APPLE TREES. The growers of this valuable and profitabl Fruit in Mayland generally have been sadly disappointed in getting trees from the north as winter varieties there, when planted here mature their fruit too early in the fall to keep through the winter with us. For this reason and to secure reliable winter keeping apples grew my Apple Nursery on my farm in Va. 300 miles south of here. I have a choice selection, which cannot for to give satisfaction, and have grafted largel of a variety called Smith's Horse (not the ol Horse apple.)
