Denton Journal.

GEO. TUMELVIN, Editor.

SATURDAY.....JANUARY 10, 1880.

CONGRESS reassembled last Tuesday, and judging by the despatch with which it has already transacted its business, bids fair to be an unusually short and harmonious session. It has gone to work with a vim, performing only necessary work and if there is to be any political sparring and "new ideas," it will be towards the close of the session.

A VERY flattering compliment was paid Senator Whyte last Tuesday evening by the meeting of the citizens of Baltimore indorsing him, held at the Maryland Institute, consisting of some of the most influential in the city. His speech, which was a defense of his course in allowing his name to be used as a candidate for the United States Senate, was highly appreciated by the audience, and greeted by rounds of applause.

MR. J. MADISON WELLS, the Louisiana Returning Board chief, has gone to Washington and notified Hayes and Sherman that he expects to be reappointed Surveyor of the port of New Orleans, and, according to all accounts. Wells has been promised another term. The President seems determined to make Returning Board frauds odious by keeping the Returning Board thieves before the country on full pay—to come out of the public treasury.

IF there were any goose-bone weather prophets, or any others who make deductions from other data in more scientific style, who prophesied, at an early day, that this winter would be mild, they are entitled to nearly six weeks' credit out of the thirteen from December 1, 1879, to February 29, 1880. Out-door laboring work has continued down to this time, with only such interruption from stormy days as would interfere with such labor at any season of the year. Seven days more of the prevailing mild temperature will put the prophets through one-half the winter in very creditable style.

IT is indeed shameful that the Government should be forced to such an expedient by the lack of courage and patriotism among our people. All over the country, and all over the civilized world, the dauntless Ohio Postmasters and Consuls stand in their places, and never dream of retreating so long as there is a cent of salary to be drawn. All over the desolate State of Ohio the lonely wives of office-holders are waiting for their husbands to return from the four quarters of the earth, and nobly training their sons to believe that when they arrive at manhood it will be their duty to accept whatever office may be assigned to them. Such an example ought to make the people of other States blush with shame, and resolve that they, too, will try to imitate the virtues of the heroic office-holders of Ohio.

THE Democratic caucus held at Annapolis last Tuesday evening to select a United States Senator to succeed the Hon. W. Pinkney Whyte, and a Police Commissioner to succeed Mr. Fusselbaugh, was presided over by Gen. A. G. Chapman, of Charles county. The Hon. A. P. Gorman was nominated for U. S. Senator by a vote of 54 to 22 over Mr. Whyte. Mr. Gorman has been for a number of years the recognized leader of the Democratic party of Maryland, and in point of ability and integrity of character ranks among the first men in the State. He will take his seat in the Senate March, 1881. With such a man in the U. S. Senate our interests will be ably and carefully guarded.

For Police Commissioner the Hon. George Colton, one of Maryland's ablest and most distinguished sons, was nominated over Mr. Fusselbaugh by a vote of 62 to 17. This, indeed, is a well-merited compliment.

IN accordance with well established South American customs, the severe thrashing that Chili has inflicted on Peru has resulted in a Peruvian revolution. Americans living north of the place where the canal is to be cut cannot always understand why their brethren of the far South regard a revolution as a panacea for every political ill; and there is some reason for this obtuseness of perception, for the substantial good derived from this method of dealing with critical affairs of the State is not, generally speaking, glaringly obvious. In the case of Peru the good results which will come of setting up a Dictator in the place of the President are not vaguely apparent. People like Dr. Francia are not common, and there is no probability that the Dictator set up on the spur of the moment in Peru is in any respect the equal of the very remarkable man who so long and so successfully ruled the neighboring republic of Paraguay. And unless the Peruvian Dictator really is a man of the very highest ability and possesses a rare genius for vigorous action in desperate emergencies the change in government will be for Peru an irrevocable step over the side of the frying pan into the heart of the fire.—Phila. Times.

Meeting of the Legislature.

The new Legislature, which met at Annapolis on the 7th, will have plenty of important work to engage its attention. The session is limited by law to ninety days and there is business enough already cut out to keep both houses pretty constantly occupied for that period. The election of a United States Senator will, of course, be the absorbing topic of interest for two weeks to come. The election will be held on the second Tuesday after the meeting of the Legislature. On that day, according to law, each house will by a viva voce vote "name one person for Senator." On the next day at 12 o'clock both houses will meet in joint convention and if they have together given a majority to any person that person will be declared elected. If not, the convention will proceed to elect a Senator by a viva voce vote and in case of failure to elect on the first day, will assemble again from day to day at the same hour and continue voting until a choice is reached. As the Democrats have a majority on joint ballot of fifty-four, the election of a Democrat is assured. The Senate is composed of nineteen Democrats, five Republicans and two Independent Democrats; the House, sixty-three Democrats and twenty-one Republicans. Caucuses both of the Democratic and the Republican members was held at the Capitol Tuesday evening for officers of the Legislature. In addition to a Senator, the Legislature will be called upon to elect the State Treasurer and a member of the Police Board of Baltimore to succeed Mr. Fusselbaugh, whose term expires. Among the subjects which will be brought before the Legislature will be propositions for a new registration of voters, reduction of official salaries and abolition of any offices that can be dispensed with, refunding the State debt at a lower rate of interest, the passage of local option laws, creation of the office of State Superintendent of Public Schools, changes in the present composition of the Court of Appeals, extension of the limits of Baltimore city, amendments of the tax laws, an effective tramp law, amendments of the present system of tobacco inspection, imposition of a tax for the erection of an elevator for Maryland grain, construction of a special building for the reception of feeble-minded and imbecile persons, punishment of illegal voting at the primary elections, modification of the Sunday law, reduction of street-car fares and prohibition of the clerks of city courts from using or soliciting the advertising patronage of their offices to their personal benefit. These questions will all be likely to provoke discussion and their settlement will demand the most careful consideration at the hands of the Legislature. There are a number of other subjects, some of them of little less interest and importance to those mentioned above, which will probably be brought forward. In order to give all of them proper attention the Legislature will be kept hard at work during the entire session.—Ex.

At the State Capitol.

IN accordance with a notice given, the Democratic Senate Caucus met with all the senators present, in the President's room last Tuesday night, with Senator Peter, of Montgomery, in the chair, and Hon. Clement Sullivane, of Dorchester, secretary. After the adoption of the resolution offered by Senator Gorman, the caucus proceeded to elect by ballot officers to fill the places named in that resolution. Hon. Herman Stump, of Harford, was elected President by a vote of fourteen to four; Eugene Higgins, Secretary; Wm. H. Hiss, Reading clerk; Wm. T. Purnell, Clerk; Jno. Ireland, Engrossing clerk; Thos. H. Travers, Postmaster; Frisby H. Boulder, Sergeant-at-arms; S. L. Trader, Doorkeeper; T. W. Fitzgerald and J. F. Ward, Assistant doorkeepers; E. T. Talbot, S. D. Bounds, and W. A. Maloney, folders; J. C. Parran, T. Addison, J. B. Bond, Z. G. Purnell, Committee clerks; Elia B. Arnold and T. H. Harrison, Messengers.

Hon. Herman Stump, Jr., was born August 8, 1836 at Oakington, a well-known estate on the Chesapeak bay, inherited by his father as a portion of the family property. He was educated at Deleware College and studied law with his cousin, Hon. Henry W. Archer at Belair, where he was admitted to the bar in 1856. Here his abilities were soon recognized and he rose rapidly in his profession. Although his fitness and talents were acknowledged by all he was never before the people until his election in 1877 as States senator. He takes great interest in agriculture and since the establishment, five years ago, of the agricultural society of his native country he has been one of its officers.

The Democratic caucus of the House met the same day in the hall of the House of Delegates, with Hon. A. G. Chapman, of Charles, in the chair and J. S. Campbell, of Baltimore city, secretary. After several motions of adjournment, which were defeated, the caucus proceeded to nominate for speaker. Hon. Hiram McCullough, of Cecil, was nominated by Mr. McClure, of Baltimore city, and Hon. Michael Bannon, of Anne Arundel, by Mr. Crouse, of Carroll, which resulted in McCullough receiving 38 majority. Milton Y. Kidd, of Cecil, was nominated for chief clerk, and Dr. W. H. Cole, of Baltimore city, for reading clerk.

Hon. Hiram McCullough has occupied a prominent position in Maryland politics for many years, besides being one of the leading lawyers of the State. He is of Maryland birth and is now 66 years of age, having for the past thirty years been a resident of Elkton, Cecil county, all of which time he has been actively engaged in politics. After serving several times in the House of Delegates he was elected to the State Senate in 1845 and continued a member of that body until 1851, when he was succeeded by Hon. John M. Miller, the present incumbent. He next served the interests of his people and State in the Congress of the United States, being elected in 1865 and filling one term. In 1879 he was again elected to the House of Delegates. He was also one of the codifiers and revisers of the constitution of Maryland in 1860. His son Clinton McCullough, is a law-partner of Senator Groome and was formerly State's attorney of Cecil county.

The friends of Mr. Gorman are exceedingly gratified at the result of the caucus, thinking the path is now sure to him for the United States Senate, while Mr. Whyte's friends are making a desperate fight, but to all appearance without any show of success.

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 7.—The General Assembly of Maryland for 1880 assembled for its biennial session at the State House at noon to-day, as required by the Constitution. The Governor's message will be sent in to-morrow.

Punctually at noon the Senate was called to order by Mr. A. N. Gassaway, Secretary of the last Senate. The roll of senators-elect was called by Mr. W. H. Hiss, the reading clerk, and twenty-six members (the full number) responded. On motion of Mr. Gorman, Senator Sullivane, of Dorchester, was then called to the chair. Senator Peter, of Montgomery, nominated for President of the Senate Hon. Herman Stump, of Harford, and Dr. Steiner, of Frederick, nominated Dr. Lancaster, of Charles county. The ballot resulted as follows: Stump, 19; Lancaster, 4; Steiner, 1; blank, 2; the two Independents voting blank. Mr. Peter and Dr. Steiner escorted Mr. Stump to the chair.

The House of Delegates was called to order by Mr. Milton Y. Kidd, Chief Clerk of the last House, and eighty delegates responded to the roll, called by Dr. W. H. Cole, Reading Clerk of the last House. After prayer by Rev. J. M. Steele, of the Southern Methodist Church, General Chapman, of Charles, proposed Mr. Murray Vandiver, of Harford, as temporary chairman, and he was chosen. Gen. Chapman then nominated for speaker Hon. Hiram McCullough, of Cecil. Mr. Riggs, of Frederick, then nominated Dr. J. McPherson Scott, of Washington county, for the same position. The ballot resulted in 62 for McCullough, 18 for Scott and 1 blank. Mr. McCullough was declared elected and was escorted to the chair by J. E. Holmes, of Washington county. Mr. Crampton, the oldest member of the House, having served in the Legislature in 1854, administered the oath to the new Speaker.

The members of the House then took oath of office. Gen. Chapman then offered an order that Milton Y. Kidd, of Cecil, and W. H. Cole, of Baltimore, be elected respectively chief and reading clerks of the House of Delegates.

Mr. Hamilton, of Baltimore, offered an order, which was adopted, for the appointment of a committee of twenty-six to report on the number of subordinate officers.

The caucus to-night was presided over by General Chapman, with John Parsons and J. S. Campbell secretaries. Barnes Compton was nominated for treasurer, without opposition. For printer the name of W. T. Inglehart was proposed, and that of George Colton suggested, but it was stated that the latter was not a candidate. Inglehart was elected without opposition. Murray Vandiver offered a resolution that the cost of printing for the session shall not exceed $38,000—the same as last session.

OUR NATIONAL CAPITOL.

(From our own correspondent.)

WASHINGTON D. C., Jan. 6, 1880.

If, as is said, Congress shall go into a long discussion after finances on its reassembling to-day, it will not be for the lack of more necessary work to do. Besides the appropriation bills already before the two Houses, others have been completed during the recess, and may be reported at any time. Senator Bayard is reported as more anxious than ever to force a vote upon his legal tender measure, and both those who support and those who oppose the "denationalization" of greenbacks will probably speak early and often on the subject. And the Greenbackers of the House wish to talk, too. The one man who may be able to hold in check the current of eloquence on this subject in the House, is Speaker Randall. He is, as everybody knows, a very accomplished parliamentarian, and he earnestly desires a short session.

The revised rules will first be considered. I have carefully examined the 45 which are to take the place of the 116 which had grown up during the century, and cannot help the belief that the Committee has done its work well. Like the force in the Departments here, the old rules had been added to and changed in emergencies, but never reduced or really reformed. Like the overgrown Department force they had come to confuse and obstruct public business. There were some of them that were never brought into use, and some that no one could understand; to get at a simple result three or four rules had been added at different times, none of which operated in an entirely satisfactory manner. All this was like the Department force. Where is the Randall who will apply to that force the same skill, knowledge of affairs, and determination that have brought order and clearness out of the incomprehensible mass of House "Rules." A splendid reputation awaits the man who is able to do this He will save to the government large amounts in its current expenses, and very much larger ones by promoting the prompt and orderly transaction of the public business.

We shall have a somewhat miscellaneous meeting of representative Greenback-Labor-Reform leaders here this week. They come to debate a time and place for a "National Convention," but will undoubtedly adopt, or attempt to adopt a platform. Kearney is here, Butler is here, Solon Chase is coming and other lights of miscellaneous politics will shine upon the meeting.

Great interest is expressed here today in Maine's political affairs. Before this reaches you, the Legislature will, of course, have met, but beyond that the most able Washington prophets are unable to say anything. All, however, expect a peaceful settlement of all disputes, whether speedy or not. Since the public press, and public men, so generally condemn the riotous proceedings at Bangor, there has been no fear here of further violence.

THE SECOND TIME I SAW HER.

("First part of this poem, entitled "Love at First Sight," can be had on application at Tower Hall.")

By the Bard of Tower Hall.

Tuesday last I had a toothache—
Horrible beyond description—
And cold steel was recommended
As the very best prescription.
Sleep I wooed, but, fickle goddess,
Opium could not cajole her;
I must on some dental altar
Sacrifice the aching molar.
So I hurried to a dentist;
Reached his office in despair;
Entered—Lo! before me sitting,
In the cushioned dental chair,
Was the maid with golden ringlets
I on Chestnut Street had seen;
She who stole away and left me
In the cars at "Twelfth and Green."
Still upon her snowy shoulders
Fell the same bewitching curls;
But, alas! her "lips of coral"
Were no longer "touched on pearls."
Not a tooth had they to rest on,
And I saw to my dismay,
That the pearls which blessed my vision
Then upon the table lay.
She had had a tooth extracted,
And the pain had made her faint;
From her cheek the rose had vanished(?)
On the towel was some paint!
She was from the swoon reviving,
When, oh! horror! Shall I tell?
Through an effort made in sneezing
To the floor her ringlets fell!
On the head, by curls forsaken,
Hair was startling, coarse and thick,
But the shade was far from golden,
'Twas the color of a brick,
From my tooth, the pain departing,
Settled in my head and heart,
As no dentist could extract it,
I made up my mind to start,
And I also made my mind up
That when I again did write,
I would caution fellow-creatures
'Gainst the drafts of Love on Sight.
Trusting that no one will mention
"Priceless Jewel," "Beauty's Queen,"
I can bear to hear of "Twelfth Street,"
But let no one utter—"Green!"
It may be by some remembered,
And, perhaps, it may by all,
That the "ocean of my passion
Scuttled up the Tower Hall,"
But the "waves of admiration"
Swell no more; the ocean's dry!
Tower Hall is still existing,
Where you can your clothing buy—
Where, unlike the hard, you will be
Safe, although you choose on sight,
For the prices are the lowest,
And the garments always right.
