THE GRUMBLER.

He grumbles in the morning On rising from his bed, He grumbles at his breakfast le grumbles at his napkin,

And grumbles at his wife.

When he buys a pair of shoes

When it strikes out the hour And he grumbles at the "deluge" When there comes a little shower. He grumbles at the children When they're playing in the street,

He grumbles at the butcher At the way he cuts the meat. He grumbles at his little dog If it only wags its tail, And when the wind gently blows

He grumbles at the "gale."
He grumbles when a bill comes in, No matter how very small, He grumbles at the servants,

He grumbles at us all. He grumbles at the darkness When he has to light the gas, He grumbles at the prices, He grumbles at his stocks,

He grumbles at his feet When he buys a pair of socks. He grumbles at the summer When the sun is rather warm, And he grumbles at the winter Every time we have a storm.

He grumbles at a question He grumbles at a smile, He grumbles at his daughter
When she wants a little money,
And he grumbles when she laughs

At anything very funny.
e grumbles at the rich man e grumbles at the poor, He grumbles at the beggars Then they knock upon his door. le grumbles at his neighbor He grumbles at the cartman

Who dumps it down the hole. He grumbles at a wagon
If it stands before the door, And he grumbles at a crumb of bread f it falls upon the floor. He grumbles in his little room, grumbles on the stairs, le grumbles all the way to church le grumbles after prayers

And I often fancy to myself He'll grumble when he's dead. and it will answer just as well!
