DEMOCRATS ARE ENCOURAGED.

An analysis of the vote in this county last year cannot be made with exactness, but a comparison of the figures with those of 1895 are not by any means discouraging to Democrats. It is a fact well known, and boasted of by Republicans, that they had more money than they could use in last fall's campaign, and yet they secured a meagre majority of thirty-five, less, in fact, than the majority for the Republican State ticket in 1895, when part of the Democratic ticket was elected by majorities ranging from 19 to 92. The Democratic vote of last year was 102 more than in 1895, although 25 Democrats voted the Palmer and Buckner ticket, and the Republican vote 98 more than in 1895, while the Populist vote was lessened by 188 votes and the Prohibitionists by 62 votes. The total vote in the county was 3486, or 222 short of the 3708 on the registration lists, and 18 less than that of the preceding year.

It is generally conceded that the major part of the Populist vote was given to the Democratic candidates. It required about 127 of the 250 votes of the Populists and Prohibitionists, not given as in 1895 to their respective party candidates, to bring the Democratic vote up to the increase noted; although some part of the vote mentioned must have gone to the Republican candidates to bring their vote up to the 1896 standard.

The bonds of union last year between the Democrats and the Populists were the platform declarations of the Democrats. They embraced the chief principles for which Populists contended. Democrats seemed to have done away with the occasion for their being Populists any longer. A reaffirmance of the platform of last year seems not to have been sufficient to cement the Populist alliance to the Democrats, and they have a full ticket in the field. The Prohibitionists also have a full set of candidates to vote for, making the fight fairly and squarely between Democrats and Republicans on their status of some years ago.

An element of encouragement to the Democrats is the large increase in the registration this year. It is a very well known fact that the Democrats were more indifferent about this matter last year than were the Republicans, who regarded a new registration as a great party measure; therefore, few indeed of the voters of that party failed to get their names on the lists, and they doubtless formed only a trifling part of the 222 voters who stayed away from the polls. The Democrats have everything to gain by a full vote. They must continue without let up "working hard for the success of their ticket;" and if they "leave no stone unturned" they will surely have "their voters in line" on election day. None know better than the Republicans the agency that made Caroline Republican last year, and now that they are likely to be met on their own ground, and every foot of it, they are not to be blamed for "whistling" a great deal before they come to the place where the boy "whistled to keep his courage up." The Democrats fully realize the situation, and for that reason they are working diligently and hopefully, remembering that with conditions like unto those the Republicans enjoyed last year they scored a victory in 1893 wherein the majorities reached over 500. With equal conditions we ought to divide the results near the middle mark between our 500 and their 35.

Democratic workers from all parts of the county are unanimous in the opinion that our ticket, from Senator to surveyor, will be elected. The registration has been favorable to the Democrats.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The editor of the Free Press, while in Denton Tuesday, interviewed gentlemen from every election district in the county concerning the general feeling and expression in regard to the popularity of the Democratic ticket for this county and the prospects of its success. From every source he received the most flattering words of encouragement. The ticket is unexceptionally and universally popular, and Democrats are buoyant with confidence of victory at the polls at the November election. — Greensborough Free Press.

We believe there is a favorable opportunity to start and maintain a good local fire insurance company in Caroline county. There is no good reason that we know of why co-operative insurance here could not be successfully and satisfactorily operated. Let a number of good business men put themselves at the head of such an enterprise, and we believe they will receive the endorsement and support of the property-owners. This has been done in quite a number of peninsular counties.

Centreville's campaign paper, the Queen Anne's Republican, is still trying to persuade Democrats to vote the Republican judicial ticket because of Mr. Hopper's defeat in the Denton convention. We do not believe the sheet will be able to hoodwink many voters in Queen Anne's, for against it is the powerful influence of the leading Democrats and their friends. Conspicuous among them is Mr. P. B. Hopper himself.

Richard Croker says he is sure the Democrats will carry New York at the coming election.

DEMOCRACY WILL SWEEP MARYLAND.

From the Sunday Herald.

The universal endorsement given by Democrats to the nomination of Henry Williams for Mayor assures his election, in the opinion of the party leaders and of the thinking people of the community, who realize the tremendous strength of the candidate and his daily increasing popularity, the growth of which has been a veritable revelation to even the most sanguine of the gentleman's friends and supporters.

Throughout the city men in every walk of life and of every business and professional calling have been unstinting in their high praise of the party's choice. A great many people who had hesitated to announce their position and were really undecided which party's cause to espouse before the Convention met on Tuesday have openly declared themselves for Mr. Williams and pledged themselves to use every effort to secure his success at the election.

The honorable and aggressive business career of the candidate, his unimpeachable character and his admirable qualifications for the office his party desires him to fill have awakened the keenest interest in the canvass and won for him thousands of admirers, who will not lose an opportunity to put their kindly feeling toward him in the substantial shape of ballots on election day.

The preponderance of public feeling in favor of Mr. Williams cannot be denied conscientiously by even his stanchest political enemy, and, though he has been before the people as a nominee less than a week, he is today pronounced as in a position to go to the polls and secure a majority of the votes cast.

Mr. Williams was placed before the community two years ago by his party for the very qualifications for which he has now been chosen, and under any other than the very peculiar circumstances of that year he would undoubtedly be Mayor today. Defeat then was a consequence of a general overthrowing of the party, and it can safely be said that not a vote was cast against him on account of any lack of standing or ability.

At the next election he will stand before the people with much more favorable surroundings. In character and capacity he is the same man, with the additional advantages of having had a chance to study a "reform administration" at close range, and to garner from the conduct of that administration a few lessons which may be of rare value to him, if he is himself put at the head of the local government.

The men who direct the party's affairs and stand to the helm of local Democracy are quickened in confidence of victory, and happy approval given the nomination of the head of the ticket. However fearful may have been their feeling a week ago, and however uncertain the outcome of the rapidly complicating state of affairs was then, they have been reassured by public endorsement, and are confident of polling the largest vote in November.

The ticket back of Mr. Williams has also been generally commented upon favorably, and is believed to be a winner. If strength was lacked by the city nominees in 1895, no such condition exists now.

It has been announced that the campaign will be opened with a big mass-meeting early in the month, and that Mr. Gorman will come out on that occasion with a statement defining "where he is at" and all about it.

There could not possibly be a more interesting feature than such a declaration on the part of the senior Senator, and about as much interest would be taken by Republicans in such an event as there would be by Democrats.

It would be useless to try to guess what Mr. Gorman will say when he makes up his mind to say it. If he has confided to his closest friends what he intends to do this fall, and what his aspirations are, if he has aspirations, they have shown themselves as capable of keeping a secret as he is.

When the Senator was in town this week he met a number of the political leaders, and discussed the situation at length. He expressed a great deal of gratification at the ticket selected by the City Committee, and was particularly pleased at the naming of Mr. Williams. In his mind, the triumph of Democracy is assured, and he rejoices in the prospect of the redemption of the city and state from the hands of the enemy.

QUEEN ANNE'S POSITION.

From the Centreville Record.

Here, on the Queen Anne's Democracy, empty handed, without hope of reward rests the responsibility. It occupies the post of stern and unswerving duty.

The question is asked—"Will the Democracy of Queen Anne's be equal to the task?" Will it in this moment of extreme and critical danger and responsibility be equal to the demands of the occasion?" "Or will it come to the battle halting, broken, divided and dispirited?" "Or will Israel sulk in their tents and not go down to the battle at all?" Let every true Democrat take the queries home with him and consider them and in his private communings and thoughts answer them unto himself. If any man or set of men think he or they have just cause of complaint in the make up or manner of make up of the ticket, either judicial or local, let him ask himself with all soberness the question—if he had not better endure the ills he complains of than by his conduct and acts help to rush in other ills which he knows not of in the full magnitude of their realization.

The Democracy of Queen Anne's county cannot afford to risk anything in the coming political battle. It occupies the post of responsibibly and danger. If success is to be won and victory to be achieved it has to do it. It cannot afford to go into the fight with wavering, broken or disappointed columns. It will have to stand, side by side, in serried ranks, with solid front to the foe and maintain at all hazards the fortunes of the day.

Rev. A. Green's Lecture in Greensboro.

On Wednesday evening, October 13th, Rev. A. Green will deliver his popular lecture at Mozart Hall, Greensboro, Md. Subject: "Choosing a Companion, or the Highway and By-way to Matrimony." This lecture is of a highly entertaining character, containing judicious advice, embellished with many humorous incidents which the speaker has observed in his capacity of a uniter of the matrimonially inclined. The lecture has been well received wherever delivered.

Mr. Green is a pleasing and forcible speaker; and doubtless many of the people who applauded his eloquence during his oration on last Fourth of July will be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing him on this entertaining theme. The lecture is given under the auspices of the literary department of the Epworth League.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. This lovely bud, so young, so fair,
Called hence by early doom,
Just came to show how sweet a flower
In Paradise would bloom.

Ere sin could harm or sorrow fade,
Death came, with friendly care,
The opening bud to Heaven conveyed,
And bade it blossom there.

WANAMAKER'S.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, Sept. 27, 1897.

Dress Goods Show Continues THERE is a touch of Nature, here and there, amid the groupings of art—plants that give background to the color-plays of the stuffs. But they are incidents. THE FABRICS ARE THE SHOW—and such a collection of rich stuffs is here as will delight all lovers of the beautiful.

We are lonesomely at the top as dress-goods sellers—with more of exclusive elegance than could be picked from the six best stocks besides.

Each day's showing will be new in spots—as hidden finery forces its way front.

A hearty Wanamaker welcome to visitors from far and near.

The New Dress Trimmings Are Ready BRAIDS lead. Braids in their simple prettiness and braids twisted into designs more or less elaborate. And beads—strung and twisted into novelly pretty designs, and pearls treated just like beads. There are revers and panels and plastrons and yokes and collars—all fashioned ready for use. If we simply gathered trimmings as they are usually gathered, there would be little to talk of. But hosts of the richest things we show are made exclusively for our selling.

Wonderful Kid Gloves for a Dollar ANY glove expert will tell you so, if he will speak at all regarding another seller's merchandise that he cannot match.

THE PRINCESS MAY GLOVES are made to our order in Grenoble, France. The skins are carefully chosen—REAL KIDSKINS, mind you, which don't go into other gloves to sell at $1.

Thirty-six thousand pairs are here—a complete line of the fall colorings and of black and of white. More will come by steamship every fortnight, but, for all that, we may lack sizes now-and-then. We are America's suppliers of women's good wearing real kid gloves at $1.
