MORALS RELIGION AND COMMON SENSE

There are no detour signs along the straight and narrow way.

The devil offers a prize for trespassing and hunting on his premises.

Only soft men hunt soft jobs.

When one sells principle for popularity, he is bankrupt.

Success always comes as a conquest, not as a bequest.

Nearly always, the man who has an exalted opinion of himself is a poor judge of human nature.

Boy, a young person who shouldn't do the things his father did at his age.

The old-time-religion is too good for many folks.

Cash, Courage, Convictions, Constitute Commendable Combinations.

Bringing in the sheaves, is the privilege only of those who have gone forth bearing precious seed.

Jesus attended church. As his custom was, he went into the synagogue on the Sabbath Day.

Eastern Shore Happenings

Cambridge, Jan. 28—Mrs. Benjamin Hart, of Andrews, a small village in lower Dorchester, lost her life in a fire that destroyed her home last night.

Mrs. Hart helped her husband, who is feeble, to escape from the house and then returned to secure some of her belongings. Before she could get out the roof fell and she was caught beneath it.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter by a former marriage, Miss Ernestine Taylor, Cambridge; two sisters, Mrs. William H. Hooper and Mrs. Belle Messick, Cambridge, and a brother, J. P. Eaton, of Baltimore.

Mrs. Hart was a daughter of the late Thomas C. Eaton, Cambridge. The funeral will take place from the home of her sister, Mrs. Messick, tomorrow afternoon.

Corsica river will not be abandoned by the United States government.

Official announcement to this effect was made this week by Major C. R. Pettis, district engineer for the River and Harbors Commission, following a survey of figures compiled by T. Rigby Valliant, in co-operation with the Queen Anne's County Chamber of Commerce.

Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough supplemented this information with other statistical data showing the importance of Corsica river as a shipping medium.

Cambridge, Jan. 28—Mrs. Kate Crompton Kerr, widow of Josiah L. Kerr, who at one time represented the First Maryland District in Congress, died this morning at the Woman's hospital, Baltimore, after an illness of several weeks.

Mrs. Kerr was the daguhter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George B. Jackson. She was a prominent member of the Woman's Club of Cambridge, of which she had been president, and a member of Christ Protestant Episcopal Church Cambridge.

Mrs. Kerr was the daughter of the Crompton Kerr; two sisters, Misses Jennie Jackson, Cambridge, and Cora Jackson, Middletown, Conn., and two brothers, Charles S. and Waldo Jackson, of Dorchester.

Seventy-five thousand dollars is being asked for a site and federal building for postal and other government purposes at Georgetown, Del., in a bill Representative Robert G. Houston introduced last week. It took the usual routine to the Public Grounds and Buildings committee.

Trappers throughout Queen Anne's county report that the catch of muskrats so far this year has been way below the average. Many have become so discouraged that they are taking up their traps. No one reports trapping more than about 25 per cent. of what was caught during the first month of last season.

The counties to the south of Queen Anee's are experiencing a most disastrous season, according to a report issued by the state game warden, as follows:

The dullest muskrat season in years throughout all the five counties which contribute the bulk of this industry in Maryland, is predicted by E. Lee Le Compte. While "Marsh Rabbits" brought $778,750 into these counties last year, the present outlook led the warden to estimate a return of less than one-tenth that amount for the present season. The scarcity, attributed by Mr. LeCompte to the severe drought last summer, is reflected in the price of pelts, which was $2 at the opening of the season. Top price last year was $1.50.

Dorchester, Wicomico, Somerset, Worcester and Talbot counties were included in the game warden's survey.

Out of a field of 750 entries, scattered throughout the United States, Hazel Biggs, a Houston club girl, was among the few successful winners of honors in the Fourth National Boys and Girls' Club Congress held at Chicago, in the canned goods competition.

Miss Helen L. Comstock, Kent county club agent, received word last week that Miss Biggs had had her jar of cherries selected as one of the best specimens of the art of canning cherries in the United States.

Miss Biggs is an industrious canner and apparently she put more than the ordinary amount of time and patience into the canning of this particular jar of cherries. As a consequence of being the winner in canning this kind of fruit, she has been the subject of many queries from friends and acquaintances as to any particular method or plan she developed in canning cherries that should have won for her this award.

A new building is being proposed for Easton by many leading citizens. Two events which cannot help but come are making this step imperative.

One of these events, it was learned, is the fact that the offices of the mayor and council are to be moved from their present headquarters on Dover street in the near future.

The second is the finding of larger quarters for the fire department if new apparatus is added the equipment of the Easton Volunteer Fire Department.

Chestertown, Jan. 31—Massey, Sudlersville and Crumpton, three of the largest towns in the upper section of the county, have joined Millington in a co-operative movement for better fire protection in order to secure a reduction in insurance rates and the Pennsylvania railroad is lending valuable assistance, especially to Massey, which is the junction of the Massey and Chestertown and the Townsend and Centreville branches of the company's Kent and Queen Anne's system. Sudlersville is installing large gasoline engines to pump water from artesian wells and fireplugs are being placed throughout the town to fit the couplings of Millington's big fire truck Massey is installing gasoline engines to pump water from tanks owned by the railroad company, which has a chain of artesian wells from which it draws its supply of water for its engines. Massey is also placing fireplugs similar to those in Sudlersville. At Crumpton, which recently suffered a $15,000 fire, is contemplated joining the protection movement.

Two hundred local farmers met in the Opera House in Centreville last Wednesday to receive their reports on soil recently subjected to a test as to acidity. The reports rendered ranged from a lime requirement of nothing to one of three tons per acre. Totals of the figures compiled in this work follow:

Acres under test, 35,851.
Fields under test, 1,549.
Tons of lime required, 12,095.
Per cent. fields needing no lime, 4.
Per cent. of total county land tested, 20.

The showing of a motion picture, produced by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company created much attentive interest. This picture depicted the manufacture of various sorts of lime, the use of this lime and promotional enterprises engaged in by various interests in connection with increasing soil fertility. Mr. E. B. Baugh, agricultural agent of the Eastern division of the B. & O. spoke during the showing of this film and vividly impressed everyone present with his accompanying talk.

The principal address of the day was delivered by Dr. A. G. McCall, one time professor of Agronomy in Beaune University, France, and now connected with the Maryland Experiment station in the office of soils. Dr. McCall defined various types of lime used in agriculture, explaining much of the chemical action of these products. His remarks proved interesting and valuable to all those present.

Chestertown, Jan. 31—Thieves in the vicinity of Kennedyville and Chestreville have been making numerous raids on farmers' meat houses during the winter, the latest being at the home of D. Webster Hill, when they carried off more than a ton of Hill's winter supply of hog meat. The theft was committed while the family was away from home.

This same neighborhood was the scene of frequent depredations last winter, and it is believed the same gang is at work again. It is believed the marauders are carrying their booty to Chester, Wilmington and other cities where they are selling it. Farmers in that section of the county lost between $700 and $800 worth of meat last winter .

Of particular interest to Queen Anne's county farmers was the announcement made this week that the firm of E. S. Valliant & Son, Centreville fertilizer manufacturers, had offered $250 in cash prizes as an incentive to promote a corn growing contest.

The objective of the proposed contest is to promote a greater interest on the part of local farmers, to secure greater yields. It is a known fact that land as it is ordinarily tilled produces only a fraction of its possibilities, as by proper selection of seed, correct tillage and equitable fertilization, yields have been known to increase four fold.

Due to the generosity of several owners of private electric plants, the citizens of Stevensville will be furnished lights for use on the public highway. The citizens are to furnish pales and wiring, which will be promptly installed, tapping in at different points to the privately owned plants.

These additional lights will be not only a great benefit to the towns people, but to the traveling public in general, as the thoroughfare through Stevensville carries enormous traffic.

The generosity and public spiritedness of these citizens is an exemplification of the co-operation among Kent Islanders in all matters which concern the public welfare.

TO THE PUBLIC !

It is not often that the management of this theatre takes occasion to personally recommend one of its attractions, but in the case of "The Freshman" we would be remiss in our duty not to express a public appreciation of a great artist and a great work of art.

"The Freshman" brings forth a greater Harold Lloyd than we have ever known. There is more laughter in it than any picture he has ever produced—but there is something more! A touch of pathos, a fringing of that narrow path that just divides comedy from tragedy—and makes Laughter divine!

We urge your attendance!

Friday and Saturday, February 5 and 6.
