EDITORIAL NOTES.

There is no branch of the local public service which deserves more thoughtful consideration than that of the public roads. In many of the counties of the State it is being thoroughly discussed, and no doubt, will result in reforms which have long been needed.

Up in Kent county, Maryland, in 1892, over $26,000 was levied for the work of carrying on the customary road repairs, and most people, remembering Kent's small area, will admit such an outlay is entirely disproportionate to the service performed, where only dirt thoroughfares are patched up. About half the above sum is usually expended in our county, whose area is about the same as that of Kent; and there is good ground, even in Caroline, for the belief that a more satisfactory, thorough and economical system is needed here.

In Kent, it is now proposed, to advertise for proposals to keep the roads in repair. As soon as the weather permits the Kent commissioners will examine the roads of the county and determine exactly what work may or may not be needed to put the thoroughfares in good repair and keep them so during the year 1893. These facts will be made known to the bidders, and the contract or contracts will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The work to be put out by districts or smaller portions, or the entire county will be given to one contractor if the bidder is thoroughly reliable and can show himself equal to a proper fulfillment of the requirements. This system has been tried with marked success in Queen Anne's county, the largest award of contract there at present, however, being reported at one entire election district to one supervisor.

The Hawaiian or Sandwich Islands, which are now reported ready for annexation to the United States, are located in the Pacific ocean, about 2,000 miles to the westward of Southern California. They have an area about three times that of the State of Delaware and a population about equal to the city of Wilmington. Seventy-three years ago, when the first missionaries landed upon these islands, they found the inhabitants entirely destitute of a recognized religion. They had just abolished idolatry and killed off the priests thereof and were peculiarly ready to embrace Christianity. Now they are temporarily without a government, having within the past few days dethroned their queen and subverted monarchy.—Every Evening.

The really dangerous time for the peach in Maryland and Delaware, says an exchange, is the early spring, when the region is subject to dangerous frosts and sleets that slay the young bud after it has begun to stir in its nest. There is a false notion abroad, by the way, as to the beauty of the peach orchard in full bloom. The natural or ungrafted peach produces a richly beautiful blossom, but all the large orchards are of grafted trees, and they do not produce the showy blossom of the ungrafted tree. On the whole, perhaps the most charming aspect of the peach orchards comes in early spring, when millions of young twigs, red with the mounting sap, make a sort of warm mist upon the horizon.

This county has uniformly paid its teachers $400 a year of 10 months, and has never departed from it except for a year or two in the '70s, at a period when the county commissioners struck a vein of false economy. That was only for a year or two, and public sentiment so heartily disapproved the thing that the commissioners willingly gave the school board the money they asked for, and the salaries were at once restored to the old figure of $400, and our people have never regretted the increase.—Centreville Observer.

Senator Gorman well remembered the action of the Republican United States Senate in refusing to confirm Mr. Cleveland's appointment of Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson some years ago. Thus his vote against the confirmation of Mr. McComas last week ought not to surprise anybody. Mr. Gorman has a way of "getting even."

The Virginia, Maryland and Delaware Trotting Circuit met in Baltimore on Wednesday. The Talbot County Fair Association was represented by Martin H. Higgins. Owing to the absence of representatives from Cape Charles City, and Dover, Del., the meeting adjourned until February 8th.

The Delaware Legislature is considering the advisability of abolishing the voters' assistant as provided by the new ballot law. It is asserted that this would insure more secrecy.

Governor Reynolds has appointed Mr. Alfred P. Robinson chief justice of Delaware. Mr. Robinson is one of the State's most eminent lawyers. His home is in Georgetown.

There is wisdom in the multitude, and the multitude decide that the court house must be supplied with vaults. The work will undoubtedly be done as soon as practicable.

Policy-playing is one of the vices of certain classes in Baltimore city, and the News is engaged in the good work of breaking it up.

It is reported that President Cleveland will appoint Judge Gresham, of Indiana, to the Supreme bench of the United States.

JAMES G. BLAINE DEAD.

Death's harvest on Friday of last week removed from earth ex-Secretary James G. Blaine. He died at his Washington home, after a long illness. The country has seen few men of more brilliant attainments than those of the ex-premier, and he died posessing the esteem of all his countrymen. Mr. Blaine has been fitly described as the giant in a century of giants, the Rickelieu of American politics, the Plumed Knight of the forensic arena, the man who was for twenty years the most brilliant and dazzling leader of his party, three times Speaker of the House of Representatives, a Senator of the United States, the Premier of two administrations and the defeated candidate of his party for President.

A Letter from Mr. Saulsbury Hobbs.

To the Editor of the JOURNAL:

I wish to say a few words to the public through your paper.

I attended the meeting of January 31st, in regard to what should be done toward the improvement of the court house—whether to repair or build. I listened to the discussion of the subject by different ones, and found that the majority favored repairing, from the fact that the people were not prepared to meet the expense of building a new one. They would be greatly disappointed in the expense of repairing the old building, from the fact that there would only be twenty-four feet in each side wall and the front wall. This would be all you would have of the old walls to build on. When you come to raise the old walls and destroy all the wood-work and roof, as would have to be done, you would find that you had a very costly job in your repairing. The walls are thirty feet apart, and it would be impossible to get the necessary conveniences in that width. It would be necessary to have all new in the repairs, except the old walls, and they would require raising. When you go through all the expense of repairing as you speak of, you will have the cost of a new building in an old one. These gentlemen who advocated repairing, in all probability, felt more for their own pocket-book than for the welfare of the county.

A word to the commissioners: You have been told that the county is in such a condition that it is not able to build—but to repair. That is something like throwing away a whole cent to save a half one. The county is amply able to build, and don't waste the public money in building up an old house that will never satisfy the wants of the people, but put it in a new building—such an one as will meet the demands of the people, be a credit to the county and a source of pride to the rising generation.

The building should be 40x70.

S. HOBBS.

Bridgetown.

Mr. Joseph Larrimore bagged a fox Monday. At half-past ten o'clock Tuesday morning he turned him out, and put thirty-five anxious dogs on the trail shortly thereafter. There were thirty-four mounted men to follow the chase, and many went in buggies and carriages. The exciting run lasted four hours and Reynard went into a place of safety over in Queen Anne's.

Mr. John M. Cannon, one of Caroline county's oldest sons, aged 84, has been very sick. He is slowly improving.

The measles have spread over our village and there is scarcely a family in the place who has escaped.

Mr. Benjamin Coursey has been quite sick for several weeks, but is now out again.

Punishing Election Bribery.

SEYMOUR, Ind., January 27.—In the Jackson circuit court yesterday Judge Samuel Voyles fined J. W. Holmes $25, sentenced him to the county jail for 10 days and disfranchised him for 10 years for violating the election law by attempting to bribe voters at the November election. Mr. Holmes is 70 years old and one of the wealthiest men in this county. He is a Republican.

The vote-buyer in Maryland as well as Indiana has got to realize the fact that "they are after him."

Editor Haddaway Waxes Facetious

From the Easton Ledger.

The Rev. G. D. Edmonston, at Grove parsonage, Caroline, on the 24th ult., performed a marriage ceremony, and at its conclusion it was discovered that both the contracting parties were bridegrooms. The bride herself was found to be a bridegroom. Mr. Edmonston married Miss Rebecca Thomas to Mr. Charles H. Bridegroom.

Levy Court.

The county commissioners on Tuesday ratified and confirmed the report of the examiners on a proposed new public road in the Fifth district, which begins at a point near the residence of Joseph Morris, on the road leading from Federalsburg to Reliance, running thence to a point on the Dorchester line.

Death of Chief Jutsice Comegys.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 1.—Ex-Chief Justice Joseph P. Comegys died to-night at Dover, at 6 o'clock. He was unconscious for a long time before his death.

A good joke was played on the representative of a well-known insurance company at the Central Hotel a few days ago by Dr. Porter, the ventriloquist. It happened while the insurance man was at dinner. His company has a great deal of property insured in this town, and while he was busy eating his noon-day meal Dr. Porter yelled "fire" several times in succession. The insurance man bolted out of the dinning room and into the street inquiring of every passer-by where the fire was. He seemed much excited and acted as though he thought every property insured in his company in town was on fire. He was told about the ventriloquist and as soon as he saw the laugh was on him joined in as heartily as any body.—Milford News.

THE SAINT AND THE SINNER.

Heart-worn and weary the woman sat
Her baby sleeping across her knee,
And the work her fingers were toiling at
Seemed a pitiful task for such as she.
Mending shoes for her little feet
That pattered over the cabin floor,
While the bells of the Sabbath day rang sweet,
And the neighbors passed by the open door.

The children played, and the baby slept,
And the busy needle went and came,
When lo, on the threshold stone there stept
A priestly figure, and named her name:
"What shrift is this for the Sabbath day,
When bells are calling, and far and near
The people gather to praise and pray.
Woman, why are you toiling here?"

Like one in a dream she answered low:
"Father, my days are work-days all;
I know not Sabbath. I dare not go
Where the beautiful bells ring out and call.
For who would look to the meat and drink
And tend the children and keep the place?
I pray in silence, and try to think,
For God's love can listen, and give me grace."

The years passed on, and with fast and prayer
The good priest climbed to the gate of rest,
And a tired woman stood waiting there,
Her work-worn hands to her bosom pressed,
"Oh, saint, thrice blessed, mount thy on high,
He heard the welcoming angels say.
When meekly, gently, she passed him by,
Who had mended shoes on the Sabbath day.

—Madeline Bridges in the February Ladies' Home Journal.

Going in to dinner the host leads the way with the lady he desires most to distinguish, and the hostess with the gentleman whom she intends seating at her right hand, writes Mrs. Van Koert Schuyler in the February Ladies' Home Journal. It has been customary, of late years, for the gentlemen to find in their dressing-room tiny envelopes, containing cards upon which are written the names of the ladies whom they are expected to take in to dinner. It saves some trouble to the hostess, as each gentleman co-operates with her in finding his way to the lady designed for his special attention.

W. Scott Way, formerly of Middletown, Del., who has been living in California for a number of years past, has removed to Florida. He writes to the "Middletown Transcript" that "he is in search of a perfect climate." [Mr. Way should come back to the Peninsula. Here he will find a climate as nearly perfect as any this side the river of Jordan.]

In a communication to the JOURNAL to-day Mr. Saulsbury Hobbs takes strong ground in favor of a new court house.

Hon. E. H. Brown and Mr. George T. Hobby, of Centrevil le, were in Denton Wednesday.

The fascination of the Red Convention draws thousands of visitors daily. Thousands. A fact, not a poetic fiction.

An Interesting Exhibition.

Visitors to the store will find in the Bargain Exchange a very interesting illustration of Linen Weaving.

At large expense we have brought out from the manufactory of A. E. Stiller & Son, Sorau, Prussia, a loom and all the needed yarns for weaving Linen Damask Table Cloths,

An expert weaver accompanied it, who will daily exhibit the loom actively at work upon a beautiful Columbian design.

It is commemorative of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America. The cartoon displayed the pattern is shown near the loom. Its features will be easily understood.

In the centre is a portrait of Christopher Columbus. It is framed in an illustrated border symbolical of the life, attainments and public service of Columbus. At the head a globe and scientific instruments and ship's rigging illustrate geography, navigation and seamanship. At the foot are emblems of science, agriculture, mechanic arts, mining and commerce. At the sides are shown the heraldic insignia granted Columbus by the crown of Spain and ships of the first little fleet of discovery.

The various illustrations are grouped artistically in an arborous pattern that unites and completes the entire design.

The cloth when finished will measure, including fringe, 71 inches square, It will be of natural flax, not bleached, but will gradually become pure white if carefully laundered. Several replicas will be made. They will be for sale at a price yet to be fixed.

This store is the most appropiate place in the land for an exposition pertaining to Linens. Here is assembled the greatest stock of personal and domestic Linens accessible to the retail buyer in all the world. The consumer gets all the advantages of the greatest trading. This means the least prices and the largest choice.

One Robber Captured.

One of the robbers of Mr. Arlington T. Porter's store was captured Thursday night and brought to Denton and lodged in jail yesterday morning. He confesses the crime. His name is James Thomas and his age is 19. He says he was persuaded into it by Ed. Mitchell, Alias "Rhodybush," a Milford darkey of evil reputation, and his captors believe he tells the truth.

Hereafter the star route mail schedule between Elwood and Beulah, Dorchester county, Maryland, will be as follows: Leave Elwood daily, except Sunday, at 4:15 p. m., arriving at Beulah at 4:30 p. m.; returning leave Beulah a 11 a. m., arriving at Elwood 11:15 a. m.

Wanamaker.

Our Linens are strictly flax—all flax. Cotton, jute and ramie are equally excluded from combination with flax in our stock. Our experts know flax and linen. Neither ignorance or cupidity are permitted to destroy their fidelity to flax. We think this cannot be truthfully said of any other great stock of Linens in this country. Some smaller stocks are controlled by pure flax principles.

John Y. Graham and Belle J. Graham, his wife, complainants, vs.
Matthew Semple and Robert A. Semple, trading as Matthew Semple & Company, respondents.

In the Circuit Court for Caroline county, In Equity.

The object of this bill is to procure an order of said court directing and compelling Matthew Semple and Robert A. Semple, trading as Matthew Semple & Co., to release and satisfy a certain mortgage for $2,000, a copy of which is filed in said cause, marked "Complainants' Exhibit D."

1.—The bill states that on Dec. 29, 1884, complainants executed to Marcus H. Darrow and Robert T. James, trading as M. H. Darrow & Co., a mortgage upon certain lots and parcels of land, situate in Caroline county, to secure the payment of $1,000, which said mortgage was assigned by M. H. Darrow & Co. to Geo. M. Rusum, Esq., and by him to Levin H. Williams, and by him to respondents, a certified copy of which mortgage is filed as part of the bill, marked "Complainants' Exhibit A."

2.—That on March 15th, 1887, complainants executed to Marcus H. Darrow, Robert T. James and Harry Shirk, trading as M. H. Darrow & Co., a mortgage upon certain tracts or parcels of land, situate in Caroline county, to secure the payment of $1,000, which said mortgage has been assigned by M. H. Darrow & Co. to Geo. M. Russum, Esq., and by him assigned to Levin H. Williams, and by him assigned to Matthew Semple and Robert A. Semple, trading as Matthew Semple & Co., a certified copy of which mortgage is filed with the bill, marked "Complainants' Exhibit B."

3.—That on March 19th, 1887, the complainants executed to Marcus H. Darrow, Rober T. James and Harry Shirk, trading as M. H. Darrow & Co., a mortgage upon certain real estate in said county to secure the payment of $1,000, which has been assigned by M. H. Darrow & Co. to Geo. M. Russum, Esq., and by him to Levin H. Williams, and by him to respondents, a certified copy of which mortgage is filed with the bill, marked "Complainants' Exhibit C."

4.—That on Dec. 31, 1887, the complainants executed to Elijah Sapp a deed of mortgage upon certain real estate in said county to secure the payment of $2,000, which mortgage has been assigned by said Elijah Sapp to said M. H. Darrow & Co., and by them to Geo. M. Russum, Esq., and by him to Levin H. Williams, and by him to respondents, a certified copy of which mortgage is filed with the bill, marked "Complainants' Exhibit D."

5.—That the indebtedness of $1,000 named in the mortgage of which Complainants' Exhibit C is a copy is the same indebtedness which is named in the mortgage of which Complainants' Exhibit B is a copy, and was executed as additional security for the payment of indebtedness named in the mortgage of which Complainants' Exhibit B is a copy.

6.—That the consideration for which said mortgage of which Complainants' Exhibit D was assigned to the said M. H. Darrow & Co., as aforesaid, was the execution of a release by the said M. H. Darrow & Co., a copy of which is filed with the bill, marked "Complainants' Exhibit E," and that said mortgage of which Complainants' Exhibit D is a copy was held by the said M. H. Darrow & Co., Geo. M. Russum, Esq., and Levin H. Williams, assignees, and now held by said Matthew Semple & Co., only as collateral security to the payment of the indebtedness named in the mortgages of which Complainants' Exhibits A, B and C are copies.

7.—That complainants have long since paid to the said respondents the entire amount of mortgage indebtedness, and the interest thereon, named in the said mortgages of which Complainants' Exhibits A, B, C and D are copies.

8.—That prior to bringing this suit complainants demanded of the respondents that they release and satisfy the said mortgage of which Complainants' Exhibit D is a copy; but respondents have wholly refused so to do, and complainants are advised they are entitled to an order of this Honorable Court directing, decreeing and compelling the respondents to have said mortgage released.

9.—That said Matthew Semple and Robert A. Semple, trading as Matthew Semple & Co., are non-residents of Maryland.

10.—It is thereupon this 27th day of January, 1893, ordered by the Circuit court for Caroline county, in equity, that the complainants, by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper published in Caroline county once in each of four successive weeks before the 28th day of February next, give notice to the absent respondents of the substance and objects of this bill, warning them to appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 16th day of March next to show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to pass as prayed.
