Democratic Ticket.

For the Unexpired Term in the Fifty-third Congress:

W. LAIRD HENRY,
OF DORCHESTER.

For Representative in the Fifty-fourth Congress:

JOSHUA W. MILES,
OF SOMERSET

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Is there one Democrat in all this county who will indirectly contribute to the defeat of his party and the election of Abraham Lincoln Dryden by staying away from the polls Tuesday? There should not be one. What would Republican victory mean? It would mean, as a leading Republican politician of this county says, the re-establishment of the high McKinley duties. The federal elections law, too, would be rehabilitated and include the "force" provisions. Let the Caroline Democracy as a unit turn out on Tuesday and work till the sun goes down for Miles and Henry.

While the Republican Congressional convention was in session Mr. Abraham Lincoln Dryden wrote his lieutenants to surrender his claims to the nomination if in so doing "Republican principles" would in any way be promoted. In his speeches, too, he also declares his strict adherence to these principles, meaning high tariffs, force bills and all. Do the people of this section of the country want these things? We shall see who wants them by the vote of the First Congressional district next Tuesday. We will risk the prediction that the people will take the trouble to come out to the polls and answer most emplatically "no."

There has been good work at the headquarters of the Democratic Congressional Committee, Washington letters tell us, and the clearing aspect of Democratic skies is noticeable in all sections. From all directions come reports of great business improvement and as a consequence prospects of a Democratic majority in the House of Representatives becomes almost certain.

Very great reductions in the tariff were made by the Democrats. There is no doubt where Republican Congressmen will be found when the opportunity is again presented to make another McKinley law, nor is there need for guessing about their position should the force bill be resurrected. Let no Democrat stay away from the polls Tuesday!

The great dry goods firm of Strawbridge & Clothier, Philadelphia, will be dissolved on January first. Mr. Clothier desires to retire from the business which he and his partner have conducted so many years. There will be no change in the management and business will be conducted as heretofore.

The editor of the Easton Ledger is in receipt of letters from committee chairmen in several counties of the First Congressional district. The Ledger says: "From these estimates it would seem that the Democratic candidates are sure of election by a majority ranging anywhere from 1,000 to 1,500."

The last legislature provided that the question of liquor license in Cecil county should again be referred to the people, the present law not being satisfactory. It is probable that the temperance people will win by several hundred majority and that the bars will all be closed up.

Every Democrat should go to the polls and vote for Miles and Henry next Tuesday. The district has never been represented by abler or better men. Their election will reflect credit upon the State.

With all the able representatives you have had in Congress you never selected two men who will more fearlessly and faithfully represent you than Messrs. Henry and Miles.—Congressman Rayner.

Though the Wilson tariff became a law only on August 28, it has already borne much good fruit, and promises to become soon the most popular tariff America has ever had.—N. Y. Herald.

"The simple and plain duty which we owe to the people is to reduce taxation to the necessary expense of an economical operation of the government."—Grover Cleveland.

From all parts of the State and country come good tidings of the closing campaign. The Democrats have the assurance of another great victory.

Five thousand people attended the Democratic mass-meeting in Georgetown on Tuesday. Ambassador Bayard was one of the speakers.

Mrs. Margaret E. Easter, one of Baltimore's most gifted writers, died on Sunday last.

Alexander III, Czar of Russia, died on Thursday.

NOBLESSE OBLIGE.

An Americanized phrase of about the same import as the caption of this article would differ somewhat from the application given it in royalty-ruled countries, where rank is established by law and descends alike to worthy and unworthy sons of titled fathers. It would be broadened to suit our ideas and existing conditions, and would be made to include every rank and condition of mankind. Each has its special obligation, and however high a man may rise by his own efforts in business or professional life, or by choice in churchly association, the obligations of position or profession would keep in perfect correspondence; and however high the favoritism of party associates may place a man in official position, he cannot rise above the claim his party has upon him to sustain his profession, to vote for its standard-bearers and by all reasonable and seasonable means to promote its success. The recalcitrancy of party associates cannot dissolve or even lessen this obligation. He who believes in the principles of his party could but feel himself lacking in loyalty thereto if he allows a personal dislike to overshadow them. The illustrious John Randolph furnished an inspiring example of faith in his party and the performance of duty under very trying circumstances, by refusing to recognize the personality of a ticket headed by a bitter enemy. He voted the ticket of his party, regardless of its composition. There may have been some very conspicuous examples of failure to perform this plain duty to party among Democrats high in official position—an impatience, even, to shake off the obligation—but no Democrat can fail to exercise his privilege of voting for the representatives of his party faith without weakening his own faith. Let every Democrat recognize the noblesse oblige in his vote next Tuesday, although that vote be given, as was Randolph's, to a personal enemy; then will the present result be sure and its effects lasting.

W. A. McGuire, a well known citizen of McKay, O., is of the opinion that there is nothing as good for children troubled with colds or croup as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He has used it in his family for several years with the best results, and always keeps a bottle of it in his house. After having la grippe he was himself troubled with a severe cough. He used other remedies without benefit and then concluded to try the children's medicine, and to his delight it soon effected a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by W. E. Brown.

DRESS GOODS—High Novelties

Many of the rich new stuffs in our Dress Goods were not seen in Paris by an American wholesale buyer save our own. Many of them were shown at retail simultaneously in our store and in Paris and nowhere else.

The highest novelties, the $3, $4 and $5 stuffs, were in small quantities and great varieties. No duplicates. Early buying gives best selections and wise women will not defer longer.

Evidence is cumulative that the outside world endorses the fact well known to us that the richest, rarest, completest stock of Dress Goods in America this season has been (and is) here.

DRESS GOODS—Medium Priced

Elegance coupled with economy pervades the stock. Richness roams through the grades from 25 to $1. Do not forget that our distributing power is always a bargain winner. We conquer prices, but the Public gets the dividends.

Just a few points selected at random from hundreds:

At 25c the yard.
Camels-Hair Serge, navy blue and black all-wool, and sold in the usual way at 50c.

At 37½c the yard.
Silk mixed fancy Cheviot that would be considered cheap at 50c.

At 50c the yard.
Storm Serge, all-wool, in navy blue and black, that was made to sell at 75c.

At 75c the yard.
Fancy Serge, sprinkled with silk threads that give a pretty effect; and made to sell at $1.25.

At 75c the yard.
Fancy Cheviot, medium rough, all the manufacturer had, and was surprised to see it sell for less than $1.25.

At 75c the yard.
Fancy Cheviot, another make of all-wool stuff, and is selling in some places at $1.25.

At $1 the yard.
40-inch French Boucle, six colors; would be regularly $1.25.

SEWING MACHINES

There is a new era in the Sewing Machine business. It used to be that you paid three times as much for a Sewing Machine as it was worth. One-third went for the Machine and two-thirds to support an agency system from which the customer did not derive a fraction of a cent of benefit. And you are still told that you ought to tax yourself sixty seven per cent to continue that sham.

It is similar to the long discussion as to whether books should be sold as merchandise or by a false system that imposed fictitious values upon retail buyers. That battle was completely won for the public as this will be.

The Quaker City Sewing Machines sold by us are peers of the best. We quote prices from a similar make and those of the Quaker City together. The comparison is fair, the Machines similar, the finish fully equal.

Cabinet Case, xxx make,	$90.00
Cabinet Case, Quaker City,	$35.00
Saving,	$55.00
Drop Head, xxx make,	$60.00
Drop Head, Quaker City,	$25.00
Saving,	$35.00
Ornamented Stand, xxx make,	$60.00
Ornamented Stand, Quaker City,	$23.50
Saving,	$36.50
Ornamented Stand, xxx make,	$55.00

Saving,	$35.00
Plain Stand, xxx make,	$50.00
Plain Stand, Quaker City,	$18.00

Within a few months we have placed six hundred of these Machines in this city, but that's only a beginning. Experience will prove the truth of every claim we make for them.

POPULAR PRICES

are the irresistible powers that move the modern world more than the fabled lever of Archimedes. They burden the railways, throng the theatres and crowd our place with multitudes who know enough to know that they are getting value received for their money. Old timers, relics of the fossiliferous age of merchandise, whose sole and only idea of profit is 100 per cent., stand aghast at prices that seem to them the acme of folly and the knell of trade.
