using the river as means of transportation disclosed nearly 100,000 tons during the year.

* * *

George C. White, Chief Inspector of Police of Baltimore, Monday received a telephone request from Salisbury to hold Samuel C. White for the Wicomico County authorities. White was arrested Sunday night on a train at Union Station. A warrant for his arrest was obtained last Tuesday in Salisbury after he had failed to report either Monday or Tuesday to the housefurnishing firm of T. J. Truitt, Inc., by which he was employed as a collector and salesman. It was alleged that he had collected $600 for the firm but had not turned in the money.

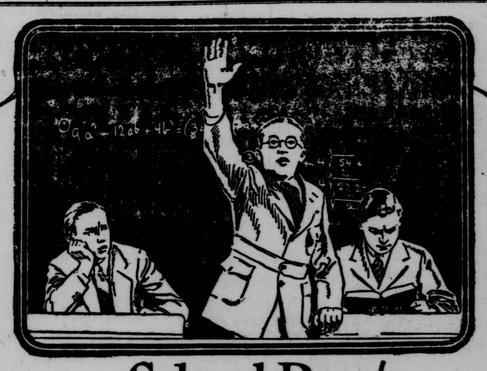
Easton, Md., Nov. 1.—A wild snow goose has been seen on a farm in Talbot county for the last 6 months or more. The bird was first seen last summer feeding with the domestic geese on Crosiadore, the farm of Edward Hughlett. Mr. Hughlett states that the wild fowl feeds with the domestic birds all the time, when driven off by the tamegeese circles about in the air for a time and then lights near the flock to feed again. It is presumed that the bird was hit by a gunner and was unable to keep up with its companions in flying over this section. The oldest sportsmen here cannot recall ever seeing these birds in this county.

* * *

Chestertown, Md., Nov. 1.—It was announced here yesterday by Superintendent Gordy, of the Marvil Package Company, that the big factory here will not be transferred to Sharptown as had been intimated for the past two weeks. The Chestertown factory is the largest industry in Kent county, employing between seventy-five and one hundred laborers when running on full time, and its weekly pay roll is an item of much value to the business interests of the town.

* * *

Easton, Md., Nov. 1.—At thebeginning of the season in Talbot county, tongers reported a scarcity of oysters. Today the reverse seems to be the case. Tongers report now a plentiful supply, but the mussels are covering the oysters in all localities. The cold weather has created a greater demand and theprices have advanced. A tonger last week after a day's work brought in forty bushels for which he received seventy cents a bushel. There are many more who are making big catches.



School Days/
Is your boy's eyesight normal?

Bob's parents knew the tremendous importance of normal eyesight to children. So they had Bob's eyes examined. The slight defect revealed was corrected easily (and in time), by the eyeglasses prescribed.

Hence Bob's quick answer—his better report cards.

Wellsworth Windsor spectacles are sturdy and good looking.
